Eye Removed.-Mr. Hess, son of Bishop Hess of Farmington, while en-gaged in chopping some hard wood the beginning of last April, had the misfortune to have a piece of the timber strike his left eye, which has since resulted in the utter destruction of that member, and brought about the necessity of its total removal. The painful operation was skillfully performed by Dr. Belle Anderson, daughter of Dr. W. F. Anderson, and a recent graduate of the Michigan University. Dr. Auderson during her three years' collegiate career at Ann Arbor, devoted special attention to diseases of the eye and ear-studying under Prof. Frothingham, one of the leading oculists of America.

It was finally de-cided to lock her up for examination, and then she showed what a Tartar she was. She fought and tussled right stoutly with the officers, but they got her safely into her quarters.

That Fire. - About 2 o'clock this morning, a fire broke out in the cellar of J. C. Bowring & Co., green grocers, on First South street, and rising to the first floor penetrated the shop above and also the one contiguous, belonging to J. Sanders, also engaged in the green grocery business. Between the two stores was a thin partition, on Bowring's side lath and plaster making up the division, and on the other there being nothing but boards lined with canvass nailed to the studding. sequence the fiames, coming As a cor up along the studding, made greater headway in Mr. San-ders' store than in the other, and destroyed a large quantity of goods, besides guiting the building, which was simply a board shanty. this, the speaker probably observing, he soon after considerately gave way. The enthusiasm was at such a low ebb, and the noise of the claquers' canes on the balcony was so painfully inadequate to inspire the flow of eloquence desired, that it was deemed expedient by the management to station a man at a conspicuous place on the porch, with a red bandans handkerchief, which he was directed to wave at proper intervals - a sort of red rag in the eyes of the popular bull-with the hope of "making the heathen rage and the people imagine a vain thing." This worked pretty well for a time, howl after howl ascending from the street, as often as the bandans fluttered above the railing, but when in the midst of Governor Murray's Ciceronian effort-which was not any

Lost Faith in Physicians

Lest Faith in Physicians. There are innumerable instances where cures have been effected by Scovill's Sarsaparilla, or Blood and Liver Syrup, for all diseases of the blood, when they had been given over by their physicians. It is one of the best remedles ever offered to the public and as it is prepared with the greatest care, as a specific for certain diseases, it is no wonder that it should be more effectual than hastily written and care-lessly prepared prescriptions. Take this medicine for all disorders arising from impure blood. It is endorsed by leading professional men.
