The National Bank—The Mexican Minister.—Confirmations, etc.

WASHINGTON, April 12.—The Comptroller of the Currency has declared the first and final dividend of 100 per cent and interest in full payable on and after the 16th in favor of the creditors of the Metropolitan National Bank of Cincinnati on claims proved, amounting to $527,940. The bank failed February 9th.

Reports having been made to the Treasury Department that several steamers on the Pacific Coast are using petroleum as fuel, and that it was the cause of the recent boiler explosion near Vallejo, Secretary Fairchild has instructed Supervising Inspector Lubock to make an investigation and report the result to the Department.

It was broadly hinted that the obstructive tactics ostensibly against the direct tax bill were really in a large part directed against the swamp land bill. As it is, the special orders made by the House on the recommendation of the committee on rules, covering the present and last week, have all been swept aside.

The Mexican minister at Washington has been instructed by President Diaz to negotiate a treaty of friendship, commerce and navigation with China, and another with Japan, through the Chinese and Japanese ministers residing at Washington.

Powderly's Complaints.

PHILADELPHIA, April 12. — This week's Journal of United Labor will publish three letters from Master Workman Powderly. In one of them he complains bitterly of the treatment that the Knights of Labor receive at the hands of certain papers and says:

An editorial in one of them takes me to task for entering into a compact with the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers to conduct the present strike on the C. B. & Q. I have entered into no deal. I cannot enter into any arrangement which will countenance the handling of "Q." cars on the road by the Knights of Labor. While I do not approve of strikes, I will never lend my sanction or aid to the Knights or others to assist a corporation to break up a labor organization. The future welfare of the toiling masses today is centered in the Knights of Labor more than any other order, and the man or woman who would destroy the hope of millions deserves the hatred and scorn of all.

Blocked With Icebergs.

NEW YORK, April 12.—The hydrographic office report received today states that large quantities of ice off the Newfoundland coast were rapidly drifting into the steamer routes. Captain Dawson of the steamer Portia, which arrived yesterday from Newfoundland via Halifax, says that he was blocked in the ice at Newfoundland with other vessels for three weeks. Continuous strong east winds packed the ice so close to shore that from Signal Hill, at the entrance to the harbor, giving a range of view of over sixty miles, no open water could be seen, and during that time the ice was so solid that he walked over four miles to another vessel. His vessel was set free by a westerly breeze, and it passed thirty icebergs in as many miles. The steamer Austria got wedged just as the Portia cleared out. Her captain reported, upon arrival in Boston yesterday, having passed forty icebergs between St. John and Cape Race.

Embattled Breweries.

CHICAGO, April 12. — The Master Brewers publish an advertisement today quoting the resolutions adopted Tuesday to the effect that if the boycott placed on them by the workmen of this city is not removed before the 16th instant they will proceed to reorganize their working force, inviting the men who desire steady work in the breweries to register their names at headquarters. At ten o'clock today 300 applicants for work registered their names and addresses. The secretary of the Master Brewers said if the boycott was not removed by Monday they will proceed to weed out the malcontents and fill their places. The men who work in the breweries show symptoms of alarm at the action of the employers, and many manifest a disposition to rebel against the Central Labor Union and take the disposition of the trouble into their own hands.

The Master Brewers yesterday received a dispatch saying the resolutions adopted by the United States Brewer's Association will be upheld and carried out to the letter. It was signed by the Chicago and Milwaukee Brewer's Association.

NEWARK, April 12—A labor mass meeting was held tonight, and the journeymen brewers were pledged financial aid in case they are locked out by the boss brewers.

Stanley and Jones got twenty-five years in the penitentiary, Simmons fifteen years, and Matthews was released on $1000 bail.

Fatal Wreck.

BRADFORD, Pa., April 12.—The passenger train on the Erie Railroad which left here at 4:25 this morning, collided with a freight train at a point six miles below the city. The 120 cars of which the freight train was composed, together with the two engines, were piled up in a shapeless mass. The Father of Waters Rising.

ST. PAUL, April 12.—The water in the Mississippi passed the danger line for the people living on the flats on the northwest side of the river at 2 o'clock this morning. One or two families moved out yesterday, but before daylight this morning a number found it necessary to vacate. The water rose two feet between 2 and 9 o'clock this morning. At 8 o'clock the water stood thirteen feet at the Signal Service gauge. It rose this afternoon at the rate of three quarters of an inch per hour. Danger from the flood on the flats west of Dakota Avenue, is also imminent.

The De Barrs Arraigned for Conspiracy.

NEW YORK, April 12.—Mrs. Diss De Barr, her husband "General" Diss De Barr, Benjamin Lawrence and his son, Frank Lawrence, who were arrested last night for conspiracy to defraud the septuagenarian lawyer, Luther B. Marsh, through pretended spiritual manifestations, were arraigned in the Tombs this morning. Lawyer William T. Howe appeared against the prisoners on behalf of the relations and friends of Marsh. He said he appeared for the prosecution in the interest of public morality, and also to protect that heretofore respected citizen, Luther B. Marsh, from the delusion under which he is now held by this adventuress and swindler, who calls herself the daughter of Princess Editha Lolo Montez and Countess of Langfeldt, but who was no more that person than he was. Marsh, he continued, had said that if it can be shown that she is not the person that she pretends to be, the "spell" would be ended. "I hope," he concluded, "that Mrs. Diss De Barr will go upon the stand and let me have an opportunity of cross-examining her."

He then produced a copy of an affidavit made by Mrs. Diss De Barr in 1870, in a complaint made by her against Victoria Woodhull, who she accused of retaining $6000 worth of diamonds and bonds she had entrusted to her for safe keeping. In this affidavit, Mrs. Diss De Barr calls herself Editha Gilbert Montez, and it is for the purpose of proving she claimed this to be her name that it is offered. The examination was adjourned until this afternoon to enable the prisoners to secure counsel.

When the case was called this afternoon it was again adjourned until Wednesday next on account of the illness of her lawyer. Judge Kilbreth fixed the bail of Mme. Diss De Barr and her husband at $5000 each and the Lawrences at $2000 each. In default of bail they were locked up in the city jail. Lawyer Marsh did not appear at the hearing.

Inspector Byrnes says Mrs. Diss De Barr has in her possession letters from many prominent business and society men, in which she is termed "Angel Annie" and similar terms. The letters if published, he says, would create the liveliest sensation.

FIFTIETH CONGRESS.

SENATE.

WASHINGTON, April 12.—Among the bills reported from the committees and placed on the calendar, except as otherwise noted, were the following:

Senate bill, adversely, for the relief of captains, pilots, engineers and mates of steam vessels. Indefinitely postponed.

Senate bill, adversely, to increase the pay of army chaplains. Indefinitely postponed.

Stewart offered a resolution, which was adopted, calling on the Secretary of State for information as to the case of John Prussia, a naturalized American citizen, who has been impressed into the military service of France.

The motion to refer the president's annual message was taken up and Coke addressed the Senate. Speaking of the surplus in the treasury, he said that the causes which took that money needlessly from the pockets of the people and the channels of trade were continuing and produced more aggravated results each successive year. Unless the causes were removed or modified a calamity, fatally involving all the industrial interests of the country, must follow. In view of this emergency the president had urgently recommended such a revision of the tariff and a reduction of duties on imports as would reduce the revenues to the limits required for the support of the government. The president was simply voicing the demand that came from the people of the whole country. Coke said the consumers did not complain of the tax on distilled spirits, malt liquors and tobacco, as that tax added nothing to the cost of living, and it was not strange that the Presidents should recommend its retention and that the necessary reduction of revenue be made by cutting down the tariff taxes. If the reduction should be made in this way, $5 of the tribute paid by the people to the manufacturers would be cut off for every dollar cut off from the revenue. High tariff protection was demanded on the ground of the necessity of protecting American labor against European pauper competition. A more false, heartless and groundless pretext had never been invented to justify or cover up a great wrong. It was on the farmers of the country that the protective tariff fell with the most crushing weight. Wool should be placed on the free list, but it ought to be done in the interest of the consumer, not of the manufacturer. To allow the manufacture of free, untaxed wool 40 or 50 per cent protection for the manufactured article, would be an outrage. He regarded sugar as the best revenue-paying item on the tariff list, and one carrying with it less of incidental burden than any other, and thought it would therefore be well to leave the duty on sugar as it was. The attention of the people could not be diverted from the real question at issue. The sectional bloody-shirt canvass had already commenced by the republican party, for the purpose of blinding the people with passion, so they might not see how and by whom they were being plundered.

At the close of Coke's speech, the Senate resumed consideration of the bill to provide for the admission of South Dakota and the organization of the Territory of North Dakota.

Harpie spoke in opposition to the bill of the majority of the committee, and in support of that of the minority. South Dakota, he said, was not a Territory nor a division of the Union. It was merely a geographical expression. He denied the right of the people of a Territory to establish a division of it, and said the people of the whole Union had a right to be heard as to the propriety of such a division. There had been an expression of the popular will at the convention in Aberdeen last December. The people of the whole Territory were against the division, and desired an enabling act as provided for the minority bill.

Dalton spoke in favor of the majority bill. Reviewing the history of the question he declared that in every instance where a vote was taken in favor of the admission of the State of South Dakota, the republican senators had all voted for it and the democrats were all against it, and when the bill went to the House of Representatives, that distinguished democratic body referred it to the committee on territories, where it was at once reported back adversely. This Territory had been knocking at the doors of Congress for years. It had a population very much larger than any other Territory ever admitted as a state. The opposition to the admission of Dakota was based on the fact that the democrats did not want any further political complications thrust upon the country until after the next presidential election.

Butler (South Carolina) said that he had voted steadily to admit the whole of Dakota as a state and would do so now.

Mr. Cullom, continuing, said: "The figures of the electoral college will not be changed before 1892. You may prevent us changing the figures, through the admission of South Dakota, but we intend to change the figures by our honest vote of the states already in. I think I am warranted in saying that this bill has come to be a subject of serious caucus convention by the democrats of the two houses. I suppose it has been decreed that no bill shall pass Congress admitting Dakota as a state until after the next Presidential election."

Mr. Butler—I am sure my friend from Illinois will not require the votes of that Territory at the next election. I understand he has been announced as a republican candidate. I think he will have enough votes without Dakota.

Cullom—(Laughing)—I think so, too, but still I would like to have them.

"Perhaps," Mr. Butler replied, "our amiable friend from Iowa may have something to say on the subject."

Allison intimated by a gesture that he had nothing to say.

"Then perhaps the Senator from Vermont may have something to say," suggested Butler.

"I shall have something to say on the subject," was Edmunds's reply.

The Senate proceeded to executive business, and soon adjourned till Monday.
