

ROOSEVELT HOLDS RECORD

In British East African Protectorate for Killing of Lions.

NUMBER TO HIS CREDIT SIX

Sleeping Sickness Commission Wants Him to Pay Visit to Expedition's Camp.

Gov. Sir Hesketh Bell Describes the Condition and Appearance of Those Suffering from Dread Disease.

Nairobi, E. A., May 5.—Theodore Roosevelt went hunting again yesterday and before the chase was over two more big lions had fallen before his gun. These animals were encountered and killed in the tall grass.

Mr. Roosevelt now holds the record for lion killing in the protectorate. Since Saturday of last week a total of five lions and one lioness have been bagged by him.

MAY INVESTIGATE SLEEPING SICKNESS.

Nairobi, E. A., Saturday, May 4.—The sleeping sickness commission is hoping that Theodore Roosevelt will pay a visit to the expedition's camp at Sessa, Uganda, where Sir David and Lady Bruce are in charge of the segregation hospitals. The governments of Germany, France, Belgium, as well as the government of the United Kingdom, are loyally working together endeavoring to find a cure or preventive for the sleeping sickness. Altogether seven European doctors have succeeded to cope with the fatal disease since the commission.

Gov. Sir Hesketh Bell, in appealing to the millionaires of the world and others benevolently disposed for money gifts to enable him to purchase and slaughter stock to gratify the one and only craving of those whose suffering is so intense, which is summed up in the word "meat," describes his latest visit to the camp in part as follows:

CAMP DESCRIBED.

"The patients were lodged in large thatched huts and were divided according to sex and the various stages of the disease. In one enclosure we saw a number of infants in whom the first outward signs of the scourge were just appearing. Unaware of their impending doom, the little black mites played and romped to their hearts' content in the shade of the banana grove, and only the swelled glands at the base of their necks showed that they were suffering from the dread disease. I was sad indeed to think that in a short time, those merry peals of laughter would gradually become more and more rare and that all these poor little creatures in whom the joy of life was constantly afflicted, after a year or two of misery be laid in the crowded cemetery that I could just see between the trees.

"In a low of sheds surrounded by the banana grove, I saw the supply of food for the patients, we saw numbers of those who had reached the second stage of the disease. Most of them appeared to be suffering from the disease, and I was sad indeed to think that in a short time, those merry peals of laughter would gradually become more and more rare and that all these poor little creatures in whom the joy of life was constantly afflicted, after a year or two of misery be laid in the crowded cemetery that I could just see between the trees.

"In a low of sheds surrounded by the banana grove, I saw the supply of food for the patients, we saw numbers of those who had reached the second stage of the disease. Most of them appeared to be suffering from the disease, and I was sad indeed to think that in a short time, those merry peals of laughter would gradually become more and more rare and that all these poor little creatures in whom the joy of life was constantly afflicted, after a year or two of misery be laid in the crowded cemetery that I could just see between the trees.

"In a low of sheds surrounded by the banana grove, I saw the supply of food for the patients, we saw numbers of those who had reached the second stage of the disease. Most of them appeared to be suffering from the disease, and I was sad indeed to think that in a short time, those merry peals of laughter would gradually become more and more rare and that all these poor little creatures in whom the joy of life was constantly afflicted, after a year or two of misery be laid in the crowded cemetery that I could just see between the trees.

"In a low of sheds surrounded by the banana grove, I saw the supply of food for the patients, we saw numbers of those who had reached the second stage of the disease. Most of them appeared to be suffering from the disease, and I was sad indeed to think that in a short time, those merry peals of laughter would gradually become more and more rare and that all these poor little creatures in whom the joy of life was constantly afflicted, after a year or two of misery be laid in the crowded cemetery that I could just see between the trees.

"In a low of sheds surrounded by the banana grove, I saw the supply of food for the patients, we saw numbers of those who had reached the second stage of the disease. Most of them appeared to be suffering from the disease, and I was sad indeed to think that in a short time, those merry peals of laughter would gradually become more and more rare and that all these poor little creatures in whom the joy of life was constantly afflicted, after a year or two of misery be laid in the crowded cemetery that I could just see between the trees.

"In a low of sheds surrounded by the banana grove, I saw the supply of food for the patients, we saw numbers of those who had reached the second stage of the disease. Most of them appeared to be suffering from the disease, and I was sad indeed to think that in a short time, those merry peals of laughter would gradually become more and more rare and that all these poor little creatures in whom the joy of life was constantly afflicted, after a year or two of misery be laid in the crowded cemetery that I could just see between the trees.

"In a low of sheds surrounded by the banana grove, I saw the supply of food for the patients, we saw numbers of those who had reached the second stage of the disease. Most of them appeared to be suffering from the disease, and I was sad indeed to think that in a short time, those merry peals of laughter would gradually become more and more rare and that all these poor little creatures in whom the joy of life was constantly afflicted, after a year or two of misery be laid in the crowded cemetery that I could just see between the trees.

"In a low of sheds surrounded by the banana grove, I saw the supply of food for the patients, we saw numbers of those who had reached the second stage of the disease. Most of them appeared to be suffering from the disease, and I was sad indeed to think that in a short time, those merry peals of laughter would gradually become more and more rare and that all these poor little creatures in whom the joy of life was constantly afflicted, after a year or two of misery be laid in the crowded cemetery that I could just see between the trees.

"In a low of sheds surrounded by the banana grove, I saw the supply of food for the patients, we saw numbers of those who had reached the second stage of the disease. Most of them appeared to be suffering from the disease, and I was sad indeed to think that in a short time, those merry peals of laughter would gradually become more and more rare and that all these poor little creatures in whom the joy of life was constantly afflicted, after a year or two of misery be laid in the crowded cemetery that I could just see between the trees.

"In a low of sheds surrounded by the banana grove, I saw the supply of food for the patients, we saw numbers of those who had reached the second stage of the disease. Most of them appeared to be suffering from the disease, and I was sad indeed to think that in a short time, those merry peals of laughter would gradually become more and more rare and that all these poor little creatures in whom the joy of life was constantly afflicted, after a year or two of misery be laid in the crowded cemetery that I could just see between the trees.

"In a low of sheds surrounded by the banana grove, I saw the supply of food for the patients, we saw numbers of those who had reached the second stage of the disease. Most of them appeared to be suffering from the disease, and I was sad indeed to think that in a short time, those merry peals of laughter would gradually become more and more rare and that all these poor little creatures in whom the joy of life was constantly afflicted, after a year or two of misery be laid in the crowded cemetery that I could just see between the trees.

"In a low of sheds surrounded by the banana grove, I saw the supply of food for the patients, we saw numbers of those who had reached the second stage of the disease. Most of them appeared to be suffering from the disease, and I was sad indeed to think that in a short time, those merry peals of laughter would gradually become more and more rare and that all these poor little creatures in whom the joy of life was constantly afflicted, after a year or two of misery be laid in the crowded cemetery that I could just see between the trees.

"In a low of sheds surrounded by the banana grove, I saw the supply of food for the patients, we saw numbers of those who had reached the second stage of the disease. Most of them appeared to be suffering from the disease, and I was sad indeed to think that in a short time, those merry peals of laughter would gradually become more and more rare and that all these poor little creatures in whom the joy of life was constantly afflicted, after a year or two of misery be laid in the crowded cemetery that I could just see between the trees.

"In a low of sheds surrounded by the banana grove, I saw the supply of food for the patients, we saw numbers of those who had reached the second stage of the disease. Most of them appeared to be suffering from the disease, and I was sad indeed to think that in a short time, those merry peals of laughter would gradually become more and more rare and that all these poor little creatures in whom the joy of life was constantly afflicted, after a year or two of misery be laid in the crowded cemetery that I could just see between the trees.

"In a low of sheds surrounded by the banana grove, I saw the supply of food for the patients, we saw numbers of those who had reached the second stage of the disease. Most of them appeared to be suffering from the disease, and I was sad indeed to think that in a short time, those merry peals of laughter would gradually become more and more rare and that all these poor little creatures in whom the joy of life was constantly afflicted, after a year or two of misery be laid in the crowded cemetery that I could just see between the trees.

"In a low of sheds surrounded by the banana grove, I saw the supply of food for the patients, we saw numbers of those who had reached the second stage of the disease. Most of them appeared to be suffering from the disease, and I was sad indeed to think that in a short time, those merry peals of laughter would gradually become more and more rare and that all these poor little creatures in whom the joy of life was constantly afflicted, after a year or two of misery be laid in the crowded cemetery that I could just see between the trees.

AN AUTO TRAGEDY.

Her Boy Killed, Mother Attempts to Commit Suicide.

New York, May 5.—On learning that her 7-year-old son, Arthur Carpenter, had been run down by an automobile last night, Mrs. Margaret Carpenter rushed to Roosevelt hospital only to learn that the lad had died a few minutes before her arrival. Returning to her home in Sixth avenue the distressed mother was preparing to commit suicide by hanging herself from a chandelier when her aged mother interceded and begged her to remember her other children.

Mrs. Carpenter had already fastened a clothline about her neck and was about to kick the chair from under her when her mother interfered. A few minutes later Mrs. Carpenter, sobbing frantically, rushed from her apartment and disappeared in the street. Neighbors say they saw her running toward the North river.

Although the police searched all night, no trace was found of Mrs. Carpenter or her relatives express the fear that she might have done away with herself.

HE'S A GOOD ONE.

Harold Sanborn Has Clash With Mexicans and Kills Six.

Vera Cruz, Mex., May 5.—Harold Sanborn, son of president Sanborn of the Santa Fe railroad company and the Sanborn Lumber company, is in jail about to kick the chair from under her when her mother interfered. A few minutes later Mrs. Carpenter, sobbing frantically, rushed from her apartment and disappeared in the street. Neighbors say they saw her running toward the North river.

Although the police searched all night, no trace was found of Mrs. Carpenter or her relatives express the fear that she might have done away with herself.

HE'S A GOOD ONE.

Harold Sanborn Has Clash With Mexicans and Kills Six.

Vera Cruz, Mex., May 5.—Harold Sanborn, son of president Sanborn of the Santa Fe railroad company and the Sanborn Lumber company, is in jail about to kick the chair from under her when her mother interfered. A few minutes later Mrs. Carpenter, sobbing frantically, rushed from her apartment and disappeared in the street. Neighbors say they saw her running toward the North river.

Although the police searched all night, no trace was found of Mrs. Carpenter or her relatives express the fear that she might have done away with herself.

HE'S A GOOD ONE.

Harold Sanborn Has Clash With Mexicans and Kills Six.

Vera Cruz, Mex., May 5.—Harold Sanborn, son of president Sanborn of the Santa Fe railroad company and the Sanborn Lumber company, is in jail about to kick the chair from under her when her mother interfered. A few minutes later Mrs. Carpenter, sobbing frantically, rushed from her apartment and disappeared in the street. Neighbors say they saw her running toward the North river.

Although the police searched all night, no trace was found of Mrs. Carpenter or her relatives express the fear that she might have done away with herself.

HE'S A GOOD ONE.

Harold Sanborn Has Clash With Mexicans and Kills Six.

Vera Cruz, Mex., May 5.—Harold Sanborn, son of president Sanborn of the Santa Fe railroad company and the Sanborn Lumber company, is in jail about to kick the chair from under her when her mother interfered. A few minutes later Mrs. Carpenter, sobbing frantically, rushed from her apartment and disappeared in the street. Neighbors say they saw her running toward the North river.

Although the police searched all night, no trace was found of Mrs. Carpenter or her relatives express the fear that she might have done away with herself.

HE'S A GOOD ONE.

Harold Sanborn Has Clash With Mexicans and Kills Six.

Vera Cruz, Mex., May 5.—Harold Sanborn, son of president Sanborn of the Santa Fe railroad company and the Sanborn Lumber company, is in jail about to kick the chair from under her when her mother interfered. A few minutes later Mrs. Carpenter, sobbing frantically, rushed from her apartment and disappeared in the street. Neighbors say they saw her running toward the North river.

Although the police searched all night, no trace was found of Mrs. Carpenter or her relatives express the fear that she might have done away with herself.

HE'S A GOOD ONE.

Harold Sanborn Has Clash With Mexicans and Kills Six.

Vera Cruz, Mex., May 5.—Harold Sanborn, son of president Sanborn of the Santa Fe railroad company and the Sanborn Lumber company, is in jail about to kick the chair from under her when her mother interfered. A few minutes later Mrs. Carpenter, sobbing frantically, rushed from her apartment and disappeared in the street. Neighbors say they saw her running toward the North river.

Although the police searched all night, no trace was found of Mrs. Carpenter or her relatives express the fear that she might have done away with herself.

COMPULSORY PEACE INCUBATOR OF WAR

Declares Alfred H. Love, President of Universal Peace Union at Peace Congress.

HE SCORED UNITED STATES.

Showing Our Boasted Instruments of Death—Atlantic Fleet—To World Lamentable Page in Our History.

Chicago, May 5.—The deliberations of the peace congress were rudely disturbed today when A. M. Simons, a socialist editor, attempted to secure formal recognition of Socialism as the "greatest peace force in the world."

It happened after the congress had officially adopted a platform in strict keeping with its well known principles among broad lines, carefully avoided matters of sectional or political controversy.

Mr. Simons arose with 400 words of whereases and "Be it Resolved," outlining Socialist beliefs and accomplishments, and attributing the causes of war to "the exploitation of labor and the impoverishment of those who toil."

Great confusion followed. The regular platform had been read and amidst the turmoil aroused by the Simons' resolutions there were repeated calls for the original question. On a viva voce vote the report of the resolutions committee carried unanimously.

The question then returned to the adoption of the Socialist resolutions. Secretary Melendy arose to state that he thought industrial causes of war should be recognized and likewise the efforts of those organizations which make for peace, but he could not vote for the resolutions as presented. He suggested a substitute resolution less radical.

"If there is any way by which this recognition of which Mr. Melendy speaks can be secured, I am sure the Socialists and trade unions will be glad to make an amendment that will recognize this fact," said Mr. Simons.

J. E. Iglehart opposed the Simons' resolutions, saying: "My opinion that this convention will lose more or less of its moral force, especially with the countries of Europe, if we interject a partisan view of any question like this into the record."

Amid much confusion the resolution was tabled by a standing vote of two to one.

"Compulsory peace is an incubator of war; preparation for war is a menace of war; broken treaties of peace are peace breakers," declared H. Love, president of the Universal Peace union, in an address at the last day's session here today of the second national peace congress. It is a lamentable page in our history," continued Mr. Love, "showing to the world the gigantic destructive Dreadnoughts, our boasted instruments of death, causing other nations to imitate this cowardly, selfish and unbecomingly nationalistic policy in their arms races."

Mr. Love's address was a masterpiece of the psalmist when he says "The Lord is our refuge and our strength."

An exchange of views took place between the diplomatic representatives of various nations and a business session to consider the principal results of the gathering constituted the day's work.

Joseph B. Moore, justice of the supreme court of Michigan, presided over the business session.

Mrs. Fannie Fern Andrews of Boston, secretary of the American School Peace league, told of the work of that organization.

"The American School Peace league," she said, "aims to secure the co-operation of the educational public of America in promoting international justice and equity. The league aims to acquaint the public of America in order that the teachers may be influenced to emphasize the broad humanitarian principles of peace and justice, who transcend all national boundaries. The teaching of history, geography, science and literature lends itself admirably to this end."

Other speakers were the Rev. J. L. Tryon of Boston, assistant secretary of the American Peace society, who spoke of "The London Peace Congress of 1908," and the Rev. Gilbert Bowles of New York, who spoke of the "League of Nations."

Dr. Barthold of Missouri presided at the international greetings session. The principal speakers were Count Johann Heinrich von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, Mr. Wang Fang, the Chinese ambassador, and Secy. of the Interior Richard A. Ballinger.

THE GREAT SUNOL IS DEAD.

Philadelphia, May 5.—Sunol, 2:03:4, the former queen of the trotting turf, died yesterday at Newton Square, Pa., where she was on a breeding farm. Sunol was foaled in 1886 at the Palo Alto (California) stock farm of J. Leland Stanford, her sire being Electioneer.

CLAIM VICTORY OVER GAMBLING INTERESTS

Reno, Nev., May 5.—The municipal or clean government league won a great victory over the gambling and saloon interests here yesterday, electing three out of four councilmen and securing control of the city council for the coming two years. The independents elected a city clerk and police judge while the liberal ticket elected a mayor and one councilman. The fight was extremely close and exciting. A. M. Britt, the brewer, being elected mayor over Walter Harris, the candidate for mayor by a scant 15 votes. One councilman was elected by a vote of six. No party fight was made, but rather the election was the contest of the factions who will try to elect George H. Kilborn, or George S. Nixon, the incumbent, United States senator from Nevada in 1910.

POSTMASTERS AND PATENTS.

(Special to the "News.")

Washington, D. C., May 5.—Idaho postmasters appointed—Big Island, Nez Perce county, Claude Wilkinson, vice J. C. Colwell, resigned.

Lenore, Nez Perce county, William E. Willis, vice J. F. Cook, resigned.

Patents issued—Idaho—O. Gunther, Kellogg, door springs; Wyoming—E. Krueger, Rawlins, saddle.

NEWHOUSE PLANS BIG RACE TRACK

Says Interest of the People is the Only Thing That is Lacking.

EASTERN MONEY INTERESTED

Site for Proposed Venture Was Looked Over This Morning by The Promoters.

"Salt Lake can be the racing center of the United States," was the declaration of Samuel Newhouse, made this morning, while discussing the possibilities and probabilities of a Greater Salt Lake. "This city is the natural racing center of the country; and if the people want it, they can get it."

"Just this morning I have been out looking over an ideal spot for a race course, the proper soil, the proper conditions exist here, and the capital, both local and outside, stands ready to take hold of the proposition and transform the natural conditions here, assisted by the efforts of the citizens into a racing center rivaling Sheepshead bay, Charter Oak park, Hawthorn park and Oakland park in California."

"Salt Lake City is the chief point of interest right now over the entire country. Tourists traveling from coast to coast make it a point to stop off at Salt Lake City either going or coming; the town is a natural hotel center, and I welcome the building of the Utah Hotel on north Main because it means a greater Salt Lake—a greater capacity to handle the flood of visitors who are bound to come to Salt Lake in constantly increasing numbers. As time goes by, and as her reputation for being the best city in the intermountain country, and I might say the entire west becomes more widespread."

WEALTHY MEN ATTRACTED.

"Men of wealth are naturally attracted to this city, and when they come they see the possibilities for a mighty city which are here apparent. Therefore I say that to go to work with the determination to bring the race horses and the country to this city is a central spot, where owners of thoroughbreds may stop in their transcontinental tours with both pleasure and profit."

"Local capitalists now stand ready to take the proposition up, and I know that eastern capitalists are interested in the matter. It remains only for the people of this city to exhibit a friendly spirit towards the venture, and the project is almost as good as accomplished."

In reply to a question, Mr. Newhouse stated that the construction of the great racetrack house contemplated by him was an actual fact. "The structure will be built," said Mr. Newhouse, "and it will be a monster."

Although he did not give out the nature of the business to be conducted in the new building, nor the place where it would be located, the understanding was given out that the new building would be a "sky-scraper" variety and would house one of the largest mercantile concerns in the west. According to plans at present projected for the structure, it is said that it will contain at least three street entrances.

CONTRACTORS DESERT JOB.

Mayor Bransford Receives Notice to This Effect Today.

The fact was announced to Mayor Bransford, over the telephone this morning, by a former member of the city council, that Contractors Davis & Hauser, who were awarded the contract to build the west North Temple street aqueduct, had "quit the job," and were removing their effects. The mayor replied he had not had official information of such action on the part of the contractors; but would immediately take such steps as were possible to protect the residents of this part of the city from the damage due to threatening floods.

The contract was awarded Feb. 28, and up to date, May 5, only 12 blocks even of the aqueduct have been constructed. At this rate, the street would remain all torn up during fair week, restricting the streetcars to one track, and at present, operating very unsatisfactorily to the expedient service absolutely necessary at such time; and in fact, the aqueduct could hardly be completed before the 1st of November.

Local observers have noted the entire absence of dredging machinery, in this work, the sole instruments for excavation being picks and shovels.

ANOTHER RUNAWAY BAGGED BY POLICE

Earl Melke of Colorado Springs is Latest Victim of Wanderlust to Be Picked Up.

This being the open season for runaway boys, another was bagged by the police this morning, Earl Melke, aged 13 years, who left his home at Colorado Springs a week ago "to see the world," as he expressed it.

Earl's objective point in the world was California, but there was a noticeable lack of relief on his countenance when the officers picked him up at the depot and told him that his father had telegraphed that he should be returned home.

He is spending the day in company with little Bryan Alexander, the boy who is on the way to his mother in Tennessee, while arrangements are being made for his return to Colorado, and the two lads have got to be chummy.

Earl's only excuse for running away from home is that he wanted to see some of the world outside of Colorado Springs, but he does not hesitate to admit that he has seen enough of it now.

REMARKABLE CASE OF MRS. DELLINGER

After a Murder Was Committed She Dreamed She Saw One of Murderers Pick Up Revolver.

THREW IT INTO A CEMETERY.

Weapon Found There—Man Arrested Confessed, and Said He Disposed Of It as Woman Described.

New York, May 5.—Prof. James H. Hyslop, of the society of the psychical research, who with Dr. Isaac K. Funk, has revealed many of the mysteries of spiritualism in the forthcoming Journal of Psychical Research, the remarkable case of Mrs. Susan Dellinger of York, Pa., Prof. Hyslop has spent many years in endeavoring to discover any actual facts which would prove the existence of a spirit world. In the case of Mrs. Dellinger he believes a material fact has been found.

William E. Hooper and his brother Curvin, were shot and killed near a little church yard at York. Three young men were arrested and charged with the murder. Mrs. Dellinger, according to Prof. Hyslop, dreamed two nights after the crime that she had seen one of the alleged slayers, Snyder, pick up a revolver and throw it over the cemetery fence where it fell by the side of a grave, on which she read in her dream the epitaph of Curtis Site. On relating her dream the following day to her son, Mrs. Dellinger described minutely where the revolver was seen by her in vision, and said that it could be observed from outside the fence. The son went to the cemetery and found the weapon exactly where she had described.

Snyder subsequently confessed to the chief of police, according to Prof. Hyslop, and said that he had disposed of the revolver in exactly the manner described by Mrs. Dellinger in her vision.

WILL MOVE VIADUCT.

Committee from Council and O. S. L. Officials Arrive at an Agreement.

The committee appointed by the city council and the Oregon Short Line officials this morning arrived at an agreement on the viaduct controversy. The proposition submitted by the railroad company was one entailing the moving of the bridge for pedestrians across the Short Line to a point within a short distance north of the sidewalk of South Temple street across the street. This will necessitate passing through the public entrance of the new depot of the Oregon Short Line to the north wing.

The committee, which was made up of Messrs. Black, Fernstrom, Holley, Raybould, and Wood, went down to the union station this morning and there finally passed the yard and the new viaduct. Under the arrangement proposed by the railroad officials there will be a landing west of the depot which will not interfere with the passenger routes.

The officials who accompanied the committee and discussed the proposition on the ground were Vice President of the Oregon Short Line, W. H. Bancroft, Gen. Passenger Agent D. S. Spencer, William Ashton, chief engineer, and his assistant.

When the committee signed acceptance of the compromise the city council finally passed upon it. The moving of the viaduct from its present location will be somewhat of an engineering feat.

TESTING OUTLET SEWER.

Official Contractor Has Officials as His Guests Today.

The outlet sewer pipe which was turned over to P. J. Moran, the official contractor, to complete, will be tested this afternoon. Mayor Bransford, members of the council and board of public works, will leave the Wilson hotel at 2 o'clock this afternoon to inspect the pipe. The wooden stave pipe has been uncovered and about 37 leaks have been repaired. A pressure of 50 pounds to the square inch is required by the plans and specifications.

It is rumored that the pipe still leaks and many of the city officials doubt whether the pipe will stand the test under any condition. It is probable that the wooden stave pipe will have to be taken out and replaced with cast iron pipe which will cost the taxpayers several thousand dollars.

ENEERATED TOURIST.

Police Pick Up a Prosperous Individual Taking a Morning's Nap.

With $113.45 in one pocket, a quart bottle of whisky in another and an indeterminate number of drinks inside, J. M. Forsythe, a sight-seeing tourist traveling from Pennsylvania to Seattle, Wash., was found by Patrolman Pierce last asleep in a chair in a Greek resort at 529 west Second South street this morning.

When taken to the police station for "safe-keeping" the tourist made manifest the fact that his one desire at this time is to have "a good time," and "see everything there is to see," including the "let's have another."

Patsy had entered the Greek place about 6 o'clock this morning and sat down for the rest that produced sleep. He will be released after he recovers from his sight-seeing tour of Greentown in Salt Lake.

RIDING HOME ON CUSHIONS.

Two Runaway Boys Put on Train by Police Today.

"Geel! it'll be good to ride the cushions back."

With this expression and his face beaming with a happy smile, Harry Whitthorne with his companion Christ Bade, left police headquarters this morning to start on their return to

CREEKS AGAIN ON A RAMPAGE

Raging Torrent Rushes from Parley's Canyon, Flooding The Lowlands.

OTHER STREAMS ARE HIGH.

Land Commissioner and Street Supervisor Using Many Men.

Every Effort is Being Made to Prevent Damage by Overflow—Tracks Under Water.

With the by-pass washed out Parley's creek is a raging torrent this morning. The water is racing unconfined down Twelfth South street filling collars of the stores at Twelfth South and Eleventh East streets and washing out deep gullies in the street. The Ninth South street canal has overflowed at Eighth West street and the surrounding country is under water. The water washed out the spur track at the Portland cement quarry in Parley's canyon and has flooded the main tracks of the Rio Grande Western railroad in several places. It is reported that some damage has been done to the roadbed above Parley's canyon reservoir. Below the reservoir where the water has left the channel it is running down between the rails.

Land and Water Commissioner Frank Mathews has dumped several car loads of rock at the end of the by-pass and has turned some of the water into the private canals to reduce the stream so that it can be handled. The weather today has been favorable and it is believed that the water will recede before night.

Jake Raleigh, street supervisor, has a gang of men working on the Ninth South street canal. It is believed that the water can be kept under control, however, without much damage.

According to City Engineer, L. C. Kelsey, the by-pass will have to be replaced by a cement conduit next year in order to hold the stream in Parley's canyon under control in high water. This will cost $15,000, but the city has no money to put in the improvement.

The two warm days seemed to affect Parley's canyon more than any of the streams. The water shed is open and much larger than on any of the other streams, the bulk of the water is coming from Mountain Park creek and in several places the road has been damaged by the flood, in the canyon.

HONEST MAN FINDS JEWELS IN CABBAGE

Rings, Watches and Other Valuables Discovered While Rummaging in Plum Alley.

While rummaging through a garbage can at the corner of Plum alley and second South streets this forenoon in search of empty bottles, an old man found among the rubbish a quantity of jewelry, consisting mainly of gold rings and brooches with the settings removed, the assortment giving the appearance of its having been stolen stuff thrown there by the thieves after they had obtained such stones as they considered of value.

The finder, whose name was not taken, reported the matter to Patrolman Olson, and the stuff was taken to police headquarters. Among the articles were four lady's gold rings, which thought to have been set with diamonds, a fraternity or college pin with the initials "C. U. F. W.", a silver leaf-shaped brooch, earrings of old design, a black case watch and other smaller articles of jewelry.

THREATENED TO KILL WIFE.

Virginia Wright Brings the Charge, Which is Denied.

Edwin Wright, an elderly man, formerly of Salt Lake, but now engaged in mining at Butte, was arraigned before Judge Bowman this morning on a charge of threatening to commit murder, preferred by his wife, E. Virginia Wright, who with two daughters resides in Salt Lake. The complaint, to which Wright pleaded not guilty, alleges that on May 1 he told his wife that "he would kill or murder her."

Wright stoutly denies ever having made such a threat. It is said that some time ago he gave to his wife $17,000