

REV. G. W. TOMSON COMMITTS SUICIDE

Pastor of Woodbury Presbyterian Church, Woodbury, N. J. Ends
Life With a Pistol.

WAS FOUND DEAD IN A HOTEL

Scandalous Stories His—Names of Several Women Are Connected With the Dead Man's.

Woodbury, N. J., April 17.—This quiet little town was greatly shocked today over the sensational suicide of the Rev. George W. Tomson, pastor of the Woodbury Presbyterian church, and the subsequent developments which involved the names of at least three women of this place. Mr. Tomson was found dead in the Newton hotel today with a bullet in his brain. At first those who knew him would not believe that he had died by his own hand but the evidence to that effect was so strong that they at last had to admit that it was only too true. But the sensation caused by his suicide was as nothing compared with the conditions that were developed when the clergyman's friends searched for a motive for his act.

Now that the clergyman is dead there are many stories coming out as to the life he led, but how many of them are true it is impossible to ascertain.

A week ago his engagement was announced to Miss Fannie Kenworthy, a wealthy member of the church. Mr. Tomson was 45 years old. No reason for the suicide is known.

When Mr. Tomson's engagement became known a woman who lived at the same hotel where Mr. Tomson resided began to circulate reports involving Mr. Tomson. This so aroused the women members of the church that on Monday last a delegation of the women of the congregation called on the hotel. This was a stormy scene, it is said, and as a result the woman left Woodbury that evening. She has gone to the Pacific coast, it is claimed. It is believed Mr. Tomson shot himself between 5 and 6 o'clock last evening. He attended a convention of a missionary society in the afternoon and delivered an address. He had an engagement to call on Mrs. Kenworthy last evening and when he did not appear she telephoned to a prominent member of the church. A searching party was organized and efforts to locate him were made. At 12:30 o'clock last night his room at the hotel was looked into. The bed was untouched and the searchers went away.

It is thought Mr. Tomson was lying dead on the floor on the opposite side of the bed at the time. It was here that the body was found today. It is said by guests of the hotel that at the time of the announcement of Mr. Tomson's engagement to Mrs. Kenworthy, the clergyman and the woman in the case had a violent scene. She is alleged to have said that she would not marry any other woman to come between them.

"He owes me," she is alleged to have said, "all the love and duty belonging to a wife, and I shall not permit him to desert me."

It is also reported at a meeting of Sunday school teachers held last Thursday night, the woman, who was a member of Mr. Tomson's church, denounced Mr. Tomson, calling him "a hypocrite."

At the coroner's inquest this afternoon, a verdict was rendered to the effect that Mr. Tomson had shot himself while suffering from aberration of the brain.

THROUGH FT. DOUGLAS. Senator Sutherland Secures Passage Of Bill for Conduit

Washington, D. C., April 17.—Senator Sutherland this morning called and secured the passage through the senate the bill granting a right of way to Salt Lake City for a conduit to convey water through Fort Douglas military reservation.

GEN. CONNOR MONUMENT BILL FAVORABLY REPORTED

(Special to the "News.")
Washington, D. C., April 17.—A bill introduced by Senator Sutherland, providing an appropriation of $20,000 for the erection of a monument to the memory of Gen. Patrick Edward Connor, to be erected at Salt Lake City, was favorably reported to the senate this morning from the committee on library. Senator Sutherland will call it up at the earliest opportunity, and with a favorable report at its back it will undoubtedly pass.

A RARE ANIMAL.

Cleopatra, the Auroch in Bronx Zoo, Operated On.

New York, April 17.—Because of the rarity of her species, the entire force of animal keepers at the Bronx zoological park was drafted yesterday for the careful handling of Cleopatra, one of the pair of aurochs, or European bison, in whose hoof had become lodged a wire nail that called for immediate extraction. Their task was successfully accomplished, but not until Dr. W. Reed Blair, the zoo's veterinarian, with Head Keeper Thurman had been driven from the corral a half dozen times by the maddened animal.

Dr. Blair performed the operation with the bison stretched out with a rope on each leg. So difficult was the task of roping and binding her, that it took the keepers three hours. As rope after rope broke, the injured aurochs would charge on the keepers hollering and bellowing while they scampered over the fence. The exciting performance attracted a big crowd of visitors to the corral.

More than 100 men were in handling Cleopatra on account of the rarity of her species. It is said, it being the only specimen in America. The auroch, like the American buffalo, is disappearing, there being only one forest in Europe where any exist. There are a few hundred in a forest in Lithuania, where they are protected by the Russian emperor. A count made by his direction in 1872, showed there were only 728 left and they have diminished since. It is impossible to domesticate them. The European bison is larger and stronger than its American cousin.

TWO FIREMEN MAKE A THRILLING RESCUE

New York, April 17.—Two firemen who were taking a day off made a thrilling rescue on the top floor of a burning tenement in Third avenue today by forming a human chain from the roof of an adjoining house and swinging to safety George Deltz, who had been caught by the fire in the hallway of the building.

Deltz awoke from a sound sleep, startled and confused, to find flames coming

CUTICURA A STAND-BY THAT NEVER FAILS HER

"I just can't say enough for the Cuticura Remedies. I can't find words big enough to express my thanks to God for hearing of the wonderful remedies. My baby had a burning sore on her neck and nothing that I did for it took effect until I used Cuticura. My face was nearly full of better or some similar skin disease. It would itch and, after scratching, it burned so that I could hardly stand it. Two cakes of Cuticura Soap and a box of Cuticura Ointment cured me in two years after it broke out on my hands and wrist. I cured it for a while, but it came again in the summer. Sometimes I would go nearly crazy for it itched so badly. I used ten dollars' worth of so-called blood medicines which did no good at all, then I went back to my old stand-by, Cuticura Soap, Cuticura Ointment, and Cuticura Resolvent did the work. One set also cured my uncle's baby whose head was a cake of scurf. I know of another woman's baby who was in the same fix and nothing else did any good. I speak a word of praise for Cuticura whenever I see a case that needs it. Mrs. Lillie Wilcher, 770 Eleventh St., Chattanooga, Tenn., Feb. 16, 1907."

up through the areaway. He ran first to the front of the building but there was no escaping in that direction and when he tried to go back was confronted by a sheet of fire. The young man again ran to the front window and screamed for help. The firemen did not have ladders long enough to reach to the top floor where Deltz was hemmed in.

Firemen Dugan and Sythes were off duty but were near the place when the alarm was sounded. They climbed into the building next door and peered on the coping which was several feet higher than the window in which Deltz was standing. They called to him to climb out on the window sill.

Then Sythes crawled to the edge of the coping, Dugan holding his feet. Slowly and carefully the perilous feat of gaining a swing so that Sythes could reach Deltz's hands was accomplished. Held fast by the firemen, Deltz let go of the window casing and for several moments the two men were swinging in midair. Meantime Dugan was crawling backwards. He regained his feet and was then able to pull the two men to the coping. A great crowd which had gathered in the street, cheered the daring rescue.

FALLING FROM HEIGHTS.

The Sensation As Described By One Who Has Tried It.

A German scientist, Prof. Albert Heim, who fell over a precipice in the Alps, but lived to tell the tale, makes that story a very encouraging account to those with an inclination to high jumps and the like.

His fall was only seventy feet, yet that would be more than enough to satisfy a temperate person. He has narrated his sensations in minute detail.

At first, says the Gateway, he seemed to himself to be flying through the air. His fall really could have occupied only a few seconds, but his train of thought was long and full of interesting detail.

"I clearly saw," he says, "the possibility of my fate. I said to myself: The rocky wall from which I am now being hurled prevents my seeing what is at its base. The snow may be melted there, or there may be none; if there is any, my life may be saved. Otherwise death is inevitable."

If I am conscious on reaching the ground I have by me a bottle of aromatics and my alpenstock. I will still grasp it, for it may save me in good stead," he thought, too, of removing my eye glasses lest their splintering might cause injury.

"Other and gentler thoughts for those I was to leave behind came upon me. For myself I was indifferent, caring really little whether I should be much injured or not; but from motives of consideration for others I felt impelled, as it were, to make light of the matter. I seemed to call aloud, 'I am not much hurt.'"

"I recollected that in five days more I was to have delivered an inaugural discourse, and thought of the grief my death would cause to those near and dear to me. Anon, lying as it were, I was at the right hand."

STRONG AS A MULE

Farmer Gets Power from Food.

Anyone can better his condition, if eating improper food, by changing to the right kind.

It is becoming well known among all classes of people in this country, that strength of mind and body come from the nourishment that is taken into the system in the form of food.

A cowboy whose stomach got all out of order on a ranch, went to farming and incidentally found the cause of his trouble and the way out of it. He writes:

"I was raised on a cow ranch, lived like the rest on beef and potatoes, often eating too much, until my stomach became so weak and I was so run down, I had to quit the job."

"Then I tried farming but did not get any better. My nerves were all unstrung and I could not sleep at night. A year ago I saw an ad. about Grape-Nuts being such a wonderful food, and told my wife I was going to try it."

"So I bought a box of Grape-Nuts and by the time I had used this food two weeks, the weakness began to leave my stomach."

"Now I weigh 184 lbs., and am as strong as a mule. We eat Grape-Nuts for breakfast, and I also take some as a lunch between meals. I must say that Grape-Nuts is the best food there is, and nearly everyone in town, seeing my improvement, has taken to eating it."

on the limit of a far distant horizon, appeared distinct and diverse images and episodes in my past life. The whole mental picture stood out clear-cut and illumined by divine and mysterious light.

"All things seemed lovely and of good report. There were no misgivings, no anxieties, no sorrow, pain or terror."

"There were no sensations of contest or strife. All was merged in feelings of genial good will and kindly feeling. Such feelings predominated over all and formed what was truly a unique and lovely picture."

"Gradually a heaven of glorious blue, flecked with crimson clouds of gossamer lightness, surrounded me. In them I was wafted to and fro, borne up from below, but painlessly and pleasantly, while a vast and moving snowfield seemed to accompany me. Anon, the perception of objects, subjective thoughts, a medley of various feelings, seemed to circle in concentric mazes around me as a common center."

"Then came a dull thud, which I heard very distinctly but did not feel—and my fall was ended. At that instant a dark veil passed before me. 'I am not much hurt,' grasped my glasses, which lay near me, and touched my limbs to make sure they were not broken."

"Then I saw my companions slowly approaching. The told me a good hour had elapsed after my fall before I spoke."

"I had lost all consciousness, and that explains the dark veil. Later the power of thinking returned. I was conscious only so long as I was falling, the shortest to equal one of the longest. The rest vary in size between those two extremes. Doesn't the world, then, need one measure the kilo, that it may use without confusion?" Consider. A train that goes 163 miles an hour in China would go only nine miles an hour in Sweden."

STEWART A. COMER.
New York, April 16.—In a six-round bout with "Jim" Stewart, a local heavyweight, Jack Bonner, the veteran middleweight of Summit Hill, Pa., had two ribs broken. Stewart beat his man badly, and the encounter was stopped by the referee in the fifth round to prevent Bonner from being knocked out. He was floored a half dozen times and was badly punished about the body and face.

DANISH COOPERATIVE ASSOCIATIONS.

Farmers' Egg Export Company—
Fruit Men Promote Horticulture.

The principal reason why the export of agricultural and other farm and garden products from Denmark has reached the present dimensions, states a Canadian commissioner, lies in the forming of cooperative export associations, whereby quality and packing, etc., become uniform and reliable. The commissioner also says in his report to Ottawa:

Besides the dairy and creamery associations there also exist such cooperative associations for egg and fruit producers. The Danish Farmers' Cooperative Egg Export Association, founded in 1895, now counts about 40,000 members and has its own paper. The object of the association is to work up the best possible market in foreign countries for Danish eggs, by guaranteeing the buyers that the eggs sold under the mark of the association are strictly fresh and clean. It has packeries in the principal cities. Every week the association sends out a list of prices, which is then in force from Thursday morning to the next Wednesday evening. The sales of the association amount to about $1,125,000 per year. [Great Britain alone imported from Denmark in 1907 3,569,356 great hundreds valued at $5,634,720. This was an average of 21.1 cents the year previous, and 20.6 cents in 1905.]

The Danish Fruit Producers Association, founded in 1888, has now about 7,000 members, and like the egg exporters, also have their own paper. The association's work consists in arranging exhibitions and discourses and also by sending out traveling teachers.

MILES AND MILES.

"Will we never drop miles for kilometers?" said a mathematician. "Miles are very confusing. A kilometer, the world over, is a kilometer, but a mile in America is 1760 yards, while in Sweden it is 11,793 yards, and in China it is 629 yards."

"The Bohemians go in for a long mile. So do the Danes, the Hungarians, the Poles, the Swiss. If you walk three miles a day among those people, you have done fifteen of your own miles."

"There are, in fact, thirty-seven kinds of miles. It would take eighteen of the shortest to equal one of the longest. The rest vary in size between those two extremes. Doesn't the world, then, need one measure the kilo, that it may use without confusion?" Consider. A train that goes 163 miles an hour in China would go only nine miles an hour in Sweden."
