Ajax opened the ball at this morning's call on the Salt Lake Mining and Stock exchange, but its volume of trading small, 2,000 shares only going out to purchasers. The prices averaged unusually close to those which were realzied at the previous day's auction and the closing on the stock were at about even figures with the sales.

The hubub bubbled when Carisa was reached and the Indian that made the first purchase got a 714-cent scalp of the unoffending head, as compared with the price made in yesterday's first sale. Scouts on the other side succeeded in sufficiently intimidating the savage a to revive the cripple to a pulse of 80 and then it went down again for a few beats. There was some talk of a hyper-dermic injection in order to revive the patient, but the proposal was cried down on the ground that such action might probably "start the recipient off" on a bad habit.

As soon as the falling of the hammer announced that no further business could be done in Carisa everybody was requested to "hold still and look pretty" while a photograph was being taken. Immediately hats were tilted back and sweet smiles were concentrated upon the camera. The exchange being somewhat gloomy in other things besides the price outlook it was necessary to resort price outlook it was necessary to resort to the flashlight process. The thing was done in a twinkling, or, rather, a good many twinklings, for when the bright light filuminated the room there was scarcely a man but blunk a blink. In view of the likelihood that the photograph may show nearly all eyes closed there is a possibility that the members of the exchange will appear to be a bunch of pleasant looking statues. Smoke from the flashlight immediately filled the exchange to a disagreeable extent and there was a "kick."

"Aw, you fellows know now what it is to be in a mine," exclaimed Gordon. Woolley, who is held to be responsible for the whole disturbance. The last bulletin indicated that the camera had sustained no injury; but that is just as unaccountable as are some entired the accountable as are some antics of the Daly-West was a pedestrian and hobbled along at a losing gait. Yesterday's little boost didn't count today and no good Samaritan was there to repeat the kindness.

May Day experienced a slight loss and was racqueted about to an aggregate of nearly six thousand shares.

Uncle Sam furbished up a bit and came out in a little better form than on yesterday. A cent and a quarter gain was forced and that was made in the closing sale, while the average price realized was near a cent better than twenty-four hours ago. California is recovering and com-manded more respect in the sales and closing figures loosening up for 2,200 shares only.

This company is the ploneer in the has been steadily at work investigating ethods of extracting the oil from the brought down from the shale beds to-day and it will be set up at some con-venitne place in town. As soon as it is placed in position again, which will be in the course of a few days, the public will be given a practical demon-stration of the possibilities of the shale as an oil producer.

It is reported that the Montana Oil & Fuel company in which several prima Inent Butte men are heavily interested. ut ready to begin boring through the shale of Smallhorn canyon, near Dillon, in search of the lake of oil which it is believed underlies the sur face cropping there. The members of the company are quite jubilant over the prospects. The company owns about 8,000 acres of the oil-bearing land. The land commences at a coint near the head of the east fork of Smallhorn and extends westward through Gallagher basin to a point in Lovell basin a distance of several miles. In area embraced by the claims strongest and best oil indications of the district are found.

Salina Sun: John Burleigh, of Kimberley, who was in Salina last Monday, said that last week's earthquake shock woke up all the population of that camp and made things pretty lively. In less than an hour after the first convulsion more than forty men had filled themselves with aqua fortis and colognospirits and until midnight the place re sembled an inebriate asylum, The shock did great damage to fruit trees and vineyards on the mountain. Albert Thorsen's crop of persimmons was shaken from the trees and Lyle Rickett's' catawba Trapes will not make a half crop. At the Annie Laurie mill nearly 150 feet of flume used for water power was destroyed and for several days all work was suspended at the mill. The great wonder is that no serious damage was done in the underground workings of any of the mines Dun's Review of last Saturday says of business conditions in Salt Lake during last week; "General trade in jobbing lines is satisfactory. Sorting orders in dry goods, clothing and shoes considering weather conditions and the backward season are rather better than expectations, and business is good in groceries, drugs, notions, hardware and mining supplies, and quite brisk in con-fections and holiday goods. Sugar factories are still running at full ca-pacity with a heavy output and no material change in the local market sit-uation. Money continues plenty with a somewhat improved demand, and collections are fair.

Today's clearings amounted to $879,-266,87 as compared with $528,798,27 for the corresponding day of last year. The ncrease of $350,468.60 over the corresponding day of last year is good evidence of the satisfactory and better onditions in business circles that preail in Utah at this time. The winter trade is just opening up here now and last year it was well under way. The big increase in clearings is accordingly of some significance.

Information was received in the city oday to the effect that in all probacent in the prices of shoes and in leath. goods of all kinds on December 1 When interviewed concerning the re-port George Romney, Jr., said: "Then good reason for such an advance, he prices for the raw material-hides manufactured leather-have been on the up-grade for some time owing to the measer supply of hides in comparison to the demand and to the in-creused cost of labor. I think there is no doubt that the prices on all kinds of leather goods will be advanced. A raise will affect the wholesale and retall trades in the goods and will be felt by the consumer,"

In remarking on the raise yesterday in flour prices a prominent dealer stated today that is all probability it will be the last. "We have either to get Oregon wheat in here at from 70 to 74 cents, or close our mills," said he, "If the wheat cannot be got at those prices flour will have to sell at a higher figare and as conditions now are, eastern flour can be put on the local market at a profit if any further raise is made to existing prices. The statement that some dealers in wheat have the Utah supply cornered is all nonsense. Some of the inhiers have from ten to twenty thousand bushels on hand and some farmers are still holding on to their wheat, but the Utah supply has not only been short, but generally of poor quality owing to the drouth. Why, the very fact that flour is being shipped to Eanpete and Sevier counties is goo. vidence of the fact that the Utah crop s short. The Oregon Short Line is doing everything possible to assist us in artting Oregon wheat into the state at once and I think the rate will be
