The mayor and city council held another meeting last evening to further consider Mayor Brower's recommendations made in his communication to the council at the last regular session. Every phase of the city's condition was discussed at length by the city fathers during the past two evenings in executive session, and while no definite plan for retrenchment and the general betterment of the city's finances was given out, it is understood the council is heartily in favor of the mayor's recommendations and approves of his recommendations in every particular. At the next meeting of the council, it is expected that some of the steps looking to reducing the expenses of running the city in several of the departments will be taken. The mayor and council desire the co-operation of the citizens with them in these various movements for the betterment of the city, and will gladly listen to any recommendations from taxpayers.

LOGAN.

DEATH OF BISHOP BALLARD.

Honored Pioneer Closes Brilliant Career at 76.

Logan, Feb. 27.—Patriarch Henry Ballard, who was bishop of the Second ward, Logan, from 1861 to 1890, died this morning, after a long illness.

Bishop Ballard was born at Thatcham, England, Jan. 27, 1832; was baptized in 1849, and came to America in 1852, landing in New Orleans March 14,

The one word explains the great merit and wonderful sale of Startup's Candies. We make everything known to the Candy business—because we know how.

STARTUP CANDY CO., Provo, Utah.

He made the journey up the Mississippi in the ill-fated steamboat Salda, which blew up her boilers and many emigrating souls were killed. Mr. Ballard was severely injured and barely escaped with his life. He drove a herd of sheep across the plains and arrived in Salt Lake Oct. 16, 1850, at Mill Creek. He took part in the Echo Canyon campaign in 1857, when Johnston's army was held back; he also participated in the move south. He was among the first settlers of Cache valley, coming here in 1852. He married Margaret McNeil in 1851, and eleven children were born to them, six of whom, Henry W., Thomas M., Melvin J., Rebecca Gordon, Lottie Squires and Myrtle Ballard, survive. In 1867 he married Emily McNeil, by whom he had seven children, five of whom survive: Willard R., Frank H., Ernest R., Lydia and Jennie Griffin.

Bishop Ballard has been identified with every movement for the upbuilding of the county since he came here. He filled a mission to England in the eighties.

April 16, 1864, he crossed the plains in Bishop Preston's company, bringing a load of poor saints from the Missouri river.

Bishop Ballard was a true man, a kind father, a staunch and devoted believer in the cause for which he gave his life's best years. He was a friend to the widow and orphan, and a pillar of refuge for the oppressed; he was dearly beloved by every member of the ward over which he presided for so many years, and by all who knew him. He was ever gentle and kind, and his death will be sincerely mourned by all.

An estimate of his worth and the high esteem in which he was held was given by a fellowworker upon the occasion of a life-size oil portrait being presented to him by the Logan Second ward. He said:

"In my experience and acquaintance among mankind I have never known a better man; one that was more unselfish; one that was more honorable in his dealings and one that would do more for his fellow-man than our friend. I labored with him in the bishopric for 16 years, and I have seen him under the most trying circumstances. His first thought was always for the good of his people. I never saw him swerve from what he thought was his duty.

"His life has been like an open book among us. It mattered not how dark the night nor how severe the storm, when the cry of distress came and his assistance was needed, he was always willing to respond. I have walked the streets of this ward with him night after night for years, visiting the sick and afflicted. He never gave a thought of himself or of his own ailments, but it was always for others until the time came when his strength failed him and his health was broken.

"I do not believe there is a man living who has shown more love for his brethren, more devotion to the Church, and more integrity to the gospel of the Lord, Jesus Christ, than has Bishop Henry Ballard."

The funeral will be held in the Logan tabernacle Sunday, March 1.

Miss Boyer has been in the state but one year, engaged as an instructor at the New Jersey academy of this place.

The annual reunion of the old folks of the Sixth ward will be given Friday, at the ward house, commencing at 2 p. m. All the members of the ward over 40 years of age are considered old folks and cordially invited to attend.

Everything points to a very interesting meeting at the B. Y. college Saturday morning at 10 o'clock, when the Friday morning at 10 o'clock, when the districts of the county meet to discuss the matter of consolidation of the county schools. Although it looks as if there are a majority of the county districts in favor of the move, the question is not without opposition and there will likely be considerable done that will be of interest. Local meetings have been held in nearly all the districts, and delegates appointed to be present to present the view of their district. The meeting is called at the instigation of the county commissioners.

RICHFIELD.

DISTRICT COURT SESSION.

F. W. Hicks Fined for Contempt—Measles Causes Three Deaths.

Richfield, Sevier Co., Feb. 25.—At a session of the district court held yesterday, Frank W. Hicks was adjudged guilty of contempt by reason of his failing to pay $25 per month alimony for the support of his wife and two minor children. Mr. Hicks set up as a defense that he was unable to pay the full amount; that he was employed in Salt Lake City at a salary of $60 per month, and that it cost him $47.50 to live and the balance had been paid to his wife. The court however found him guilty of contempt and gave him five days in which to pay the balance due, together with the costs. There is a suit for divorce pending in this case.

Considerable sand and gravel is being hauled upon the streets and sidewalks of the city. For a limited time the city is paying one-half the cost as an inducement to have this work done.

Beautiful weather prevails with light frosts at night. The farmers are doing considerable plowing on the upper lands where there is no frost in the ground.

MEASLES FATALITIES.

During the last few days there have been three deaths in town. Mr. and Mrs. Leeb lost a 12-year-old girl. An infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Amasa Hansen and also of Mr. and Mrs. Dodge passed away. The cause of death was measles coupled with lung troubles. There are several cases in town where children have measles and pneumonia and they are very sick. The public schools are still running with a fairly good attendance.
