Gen. Butler, in his published defense of the salary grab, takes occasion to say that newspaper correspondents at Washington were interested in the bill by being elerks of committees, and having lobbied for and taken the back pay they are now engaged writing down the members of Congress who did the same thing. In reply to this statement it is proper to say that the only correspondents benefitted by the back pay, and who are committee clerks, and to whom Gen. Butler's applications can apply, are two men, one who represents the New York Times and the other connected with the New York Times and the New York Times and the Y

NEW YORK, 5.—The court of Oyer and Terminer convened to-day, especially to receive a bill of exceptions in the Walworth case. The bill, it is understood, compresses every exception made during the trial. The counsel for the prisoner confidently expect a new trial, but as they were not fully ready, no action was taken in the matter.

except four of them who were committed for want of bail. The lynching of Wyatt was a most brutal affair, and the story of his outraging an old negre woman is indignantly denied by the woman herself.

The Provident WASHINOTON, 5.—The President, accompanied by, Gen. Babcock, returned here this morning, and held a regular cabinet meeting, all the members being present except Secretaries Richardson and Robeson, engines arrived from Brooklyn, and who were represented by their assistant secretales. Previous to the meeting, however, Senator Wilson called and had a protracted interview with the President. The Senator's health is not entirely restored, as reported by some of the papers, and he still requires care in aworking.
