

FLOATING FRAGMENTS.

Superintendent John Sharp returned last night from the East.

Mr. B. W. Jennings goes south tomorrow in the interest of Wm. Jennings & Sons, with a full line of samples.

The examination of Thomas Davis charged with the murder of his son, was finished late on Friday evening. After the examination of witnesses for the prosecution, arguments for the defense were heard. The defense did not introduce any witnesses. It was then ordered by the court that the prisoner be held to answer to the charge of voluntary manslaughter, or give bonds in the sum of $1,000 for his appearance before the grand jury, or $500 Enquiry.

LOCAL AND OTHER MATTERS.

High Council.—The members of the High Council are requested to meet in the Council House, on Friday evening, the 13th inst., at 7 o'clock. Wm. W. Taylor, Clerk.

Fruit Crop Injured.—We learn from Brother B. W. Driggs, merchant of Pleasant Grove, that the crop has been largely damaged by the prevailing business there. The crop was abundant, but the damp weather has taken the gloss off its surface.

Y. L. M. I. A.—The monthly meeting of the officers of Y. L. M. I. A. will be held next Saturday 14th inst. at 8 p. m. at the residence of Mrs. E. R. Taylor, 14th Ward, one and a half blocks west of Cliff House. All interested are invited to attend. MARY A. FREEZE.

Successful Operation.—To-day Dr. Anderson and Williamson performed a successful operation upon James Taylor, aged 15 years, son of Brother W. W. Taylor. The lad had been afflicted with white swelling in his leg, and the surgeons removed quite a large quantity of diseased bone from between the ankle and the knee. The operation lasted about one hour and a half. The patient's condition is reported favorable.

Territorial Convention.—The convention met as per adjournment at 10 p. m. to-day. The report of the committee on credentials was read and accepted. A committee on permanent organization was appointed who retired, and a recess was taken for fifteen minutes. On re-assembling some remarks were made by Mr. Penrose and by the chairman. The following permanent organization was reported and effected: W. H. Dusenberry, President; R. E. Campbell and Geo. M. Ottinger, Vice Presidents; Joseph Stanford, Secretary; T. V. Williams, Assistant Secretary; Hugh Watson, Messenger; N. V. Jones, Sergeant-at-Arms; S. Francis, Chaplain. After the convention was formally opened a committee was appointed on resolutions and one to wait on the Governor to call him to call a special election to fill the unexpired term of delegate to Congress. Adjourned till 6:30 p. m.

Mutual Improvement.—The meeting of the officers of the Y. M. I. A. of this State, was held in the Council House last evening, Sept. 11th. J. H. Felt presiding. There were representatives present from ten of the city wards.

Supt. Felt instructed the president to be reorganized immediately so that no time may be lost. Spoke of the necessity of a uniformity of time for electing officers; thought the beginning of the season would be the best time. It is expected that every association will adopt the new Roll and Record to facilitate the Ward, Stake and General Superintendent's in making their reports. The price of the roll book is not $2 as some have thought, but $2 pays for the book and leaves $1 for the Territorial contingent fund. Thought that the system of visiting from one Ward to the other had proved beneficial. A system of sending association missionaries to those young people in the various Wards who did not attend meetings would prove beneficial. Where the Associations meet constantly, one half of the roll should be for the ladies; and the other half for the male members.

Brother T. B. Lewis said: Many of our young men become infatuated with going outside to get an education, until it is getting now, in some instances, that when a young man thinks of educating his mind, he imagines he must become an infidel. One of the good results of our meetings is that we can show the young people that it is not necessary for them to abandon their religion in order to improve their minds, but our religion embraces everything that is exalting. We should not have an exercise in our Associations which tends to rudeness or indecency, but should have everything of the choicest kind.

Assistant Superintendent John W. Taylor urged the young brethren to obtain a testimony of the Gospel, for when they are called to go into the world they will find that they cannot tell others what they do not know for themselves. He urged the brethren to study the Scriptures systematically, learning, word by word, and bear upon the different principles of the Gospel.

Superintendent Felt said the system of sending out visitors was not to pick out the undesirable exercises of the different Associations, but to select out and utilize the good parts. Suggested that the Associations meet on the same evening as near as possible.

It was moved, seconded and carried unanimously that the system of visiting heretofore adopted should be continued during the coming season, the First Ward sending missionaries to the First, and the Twenty-ninth to the Second. Also that a meeting of the officers and members of the Y. M. I. A. of this State should be held once a month during the season. Superintendent Felt announced that the General Superintendent and others had proffered to visit the Associations and were to commence as soon as the associations determined upon the evenings they would like them to come. The meeting expressed thanks and well wishes to Assistant Superintendent G. C. Lambert, who starts on a mission to Europe on Tuesday next.

THE "LIBERAL" CONVENTION.

P. T. VAN ZILE THE CANDIDATE.

After recess, the "Liberal" Convention re-assembled in the Opera House yesterday afternoon, shortly before three o'clock, and proceeded to business. The real business done, leaving out the speech part of the programme, was to nominate several persons for "Liberal" candidate for Delegate to Congress. Allen G. Campbell was the first name presented, but he declined. P. T. Van Zile, J. R. McBride, and E. P. Ferry were respectively nominated, each in turn refusing to be a candidate. The convention adjourned till 10 a. m. today.

In accordance with adjournment the convention met this morning. After some preliminary talk the delegate from Summit County nominated Judge P. T. Van Zile as the "Liberal" candidate for delegate to Congress, and the vote was taken by counties; the result being declared, the vote was then given unanimously by the convention, and Judges McBride, Baskin and Mr. Ferry were appointed a committee to notify the gentleman. Speeches were made by three or four members, when the committee returned and Judge Van Zile was introduced to the convention, the members receiving him standing. He made a very moderate and conservative speech—very much unlike his former rabid public expressions—accepting the nomination, urging the party to work earnestly, and stating that although he was willing to carry the "Liberal" banner, he fully expected that the votes of the party would be overruled in November by those of the dominant People's Party. Although this would probably be the case, he considered it his duty to accept the situation and though they should be defeated, yet the influence of their work would in effect prove a victory. He further stated that he was no enemy of any man or woman in Utah and that the members of the party were not necessarily enemies of any individual, nor of "Mormons" as such, but they opposed the party on principle. His speech was applauded, and the convention adjourned.

Another "Liberal" Rally.—There was a "Liberal" rally at the Opera House last night, the parquette of which was moderately filled, quite a large number of members of the People's Party being present. Mr. E. N. Baskin was in the chair and Major Bradley, the non-union of church and state individual who joined in the Methodist "free" initiated to influence Congress to pass special legislation against the "Mormons," was secretary.

The chairman made a brief speech. The points he desired to make were that the general government should take the government of the Territory into its own hands, and that the objective point of the "Liberal" attack was "polygamic theocracy," which he asserted existed here.

Governor Murray was called upon and responded. He said he was physically incapable of delivering a speech, but before he got through he showed that he might also have consistently included the mental constituent of his composition. It was spread-eagleism spread out. The speech lasted about an hour but if the superficial adjectives had been omitted its delivery would not have consumed half that time. It exhibited probably the greatest profusion of stump stock phrases ever listened to in this section. "Grandest nation—most glorious government—grand flag—Hall Columbia—freest institutions upon which the sun ever shone—majestic eagle"—were thrown in ad libitum. The gist of his talk was that he was opposed to the union of Church and State. Then he broke off into the same strain he indulged in at the Methodist movement inaugurated to influence Congress against the "Mormons." He wanted no special privileges. Probably he deems the attempt to appoint, by wholesale men to offices rightfully in the gift of the people, a general privilege. He didn't want to see any man restricted in the exercise of his religious belief. "He told the 'Liberals' the work they were now doing would breathe their names in glory. Van Zile was like the original thirteen colonies which planted the standard of liberty in the land against oppression. He was about right there, not in the sense he meant it. "The United States, its Constitution and the enforcement of its laws is no more," he exclaimed. He seemed to think it necessary to explain that the "Liberals" had no intention of robbing the "Mormons." After elaborately extolling free institutions and principles, he said: "The power of the General Government over the Territories is absolute. To secure good government to Utah the President, who is the chief representative of fifty millions of people, should name a legislature for it, which should be confirmed by the Senate of this great country. It is a somewhat remarkable fact that, notwithstanding we are not living in autocratic Russia, this part of the ridiculous speech met with considerable 'Liberal' applause. It was the most incongruous lot of rubbish the writer ever listened to, being contradictory from beginning to end. The tragic tone in which it was delivered rendered it somewhat amusing.

Judge Van Zile made a very brief speech, a war anecdote occupying most of it, the point aimed at being that a large number of men, out of the "Mormons," are not living in autocratic Russia, and that they would be compelled to capitulate.

E. P. Ferry made a pointed speech, but said nothing new. It had the quality of terseness. Gen. Bane spoke in his usual strain. He wanted a course taken that would bring the young men out of "this celestial system of Apocrypha and all that smells of inspiration."

H. W. Lawrence was the last speaker. Sudden Death.—Yesterday morning John Thomas Backhouse, aged 24 years, of Pleasant Grove, Utah County, arose apparently in his usual health, at his breakfast, and, being of a cheerful disposition, manifested his customary lively manner. At 11 o'clock he was engaged in reading, when he suddenly fell out of his chair and expired. The deceased bore an excellent character. He came to this country from Lancashire, England, when a young child, and had grown up in the community.

An Intended Outrage.—On Tuesday night two young girls were on their way home, and in passing a new building in course of erection, between the Cliff House and the Walker residence block, a ruffian sprang from beside the fence and seized one of them by the arm. At the same instant he flung a handkerchief in the faces of both of them. The girl whose arm he grasped was startled, while the other was only slightly affected. The latter exclaimed "you have dragged her," and at the same instant a woman approached and the fellow reeled fell to the ground in a state of unconsciousness and her companion ran and procured assistance while the lady who came along incidentally remained with her until the arrival of help. The young lady, who tells the story herself, says she did not fully recover consciousness until about three o'clock yesterday morning.

The object of the villain is unmistakable. It was observed that his clothing was disarranged. This circumstance should act as a warning to ladies not to go out on the street after dark without a male protector. A number of unscrupulous scoundrels have lately floated this way from different quarters. They will hesitate at no species of rascality, and people should be on their guard against them.

Thief Caught.—Charles Craik, the young thief who stole a lot of photographic goods from the gallery of E. C. Keeler, yesterday morning, and then skipped for parts unknown, was apprehended at Lehi today, and will make an involuntary return trip to this city under the fostering care of Marshal Fowler.
