FEMALE SUFFRAGE.

The Question Excites the Inner Conservative Circles in Victoria's Kingdom.

Conservative Circles Excited—The Dissolution of Parliament, Etc.

LONDON, July 17.—Nothing recently excited the inner Conservative circle so much as Lord Salisbury's declaration that female suffrage ought to form a part of the Conservative reform. The council of the Conservative association at its informal meeting today decided to intimate to Lord Salisbury that the party was in favor of the question that it would be unwise to recognize it as a Conservative principle.

In spite of Salisbury's assertion that the life of Parliament will not expire until August, 1895, the electoral agents are preparing for a dissolution in the autumn. Again, Three the Irish local government bill, the Conservative platform will include a reform bill amending the distribution of seats by lessening the Irish and Scotch representatives, slightly increasing the Scotch and giving large advantages to the English representation.

The ministers have endorsed the leading features of Chamberlain's agricultural scheme, thus committing the party to further development on the lines of state subsidies and the redistribution of seats will be a strong card in the game.

The suspension of a peer, a rare event in the upper house of Parliament, occurred tonight, in the case of the senile Lord Denman. Lord Denman had given notice of a motion for the removal of a number of days on which the late Lord Granville attended the house and also the days on which he himself had attended further Lord Granville's lifetime. Whether the motion was inspired by sheer crankiness or by malice Lord Denman was not allowed to explain. Lord Salisbury interposing said the motion could only be described as unseemly. He moved that Lord Denman should not be heard during the remainder of the session. Lord Kimberly concurred and Salisbury's motion was agreed to. Lord Denman left looking daggers at Salisbury.

The sensational rumor that Mrs. Parnell has in her possession compromising correspondence with Gladstone, while Parnell was in Kilmainham jail, have no basis of truth. She was in constant communication with Chamberlain, Morley and others, but not with Gladstone. If Parnell chooses to publish these letters they will disclose chiefly the keen political craft of Mrs. O'Shea.

Sir Allen Bender, speaking at the meeting of the Direct Cable company, stated there had been a positive decline in Australian telegraphy since the operation of the McKinley law. He did not solely attribute the decline to the McKinley law, it was partly due to the depression in trade and the drought. Eventually the United States would discover that it suffered more than anybody else from the new law.

Gold and Silver Production.

WASHINGTON, July 17.—A bulletin relating to the production of gold and silver in the United States during the calendar year 1890 was issued from the Census office today. The bulletin shows that the production of bullion during 1890 was: Gold, 1,590,178 ounces; United States coinage value, $32,886,743; silver, 31,334,851 ounces; United States coinage value, $40,536,; 968. In gold, this is nearly 28 per cent. of the world's product, and in silver, 41 per cent. The bulletin says:

The number of gold and silver mining claims or "locations," commonly called "leads," in the United States is practically beyond computation. The names of nearly 100,000 such claims or mines were received by the Census office during the year, including the investigation to producing mines, mines working but not producing, mines temporarily stopped, but which had produced, and upon tabulating only such mines as made productive returns or have statistics, the list was reduced to 2,610. The expenditures during the year, including wages, value of supplies, etc., was $20,851,130; the total value of mining plants, $45,503,110, made up of smelting, reduction, machinery, underground improvements, mine supplies, cash, and estimated value of mines, exclusive of the above items, $253,984,531. The value of mills and reduction works was $20,302,772. The total value of mines and works was $465,420,435. Of the 2,610 mines on which returns of production on labor statistics are made, 268 are reported idle; 1309 reported working but not producing bullion; 28 produced less than $500; 69 worth of bullion; 44 producing $250,000 to $500,000; 107 as producing $100,000 to $250,000; 95 from $50,000 to $100,000; 457 from $10,000 to $50,000; 148 from $5,000 to $10,000, and 1010 less than $1000.

From the statistics it appears that labor employed in the actual production of the precious metals is better paid and more productive, in fact, than in any other industry thus far reported in the bulletins issued by the eleventh census. The average earnings of all persons employed in gold and silver mines ($7,553) was $725 a year, while the average output per man amounted to $1,218 a year.

Deraille also accused the government of stanselling before England without warning, in their hands and with allowing France to be bullied by Germany. Many deputies warmly protested against the government. A motion of confidence in the ministers of Deputies lalking at once. Finally the presiding officers managed to calm the angry passions of the legislators, and Ribot asked for a vote of confidence in the government.

A LEPER IN NEW YORK.

The City Horrified by the Discovery of a Chinese Having the Loathsome Disease.

HE CAME FROM SAN FRANCISCO. CALIFORNIA.

And Bought an East Side Laundry Where He Has Been Serving the Public.

By Telegraph to the News.

A CHINESE LEPER

Discovered in an East Side Laundry. New York.

NEW YORK, July 17.—A Chinese leper has been discovered in an East Side laundry. He is Chin Hop Sing, and when a representative of the health authorities paid him a professional visit he was industriously ironing a shirt. He has been a leper eight months and seven months of that time he has spent in wearing the linen of the East Siders.

The health officials, after examination, decided that it was a genuine case of leprosy, but say they cannot take the man in charge, because they have no place to take him. He came here a year and a half ago from San Francisco. There Chin Sing said he had lived with a leprous friend until the authorities received the leper. Then Hop Sing's countrymen shunned him. After awhile they raised a fund of $200 to take him back to China. He took the money, but instead of going to China came to New York. New Jersey were he went into partnership in a laundry with Chong, also a leper. They had trouble after awhile, and Hop Sing came to New York.

By this time he was in an awful condition. His head hair began to swell. His ears were assuming enormous proportions, his nose was taking on remarkable size, and his hair was dropping out. He went to the laundry of his cousin, Ching Hop Sing, to sleep until morning. When Ching awoke and saw how Hop Sing looked he was terror-stricken. He would not stay in the place, believing it infected already by the fearful disease. He sold out to the leper for $55. Hop Sing took possess n of the shop immediately, and went right on with the business.

Afraid of the "Night Doctor."

"Law, sah, he fo' did nuh sendin' me nuh night, and I thought you was another." The speaker was an ancient "mammy," who in the past fifty years had nursed most of the white children in the town, and she really knows how many more years, and in the midst of every one she lost in infancy her head is "quite distinct." Many had been the nights she had passed soothing aches or the hurried home about 1 o'clock in the morning. Here is proved the value of a good family doctor, for a fever, bodyache attack, and on the list can be produced upon the strange superstitions which, in spite of thirty years of education, still cling to the minds of the negroes, as to the children of the older school.

Though no one of them has ever been stricken in this way, hundreds of them have had very serious sickness, almost as serious as that of old "mammy," to every one her self a friend, designated in the usual way. The method of their capture is almost as bad, according to their belief. The night doctor meets them in a lonely spot, and, with a wave of his hand, renders them powerless, and then, with other fiends, carries away their fats. Then stifles their cries, and ultimately suffocates them. Their bodies are then carried to the medical college, where they are cut up and a ruby fluid also extracted is made from our redeeming ore, which makes the "lucky" interest in the white person. That is why "night doctor" is such a terror to the negro people particularly.

When the fine breed originated Perkins' Cherry Pectoral, it was the epidemic of the day in this country over imported from Africa to American through the medium of the slave ship. Perkins' Cherry Pectoral became immediately recognized to be led in stopping the effects upon the colored people in this country of the virus which gave a new lease of life to the afflicted, and found its big empire for purposes of treatment.

A Point in Regard to Stock Exchange Rules.

LONDON, July 17.—The case now before the courts here raises an important point in regard to stock exchange rules. It is as to whether a stock broker can sue to collect on bets made against the delivery of a stock which is known to the brokers as being an "outspeed" bond. The plaintiffs in this case are Baffour Bros., bankers, who purchased a Spanish bond from the firm of brokers, Seeling & Mendelson, and afterwards found that the bond had been stolen from the owner.

Several brokers testified that the rules of the Stock Exchange permitted such transactions. Lord Chief Justice Coleridge in delivering the decision, declared that the dealings of the Stock Exchange appeared to be devoid of principles of common business honesty. The trial resulted in a verdict for the plaintiff.
