BREVITIES.

A young bachelor in Jersey City was urged to marry, but he replied: "I don't see it. My father was a single man, and he always got along well enough."

A letter from Dr. Kirk, at Zanzibar, dated July 19, 1861, sets us all afloat again about Dr. Livingstone. Kirk has heard nothing from him lately, and has sent for intelligence about him to [illegible]

The Louisville Courier-Journal admits that Jim Fisk has done many things for which a penniless man should be—and it might have added would be—punished; but denies that he parts his hair in the middle.

Sir Walter Scott's wife expressed herself with regard to her husband's indiscriminate hospitality, by remarking that she saw no difference between Abbotsford and a large hotel, except that the former nobody paid.

An Indiana artist was recently fined four dollars for sprinkling Scotch snuff on the moustache of a sleeping lawyer. It is said the force expended by that lawyer in sneezing would have sufficed to run a windmill for a week.—Ex.

"I was not aware that you knew him," said Tom Smith to an Irish friend the other day. "Know him," said he, in a tone which comprehended the knowledge of more than one life, "I knew him when his father was a boy."

Lord Houghton, at the Scott centenary, said of the world's great litterateurs that they have seldom left descendants. England has now no Shakespere, no Milton, no Bacon, no Newton, no Pope, no Byron; Italy has no Dante, no Petrarch, no Alfieri, no Ariosto; Germany has no Goethe, no Schiller, no Heine; and France has no Montaigne, no Voltaire and no Descartes.

The Boston Post says of Colfax: The Vice-President is a nice man, too good and too happy altogether to be wrecked upon the fatal rock of the presidency. He should be spared for the Sunday school cause, or perhaps for country editorial life, in which he might be eminently useful. It would be cruel to thrust upon him that greatness for which he was not born.

The Rev. T. DeWitt Talmage says the financial management of many of our churches is a failure. Nine-tenths of them do not have income enough to meet the out-go. In most of the churches a few generous men come in at the close of the year to make up the deficit, or a fair is gotten up where the officers and members come and take a number of shares in an arm-chair, or a plum-cake, and by this little gambling process the balance is made up. He goes for free seats.

A comic pirate connected with a journal in Baltimore, steals one of our most heartfelt stories and re-writes it in this pleasant fashion: "Mr. Gray, of Boston, recently discovered a non-explosive illuminating fluid. To show how safe the new compound was, he invited a number of his friends to meet him in his rooms, whither he had brought a barrel of the fluid, which he at once proceeded to stir with a red-hot poker. As he went through the roof of his house, accompanied by his friends, he endeavored to explain to his nearest companion that the particular fluid in the barrel had too much benzine in it; but the gentleman said he had an engagement higher up, and could not wait for the explanation. Mr. Gray consented his ascent till he met Mr. Jones, who informed him that there was no necessity for him to go up higher, as everybody was coming down; so Mr. Gray started back, to be with the party. Mr. Gray's widow offers for sale the secret for the manufacture of the non-explosive fluid at a reduced rate, as she wishes to raise money enough to buy a silver-handled coffin, with a gilt plate, for the late Mr. Gray."

The anguish of editors will never cease until those remorseless bandits, the typesetters, are wiped off the face of the earth. There, for instance, is the editor of the Easton Argus. He alluded to one of the most eminent citizens of his village as "a noble old burgher, proudly loving his native State." But was it not a serious cause for dissatisfaction and alarm when the editor saw in the paper next morning that the remorseless fiend upstairs had made him speak of an eminent citizen as "a nobby old burglar prowling around in a naked state?" And can it be regarded as excessively singular that the aforesaid noble old burgher called around in the morning with a can of nitro-glycerine and a brigade of Irishmen with Solferino hair, for the purpose of blowing that framer of public opinion into microscopic fragments? It was right for the editor to leave. The peculiar combination of circumstances was such that we cannot blame him for wrapping up his only shirt in a copy of his last edition, and selecting the railroad pass that carried him the longest distance, and leaving suddenly for Liberia or Oskaloosa, or somewhere. Men owe it to the community to prevent murders, if possible; but why should not that incendiary printer be taken right out and shot?—Ex.

NEW YORK.

The Sentences of French Communists' Journals.

NEW YORK, 19. — A correspondent of the London Times, dated Versailles 7, says the condemnation to death of tha Petroleuses is an event more startling than that of Lullier's to those who heard the evidence on which it was professedly based. They were found guilty, among other charges, of complicity in arson, and there was not one jot or tittle of evidence to establish this charge in the eyes of the French law. The witnesses had seen them making themselves highly useful and agreeable to their friends of the national guard, but had not seen them set fire to any building, or join in preparations made by others for fire. They had not even heard the accused, with one exception, threaten to set anything on fire. They had seen or heard other women doing or saying all this, but not the accused. Lullier has appealed to the higher courts for a revision of his sentence, and it is to be hoped, taking into consideration that he was a madman for many years, and that his family believed in his insanity, that the sentence will not be carried out.

The Municipal Squabble.

It is reported that the Mayor has withdrawn his letter of yesterday to the heads of bureaus and directed them to recognize Connolly.

Richard O'Gorman has written a letter to Mayor Hall, advising him, as he has exhausted every legal expedient to oust Connolly, not to make another appointment to the office of comptroller, and to withdraw his notice to the various departments and treat with Connolly as the comptroller de facto if not de jure.

Deputy Comptroller Green is proceeding with a thorough investigation of the affairs of that office.

A man who claims to have some knowledge of the theft of the vouchers has been arrested to-day.

The first number of the Tammany Banner, a campaign paper in the interest of Tweed and Chandler, has appeared.

The committee of seventy to-day sent a communication to Mayor Hall, requesting him to cause proceedings to be commenced by the corporation counsel against all the Tammany "ring," including himself, for the recovery of property alleged to be stolen from the city. The Mayor thus far has taken no notice of the letter.

ILLINOIS.

Remains of President Lincoln Removed

CHICAGO, 19.—The remains of the late President Lincoln have been removed from the temporary vault in which they have been since his death, and placed in the tomb just finished for their reception. There were no ceremonies, but Robert T. Lincoln, his only surviving son, with Senator Trumbull, Gov. Gratz Brown, Mo., Judge Davis of the Supreme Court, and many citizens were present.

MARYLAND.

An Accident.

BALTIMORE, 19.—An accident of a painful nature occurred to-night while Ascalon Commandery, No. 16, St. Louis, was parading with a band preceded by its Eminent Commander, William Whitten Ehringer on horseback. When passing in front of Barnum's Hotel, where the street was crowded, the horse became frightened, reared and fell back on his rider, breaking his arm and otherwise badly bruising him. He was taken to the Mount Vernon Hotel, the head-quarters of his Commandery.

NEBRASKA.

New Constitution Rejected.

OMAHA, 19.—On the vote on the new constitution for the State of Nebraska, twenty-six prominent points in the State, heard from, show a majority of 1,579 against its adoption. The independent propositions submitted were first—for making bank stock holders liable for three times the amount of their stock; second—for giving counties the right of permitting or licensing the sale of spirituous liquors; third—prohibiting county or municipal aid to railroads; fourth—compulsory education; and fifth—female suffrage, were all voted down by an overwhelming majority, female suffrage faring worst of all. It is not expected that further returns will materially change this result.

PACIFIC COAST DISPATCHES.

An Immense Fire.

VIRGINIA, 19.—An immense fire here today destroyed nearly the whole business part of the town. The loss is estimated at a million dollars.
