

him out of the city during the session of the next legislature.

R. W. Young nominated Col. Lett as a strong man who would add strength to the ticket.

A motion to close nominations carried.

The delegations prepared their ballots with the following result:

THE BALLOT.

E. A. Smith	6	34	31	17	21	109

The following gentlemen who had withdrawn their names received scattering votes: William Fuller, 8; W. Van Cott, 3; J. W. Whitehead, Jr. 1; and Mr. Barratt, 1.

The chair announced that Messrs. Rawlins, Burke, Richards, Chambers, Cushing and Smith, having received the highest number of votes, were the nominees of the convention for the lower house of the territorial assembly.

Charles Williamson moved that the nominations be made unanimous.

This was amended to a rising vote. The delegates stood up and gave three rousing cheers.

Col. Merritt moved that the convention adopt and reaffirm the platform of principles adopted by the Democrats at Electric Hall on June 22nd.

The convention ratified the platform without a dissenting voice.

The candidates were called to the platform and speeches demanded.

J. L. Rawlins said: "I stand upon the platform with both feet."

Hon. F. S. Richards: "I endorse fully and heartily the resolutions adopted. Had I my own way I would have declined, but as you thought to name me I will do all I can for the welfare of the party. I have long looked for the time to come when we could divide our party lines and I thank God I have lived to see that day. Though others may try to stay this movement it is as irresistible as the floods that come down the mountain side. I intend to do all I can for victory and if we should go down in defeat we will come up again and again until finally we triumph."

Mr. Burke: "I thank you for the nomination, especially as my friend Dyer failed to get it. (Laughter.) The Liberals came to me and wanted to know why I am in this movement as my property would depreciate 50 per cent. They told me that same thing when Cleveland was elected. [Laughter and applause.]

Judge Smith: "I can endorse and stand upon the platform now and henceforth. If we all work from now to August 3d we will be crowned with victory. I give to you my word that I will work for every candidate on the Democratic ticket."

Cushing was introduced by Chairman Dyer as the only real representative of the laboring party ever put up in Utah. Mr. Cushing responded: "I thank the convention for this nomination. The Liberals are a party of broken promises. 'Salt Lake work for Salt Lake workmen' was their cry. In their hungry greed for office they forgot their promises. I have no use for a party that has nothing else to fight but a man's religion. I am satisfied that the majority of the workmen are Democratic and that we will come out on the top on the 1st of August."

It was moved that the convention take a recess of five minutes to allow the delegations to elect campaign committees for their respective committees.

J. B. Timmony did not think five minutes time enough to select the right men and defended his proposition as follows: "We have too many men on the county committee who are not willing to get down and work. Elections are not carried that way. We want no men on the precinct committees except workers. They must get off their perches and stilts. If the committees work like life and death, they will bury the 'Liberal' party so low that Gabriel's trumpet will never wake it up."

The following were the campaign committee named:

First Precinct—Geo. Stringfellow, J. B. Timmony, John Gallacher, H. S. Laney, A. M. Woolley, John Siddoway, Sam E. Allen, John McDonald, Jr., J. B. Walden.

Second precinct—J. H. Bailey, I. M. Waddell, W. J. Halloran, M. Ludlow, W. H. Casady, J. R. Middlemiss, T. W. Green, C. A. Carlquist, Thomas Hull, R. Cotterill, Gustave H. Backman, Charles Wilcox.

Third precinct—E. Entwistle, T. M. Groo, Joseph Pugsley, A. S. Geddes, O. H. Hardy, F. H. Hyde, Joseph S. Grow, Z. Jacobs, John N. Pike.

Fourth precinct—J. P. Bache, D. C. Dunbar, George E. Blair, J. B. Toronto, D. L. Murdock, Edgar Howe, R. H. Cabell, J. M. Kennedy, John Burt, W. H. Bywater.

Fifth precinct—H. C. Williams, W. R. Gibbs, J. G. Midgley, C. E. Angel, T. A. Williams, John Cannou, A. McMaster, H. C. Reich, D. L. Levy.

Colonel Merritt put a motion thanking the chairman for the very able and impartial manner he had presided over the deliberations of the convention; also to the secretaries. This carried with a vigorous vote.

"LIBERAL" INANITION.

The Ogden Standard says of the Tribune's convention at Ogden on Saturday night:

"Their meeting was the most dismal kind of a failure, and had the unexpected result of taking the wind out of the few local 'Liberals' who affected to believe there was something to be gained by maintaining the old quarrel. After Baskin and Goodwin got through, the 'Liberals,' if there were any, were quite ashamed to show themselves. Except for the imported paraders, and the spectators who looked on from idle curiosity, the whole thing would have been as uninteresting as a last year's bird-nest and as limp as a tallowed rag."

But the Standard not being a Tribune ally, some people may cast discredit upon its manner of estimating Tribune matters. The Commercial in its feeble way is such an ally. That organ says, with double leaded emotion, that "it had a convention last night," and the parquet and first balcony were "well filled." On the platform its reporter recognized "Judge Powers, Major Breeden, C. C. Goodwin, T. A. Whalen, Don Maguire, C. M. Brough, Captain Elliott, Judge Boreman, O. E. Hill, John J. Cortez and other prominent men not known to the reporter."

The "prominent men" not known to the reporter must have been R. N. Baskin and James Kimball. We have good reasons for believing both were there, because they are said to have made speeches giving their reasons for the hope that was within them, particular among which was, that the party had given them patronage or was going to.

Men who get the "patronage" are very sure to be on the platform at all such meetings. As James N. Kimball remarked, the convention had been called "to say it (Tribunism) is alive (not dead) and 'I could not consistently to the party that has honored me, leave the 'Liberal' party while it is alive,' for 'I think, 'Liberal' office holders should stand by the Liberal party.' Whereupon it is said the Salt Lake Liberal Flambeau Club and Liberal Drum Corps that had gone down to assist in the enthusiasm, shouted "that's right," and applauded vigorously.

The Tribune in its labored report says the platform was also occupied by
