satisfied it can be done, and that the people will be greatly benefited thereby.

In order to thoroughly carry out this desirable object, a determined and persistent line of action should be adopted throughout the Territory, having in view the full and unqualified support of this measure by the masses of the people.

Your committee would suggest that a line of, say three different makes of farm and freight wagons, also a line of spring wagons and buggies, varying in quality and price to suit the trade, be selected to meet our present wants.

In regard to mowers, reapers, threshers and other agricultural machinery and implements, we are satisfied that out of the large variety in the market, one or more of the several kinds can be selected and obtained on such terms as will be entirely satisfactory.

There is a great variety of articles in this line that must necessarily be kept for the accommodation of the people, which should be sold on such terms that it will be to the interest of our people to patronize some institutions instead of foreign firms or agencies. Thereby sustaining the principles that prompt this important move.

ANGUS M. CANNON,
WM. R. SMITH,
BARNARD WHITE,
H. B. CLAWSON.

He said it had been the intention to present, at this Conference, the names of those who should constitute a board of trade, but not having an opportunity, on account of a press of other business to definitely select that board, it was deemed wisdom to obtain the sanction of this conference in the following motion, which was unanimously sustained by uplifted hands: That the committees on Zion's Co-operative Institution, with the Twelve Apostles and Council, Presidents of Stakes and their Counselors, the Presiding Bishop and his Counselors, and the Directors and Secretary of Z. C. M. I., are requested to meet at the Council House, to-morrow morning at 10 o'clock, to talk over and adjust matters relative to our temporal interests.

PRESIDENT JOHN TAYLOR reviewed the various subjects that the previous speakers had dwelt upon. He said that the principle of revelation, upon which the work of God was founded, was not recognized by any people on the face of the earth, except the Latter-day Saints. No knowledge of God and spiritual things could be obtained, except it was revealed from the heavens, and the world was in ignorance of these things, for they had repudiated the source from which all wisdom came, not only of spiritual but also of temporal things. He severely commented on some things that appeared as advertisements in the columns of our own newspapers, which were derogatory to the universal interests of the community.

The actions of men ought not to prevent us from recognizing and acting upon correct principles, and if mistakes and blunders had been made in trying to establish the United Order, that should not prevent us from carrying out the revelation of God, to be united together in our temporal and spiritual affairs; for unless "we were one," we were not the Lord's. We had been baptized into the United Order, and in the name of Israel's God we would be united, and if any one should attempt to stand in the way God would find him out. All who felt to endorse and carry out the principles of union, as dictated by the Presidency and the Twelve would say amen. A hearty and universal response was given.

He then explained the duties of the presidency of the Bishopric. All the various quorums and authorities of the Church, were under the direction and dictation of the Presidency and the Twelve Apostles, and any one attempting to repudiate or act independently of those authorities would not be sanctioned of God.

While it was the duty of the Bishops to act in temporal things, the presidency of the High Priesthood acted in concert with them; hence Bishop Edward Hunter had been connected with them in their councils, and he was pleased to have him there. It was not the intention of the presiding council to interfere with the legitimate calling of those acting in the lesser priesthood, but it was expected that every man would do his duty in whatever sphere he operated in.

He then made some valuable explanations in relation to the situation and future intentions of the Z. C. M. I., and the necessity of establishing a Board of Trade, that every interest of the entire community might be fairly and honorably represented.

After some further remarks, he blessed the congregation.

ELDER GEO. Q. CANNON then presented the following names of missionaries, who were unanimously sustained:

For the Hawaiian Islands.

Franklin W. Young, of Oak Creek.

Benjamin Cluff, Jr., of Provo.

Ashley's Fork, Wasatch County, Utah.

Jeremiah Hatch, Sen., Heber City.

Alvah Hatch, Heber City.

H. E. Hadlock and family, Franklin, Idaho.

Wisconsin.

Ferdinand F. Hintze, Salt Lake City.

Michigan.

O. S. Lee, of Peoa, Summit County.

Elder Nathan T. Porter's name was withdrawn from a mission east, on account of other important duties required of him at home.

Conference was adjourned by President John Taylor, until the 6th of April, 1879, at 10 o'clock a.m. The choir sang:

Te Deum.

Benediction by Elder D. H. Wells.

GEORGE GODDARD,
Clerk of Conference.

A PARALLEL.

BEAVER, U. T.,
2nd Oct., 1878.

Editors Deseret News:

In reading the "Declaration of Independence," how forcibly one is struck with the similarity of treatment of the colonies of his majesty King George Third, and that of the Territories by the parent government of the United States, an outgrowth of those same colonies. For grounds of complaint Utah stands in the first rank. Let us quote: "The history of the present king of Great Britain is a history of repeated injuries and usurpations, all having in direct object the establishment of an absolute tyranny over these States. To prove this, let facts be submitted to a candid world."

Kind reader, pause and reflect how much short of "an absolute tyranny" is the power of a governor with absolute power to veto all that our Legislature can do for the benefit of these colonies, whether it is exercised or not? Such is the absolute power of our chief executive. Of course it is not his fault that such "absolute" power is put into his hands, yet he holds it and wields it at will. As a rule, the present governor, I think, has aimed to do justice, but this has not been the rule in Utah.

"He (King George) has refused his assent to laws the most wholesome and necessary to the public good." Has our government done anything like the above? How oft has she been petitioned to give assent to a law constituting "the State of Deseret" one of the states of our glorious Union.

"He has endeavored to prevent the population of these States, for that purpose obstructing the laws of naturalization of foreigners." Has anything of this kind been done in Utah? Those who attend courts can answer this question for themselves. Not long since a government official in the Second District asked a "foreigner" if he had "ever violated any of the laws of the United States;" on being answered that he "did not know, he never had read them all," it occurred to the patriotic (?) official that there was a special law passed in 1862 relative to which he propounded the following questions which were promptly answered. Are you a married man? How long have you been married? Is the wife you then married living? Have you ever had any other woman sealed to you for time?

Had the answer to the last question been in the affirmative he would have been denied citizenship. Not one of those questions come under the naturalization laws and a person "with half an eye" can see that they were not only asked "to prevent the population of" this Territory, but to obstruct the laws for naturalization of foreigners.

"He has made judges dependent on his will alone for the tenure of their offices and the amount and payment of their salaries." Exactly our case. "He has erected a multitude of new offices, and sent hither swarms of officers to harass our people and eat out their substance." Our case again. "He has kept among us, in times of peace, standing armies, without the consent of our legislatures." Tally one more for us.

"He has combined with others to subject us to jurisdiction foreign to our constitution and unacknowledged by our laws giving his assent to their acts of pretended legislation." Tally.

"For quartering large bodies of armed troops among us." Tally again.

"For protecting them by a mock trial." (As in the case of officers breaking in the jail door at Salt Lake City.) Tally.

"For cutting off our trade with all parts of the world." (As in the case of President James Buchanan.) Another tally.

"For depriving us in many cases of the benefits of trial by jury." (Packing juries.) Tally again.

"For taking away our charters, abolishing our most valuable laws, and altering, fundamentally, the forms of our government." Tally three.

"For declaring themselves invested with power to legislate for us in all cases whatsoever." Tally once more.

"He has abdicated government here by declaring us out of his protection, and waging war against us." (War of 1857, James Buchanan.) Tally again.

"He has excited domestic insurrection among us;" (tally) "and has endeavored to bring on the inhabitants of our frontiers the merciless Indian savages, whose known rule of warfare is an undistinguished destruction of all ages, sexes, and conditions." (See Gen. Johnson's report to President Buchanan, 1857.) Another tally.

"In every stage of these oppressions we have petitioned for redress in the most humble terms, our case again.

"Our repeated petitions have been answered only by repeated injury." One more for us. "We have reminded them of the circumstances of our immigration and settlement here." Tally. "We have appealed to their native justice and magnanimity, and we have conjured them by the ties of our common kindred, to disavow these usurpations." Tally.

But kind reader my sheet is nearly full. The comparison is too patent to require comment. History repeats itself in a single decade. Our fathers appealed to the gun and sword. We appeal to "the great God and Continental Congress."
