Still another variation of the black and white theme. This black velvet hat has its brim faced with white velvet. The outside has loops of black satin ribbon and a jet ornament. Three handsome ostrich plumes fall forward over the front brim.

was a thorough success, both pleasurable and financially. Each number on the program was heartily received and most of them encored.

The Ogden High school gave a very enjoyable ball Friday evening in the Ogden Dancing Academy.

PROVO SOCIAL NEWS.

Minor social events have, this week, been suspended by reason of the visit of the delegates to the Federation of Women's Clubs, who have been entertained in the families of Provo ladies. The social feature of the convention culminated in a magnificent reception given in honor of the visitors by the ladies of the Provo clubs, the Nineteenth Century and the Sorosis, Thursday evening. The entire third floor of the Knight building—the Masonic hall and the K. of P. hall—was the scene of the brilliant social event, which was attended by all the delegates and visiting friends and many leading citizens of Provo, between three and four hundred guests being present. The spacious halls were beautifully decorated for the occasion and a fine musical program was rendered. Dainty light refreshments were served, and a perfectly delightful evening was passed in forming new acquaintances and discussing intellectual and aesthetic topics and social events.

The Parents' club enjoyed an excellent lecture by Apostle Cowley at their meeting Wednesday, subject: "The Church as a Child Trainer." The speaker showed from the Scriptures the displeasure of God with those who do not teach and control their children, and explained the necessity for obtaining an understanding of the principles of religion. This had been provided for, commencing in the home of the saints, and continuing with the growth of the child in the Primary associations and other auxiliary organizations and the church schools. Miss Lida Edmunds favored the meeting with a piano solo.

Judge Theo. Botkin will deliver the next lecture, subject: "Peter's Mistakes."

The wedding of Miss Mabel O. McEwan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. McEwan, and Mr. Reed A. Boren, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Boren, was solemnized Friday, November 1, at the home of the bride's parents in Timpanogos ward.

MILADY'S SABLE NECKPIECE AND MUFF.

The brown furs are special favorites this season, for neckpieces and muffs. The luxurious and costly sable and its various imitations and rivals are eagerly bought by modish women for these purposes. Note the length and fullness of the neckpiece and the size of the muff. Hat of chinchilla, lace, and roses.

here from California visiting his brothers. Mr. Laro, with his name differently from the brothers here, having adopted a style of spelling used by another branch of the family.

The engagement of Miss Winifred Kempton, of Provo, and Mr. Lambert M. Whitehead, of Springville, is announced.

Mrs. Charles Shields of Park City is visiting Mrs. M. H. Hardy.

A large number of relatives and friends gathered at the home of Councilman Scott, of the Third ward, Monday evening, in honor of the birthday anniversary of Mr. Scott. The evening was most pleasantly spent in music, song and games, extending congratulations to Mr. Scott, and expressing kind wishes for the future prosperity and happiness of Mr. and Mrs. Scott. A fine supper was enjoyed.

The Nineteenth Century club met Friday and the following interesting papers were presented: Current Literature, Mrs. A. E. Buckler; Thomas Kemptis, Mrs. Charles De Moisy; Joan Vanden Vandel, Mrs. E. N. Nunn; Jacob Gale, Mrs. Sam Schwab; Maria Teesselschade; Visscher, Miss Lottie M. Jackson; Mrs. P. N. Nunn, the delegate to the Utah Federation of Women's clubs, gave an interesting account of the labors of the convention.

CLUB CHAT.

The meeting of the Federation of Women's clubs at Provo, was seemingly successful in every way, the program for the convention dealing with important and interesting topics, all of them being ably presented by those chosen to prepare them. The city gave the club women a cordial welcome, and the occasion was in every way a pleasant one. Following is the list of officers for next year: President, Mrs. Chester E. Coulter, Ogden, re-elected; vice president, Mrs. E. E. Cornman, Provo; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Edward Blachel, Ogden; recording secretary, Mrs. C. D. Moore, Salt Lake state organizer, Mrs. Hillard, Ogden; treasurer, Mrs. E. Scott, Park City; auditor, Mrs. Ephraim G. Gowans, Logan.

The tourist section of the Ladies' Literary club will meet Monday, Nov. 11th, the topics being the German Confederation and Empire by Miss Jessup and Pismarck by Mrs. Whitney.

On Thursday evening the annual art have a large place. It was with this belief that a school was formed in Chicago whose object it was to educate by means of works of art. The result is that in many schools of that city, instead of bare, dreary school-room walls before which children sit with their minds open to impressions the walls are tinted in harmonious and restful colors, and hung with good pictures and the corners relieved by busts, statuary, or pottery. It was the privilege of the writer to visit such a school during this last summer, to find it of great interest and profit. On entering the building, the corridors and landings were all made attractive. The walls of the whole building were prepared for the works of art by appropriate tinting and by hanging burlap in harmonious colors as high as a windowsill. The colors and the pictures were such as to bring more sunshine into them and the south and west rooms had tints that softened the light. In placing the works of art there was no confusion or over-crowding but genuinely good works of art were hung together that expressed a thought; for example, on one landing was a bust of Shakespeare and a picture of his birth-place, the church Anne Hathaway Cottage, and Stratford-on-Avon. On another landing was a bust of Washington, with pictures of the interior and exterior of the Capitol at Washington, also of George and Martha Washington. Thus making the child's impressions stronger and more enduring for the relation. Some pictures were chosen to serve the purpose of ministering to the child's love of beauty, both of form and color. Others to stimulate imagination, and others purely as educational pictures. As we passed through the rooms of this model-school each one had something of great beauty. It seemed to be a plan to have each room contain an animal picture, a nature study, one of the old masters, and a picture of a famous person. One or two colored pictures, historical and symbolical pictures. Also in the corners small statuary or pottery in shapes of beauty. The testimony of the teachers and the members of the board about the effect of these things upon the children, was that the influence of beautiful things had a direct and immediate result upon the speech and manners and tidiness of the boys and girls. In learning to love the beautiful they learned also to love the good and the true.

This experience is the same in all the places where the work is being carried on.

The educational department of the Ladies' Literary club of this city, have had for their purpose for the past two years to make model school rooms in our own schools. The work they have already done in the Jackson and Webster schools is but a beginning, and a very small sample of what they hope to see done here.

Not only do they purpose to continue this work but it is hoped that other societies and individuals may find it in their power to supply things of beauty from time to time for the public schools; for it is not wholly new indeed, chiefly the facts that are learned in schools, but also the impressions received there and the characters of our future citizens, the children.

If shot is used to clean wine decanters, care must be taken that it is all emptied out afterward. Otherwise the wine will corrode it poisonously.

A milk sherbet, which was a part of a recent demonstration at the New England Cooking School, was specially delicious, and will be liked by those who prefer the less sweet berry desserts. It requires four cups of milk, one and one-half cups of sugar, the juice of three lemons and of one orange. Mix the juice of the fruit and sugar till half melted, then pour in the milk slowly. If the milk is added too rapidly the mixture may curdle. Freeze in three parts of ice added to one part of salt.

"In Southern California," says a man returned this week from a fortnight's business trip in that section, "I found much refreshment in the large pitchers of orange-juice, which in the two or three residences I visited were in as constant evidence as the vessel of lemonade is here in the East. Curiosity prompted me to ask one of my hostesses how many oranges were needed to fill the great pitcher that stood on the table at the moment. 'Oh,' she replied carelessly, 'about nine dozen.' I guess, whereupon my visions of making the cooling, healthful beverage a family drink in my country home here in the East were rudely dissipated."

Apologies of the foregoing paragraph it may be suggested that the virtues of that old-fashioned and easily procured drink, buttermilk, have not been half sung. Physicians say that its lactic acid is even more healthful than the citric acid of oranges and lemons. It is credited, too, by those who should know, as being of value to a rheumatic patient. It has been found to be both nourishing and fattening, as well as remarkably easy of assimilation. If liked at all it is undoubtedly a better drink in summer than many of the carbonated, artificially flavored drinks that are consumed in almost unlimited quantities.

WALKER'S STORE.

A GREAT BLACK CREPE EVENT
UP TO $4.00 A YARD KINDS FOR 73c

This is an unprecedented undertaking—greater far, than you have any idea of. The transaction has been slowly evolving for two months. Black Crepes are, as you know, fashion favorites this season and in consonance with Walker Store ways, the idea, as soon as this fact became established, was conceived to make a tremendous underprice stir in these very fabrics. Communication was at once begun with makers to purchase an entire output, which required, too, co-operation with retailers in other cities, since our sole purpose and desire was a quick sale on a limited quantity. At last a satisfactory division was consummated and our portion is—

FORTY PIECES OF NEW, CHOICE AND HANDSOME CREPES THAT SHOULD SELL FOR $2.00, $2.50, $3.00, $3.25, $3.50, $3.75, AND $4.00 A YARD, AT—73c.

All wool, silk and wool and mohair. Not a yard but is perfectly new in design, all in the very small patterns now the vogue, and qualities of proven worth. Millions of yards are selling all over the country at the high prices we've quoted and will continue to after these are gone. It is such an opportunity for buying Crepes as will not be known again for many a year.

Sale begins Monday, Lasts the Week.

NO C. O. D'S GIVEN. NO SAMPLES, NO APPROVALS, NO EXCHANGES.

Jackets, Waists, Tailor Dresses at Half Prices.

The dresses are some of the handsomest we bought for this season—those that have held foremost position in style-beauty, richness of fabrics and consequently, high pricedness. Commencing with Monday conditions change and twenty go at prices akin to that asked for plain sorts. Made of exquisite velvets with stately Prince Albert coats all lined in richest of satin; fine, roundcloths, some entirely lined with silk, and chevots and serges in tight fitting waist styles, jackets or jaunty coats. Reduced—
The $125.00 Dresses to—$62.50. The $30.00 to—$15.00.

Youth's Suits Less than Half Price.

An extraordinary sale, indeed! The kind not often heard of on young men's clothing such as this. It happens here now, because of over stock in some kinds and not enough of others, so in evening up, about 144 suits are to get this unmerciful price drubbing. Some suits are new this season, some of last, but all stylish, well cut, finely tailored and made of excellent materials, worsteds and casimeres in pretty check and stripe patterns and all black and navy blue serges. Every size from 16 years to 19. The first intention was a fourth to a third off regular prices, and they were marked accordingly, now, though, to insure their going all the quicker, half the marked down prices. Suits should be $7.50 to $25.00; lowered price, however, makes these range $3.50 to $15.00, Monday and week—HALF THESE PRICES.
