Holiday Tomorrow.

Tomorrow, by reason of legislative enactment and executive proclamation, will be a legal holiday throughout the Territory and in this city the planting will be engaged in to a very large extent. The banks will be closed and some of the business houses will give their employes part of a holiday at least. There will be no public business transacted in the city, county or territorial offices.

U. S. Gauger.

W. E. D. Barnett has been appointed U. S. gauger for the Utah division of the internal revenue district of Montana.

Gun Club Shoot.

The Salt Lake Gun club's regular shoot was to take place at the Agricultural Park this afternoon. The birds to be shot were Lone Jacks, tipplows and pigeons.

For a Test.

There are many varieties of "gems" or breakfast preparations from wheat that are imported into this market. There are home productions of the same kind which are attracting public attention. One of these, Germade, is manufactured by the Tantcher mills at Logan. At the Fair, tomorrow, at the Thatcher mills exhibit, the Germade will be cooked into griddle cakes, porridge, etc., and the public are invited to call and try it.

From Great Britain.

Elder John L. Howells, of the Fifteenth ward of this city, called on the NEWS yesterday afternoon. He arrived home on Tuesday from a mission to Great Britain, to which he left April 8, 1892. The first few months of his missionary labors were in the Manchester conference, where he met with many friends. In the fall of 1892 he was transferred to the Welsh conference, and remained there until his release, laboring most of the time in Monmouthshire, where he met with great young success. There was considerable interest shown by the people in the testimony of the Elders.

Elder Howells left Liverpool on the Teutonic on March 31, and passed through the stormy experience met with by that vessel, as related in the dispatches.

HAIRY PEOPLE OF YEZO.

A SCIENCE HAVE DISCOVERED BY ONE WHO HAS LIVED AMONG THEM.

A. H. Savage Landor, grandson of the poet of that name, has quite recently returned from a long sojourn among those remarkable people, the hairy Ainos of Yezo.

There are, he estimates, about 8,000 pure-bred Ainos in Yezo at the present time, while the Japanese estimate the whole Ainu population, including half breeds, at from 17,000 to 18,000. The average measurements of the pure Ainu—five men and five women—give the following mean: Height, 62½ inches for men, 57½ inches for women; length from tip of middle fingers, with arms outstretched, 61½ inches for men, 60½ inches for women; chest measurements, 37 1-10 for men, 34½ for women. The pure Ainu physiognomy is thus described:

"When seen full face the forehead is narrow and sharply sloped backward; the cheek bones are prominent and the nose is hooked, slightly flattened and broad, with strong nostrils. The mouth is generally large, with thick firm lips, and the nostrils well developed. The space from the nose to the mouth is extraordinarily long, while the chin, which is rather round, is comparatively short and not very prominent. Thus the face has the shape of a short oval. The profile is concave and the mouth and eyebrows are prominent."—Exchange.

SENATORIAL WHITE LIES.

NATIONAL LEGISLATORS NOT ABOVE INDULGING IN FICTION ON OCCASIONS.

Every man with an eye for female loveliness who looked down from the gallery of the House of Representatives on the closing day of the great tariff debate must have agreed with Mr. Cockran of New York. Two ladies were seated with him on the floor, whom he brought into the House by explaining to the doorkeeper that they were his "wife and daughter." The doorkeeper, although he knew better, was too well bred to question the amiable fiction and many of the prominent members, as I see from the outside papers which I have looked over since, describe Mr. Cockran as "having his beautiful young wife beside him," though Mrs. Cockran was ill at home.

The doorkeepers of Congress are often required to be partners. A few years ago everyone in the Senate chamber was astonished to see Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes on the floor one day. The doorkeeper afterward explained that Senator Evarts had introduced the doctor, with a wink, as "my new private secretary."—Alice Fallo's Washington.
