

citizen, and the unregistered property holder as well as the registered voter, or in case of neglect or refusal the property can be held for the amount.

We think the "Liberals" of Beaver County have had very bad advisers. Persons whose forte is to wield an abusive pen, and who prostitute what little talent they possess to the vile work of misrepresenting and wilfully falsifying the acts and sayings of those who differ from them in religion or politics, do not make reliable advisers on public affairs, and time generally shows the poor wretches to be a failure in everything.

The Beaver County "Liberals" had better pocket their defeat with as good grace as possible, and after getting into the frying pan of illegal voting, should not jump into the fire of resisting taxation, for if they do, the little singeing of their late failure will be supplemented by much more serious burning to come, and all the effects of their own foolishness.

The result of the election throughout the Territory is the triumph of the People's Ticket everywhere. This is a matter for congratulation. But the figures in some places bear a lesson to the thoughtful. We think it is well conveyed in the following words, clipped from the Utah Southern Times, a "Liberal" organ:

"Ogden precinct, with a population of over 6,000, polled only 321 votes, 30 less than were cast in Frisco. What a glorious opportunity this would have been for the Liberals to have turned out in force about an hour previous to closing, and taken possession of the polls, and carried the election."

The People in every county should ponder on this, and when another election takes place should show by their presence at the polls, that they are not insensible to the duty that devolves upon them as citizens, nor to the important truth that the suffrage conveys responsibilities as well as privileges. They should also examine their tickets carefully before voting. It is the intelligent exercise of rights that makes political power.

LOCAL AND OTHER MATTERS.

FROM FRIDAY'S DAILY, AUGUST 13.

Deseret University.—The first term of the academic year, 1880-81, at the Deseret University, will commence on Monday the 23d inst., at 9 a.m.

Information Wanted.—Any person knowing of the whereabouts of Hannah Elizabeth Jenkinson, who emigrated to Utah from Rugby, Warwickshire, England, about 11 years ago, will confer a favor by sending word to this office.

Suicide by Hanging.—On the morning of the 28th ult., a Mrs. Dennison, of Manti, Sanpete County, committed suicide by hanging herself in her own house. At the time of the deed, her husband was at work in the field and her children all away from home. When discovered, life was extinct. The deceased had been subject to fits of insanity for years, and it is supposed destroyed herself during a recurrence of her madness.

The above is related by a correspondent to the Enquirer.

A Drunken Postmaster.—The thriving little town of Ephraim, Sanpete County, is cursed with a nuisance in the shape of a drunken and profane postmaster, who, it is said, takes delight in insulting peaceable citizens who apply for their mail, abusing them without provocation, and carousing around at night and on the Sabbath, and breaking the peace in various ways. A correspondent to the Enquirer, from that place, writes as follows, under date of the 7th inst.:

"The people of our usually quiet town were somewhat disturbed on Sunday morning last. Some of our citizens went to the postoffice at the usual hour of delivery, but instead of receiving it they had a stream of profane and abusive language given them. Many who were anxious to get their papers for Sunday reading were compelled to go away without them, and wait until the next day. These periodical disturbances at this office are on the increase, and come too often to keep us good humored."

We understand that the proper authorities have been notified of this outrageous conduct, and there is a probability that ere long the drunken postmaster of Ephraim will be hunting for a place.

A Remarkable Undertaking.—We have had the pleasure of an interview with Sister Sarah A. Church, of St. George, who recently returned from a journey to the Southern States, upon which she started from here on the 18th of last June. She left Salt Lake in company with Elders Scott and Bean, out-going missionaries, the former from Provo, the latter from Richfield. Her object in visiting the States was partly to see her friends and relatives there and go to her husband's grave, he having died in Tennessee while on a mission there about five years ago; but her main purpose was to get her younger sister and bring her to Utah. Sister Church is a widow who works for her living, but is careful, thrifty and diligent, and by this means raised sufficient money to emigrate her sister some time ago. She purchased a railroad ticket and sent it east to Elder W. C. Staines, with her sister's address, that the latter might be notified by him as to how, when and where she should meet the train on its way to Utah, and take passage thereon. After having sent the ticket back, and Mr. Staines having fulfilled his portion of the business, Sister Church received word from her friends in the Southern States that her sister was unable to travel west alone, as she was somewhat of an invalid and not in a fit condition to undertake the journey. Whereupon, the brave woman immediately set about preparing to go east herself and accompany her sister west. She did so, as stated, first visiting Tennessee, where her husband is buried, and then following down the Mississippi to within 200 miles of New Orleans, to the place where her sister was living. She accomplished her mission successfully, brought her relative home with her, and is now on her way to St. George, her place of residence. Those who know Sister Church, and she is widely known among the Saints as a brave, true-hearted adherent of the faith, will not be surprised at hearing of her latest act of goodness, as it is in perfect keeping with her character, but to others, a deed so full of love, courage and generosity, and at her time of life while a lone widow working for her livelihood, appears heroic and remarkable. She was an early member of the Church, came here in 1847 and as she quaintly observes, "helped to make the country." Her late husband, Elder Haydon W. Church, was one of the Mormon Battalion, and no doubt as true-hearted and faithful a man as could be found anywhere. He went on a mission about five years ago, as said, took sick while among his friends in Tennessee, died, and was buried at the side of his father and other relatives at the old home in that State.

Death.—Peter A. Boyle, a well-known citizen of Ogden, and the senior partner of the firm of Boyle & Co., departed this life Thursday afternoon. The deceased gentleman, who for several years past has been in ill health, was respected by all who knew him, having the confidence of every person with whom he had any relations, business or otherwise. We condole with the family and friends of the deceased who realize that in his demise they have lost a loving husband, a fond father and a good citizen. The funeral will take place from the Second District meeting house, at 10 o'clock on Sunday morning, at which time it is expected that a large concourse of friends will be in attendance to do the last earthly office for the honored dead.—Function 13th.

The Educational Tourists.—We received a call this morning from Professor Karl G. Maeser, Principal of the B. Y. Academy, and Professor Louis F. Monch, District School Superintendent of Weber County, who in company with Messrs. Jas. E. Talmage and Edward Tanner, have been making the tour of the northern counties in the interests of education. Professor Maeser and the last named gentlemen left here on the 1st of July and joined Prof. Monch at Ogden on the 3rd. They had previously received instructions, and a letter of introduction to the authorities of the northern stakes and settlements, from President John Taylor, Territorial Superintendent of District Schools, and had sent appointments ahead for meetings in Davis County, but as these had not reached there at the time of the gentlemen's arrival, they decided to push on to Weber. After attending meetings in Ogden, the party proceeded to Willard City, Box Elder County, where their labors really began. Two meetings were held there, and then Brigham City was visited, where two meetings were given. The labors of the gentlemen were divided as follows: Professor Maeser treating of fireside teachings, day schools, Sunday schools, mutual improvement associations, and the general theory of school training, and Professor Monch taking the duties of superintendents and trustees, selection of teachers, school-houses, furniture and appliances, including school lands and surroundings. The brethren were pleased to find considerable interest manifested everywhere in school matters, with good houses, furniture, teachers, etc. Mr. Talmage acted as Professor Maeser's private secretary, and Mr. Tanner furnished and drove the team in which the party traveled. From Box Elder they proceeded to Cache Valley and remained there two weeks, holding meetings every night and sometimes twice a day, besides going around to the various schools. They speak in terms of highest praise of the excellent schools of that State, there being a uniform system of instruction in all the settlements, and live men at work in the educational cause. In that State they visited all the towns but Weston, and mention particularly the energetic and efficient labors of Wm. H. Apperly, County School Superintendent, and Miss Ida L. Cook, principal of the B. Y. College in Logan. This lady is the originator of the superior system of teaching in vogue throughout Cache Valley. They next went to Oneida County and called at Franklin and Soda Springs. On the return nearly all the settlements of Bear Lake were visited, and from there, the party went to Rich County, taking in the towns of Meadowville, Garden City and Lake Town. Educational affairs in these regions are looking up, and notwithstanding the difficulties these counties have had to contend with, a gratifying interest is shown in the progress of schools. Garden City especially deserves notice. Though having been settled but a year and a half ago, and containing now but eleven families, this little place has already built a good school-house and sustains a creditable school. Weber County was the next section traversed, where Huntsville, Eden, Harrisville and Ogden were in turn visited. The schools of this county recommended themselves at sight by their fine school houses, either finished or in course of erection, and complete and comfortable surroundings. The Central School-house of Ogden will be a credit to that city, and, if properly managed, a blessing to the Territory. The people are fully alive to the importance of educational matters. This finished their tour, during which about 41 meetings were held. A more complete account of their travels will doubtless be published hereafter. The gentlemen deserve much commendation for their good work, especially as they have used their vacation, their only time for rest in the year, for the purpose of imparting instruction and encouragement to their fellow-seekers after wisdom and intelligence. They return looking well and hearty.

FROM MONDAY'S DAILY, AUGUST 16.

Postmaster Appointed.—Cornelius Traveller has been appointed postmaster at Richmond, Cache County.

School Matters in the South.—Dr. John R. Park and Professor M. H. Hardy, who have been on a trip through Southern Utah on educational business, arrived in Salt Lake Saturday evening, having made the tour of the south since the 21st of June, the day they left Provo, and began their labors in Utah County. They first visited the settlements on the east side of Utah Lake, and arriving at the southern boundary of the county, struck off to make the tour of the whole western part of the Territory to St. George. This they did, touching at all the principal points along the line. From St. George and vicinity, their route was southeast to Kanab, and from there across to Long Valley. They traversed the valley, visiting on the way Mt. Carmel, Orderville and Glendale. They then left for the Rio Virgen and followed the river up to its source, also striking the source of the Sevier, both streams rising in the same region and flowing in opposite directions. They followed down the Sevier, visiting all the settlements in the West Fork down to Kingston. Thence the East Fork was traversed as far as Otter Creek, Otter Creek as far as Grass Valley, when the party returned to the Sevier at Glenwood. Every settlement in the Sevier County was visited. They next went on to Sanpete, calling at every settlement but Fayette, and returned to Utah county through Thistle Valley. Striking Goshen they proceeded around the west and north sides of Utah Lake and arrived in Provo on Friday the 13th. They were gone 56 days, traveled 1,379 miles, and visited upwards of 90 school districts. They held no public meetings, but are confident of having accomplished more good than if they had done so. Their plan on reaching a settlement was to call on the President, Bishop or presiding officer and state the object of their visit. (They were provided with letters and credentials from the Territorial Superintendent of District Schools, and made the tour expressly in the interest of such schools.) The superintendents, trustees and other school officers would then be called together and a business meeting of three or four hours duration would be held, during which the latter would be closely catechised as to their understanding of the school law, theory of teaching, systems of training, and instructed on these points as well as on the best methods of keeping books, selecting teachers, building school houses and furnishing them, etc. In this way they had an opportunity of going right to the bottom of matters, and imparting good and wholesome instruction wherever it was needed in respect to the details of school government. They would hold several meetings in a day, did not stay two consecutive nights in the same place, and after being up many times until eleven o'clock at a meeting, got off early next morning to another settlement. The above plan was considered more beneficial, as had they held public meetings they would have been forced to waste much time, since such meetings could only be held in the evening, after the men had been working hard all day in the harvest field, and then only the general principles of education could have been lectured upon. Had they pursued this course, the journey could not have been accomplished in the time at the disposal of the missionaries. As they did, time was not only saved, but much more good accomplished than would otherwise have been done. Dr. Park speaks favorably of all places visited, but mentions the schools of St. George, Washington, Kanab and those of Sanpete Stake as among the best south of Utah County. At Washington, a free school has been established, a tax of one per cent. having been levied for its support. Both the gentlemen have worked hard, and no doubt have done much good. They return looking well for their trip, and deserve much credit for their labors.

A woman's beauty is never lost
So long as her sweet smile remains;
So long as gleam her teeth like frost,
And her soft lip the ruby stains;
And SOZODONT, with magic power,
Bestows on her this priceless dowry.

By Universal Accord,

AYERS' CATHARTIC PILLS are the best of all purgatives for family use. They are the product of long, laborious, and successful chemical investigation, and their extensive use, by Physicians in their practice, and by all civilized nations, proves them the best and most effective purgative Pill that medical science can devise. Being purely vegetable, no harm can arise from their use. In intrinsic value and curative powers no other pills can be compared with them; and every person, knowing their virtues, will employ them, when needed. They keep the system in perfect order, and maintain in healthy action the whole machinery of life. Mild, searching and effectual, they are specially adapted to the needs of the digestive apparatus, derangements of which they prevent and cure, if timely taken. They are the best and safest physic to employ for children and weakened constitutions, where a mild, but effectual cathartic is required. 4ds w
