curiality attached to the climate and conditions which those coming from the land and dry sections of Utah and Idaho can not withstand until acclimated. Your readers will not conclude that vegetation will not thrive under such conditions as mentioned above, for the contrary is the fact. For two weeks past most perfect weather has prevailed and the grain crops have been so far advanced that early grains are ripening and all classes of vegetables have matured to a surprising degree. Small fruits both wild and cultivated have ripened. Corn is tasseling, tomato plants are forming the fruits, cauliflower have been on exhibition ten to twelve inches in diameter, and early cabbages are in use.

Some experimental plants of time have been gathered, and it is found that one piece of dill sown last year yielded four tons to the acre. Another of "Brome" yielded as well, and the beauty of the climate and conditions prevailing is that we do not have to migrate to the south for good and good pasturage will be had on the same land.

NEPHIL.

Too Much "Tanglefoot" Causes Trouble—The First Shower.

Special Correspondence.
Nephil, Juab Co., Aug. 1.—Acting City Marshall John Stalnaker had a lively time last night in arresting C. Carroll, who had filled up on some of Nevada's reformed and single men. Carroll was taken to the home of F. M. Brown, where his wife was visiting, proceeding to tear things up generally, brandishing a knife and threatening the lives of the inmates. He was placed in the cooler, but early this morning effected his escape, and was captured at Ft. Green and brought back. Justice Sutton placed him under $500 bonds for his appearance Monday at 1 p. m.

A first shower of the season of any consequence fell this morning, and the indications are that more is coming.

BOY'S TERRIBLE MISHAP.

Crawls for 10 Hours With a Broken Leg—Crop Conditions.

Special Correspondence.
Escalante, Garfield Co., July 29.—The prospects for the second crop of hay are not so bright as our farmers would like, although we have had a few beneficial showers the past week. Wheat and lucern is now being cut and is found to be burning. Wool growers have just disposed of about 100,000 pounds at 9 and 9 1/2 cents. Pioneer Day was observed by an appropriate program and amusements for children. A ball game was played between the farmers and single men. The game ended in the latter's favor.

SHOCKING ACCIDENT.

A painful accident happened to little Frank, the 8-year-old son of George Baker of Boulder. The boy had gone into the pasture to see a calf, and the mare whirled and kicked the boy off the horse he was riding breaking his leg between the knee and ankle. The boy started to crawl for the house, a distance of three-quarters of a mile. The little fellow found it very difficult to drag his leg, but by 9 o'clock at night managed to get within halflin distance. When help came he had been hurt about ten hours and during the day the thermometer varied from 85 to 105 degrees, and he had the full effect of it. He was taken home and the broken limb set, but the brave little fellow is now in a very serious condition.

James White, Bryantville, Ind., says DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve healed running sores on both legs. He had suffered six years. Doctors failed to help him. Get DeWitt's. Accept no imitations. F. C. Schramm, Prescription Druggist, McCormick building, corner Main and First South streets.

WIDOW'S HOME BURNED.

Result of Years of Toll Goes Up in Smoke—Charge of Larceny.

Special Correspondence.
Coyote, Garfield Co., July 31.—The comfortable home, the result of the toll of years, of Sister Helen M. King, situated about three-fourths of a mile south of the postoffice, took fire about 3:30 p. m. yesterday. In the absence of the entire family, and burned to the ground in short order. As soon as the fire was discovered all was done that could be to quench the flames, but to no purpose. Some pictures, bedding and clothing were saved as well as the organ. Sister King had just completed her home by the greatest exertion of all the family, her husband having died about two years ago. The whole community sympathize with her and no doubt will do what they can to aid her. There was no insurance. The origin of the fire is a mystery.

CHARGED WITH LARCENY.

Mr. John Humphrey of this place, formerly of Sanpete county, was accused by Daniel Day of larceny of sheep and altering the marks in the ears and changing the wool brand. He was taken before the magistrate, and was committed to appear before the district court in $500 bonds.

CARDSTON, CANADA.

Mayor and Council Elected—Growing and Prosperous Country.

Special Correspondence.
Cardston, Alberta, Canada, July 29.—It is particularly pleasing to note that while our friends in various parts of the intermountain region have been passing through a drought and seeking for shade in the north, they are reveling in the luxury of cool nights, refreshing showers and finest growing weather. It was noticeable at our quarterly conference held last month. Apostle Cowley resorted to his overcoat for comfort and today Elder George R. Holmes, while in attendance at our Snake Sunday school conference was able to enjoy the warmth of his summer overcoat. There is a peculiarly attached to the climate and conditions which those coming from the land and dry sections of Utah and Idaho can not withstand until acclimated. Your readers will not conclude that vegetation will not thrive under such conditions as mentioned above, for the contrary is the fact. perfect insulation of electric wires. The intestines are cleaned and wound around the wires so that the edges overlap, and as the material dries, it forms a very close, firm and continuous coating. This coating may be overlaid with cotton, silk, shellac, coloring matter or vulcanite.

Miners working in a Fifeshire colliery 275 years ago were drowned by a sudden flooding. The old pit was pumped dry the other day, and the workmen's tools—wooden shovels and picks with handles nearly as thick as the roof—were found in good condition. The modern colliers were astonished at the size of the blocks of coal cut out nearly three centuries ago.

The "green flash" at the moment of sunrise or sunset is being much discussed among English observers. One of them, who has never seen the head of appearance lately reported, has witnessed the flash many times, and, on one occasion, in the Southern Ocean, saw it three times on a single evening. This was due to the roughness of the sea, which caused the vessel to sink into a deep trough just as the sun disappeared. As the ship was lifted on the crest of the next wave the sun rose with a second flash of green, and immediately set again with another. This observer points out that the colored light is not connected with the water of the sea, for he has seen the flash several times behind a land horizon.

An excellent building material, resembling pressed brick but harder, is now being made at European gas-works from coke ashes, hitherto a troublesome waste. The ashes are carefully powdered, mixed with a tenth part of slaked lime, formed into a stiff paste with water, and pressed into bricks like ordinary clay. The bricks, protected from rain, harden in the air without the aid of artificial heat.

The artificial electric fountains of M. Trouve consist of streams of glass beads, rice, small celluloid balls, or other small solid objects, kept in motion by jets of air from a centrifugal pump. These streams may be illuminated, like the electric fountain. A great variety of coloring is possible, and magnificent effects may be produced for stage and home.

Novel conditions of living continue to bring to notice new weaknesses of body. The crew of the French submarine boat Narval suffer from a peculiar disease, which is aggravated by prolonged submersion, and is to be studied by doctors taken on future trips for that purpose. The sickness is supposed to be due to constitutional causes, so that new recruits are to be specially examined.

BARNUM'S WIT.

In the days when Barnum's museum was in the height of its popularity in New York, it was the custom of many people to bring their wives, children and lunch baskets and make a day of it. This was not in accordance with Barnum's view of a profitable way to conduct a museum.

One Saturday when the army of picnicers were overcrowding the show and keeping others out, a brilliant idea occurred to Barnum. On a huge canvas he painted the word "Egress" in immense letters of green. This he placed over the door and immediately attracted the attention of the crowd, which was just about to settle down for lunch.

"Egress, egress!" cried the visitors: "faith, that's an animal we haven't seen." "They found that animal," said Barnum, telling the story, "out on the street," Chicago News.

MARK TWAIN ON THE BOER WAR

Mark Twain has the record for saying what he thinks in a way that makes it unanswerable. A short time ago, it is related, he was dining at the house of a friend in London, and seated next to him was an American, who had only that day reached England.

They were, of course, talking war, and the newcomer, wishing to know the feeling of England in the matter of the future of the Transvaal, asked Mark Twain how he found public sentiment in England regarding the independence of the republics. "Well," said the genial humorist, "I find the English are paraphrasing part of the burial service. They are quietly repeating, 'Mr. Gladstone liveth, and the Lord Salisbury hath taken away.' Blessed be the name of the Lord."—Ledger Monthly.

PORTRAITS OF THE KING AT WHOLESALE.

Mr. Eldon, R. A., expects to have a string almost immediately from the King for the portrait he is to paint. About thirty is the number of the portraits likely to be required for the occasion and for the government house of the colonies. The idea that Mr. Eldon, himself, can paint them is, of course, erroneous. The work would not only be unbecomingly, but almost impossible in its monotony. Mr. Eldon will, however, superintend the production of the portraits, finally "monstrous" them. The position of the monarch to Mr. Eldon is one that is somewhat of a much coveted one for such exposure to the public and the candidate has made itself felt at court. —London Chronicle.
