THE MAINS BUDDLE.

A Counter-Plot Arranged—Fines to Settle the Dispute.

WASHINGTON, 22.—A number of prominent republicans, including Gen. Garfield, have been quietly at work in the city for several days looking up the law and precedents leading on the present and proposed situation of affairs in Maine, with a view to overcoming by some means the extraordinary action by which Governor Garfield and his council have counted out enough republicans to give a majority in the Maine legislature to the Fusionists, democrats and greenbackers. It is reported, on good authority, that a telegram has been sent to Senator Hamlin, as the results of these inquiries and deliberation, substantially as follows:

We advise the legislature even to the extent of force. The President informs Garfield that he will recognize a Davis legislature if it is set up as the legislature by the republicans.

The plan contemplated by the sender of this dispatch may be briefly stated thus: When the day for the Maine election arrives, the republicans will have certificates of the returning officers, and those who have been counted out, are to assemble and organize as a legitimate legislature.
 The counted out republicans will previously, if possible, procure certificates to election from the Supreme Court of the State, or failing that, from the county clerks. They are then to proceed to elect Davis governor, and the fusionists also organized and elected Governor Smith an issue will be presented to call for a decision by President Hayes as to which is the legal legislature and duly constituted government of the State. The question, it is claimed, can be brought before him very readily by a call from the democratic legislature for the Maine aid to suppress resistance to its authority, if not in some other way, within the purview of the act of February 25, 1878. This act, according to the fusionists, is a violation of the Maine constitution, and a decision in the case of Luther v.
 Borden, pronounced by Chief Justice Taney in 1849, delegated to the President the power to declare the purpose of that act whether a government organized in a State is the duly constituted government of that State, and after he has decided the question the courts of the United States are bound to follow his decision. The Supreme Court further held that the government of a State by its legislature has the power to protect itself from destruction by armed rebellion by declaring martial law, and that the legislature is the sole judge of the necessity of such action. It will be seen, therefore, that the matter after all is for the President to decide which is the legislature of Maine.

Recent advice from Maine, as well as the movement in this city have continued, point conclusively to a determination on the part of the republicans not to submit to Governor Garfield's action, which they regard as a gross outrage, and their political rights and a violation of every principle of fairness and equity; hence there seems to be a strong probability that within the next few weeks the President will be called upon to decide between the claims of the contending parties in the Maine case, and the Maine legislature will become a matter of immediate national importance.

Grant's Movements and Talk.
 A private letter received from General Grant says: He expects to arrive in Washington on the 29th inst, and that after spending a few days quietly at General Grant's residence he will proceed southward, stopping a day or two at each of the principal southern cities on his way to Florida, where he will sail for Cuba about the middle of January. His plans are not definitely formed beyond that date, but he will probably spend some four months in Cuba and Mexico, and return east via New Orleans and the Mississippi River cities, and Canada, in time to reach Long Branch for the summer, where he expects to re-occupy his cottage.

Gen. Grant also informs a friend in this city that he is in possession of accepting the presidency of the Nicaragua Inter-oceanic Canal Company till the necessary amount of capital is secured by subscription, and he believes that it is not necessary, but he doesn't care to commit his future to any scheme if it has not sufficient strength to enhance capital irrespective of the use and prestige of any one man's name as president.

What Haynes Thinks.
 It is stated that President Hayes said in conversation a day or two ago, that he believed under the Constitution the Vice-President of the United States had a right to count and declare the presidential vote; and whether he counted it and declared it in the returns of the electors, or in the presence of both Houses of Congress in joint convention assembled, that he, Hayes, should recognize and enforce as the true and legal declaration of the count.

General Washington News.
 A motion was made in the United States District Court to-day to advance the case of John Miles, which is an indictment for bigamy in the Supreme Court of Utah, and which involves among other questions, the right of a prosecuting officer to examine upon their voir dire persons in the practice of or in the office of polygamy, and to examine for complicity in the practice of or belief in the divine origin of polygamy, and to exclude from the jury those found by the jury to believe in the practice of or belief in the divine origin of polygamy.

It has been the custom for years place in their tobacco a quantity of of tobacco which had been seized in New Orleans, holding that this tobacco, if intended for consumption, must be
