

PRESIDENT AND LABOR LEADERS

White House Conferences for Purpose of Making Known
Administration's Attitude.

FOR BETTER UNDERSTANDING.

Supreme Court Judges and Executive
Officials There to Get First Hand
Knowledge of Needs.

Washington, Nov. 18.—Further conferences at the White House today between the president and the men who are prominent in labor matters made the attitude of the administration toward proposed labor legislation a subject of keen discussion in Washington tonight. Among those who saw the president today were Charles P. Neill, commissioner of labor; United States Atty. Henry L. Stimson of New York; Edward J. Gaven of New York, attorney for the labor unions; and Charles H. Sherrill, an attorney of New York, all of whom attended the labor dinner at the White House Tuesday evening. It is learned from the highest authority that the object of the president in giving a dinner to friends of labor and in holding the subsequent conferences was primarily to bring about a better understanding between representatives of the government and labor leaders and to impress upon the labor interests of the country the disposition of the administration to receive its representation in conference on an equality with all others. The desire of the president, it was explained, was to have the laboring man feel that he has the right to present his grievances and demands and to demonstrate "that neither the labor leader nor the millionaire need come to the back door of the White House at midnight in order to have a conference with the president."

While the president believes that this attitude of the administration had been demonstrated when the labor leaders of Butte, Mont., were entertained at the White House, it is explained that he desired before he retired from office to make this disposition of authorities even more evident.

The reason members of the supreme court of the United States and executive officials were invited to be present was merely to enable them to learn from the leaders direct what they regard as their needs.

The occasion is said to have afforded a free exchange of ideas and to have been of "illuminating value" to the program at the close of his administration, lest he might thereby embarrass his successor, it is believed he will set forth his views on the needs of labor either in his annual message to Congress or in a special labor message, submitted subsequently.

The various conferences of the past two days are said to have brought out more plainly than ever before the desire of the labor interests to eliminate lawsuits in collecting damages under an employer's liability law, has been found, the labor leaders claim, that the lawsuits result in benefit to lawyers only.

Commissioner of Labor Charles P. Neill and Edward J. Gaven, an attorney of New York, who attended last night's labor dinner at the White House, conferred with President Roosevelt today. Commissioner Neill expressed the opinion that the exchange of views at the dinner would result in great benefit to labor interests.

ABSENT-MINDED MEN IN BARBERSHOPS.

"You see a lot of absent-minded men around a barber shop," remarked the barber with the bristly hair, as he shaved one more little job of hair into the customer's mouth. "You'd be surprised at the number of people who come in here and make preparations to go to bed. I have seen a man who didn't take this place for a hotel. It ain't that. Here's how it happens: A man will come in with his coat and collar and necktie preparatory to getting shaved or having his hair cut. Then he looks at his watch and he looks so much like a man about to retire for the night that about half the time he goes to bed. I have seen a watch. A few of the more absent-minded ones may start to undo their suspenders. I have seen a man who, when he isn't going to bed at all. But scores of them will watch their watches just as they do at night. That makes it a common occurrence."—New York Press.

COULD READILY BELIEVE IT.

An old country gentleman returning home rather late, discovered a yokel with a lantern under his chin, and when asked his business there, stated he had only come a-courting. "Come a what?" said the old gentleman, "I have seen a yokel a-courting a woman." "It's a lie! What do you want a lantern for? I never used one when I was a young man." "No, sir," was the yokel's reply; "I didn't think yer 'ad, judging by the missis."—The Argonaut.

AMERICAN FORK.

Birthday Social—Home Dramatics and School Entertainment.

Special Correspondence.

American Fork, Utah, Nov. 18.—On Tuesday night, at his home in the Third ward, Mr. Osmer Justesen, superintendent of schools, was the recipient of a most pleasant surprise, the occasion being his birthday. A sumptuous supper was served, after which singing and games were indulged in. The Home Dramatic company here is working on the musical drama, "The Court Martial," to present on Dec. 14 for the benefit of the missionaries from here who are laboring in the world.

On Monday evening, Nov. 23, the public schools will furnish a musical and literary program, to be given in the second ward chapel. An admission fee will be charged for the purpose of buying books for the school library.

CARDSTON, CANADA.

ELECTION SURPRISES.

Mrs. Geo. Richardson and Youngest Son Claimed by Death.

Special Correspondence.

Cardston, Alberta, Canada, Nov. 2.—Rather exciting times have prevailed during the past month. The final efforts for the election, which occurred on the 26th ult., brought into this end of the riding the candidates for parliamentary honors, Messrs. C. A. Macgrath and W. C. Stummons, as well as a host of spell-binders whose forensic abilities have been expended in behalf of their favorites. The agency is over and surprises are on every hand for the returns show Mr. Macgrath the Conservative candidate, elected by a majority of more than 500 in a district which has been strongly Liberal heretofore. This result is no doubt largely due to the popularity of the successful contestant and his intimate acquaintance with the electors in the whole constituency.

Cardston's steady growth has not abated one whit, although the past month was one of almost continual storms and mud, so much so that farm operations have been at a standstill. At the present, threshing is on with a full force in every direction, but the grain coming in now shows considerable damage by the long continued stormy weather. From one to two grades have been lost in quality, and nothing of the drop in market prices from those of last month.

AN AFFLICTED FAMILY.

The sincere sympathies of this whole community go out to Mr. George Richardson, late of Lacombe, Alberta, but who has recently been living on a rented farm in Leavitt with his family. Early in October the youngest son, a promising young man of 20, passed away after a long and severe illness the result of an attack of typhoid fever. After the funeral, Mrs. Richardson went to visit another son living east from Cardston and only a few days ago suffered a stroke of apoplexy from which she passed away within eight hours. Funeral services were held Monday the 26th, at Leavitt, where the meetinghouse was filled with friends who desired to show their sympathies and condolence.

A moving picture show has been established in Cardston, giving two performances each evening and changes twice a week.

Mr. Duce has sold out his interests in the city meat market to Walter Pitcher and expects to leave shortly on a mission to Great Britain. J. T. Scott, the photographer, has sold his business to Albert Henson of Orton.

William Woolford, Roy Duce and Heber Ockey left town last Monday to take the missionary train to Logan and Provo, Utah, preparatory to going out into the world for a few years.

Elder P. G. Peterson returned Monday from a mission to Sweden, after an absence of 27 months. He looks well and reports that he enjoyed his labors to the fullest extent, but that he was to be back once more in sunny southern Alberta.

LYMAN, WYO.

WEDDING BELLS.

Missionary Departures—New Citizens Arrive—Building Boom.

Special Correspondence.

Lyman, Wyo., Nov. 16.—The county went Republican by large majorities. As the weather is yet warm and pleasant the farmers are still plowing, preparing the soil for another season. The grain crop was heavy this season, but was considerably damaged by early frost.

New settlers are coming in. Real estate agents are in the country trying to buy up land for eastern people. There are a number of farms for sale.

Some nice buildings are being erected in Lyman. Mr. C. O. Cherry, one of Lyman's progressive merchants, has just completed a fine residence. Mr. Thomas Brough has built a little house nearly completed. John A. Guild is preparing to build an addition to his store.

A. Guild has gone to Piedmont to attend the funeral of his father, and Mr. and Mrs. William Goodman are the proud parents of baby boys, their Rollin Hamblin and William Moyses.

CRYING FOR HELP.

Lots of It in Salt Lake City, But Daily Growing Less.

The kidneys cry for help. Not an organ in the whole body so delicately constructed. Not one so important to health. The kidneys are the filters of the blood. When they fail the blood becomes foul and south Academy street, Provo, Utah, says: "Doan's Kidney Pills are the best remedy I ever used to keep me free from pain caused by my kidneys. I have used this preparation for years whenever I have felt that my kidneys were out of order and I have never failed to get the desired relief. I can certainly recommend Doan's Kidney Pills in the highest terms and do so hoping my endorsement may be the means of benefiting some other kidney sufferer."

Mrs. A. G. Heiler of Carter, with her three children, will leave in a few days to spend the winter in Los Angeles, California.

WEDDING BELLS.

Invitations are out for the wedding reception of Thos. J. Brough and Miss Julia Slagowski, Nov. 20. They will be married in the Salt Lake temple. The groom is the eldest son of Bishop S. L. Brough of Lyman ward. The bride is the daughter of the good people of Lyman ward.

LOCAL MARKETS.

RETAIL.

There appear to be more turkeys in the markets today than was expected a day or two ago, and one dealer says he has all he wants. However, there is no likelihood of any decline from present high prices until after Thanksgiving. Turkeys are an uncertain quantity in raising. They have to be carefully watched when young, and are always susceptible to violent changes of weather. The cold streak of last June was responsible for the death of hundreds of turkeys in this state, besides causing trouble with chickens. However, dealers report plenty of turkeys at many Thanksgiving tables. Today's receipts include car lots of grapes, sweet potatoes and oranges from California, and Jersey cranberries. There are also receipts of walnuts from the coast, Syrian dates, and a car of bananas. Ranch eggs are up to $12, and eastern eggs are quoted at $8.50 to $9 per case, but further rise is likely to cut down consumption to such an extent as to affect the market price. Prices can reach only so high, when the falling off in the consumption prevents their being placed any higher. Grocery and fish quotations remain stationary. The prices obtaining today are as follows:
