The foundation of the dam will be built on bed rock, 65 feet below the bed of the stream. If the foundation is completed before high water stops work it is assured that the entire dam, which will be the highest in the world, will be complet-ed by the end of next year. To make work on the foundation more rapid a steel bridge is to be built across the concrete for the foundation will be prepared.

SMELTER SMOKE AFFAIR.

Editorial Comment of An Eastern Mining Publication.

Under the caption, "Miners, Smelters and Farmers," the Engineering & Min-ing Journal comments on the local meter-smoke controversy. It says: "The outcome of the smelter-smoke question in Utah must be a source of amusement to the American Smelting amusement to the American Smelting & Refining company, and indeed it would appear to have an entertaining phase if the latter were not so serious to the miners who have ore to sell. They are no more in position to ap-preciate the joke than is the coon up

"The neighborhood of Salt Lake City "The neighborhood of Sait Lake City had developed into a great custom-smelting center and the competition ex-perienced by the American Smelting & Refining company became the se-verest that it had anywhere to mest; so severe indeed that certain of its rivals in cutting prices entered into ore contracts that were really unprofit-able. Of course this was advantage-ous to the ore-producers. "In the meanwhile the agriculturists of the district took a hand in the game.

"In the meanwhile the agriculturists of the district took a hand in the game. It proved to be the winning hand, for now they have succeeded in closing all of the smelters south of Salt Lake ex-cept the Murray plant of the American Smelting & Refining company. That company early withdrew from the con-test, paying the farmers a cash con-sideration for an agreement insuring subsequent immunity. Then the Gar-field plant was erected, at immense expense, at a locality and under con-ditions guaranteeing it against claims for damages. for damages for damages. "But all of the independent smelters having been put out of business, the competition that was so excellent for the ore-producers has also disappeared. Ther is now hardly the smelting capa-city to take what they offer, that smelting capacity is wholly of the American Smelting & Refining com-pany, and it is rumored that the lat-ter is interested only in long-time con-tracts at terms which the miners pro-nounce exorbitant. So it appears that the Utah miners may turn out to be the payers to the Utah farmers (and for some of the extraordinary ex-penses of the Garfield works), while the American Smelting & Refining compenses of the therefore works), while the American Smelting & Refining com-pany figures as the henevolent stake-holder who gathers in a handsome commission, even if this be only a situation that it has tumbled into.",

MINING MAN COMPLAINS.

Says Ratiroads and Smelters Eat Up Profits on Nevada Ores-

Profits on Nevada Ores. John P. Sweeney, who is heavily in-terested in Nevada mines, has a com-plaint registered against the railroads and smelters. Evidently he is not an optimist. This is what he says: "The curse of Nevada, and what re-tards the progress more than anything else is the way the railways and smel-ters hold up the mine owners. It is nothing less than highway robbery. Ther is no inducement for a man to find a mine, as the railways and smel-ters will take it all any way. The charge for transportation and amelt-ing ores are outrageous. The Type

For three weeks the matter was held in abeyance by the men, but finally, on Christmas eve, a vote was taken by which the men decided to go to work on Dec. 26 on the scale offered, based at the mines on $3.50 a day for miners and $3 a day for common labor.

MISCELLANEOUS.

THE YANKEE'S NERVE. The American in the corner of the on-smoking first class carriage insist-ed on lighting his cigar. The indignant Britisher in the other corner protested, and protested in vain. At the next sta-tion he halled the guard with hostile intent, but the placid American was to cuick for him. """ "Guard," he drawled, "I think you'll find that this gentleman is traveling with a third class ticket on him!" The stigation proved him to be right, and protestator of the little scene asked the triumphant American how he knew about that ticks. ""Waal," explained the imperturbable stranger, "It was sticking out of his pocket, and I saw it was the same as mine."—Judge's Library.
