

PEARY FREE WITH COOK'S SUPPLIES

Assumed the Doctor Was Dead
And Put His Own Boatswain
In Charge of Them.

DANISH PHYSICIAN'S STORY.

Peary's Man Acted as Though He Owned Everything and Used All
For His Own Benefit.

Copenhagen, Sept. 12.—A remarkable letter, giving Dr. Frederik A. Cook's version of the trouble with Commander Peary over supplies, appears in the Politiken. The letter was written by Dr. Norman Hansen, a prominent Danish physician, who several times visited Greenland to study eye diseases.

Dr. Cook told practically the same story to one of his closest American friends just a week ago, before Commander Peary appeared on the scene, but said he did not intend to make it public because it might lead to unpleasantness.

Dr. Hansen was with Dr. Cook for some time in Greenland and returned with him on the Danish steamer Hans Egede.

DR. HANSEN'S STORY.

"Now that Dr. Cook has gone," he writes, "I am no longer under any obligation to keep silent, and will exercise my right to publish the story about the house in Anaktuok, a story which Dr. Cook himself had too much delicacy to relate to the world. I write it from memory, as Dr. Cook told it to me, and I am fully convinced that in no details are my recollections wrong."

"Dr. Cook had built his house for stores in Anaktuok, north of Etah, and it was this depot which he started to reach in February, 1902, crossing Smith Sound. It was a pretty large house, its walls being built of heavily-filled provision boxes so that Dr. Cook knew that when this important point was reached everything was safe. He had, before the start, given permission to a young friend named Whitney to use the house while hunting musk oxen for sport in the winter of 1908-1909."

"When Dr. Cook and his two Eskimos, exhausted and half-starved, came within a short distance of the house in Anaktuok, young Whitney came out to bid him welcome, but inside the house was a stranger, a giant Newfoundland boatswain, on watch. This man had been placed in Dr. Cook's house by Peary, when the latter passed Etah with his ship bound north. Peary had given the boatswain a written order, which commenced with the following words:

"This house belongs to Dr. Freder-lick A. Cook, but Dr. Cook is long ago dead and there is no use to search for him. Therefore, I, Commander Robert E. Peary, install my boatswain in this deserted house."

"This paper, the boatswain, who could neither read nor write, exhibited to Dr. Cook and the latter took a copy."

"This copy, however, he does not intend to publish it Peary's course does not seem to me to be wise. Dr. Cook gave me a lively account of how the young millionaire Whitney, during the whole winter, was treated like a dog by the boatswain and how he had witnessed the sailor beating Dr. Cook's provisions for fox and bear skins for himself. Dr. Cook also had to put a good face on the unpleasant situation. He had to beg to get into his own house and had to make a compromise with the boatswain."

"Dr. Cook made a present of the house with all of its contents to his two faithful Eskimos, with the proviso that Whitney was to have the use of the house as long as his hunting trip lasted, but he was compelled to let the boatswain continue his watch. The boatswain, however, received strict orders not to exchange any more of the provisions or guns."

"To Mr. Whitney Dr. Cook gave his instructions and his observations, as he thought these precious things were safer there than on the long sledging trip in the spring across Melville bay, but all his notebooks and soiled record books, which have been so carefully written upon, he kept and carried with him."

"To men who understand only very little astronomy the record written down so closely and in all directions was very hard to read, but what is the record to us? The two men, Peary and Cook, their character, their conduct, that is what interests us, and every little item throwing a sidelight upon their nature is valuable."

LONDON PAPERS FOR PEARY.

London, Sept. 12.—The London newspapers now appear content to renew the rival explorers' stories to speak for themselves. The London Post, however, is a special article today, comparing the accounts of Dr. Cook and Commander Peary, and says that the latter's tale is a plain, unvarnished tale, bearing the impression of genuineness and carrying conviction. The writer thinks Peary's dropping the white man in the last stage of his journey was due mainly to his desire to make the last desperate effort unhampered by a large party, and partly through reluctance to share his triumph with any other white man.

The Post points out that whereas Commander Peary had independent witnesses on his journey to nearly the eighty-ninth parallel, Dr. Cook's only witness, Commander Peary, at Etah. With regard to the unexplained absence of the boatswain, the Post suggests that it was due to superior organization and equipment.

ADVICE FROM BERLIN.

Berlin, Sept. 12.—The Frankfurt Zeitung says in regard to the north pole controversy that only a meeting of the two expeditions, before the latter, can give an authoritative decision in regard to the controversy between Dr. Cook and Commander Peary. The newspaper suggests that it would be well for the friends of Dr. Cook, and especially the friends of Commander Peary, to counsel them to adopt a gentlemanlike policy.

CANADA CLAIMS ALL.

Ottawa, Sept. 12.—Canada claims all the land directly north of the American continent, and the pole has been on which it would be possible to nail a flag. This position will be taken, it was semi-officially stated today, in reply to a question asked in the British house of commons as to the ownership of the north pole, soon after the result of Dr. Cook's and Commander Peary's expedition was known. The question was referred to Canada for reply.

Canada's answer, in effect, will be that all the territory between the northern boundary and the pole has been recognized as Canada's hinterland. The islands have been formally taken possession of by Captain Henry Canada's Arctic explorer who is now lost in the far north.

SUGGESTION FROM FRANCE.

Paris, Sept. 12.—French scientists are beginning to distinctly favor the submission by Dr. Cook and Commander Peary of their records to an impartial international scientific tribunal. Prince Roland Bonaparte, president of the Paris Geographical society, believes that France is the logical and proper arbiter.

"Records are inconclusive," he said today. "They contain plenty of literature effect but small detail, and they lack exact information. Personally, I think that both Commander Peary and Dr. Cook should be asked to produce their records, maps and diaries."

"Until that is done, the scientific world has the right to entertain serious doubts. The Cook and Peary expedition, but it is proper that a demonstration should be given. It is possible that both Dr. Cook and Commander Peary reached the pole, but why one rather than the other? I think all documents should be submitted to a scientific society which would name a commission composed of explorers, astronomers, navigators and polar experts. Every document should be produced in order that the conclusion may be definite. The commission should have the right to summon witnesses and cross-examine them."

"In the United States the scientists, according to their sympathies, are divided into Cookites and Pearyites. Therefore an American verdict would convince no one. England should also be included as an arbitrator, as the two countries are bound by ties of blood. Besides the English countrymen have displayed some jealousy."

DROWNED TRYING TO RESCUE OTHERS.

Ocean Park, Cal., Sept. 12.—While trying to rescue one of two young women who had fallen off a diving raft on which they were attempting to swim, James T. Cleary, a young attorney who came from Grand Island, Neb., was drowned yesterday. James T. Cleary, his companion and the two girls, Misses Adelaide and Julia Smith, were saved by other bathers who rescued them from the tide rip.

Cleary has been practicing in Los Angeles since his graduation from Georgetown university about three years ago. His brother is a district attorney in Nebraska. The body has not been recovered.

IMMIGRANTS BETTER AMERICANS THAN AMERICANS.

Chicago, Sept. 12.—The immigrant is a better American than the American himself. He has learned by experience in his native land to appreciate the freedom and advantages of the United States. He can understand the free life which the American takes merely as an individual.

Dr. David Blaustein, superintendent of the Chicago Hebrew institute, speaking on American and the immigrant, thus expressed himself yesterday at a meeting of the Chicago circle of the Hutterite association. His opinion has the weight of years of contact with the immigrant problem in New York.

"The immigrant comes to this country from a land of despotism and oppression, and finds America willing to allow him to include a broad view, freedom—in short, new life," said Dr. Blaustein. "He is the dreamer, the idealist and lives America by contrast. He is determined to develop and adopt the American customs, traditions and spirit with an eagerness that is absolutely wanting in the American native, who looks on these privileges as his natural right."

WHY DRUGGISTS RECOMMEND CHAMBERLAIN'S COLIC, CHOLERA AND DIARRHOEA REMEDY.

Dr. Frank C. Chamberlain, a prominent druggist of Portsmouth, N. H., says: "For the past six years I have sold and recommended Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. It is a great remedy and one of the best patent medicines on the market. I handle several others for the same purpose that pay me a larger profit, but this remedy is so certain to cure, and so certain to appreciate my recommending it to him, that I give it the preference." For sale by all druggists.

NEW YORK POLICE FEAR A TONG WAR.

New York, Sept. 12.—Fearing that another tong war is about to break out in Chinatown, scores of additional policemen have been assigned to that small district so that now there is an officer, either a patrolman or a detective, every few feet. The shooting of Kee Gung, a Hip Sing tong leader, by Lee Wah, of the On Leong tong, is believed to have shattered the peace agreement which these oriental street societies entered into some time ago.

The shooting of Kee Gung followed the indictment of four On Leong members a few days ago on charges of conspiracy in the murder of Bow Kum, a Chinese slave girl who was found stabbed to death in her room on Aug. 13. The Hip Sing were accused of having furnished the testimony. There has been a long connection in Chinatown, since the murder of the young girl, and the police say that members of the rival tongs have been arming themselves. Following the shooting last night, the police have been especially watchful before daylight today and report that they confiscated a quantity of fire arms. All residents of Chinatown have been warned by the police to remain quiet and not to take part in a systematic search of the locality is being made for weapons.

PRISONERS PEACH ON GIRL; SHOTS HERSELF.

Nevada, Mo., Sept. 12.—Fifteen-year-old Ada Pratt tried to kill herself today when she learned prisoners at the county jail had told the sheriff that she had given them a saw with which to cut through the prison bars.

The prisoners, Jesse Cherry and Jack Drex, when detected in their jail breaking attempt, told the sheriff the girl had become infatuated with one of them. They said it was easy to induce her to help them. They told of the girl's alleged connection with the case because they believed she had exposed them.

The girl, it is said, was loitering near the jail expecting to meet the men whom they rescued. When she learned the real condition of things she shot herself through the body. She will die, the doctors say.
