Brocade Satin .- A very excellent sample of brocade satin, of home manufacture, was exhibited by its maker, James Chalmers, at this office last evening. The article is acknowledged by the shops of this city as being fully equal to what is imported of the same grade.

Home - Made Hats. — Richard Smyth, of the Twentieth Ward, a hat maker of many years' experience, is turning out some very nice styles in gentleman's stiff hats, which compare very favorably with importations of this kind.

He is now supplying Z. C. M. I. with hats, which he designs improving to the extent that they will more than compete in style, price, quality of work, durability and in every other way with goods from atroad. He is worthy of encouragement.

The Sanpete Artist.—The young artist, Mr. G. H. Jack, whose remarkable progress in New York City, was mentioned in the News of last Thursday, is the son of Brother Wm. Jack, of Manti, Sanpete County. He is not a native of England, as we were informed, but was born in Edinburgh, Scotland. He took the first prize for sketching in Maryport, England, before he was seven years old. He exhibited from his earliest years a passion for the art, but met with no encouragement from his relatives to pursue it ment from his relatives to pursue it as a profession. He, however, has tolled and struggled on, until he now bids fair to be heard from at no distant day, as a shining light in his artistic vocation. His brother, James G. Jack, of this city, is our informant in the above further particulars regarding him.

Informant in the above further particulars regarding him.

Since the above was in type, the father of the young man in New York, furnishes a few additional items by letter. His sen's full name is Gavin Hamilton Jack. A new Years ago, Mr. Reuben Kirkham, of Logan, visited Manti with his panorama "Across the Continent." Gavin visited it and was very much tak. in visited it and was very much tak-en up with the pictures. On the following evening, Mr. Kirkham addressed a young tolks' meeting and gave a sketch of his life, the trials and difficulties he had to surmount before he attained to the degree of proficiency he then had in his profession. After this, Gavin could no longer content himself on the farm, and soon came to Salt Lake, where he apprenticed himself to Mr. Kirkham, for whom he worked a considham, for whom he worked a considerable time. The father thinks it is to Mr. Kirkham that much credit much credit belongs for what proficiency his son has reached, or may in the future attain to in this direction, and is satisfied that Garin often thinks of and profits by the lessons he received from him, and is also benefitted by the good counsel and sound advice received from the same source.

'Had I been able, I should have spared you the sudden shock of Uncle David's death, by letting you know of his sickness. But even had I written when he was first known to be dangerously ill, it would not have reached you until several hours after this morning's (Nov. 21) telegram. He took sick as soon as he reached home, and was in bed for a week, then was up sgain for several days and went to Tombstone, on Tuesday the 13th inst., in his buggy with Brother John Merrill. Shortly before he died, he looked up and called "Father, father!" All night he had called for Uncle Heber. You will remember hearing him tell of how Grand-pa (Heber C. Kimball) came to him when he was lost on the desert, and telling him he wented him to go with him, and how Uncle David plead for two more years, and was given that much longer to stay. Last Saturday, the day he was so bad, was just two years from the day he was lost, and this morning, at the time he died, was two years, almost to the hour, from the day he was found. The people here have all been very kind during his sickness, sitting up with him, and since he died offering themselves and teams to go on errands, etc. Cousin Pat (eldest son of the deceased) who is off freighting, has not yet heard the sad news."

INFLAMMATORY RHEUMATISM AN ASTONISHING CURE.

The following case gives another remarkable proof of the really wonder-working potency of Compound Oxygen. The patient herself could hardly have been more surprised than we were at the result which attended its use; for when we examined her case and understood amined her case and understood clearly her condition we did not believe that we could do anything for her, and frankly told her so.

"PHILADELPHIA, June 10th, 1882,
"Drs. Starkey & Palen. Dear sire:
—In April, 1881, I consulted you in reference to your Treatment in Inreference to your Treatment 'm Inflammatory rheumatism. Eighteen years ago! discovered rheumatism in the ends of my fingers; from that it gradually spread all over my body, settling in my feet in 1870; and from that time to January, 1880, I grew worse and worse, suffering nearly all the time intense shooting pains, prostrating me often for days, when the trouble settled in my left arm. "My arm lost all vitality, becoming as cold as if encased in ice and hanging at my side a heavy weight hanging at my side a heavy weight The muscles fell away to the bone, and my shoulder wasted till it became necessary to pad my dresses to wear them. In addition to this to wear them. In addition to this trouble my stomach was in a terrible condition, having refused all kinds of food for months, and I was starving on a low diet under the advice of one of Philadelphia's great physicians. After a careful examination of my case your Dr. Starkey nation of my case, your Dr. Starkey said to me, 'I don't think I can do anything for you.' I had heard and read of the Oxygen so long that I was anxious to try it if only to get a little relief; so on April 8th, 1881, I began the Office Treatment, 'coming every day for a while and then three times a week. The strst night after inhaling the CompanualOxygen I had the strst night's rest in months. This greatly relieved and encouraged me. After using the Treatment a month I noticed a riestment a mount of the saightly changed feeling in my arm, "but could not move any part of it."

During the second month I could notice a decided improvement in my stomach and a little motion of the fragers. I then had the misfor-tune to fall down a flight of stairs, half-past six o'clock on the morning the most remarkable ones ever seen in the ceremony. She is the mother injured my arm seriously of the 21st inst., nothing else had in the locality. Nothing like it, so of eight children; four some and four I resumed the Treatment as soon as I was able to come to the office, and by "August, notwithstanding the fall, I found, by the use of the other arm. I could move the lame one about an inch from the body and could raise the shoulder slightly. In November I could lift my arm a little and the spots were not so painful. All this time my stomach was improving and my lung trouble less improving and my lung trouble less troublesome. By Christmas I could eat almost everything placed before me; I had little or no nauses, and seldom vomited. By arm began in a discount of the themsettem; in. seldom vomited. My arm began to fill out and the rheumatism, instead of being a permanent pain, was now scattering and only visited me occasionally and I realized that I was much less a barometer. I felt the answer to the control of the c was much less a barometer. I fee like a new being. In February, 1882, I was using my arm at light work and was able to comb by hair, a thing I could not do for a long time, could button my dresses to the top and found it necessary to take out the nadding. In April, one year and found it necessary to take out the padding. In April, one year from the time I began, my lungs had improved wonderfully, my stomach was well, and my rheumatism back into my fingers, where it started in 1864, eighteen years ago! MRS. AYER'S Cherry Pectoral.

No other complaints are so insideous in their attack as those affecting the throat find langer none so trifled with by the majority of suffer-ers. The ordinary cough or cold, resulting perhaps from a trifling or unconscious ex-posure, is often but the beginning of a fatal sickness. AVER'S CHERRY PECTORAL has well proven its efficacy in a forty years' fight with throat and lung diseases, and should be taken in all eases without delay.

A Terriblo Cough Cured.

"In 1837 I took a severe cold, which affected my lungs. I had a terrible cough, and passed night after night without sleep. The doctors gave me up. I tried Aver's Cherry Pectoral, which relieved my lungs, induced sleep, and afforded me the rest necessary for the recovery of my strength. By the continued use of the Pectoral. a permanent cure was effected. I am now 62 years old, hale and hearty, and am satisfied your Cherry Pectorals. saved me.

Croup. - A Mother's Tribute.

Croup.—A Mother's Tribute.

"While in the country last winter my little boy, three years old, was taken ill with croup; it seemed as if he would die from strangulation. One of the family suggested the use of Ayer's Cherry Fectoral, a bottle of which was always kept in the house. This was tried in small and frequent doses, and to our delight in less than half an hour the little patient was breaking easily. The doctor said that the Cherry Pectoral had saved my darlings life. En you wonder at our gratitude? Sincerely yours.

MRS. EMMA GEDNEY." 150 West 128th St., New York, May 16, 1882.

"I have used AVER'S CHERRY PECTORAL in my family for several years, and do not hesitate to pronounce it the most effectual remedy for coughs and colds we have ever tried.

Lake Crystal, Minn., March 13, 1882.

"I suffered for eight years from Bronchits, and after trying many remedies with no success, I was cured by the use of Ayer's Chem-Ry Pecroral. Joseph Walden."
Byhalia, Miss., April 5, 1882.

"I cannot say enough in praise of AVER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, believing as I do that but for its use I should long since have died from lung troubles, E. BRAODON."
Palestine, Texas, April 22, 1882.

No case of an affection of the throat or lungs exists which cannot be greatly relieved by the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, and it will always cure when the disease is not already beyond the control of medicine.
