The Turner Murder.—We have received further particulars of the murder of young John Turner, by Fred Welcome, in Echo Cañon, accounts of which have already appeared in the News and Herald of this city. It appears that the deceased left Provo, his home, for Park City, about the 1st of July, taking with him two wagons and a span of horses, expecting to find work there. On arriving there he failed to obtain employment, as anticipated, but fell in with Fred Welcome, a big, burly German, whom he had assisted his father, Sheriff Turner to capture on several occasions, for misdeeds which he (Welcome) committed in Utah County. Although Welcome had sworn revenge on the Turners, for the active part they had taken in bringing him to justice, when he met the deceased at the Park, Welcome managed to insinuate himself into the good graces of the boy, and persuaded him to set out for Montana, where he was told he could work and good wages. He allowed himself to be influenced, and set out for Montana via Echo, with his two teams, the German accompanying him and driving one of the wagons, an extra span of horses having been procured at the Park, it is supposed. A few days elapsed and the body of young Turner was found in Echo Canyon, as already stated. About the same time, Sheriff Turner received a telegram from a gentleman in Park City, stating that his team had been sold in almost by an individual who seemed anxious to get rid of it on almost any terms. It appears that the Park City gentleman was a creditor of Welcome's to a certain amount, and that he had received information from a friend in Piedmont to the effect that Welcome had sold a team there for $200, and therefore in circumstances to clear his debt. The gentleman of Park City, on receiving his friend's notice, and knowing that Welcome had left the Park in company with a young Turner, driving one of his father's teams, immediately sent word to Sheriff Turner of the circumstance, who, having already read the papers a description of his son, set out for Echo with Mr. Sprague, of Lehi, and his son-in-law, and without having the disinterred, left his son-in-law to take charge of the remains and convey them home, while he, Mr. Fowler and the officers of Utah County, hurried on to Piedmont. He there learned that Welcome, after disposing of one wagon span of animals, which the saw and identified as his own, taken the other team and gone toward Bridger. Continuing on back of the assassin, the sheriff learned that he had passed through Bridger on the 12th inst., and then turned off from the main road and started for the Colorado mines. These latter items are gleaned from a letter written by Mr. Turner to his wife. The energetic officer is still on the track of his son's murderer, and all who know the wide-awake, brave and efficient sheriff of Utah County, know that if the culprit is to be had above ground, anywhere, John Turner is the man that will have him. He has the sympathy of all in his bereavement, as well as in his efforts to bring the cowardly assassin to the bar of justice.

FROM MONDAY'S DAILY, JULY 26.

Home Mission.—There will be a meeting of the Home Missionaries of this Stake, in the Council House, on Wednesday evening, July 28th, at half-past 7 o'clock.

On the Islands.—Late news from Dr. W. F. Anderson is to the effect that he is on the Sandwich Islands and considerably improved in health since his arrival there.

Emigrants.—A telegram to Prest. Taylor, announces that the company of emigrants now on the way here, passed North Platte at 10 a.m. today. All well.

Dead.—The following special was received at this office to-day:

RICHFIELD, July 24, 1880.

Stanley P. Davis, of this place, who accidentally shot himself in the leg last month, died to-day at 5 o'clock. He leaves a wife and seven children.

Information Wanted of Mrs. Esther Gardner, formerly Esther Lambert, she came from England to Utah in 1857 or 1858. Any information relative to her or her present address will be thankfully received by Mrs. Mary Nixon, 12th Ward, Salt Lake City.

Honesty.—Umbrellas are popularly supposed to be almost common property, judging from the actions of bosowers. But a lady left an umbrella on a door step in Main Street while viewing the procession on Saturday, and two hours afterward found it in the same place untouched. Honesty was so much in the ascendant that people would not even take an umbrella.

Escaped and Recaptured.—Cole the Ogden seducer, who made his escape the other day, was recaptured in Logan and sent down to Ogden by yesterday's train. When between Hampton and Deweyville, he jumped from the car and started to run. Conductor Brown, leaped out and pursued with a pistol. He fired five shots at the fugitive, who finally surrendered and is now in jail at Ogden.

Tabernacle Services.—The congregation in the Tabernacle yesterday were addressed by Apostle Erastus Snow, in an intensely interesting and very instructive narration of the journey of the Pioneers across the plains and their entrance into this valley. We prepared a synopsis of the discourse, but find that we have not space to insert it. The address was reported in full and will appear in the DESERET NEWS shortly.

In Jail.—Sheriff John W. Turner reached this city last evening with Fred Welcome, the alleged murderer of young Turner, near Echo. The capture of Welcome, or as he now calls himself, Frederick Hopt, was effected on Friday last at Cheyenne, to which place the vigilant officer had hotly pursued his man. The latter sold one team at Piedmont and one at Green River; he says he has an accomplice, but the two quarreled on the road and took different directions. Hopt got on two or three big "sprees" and was evidently getting rid of his funds pretty quickly. He converses quite freely about the affair, and, we understand, is anxious for his "pal" to be captured.

He was taken before Commissioner Sprague this morning, and waived an examination. Last night and to-day he spent in the city jail, and this evening he will be removed to the penitentiary.

Police Court.—A young boy was arrested for stealing about seventy dollars in money from a Mr. Middleton, at one of the bathing houses at Lake Point. Some of the money was recovered on his person. He waived examination and was placed under $400 bonds.

Two Scandinavians were arrested for a similar offense. It is claimed that they stole some $60 in cash and a pocket-book containing papers from the clothing of a Ma. Woolley, while the latter was in bathing. Their examination takes place to-morrow morning, they being out on $200 bonds.

A case of connubial infelicity created quite a diversion in court this morning. The breaking of dishes, the throwing around of furniture, a shovel, and stones, was proved, and hairpulling and the attempted scratching out of eyes was charged. The statements of the pair were very contradictory, and the case was dismissed.

Three men, for being drunk, were fined $5 each.

One Sutherland, for being drunk and assaulting an unoffending person was fined $10.

Terrible Death.—Mr. W. S. Hansen, of Deweyville, sends us particulars of the sad death of an infant son of Henry G. and Eliza Jemmett, which occurred in that town on the 19th inst. On the 18th, the little fellow got hold of a bottle of corrosive sublimate and red precipitate, (both deadly poisons) mixed for horse medicine, and swallowing half an ounce. The mixture produced the most terrible sufferings, which the child endured for about 20 hours, when he died. Dr. O. C. Ormsby, of Logan, was telegraphed for, but before he started, death had relieved the sufferer. Mustard and water were freely given, also other remedies, but they failed to give the desired relief.

The bottle fell from the clock shelf and the little fellow immediately seized it, his parents at the time being at dinner. They saw him drink the fatal dose, but before they could reach him he had swallowed it. All was done that the parents thought expedient, but to no avail. The funeral was held on the 20th, and was largely attended, showing the respectful sympathy felt towards the bereaved.

Accident.—One of the 24 young ladies, who made such a fine appearance in the procession on Saturday, met with quite a serious accident after the procession was over. Feeling too faint and weak, having lately recovered from a sick spell, to witness the proceedings in the Tabernacle, she and her escort started for her home. She was going down Main Street, when her horse started to run at a lively rate, but not so rapidly as to frighten its rider, when some one on the sidewalk rushed out to stop the animal. This well-meant endeavor was unfortunate, for the horse jumped aside throwing the lady violently to the ground. She was picked up bleeding and insensible, and it was feared that her injuries were fatal. This morning, however, her father informs us, she is about the house as usual, though somewhat sore and shaken by her adventure. Her horse was proceeding to his own stable, and had the bystanders left him alone, would probably have reached there all right and with no injury to his rider, who is a good horsewoman, and would have clung on until that time.

A Terrible Fatality.—Yesterday just about noon a frightful accident occurred in the 16th Ward of this city. Mr. Julius Selendar, who lives half a block north of the depot block took a small can out to the woodshed to fill it with coal oil from a five gallon can which was kept there. He was in the act of pouring the oil into the smaller vessel when it exploded with fearful force, severely burning himself and two children and his wife also, who rushed out to save her children. The unfortunate gentleman had his teeth driven up into his nose, and it is said his jaw is broken. Fears were entertained that he would bleed to death, but this morning he was considered a little better though very low. His injuries from the burning fluid are very serious. His little girl who accompanied her father on his errand was so fearfully scorched that death relieved her of her sufferings two hours afterwards. The other child, a little boy, and the mother of the children were also badly injured, but it is hoped not fatally. The wood shed in which the accident occurred was immediately in flames, but it was extinguished before it was entirely consumed. We have not learned the damage.

The oil, it is considered, was of an inferior quality, and such as a slight degree of heat will explode, and to this fact as well as the extreme heat of the day and perhaps the heated cans, may be considered as causing the accident.

The following letter from the coroner in connection with the quality of burning fluids deserves especial attention and its suggestions should be heeded by every one:

SALT LAKE CITY,
July 26, 1880.

Editors News:

In view of the recent explosion of coal oil which occurred in the 16th Ward of this city, by which one life was lost and three persons severely injured, I deem it my duty, as Coroner of this county, to warn all persons that inferior petroleum oils are always dangerous from their liability to pass into a gaseous state, and consequently to explode when coming in contact with the atmosphere above the fire test of the oil, (which is always marked on the outside case). The temperature of the air in the sun during this month frequently rises to near 140° Fahrenheit and consequently any oil whose firetest is below this is not safe when exposed to the heat of the sun. The fire test of the common cheap oil is only 110°.

In this instance the oil was exposed to the heat of the sun—the gas probably accumulating till it filled the can—naturally when the can was opened it instantly exploded. What is termed head-light oil will bear a temperature of 175° and is consequently comparatively safe.

Respectfully,
GEORGE J. TAYLOR.
