THE NEGROES REPUDIATE THE CARPET-BAGGERS.

Now the negroes are giving the rascally carpet-baggers the cold them. Mr. Fred. Douglass, in a Fourth of July speech at Hillsdale, near Washington, asked that the men, whether politician or philanthropists, and particularly by the carpet-bag wolves. Fred simply asked for the negroes a fair field and white men's hands off. This is how he talked of certain white mendicant philanthrophists-

"They are lawyers without cli- writingents, broken down ministers without churches, wandering teachers without schools. They are great beggars. They have the gift of begging down to a nicety. They are great at getting out circulars. They scatter them broadcast over the land as leaves before autumnal gales. If you are worth anything they will find out where you live, and if you never got a letter before Our Country Contemporaries. ful bench-land, in the S. E. corner you will get one now. Fellow citizens we must stop these men from begging for us. They misrepresent us and cause the country to look upon us as a poor and helpless people. They say, 'Please give ular U. But while they put in two is certainly discouraging. sound apples, they slipped in five or six specked ones, and were sure to turn the specks down."

On this affair and Fred's remark that it made him feel bad, the N. Y. Herald thus comments--

"We should think it would! It is a feeling in which the country will share. The failure of the Freedman's Savings Bank was most disgraceful in every way. It was a deliberate, cold-blooded, shameful robbery of a dependent, poor and struggling race-a robbery under the guise of morality and religion. Give us the names of these robbers! "Chief Engineer Sickels is authority for the statement that it has bridge over Dale Creek as a substitute for the present wooden bridge, which is sound and strong. The shoulder wanting to be well rid of liability to its destruction by fire is the main motive to the change, since if that bridge should burn as one just like it did on the New York and Erie a few months ago, negroes be let alone by the white it would do great damage by the interruption of business."

As day dawned on the morning of the 24th, the report of "guns" burst forth upon the air, disturbing the quietness of the clear, calm morning. At sunrise twenty-four guns were fired in honor of the day. Just as old Sol's rays tipped the western mountains the flag was hoisted, amid the stirring strains of the "Star Spangled Banner," played by Capt. Hawkins' newly organized and most excellent brass
