The Premier answered Gregory's The Premier answered Gregory's question in the negative, adding that the members seemed to think some price had been paid the U.S. for withdrawing the claims, which idea was erroneous. He explained that the word consideration, used in the supplemental article, meant a covenant between two nations for the future and for reciprocity. He declined to discuss the question of pressing a withdrawal of the indirect claims pending the negotiations to obviate the necessity.

In the Lords Granville made a statement in regard to the condition of the negotiation. He said communications continued to be exchanged, but without result, which it would be impossible to predict. The crown lawyers decided that there was no difference of opinion

Earl Russell said the time had come when plain words were desirable, and he gave notice that he would tomorrow press his motion for an address to the Queen for withdrawal from arbitration.

Oriental Progress,

Japan appears to be undergoing at the present time, judging from trust-worthy accounts that reach us, a complete social, political and commercial revolution. The transformation is seemingly occurring so rapidly that it may almost be called marvelous.

Twenty years ago Commodore Perry found a people there completely isolated from the rest of the world, kving under a government controlled by the priestheod. He found a system of caste as rigid as that of India, a blind fidelity to tradition, universal as in China, and that the arts of civilisation were those practiced from time im-Japan appears to be undergoing at were those practiced from time im-memorial. HAN FRANCISCO, 4.—The first American occupation, was presented to the Secretary of the California Pioneers by Major Cooper last night.

The priestly power has been neutralized, the independent feudalities brought into subjection, and a strong national union established under one head. A new code of liberal laws has been adopted. This has struck a fatal blow at the system of caste, and the Government has even been strong enough to fly in the face of some of the most popular superstitions of the day. Disraell reminded the premier of his omission to state whether the arbitration was to proceed on the 15th.

Gladstone replied that this date had been kept carefully in view in the negotiations.

Horseman asked whether the government had reason to suppose the United States government were inclined to withdraw from Fish's position, or that concessions from England must precede any settlement.

Gladstone replied the understanding was that the U.S. should make no claim for indirect damage at Geneva.

Osborne considered the explanations amounted to nothing. The House and the country were unsatisfied. He hoped a distinct declaration would be axtorted from the government that unless the indirect claims were fully, fairly and immediately withdrawn England would refuse to proceed with the arbitration. (Cheers.)

Viscount Bury gave notice that he would move an address to the Queen for the withdrawal of Britain from the arbitration unless the indirect claims were abandoned.

Otway asked if any new engagement with the V.S. had been made or accorded by the covaryment. He arises the indirect claims were abandoned.
