Florence May. Not long after the scene in Liberty park, Mrs. Roberts filed a suit for di-vorce against her husband, naming Mrs. Cooper as co-respondent. The case resulted in her favor and later she went o live with her parents in Garrison, Millard county, where she now is.

The next scene enacted was in May last when Charles E. Cooper came from Pueblo and abducted his child, Florence May, from the Fremont school. The abduction created something of a sensation at the time and was followed by Mrs. Cooper going to Pueblo and in-stituting habeas corpus proceedings to regain possession. In the meantime Cooper filed a sult for divorce and asked the custody of the child. In view of conditions and pending a hearing of the case the little girl was placed the custody of a woman in Pueble will be held in the Fourteenth ward in whose care she now is. Pending a hearing of the case Mrs. Cooper came on to Salt Lake while her husband went to Laramie, Wyoming, where he

The speaker was of opinion that the book should he used more in the world than had been customary. Elder George C. Lambert of the 23(d quorum, presented a paper on the same subject. He averred that in the hands of a skillful Elder-one versed in its contents-the book was invaluable.

President Seymour B. Young spoke upon "Proprieties in Prayer and in the A ministering of Ordinances." He said we should seek for the spirit of praye. The Lord's prayer was an example of ow to pray. Prayers should not become mechanical, nor should they be too long. "Lord teach us how to pray should be on the lips and in the heart of every Latter-day Saint. In administering to the sick long prayers should not be used. The Savior set the example: "Thy faith hath made the example: "Thy faith hath made thee whole," "Take up thy bed and walk.

"The Calling and Mission of a Sev enty at Home" was presented by Elder Murdock of the 13th quorum. He said it was the same as abroad-to beau testimony to the truthfulness of the Gospel and to herald its restoration in these days. A returned missionary's first duty was to his quorum; then the auxiliary organizations of the Church. The Seventies should rememeer those who have befriended them in the world and indite a note to them Jecasionally President J. G. Kimball and others expressed the belief that one of the chief duties of a Seventy at home was to prpare himself for any call that might be made of him, and particularly for a call to go abroad and preach the Gospel. Fider William P. Pratt, of the 109th quorum spoke upon the topic, "Caa 'he Gospel be Preached Without Purse or Scrip?" He cited his own experience in the Southern States and took the stand that inasmuch as the Lorl and commanded it, his promises were sufficient to buoy them up in time of beed. He was persuaded that it was the only truly effective way of preach-ing the Gorrel ing the Gospel.

Ing the Gospei. President Kimball spoke on "The Study of Modern Revelation."
