

sanitary regulations was referred to the board of health for examination and recommendation.

MUST BE SUBMITTED.

It was decided that all specifications from the board of public works shall be submitted to the council before bids are advertised for.

EQUALIZATION COMMITTEE.

The committee appointed as a board of equalization consists of Lawson, Hele, Rich, Horn and Simondi who represent the precincts in the order named.

Adjourned until Tuesday night at 7:30.

THE BOARD OF EDUCATION.

The City School Board met Thursday night, Vice President Nelson in the chair. The members in attendance were Newman, Young, Alf, Pratt, Pike, Raybould, Dooly, Baldwin and Duke.

MISCELLANEOUS MATTERS.

R. C. Watt and eighty others asked the board to secure for school purposes the Presbyterian Sunday school building, situated on Fourth West street. Referred.

David M. Phillips, Guy Harbens, William Rawlings and James Lee asked to be made janitors. Referred.

The citizens of the Third precinct were allowed to use the grounds in front of the Nineteenth ward school building for an open air mass meeting to protect against the establishment in that vicinity of the garbage crematory.

T. K. Morris and others offered to furnish coal black ink to the board for forty cents a gallon. Referred.

The committee on sites and buildings recommended that $1,600.16 be appropriated to R. Kletting for fifty per cent. of his bill for architectural services. Adopted.

The committee on sites and buildings were authorized to advertise for bids for heating and ventilating the the Hamilton and Franklin school buildings.

The president and clerk were authorized to sign for the board a petition to have the sewer lateral extended on E street, a distance of 165 feet to near the intersection of Third street. This extension will enable the Lowell school building to connect with the sewer.

APPROVED AND DISAPPROVED.

The committee on sites and buildings recommended that the contract for the erection of the Jackson and Washington school buildings be let to F. M. Wright and A. Hensgen.

Pike wanted to know whether or not the bondsmen were responsible.

Dooly thought they were.

Pike sprung the proposition that Hensgen was not responsible himself and read a long letter from the architect to that end. He further said that there was an extra $960 in the contract, but no requirement that the contractor do that amount of work. He moved that the contract and bond for the erection of Washington school be approved. Carried.

He then moved that the bond for the erection of the Jackson school be disapproved.

Dooly — The bondsmen are the same.

Newman thought the bondsmen were not responsible.

Raybould thought the bondsmen were perfectly reliable. He thought a fight was made over something that was unimportant.

Young said there was an agreement to pay the contractors nearly $1,000 extra, but there was nothing that would compel the contractors to do the work for it. He offered an amendment that the bonds be approved, if the contractors would consent to sign the plans to be submitted on August 12th.

Pike's motion to disapprove the bonds was lost, and Young's amendment went in as an original motion.

Raybould moved the adoption of Young's motion, which was carried.

FURNITURE SUPPLIES.

The annual report of the committee on furniture and supplies was received as follows, and filed:

INK AND BOOKS.

The committee on school work reported that it had purchased the ink and ordered the books authorized at the last meeting.

ESTIMATES APPROVED.

William Penney, superintendent of school buildings, reported that the Salt Lake Building and Manufacturing Company was entitled to $4000, the first payment on the Lowell school building, that W. H. Jay was entitled to $5664, second payment on Bryant school building; that S. W. Watson was entitled to $4940, third payment on Lincoln school building; that Mr. Trefor was entitled to $2685, first payment on Franklin school building.

E. G. Hiller presented a bill of $100 for expert work on Clute's books, which brought $1,968.24 into the school fund treasury. Referred.

Young moved that the Midgley system of ventilating be adopted for Washington and Lowell buildings.

A protracted discussion followed in which Pike vigorously opposed the system.

Baldwin moved as an amendment that the Midgley system be put in the Twentieth school (the Lowell) only. Lost, 7 to 3.

Dooly moved as an amendment that the Hendey & Meyers system be substituted for the Midgley system in the original motion of Mr. Young. Amendment carried, 5 to 4.

The board then adjourned for one week.

DEATHS.

MILLER.—In the Twentieth ward, this city, August 11th, 1893, of old age, John Miller, born in Wymondam, Norfolk, England, December 22nd, 1811.

DAME.—At Paragonah, Iron county Utah, July 27, 1892, Lovinna Andrews Dame, daughter of Richard Andrews and Sarah Brockway; born March 1, 1823, in Trumbull county, Ohio; married to the late Hon. W. H. Dame December 5, 1839; baptized into the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints May 20, 1841; shared with others the trials and dangers of the expulsion from Nauvoo, and came to Salt Lake city at an early day. Moved south in President George A. Smith's company, driving a four-horse team most of the way from Salt Lake city to Parowan, Iron county, where she resided until about ten years ago, when she removed to Paragonah.

Sister Dame was a refined and cultivated lady. She was extremely sensitive regarding the sufferings of others, especially of children. She had no children of her own, however, but raised several belonging to other people, some of whom watched over her with fond and anxious care through her sickness to her death, doing for her all that could be done, assisted by kind neighbors and friends.

The body of deceased was taken to Parowan, followed by a large cortege of friends, when funeral services were held. The speakers were Bishop W. E. Jones, M. Richards, Jr., Bishop Adams, Thomas Durham in Barton, all of whom spoke of the virtues and faithfulness of the respected deceased, and nothing was expressed but what was strictly in keeping with her character.
