

THREE KILLED IN WRECK ON COPPER BELT ROAD

Engine Slides Down Bingham Canyon, Jumps Fifty Feet Into the Air Then Rolls Down Into Gulch—Brakes Work But Sand Has No Effect on Skidding Wheels Which Skate Along the Snow-Covered Track—Three Men Received Bad Bruises Jumping To Save Lives.

THE DEAD.
Charles Madden, conductor, unmarried, South Dakota.
J. M. Goodwin, engineer, married, Bingham.
James J. Joyce, fireman, unmarried, Illinois.
The time was this morning.
The place—Bingham (Copper Belt) line, R. G. W.
The cause—Snow covered track; steep grade.
The damage—Engine demolished.

More deaths were added to the Copper Belt line's great record this morning. This piece of track, owned and operated by the Rio Grande Western, has killed more men than the whole R. G. W. system; three were added to the list this morning when a freight engine which had taken "empties" up to the Utah Copper plant, got away when coming down the grade. Last night's light snow had covered the track, and while the mogul was sliding the three members of the train crew, Goodwin, Madden and Joyce stayed by their posts, tugging frantically at brakes. Each foot of distance added more speed to the flight. Sand wouldn't hold the wheels, even after the brakes had been jammed down tight. The wheels were not moving around; they were sliding.

Reverse brakes were jammed on but the mass of steel was too heavy; the engine went on down the hill, faster and faster. Three men, members of another train crew, were riding in the cab. They jumped and escaped with more or less severe bruises. But the engine's crew stayed with their brakes and were at them when the engine took a sudden swerve at a point above the Wall mill.

GOES HIGH IN AIR.

Here the runaway left the tracks, and eye-witnesses assessed positively that it went 50 feet through the air, turning squarely around before it came down to ground in the bottom of the gulch.

BUILD SEVEN STORIES

Big Business Structure to be Erected By Mr. McIntyre on North Main Street.

New developments occurred yesterday afternoon, in regard to the building proposition on the McIntyre property, immediately south of the new Callaway, Hook & Francis building site on Main street. Mr. McIntyre has for some time been deciding what to do, but finally has made up his mind to build, independently of the china and glassware firm. So his architect, Mr. McIntyre, is drawing freedom of plan for Mr. McIntyre's 20 feet, with a view to erecting a seven story structure to cost $150,000; while the proposed building to the north remains intended, to cost about $50,000.

It has been the impression ever since the Hills-Hook & Francis deal, that Mr. McIntyre would erect with the 20 years' lease of the north adjoining property, a union front, and a party wall. But Mr. McIntyre has concluded to put up an independent structure, though the party wall plan remains, and the suggestive plans of the architect show a fine looking front of glass and iron reinforced concrete, with ornamental pillar work as a relief. That work is to be without delay is evident from the fact that the tenants of Nos. 70 and 72, E. F. Amussen, and the H. and F. fruit company, have been notified to vacate in 15 days. These tenants feel very much aggrieved at the scantiness of the notice. Mr. Amussen says he is left with a full stock of jewelry which he could have disposed of had he been given a longer notice, but which he will now have to sell for what he can get; and where he will go, is a question. The other tenants say the season in which they have a show to make a living, they are cut off. If a notice had been given earlier in the season they could have bettered themselves.

Mr. McCormick had not been informed of the condition of affairs adjoining his property until a "News" reporter stated the situation to him this morning. Mr. McCormick owns 18 feet to the north of his bank building, occupied by a music firm, and adjoining the McIntyre lot, and has expressed his willingness to build there in harmony with structures that might be put up on the north. But with the different styles of structure going up on the McIntyre and Hills lease properties, he could not state today just what he could do.

A future developed today, was the fact that nine inches of land between the Amussen stone building and the McIntyre property is in dispute. The "News" covered by the Hills' lease which should at least be a notice line on the north and south, appear to have been shifted nine inches to the south, thus leaving a space empty on the north, and extending over the McIntyre lot. Mr. Amussen says the nine inches on the north belongs to him, and as he has secured a lawyer to handle the matter, it will undoubtedly be settled. The other side will claim 30 years of undisputed possession, while Mr. Amussen holds there has been no possession at all, in that, as he says, the space adjoining his stone building was left unoccupied.

FIFTY BRITISH SAILORS DESERT IN FACE OF DANGER

Philadelphia, March 21.—Fifty members of the crew of the British steamship Aurora, leading dynamite at Thompson's Point, N. J., for the construction of the Panama canal, left the vessel yesterday and no amount of persuasion could induce the seafarers to return.

THUNDER MEASURES TO SAVE HIS LIFE

Thomas Hamilton Takes Two Ounces of Laudanum But is Discovered in Time.

ELECTRIC BATTERY IN PLAY.

Young Man Comes Back Suddenly to Action When the Current Is Turned On.

A young man named Thomas Hamilton, aged about 25 years, a locomotive fireman on the O. S. L., attempted suicide last night by taking a large dose of laudanum. He was found this morning in an old roominghouse, at 544 West First South street, in an unconscious condition, and with barely a spark of life left in him. It seemed impossible that the young man could be saved, but he was snatched from the jaws of death at the emergency hospital by Dr. G. S. Paul and Electrician Charles Sheeley of the fire department.

Young Hamilton had been living with his parents at their home on Genesee street. Yesterday he began drinking and at 11 o'clock last night concluded to kill himself. He purchased a bottle of laudanum and took probably two ounces. When found by a domestic at the roominghouse, he was breathing only at intervals. Life was almost extinct, but when the police were notified he was quickly taken to the emergency hospital at 11 o'clock and Dr. Paul was summoned. He worked over the man for some time and then Mr. Sheeley brought a battery into use. When electric current was turned on, Hamilton suddenly revived. Life began dancing and jumping about the room. An emetic was administered and at this writing he is being marched up and down the jail yard by a couple of trustees.

Hamilton said that his sister died at Coburn, Nev., about a week ago, and that her death was in a measure responsible for his condition. He said he felt that he had nothing to live for, and decided to put an end to his earthly existence. It was learned that he has a wife in Ogden and the police are endeavoring to locate her. He has had trouble with his family. Unless he is permitted to sleep, he will recover.

GOVERNOR GUILD BETTER.

Boston, March 21.—Dr. Frederick B. Winslow today predicted the ultimate recovery of Gov. Curtis Guild, Jr., from a complication of diseases which have threatened his life. He should maintain the condition of the past two days.

FRAME MONSTER PETITION.

New York, March 21.—The committee appointed by the American Association of Masters, Mates and Pilots to get signatures for a petition to President Roosevelt to pardon Capt. Van Schaick sentenced to 10 years' imprisonment as a result of the Slocum disaster, have secured 175,000 signatures thus far. Capt. Van Schaick was in command of the Slocum when that steamer was burned and 1,000 lives lost.

TWO FIREMEN UNCONSCIOUS.

Waterbury, Conn., March 21.—Fire broke out in the United States hotel in Grand street early today. The inmates were awakened by the flames just in time to escape suffocation, but the patrolmen were almost overcome. Two firemen were found unconscious in the rear of the building as the result of inhaling gas. Three gas meters exploded in their faces. One man is in a serious condition.

SOCIETY OF ENGINEERS.

Annual Banquet of Utah Organization Promises to Be a Big Affair.

At the regular monthly meeting of the Utah Society of Engineers, held in the physical building of the University of Utah last evening, a very interesting lecture was delivered by Mr. M. P. Saunders, on "Sampling Mill Machinery" and illustrated with lantern slides and drawings.

Mr. Saunders dealt thoroughly with recent practice in the construction of elevators and elevator equipment, and with the methods of obtaining true samples of ore. The workings of a Vexin sampler were also explained in detail. A large number of prominent engineers were present and the discussion was extremely interesting.

The next meeting of the society will be the occasion of the annual banquet April 17, at which time the annual election of officers for the ensuing year will take place. Elaborate preparations are under way for the annual dinner which will probably be given at the Commercial club. Addresses will be given by some of the most prominent engineers in the west, and the entertainment in the way of music and reminiscence shall be the best obtainable. The present officers of the society are: President, J. F. Merrill, Ph. D., director of State School of Mines; first vice president, R. S. McCaffery, mining engineer; second vice president, O. A. Honnold, chief engineer U. S. & Ry. Co.; secretary, J. C. Armstrong, mining and mechanical engineer; treasurer, Howard P. Saunders, mining and mechanical engineer. The above named officers, together with Messrs. O. A. Honnold, J. C. Armstrong, R. S. McCaffery, and Mr. E. W. Robinson of the Postal Telegraph Co., form the executive committee.

TRAIN ROBBERS EFFECT ESCAPE

McDonald and Frankhauser Saw Their Way Out of Helena Jail.

BLOODHOUNDS IN PURSUIT.

Were To Be Tried Monday for Robbing Great Northern Mail Car.

Were Seen Making Way to the South And Posses Search Country in All Directions.

Helena, Mont., March 21.—The most successful jail delivery in the history of Lewis and Clark county occurred today with escape of George Frankhauser and Charles McDonald, the alleged Great Northern train robbers who last September are supposed to have held up the Oriental limited and rifled the registered mails of $40,000 being transported to a Spokane bank.

They were arrested after a long chase, being due to an excessive desire for liquors and women in an Idaho town. Both the state and the government desired to prosecute, but the former yielded and after indictment by the grand jury were brought here and the trial set for Monday.

SAWED CELL DOORS.

To effect their escape, the men sawed their cell doors, the corridor bars and the bars in a window. Immediately upon discovery of their escape several posses were formed and are now in pursuit. Men answering their description were seen in the southern part of the city making for the mountains.

Bounds have been placed on the trail of the escaped men but owing to the dry condition of the ground they are making no material progress so far as can be judged.

United States Marshal Norfield has also formed a posse and has taken up the pursuit. The men were seen in the southern skirts of the city shortly after 8 o'clock, making for the mountains. None of the posses has reported as yet.

RAILROAD OFFICERS SURPRISED.

Robbers Looted Mail Car in Overland Train Last September.

St. Paul, March 21.—McDonald and Frankhauser were the men who held up and robbed the Great Northern overland train No. 1 a mile and a half from Randall, Mont., at 2:15 o'clock on the morning of Sept. 12, 1907. After robbing the mail car they attempted to blow up an extra safe in an extra express car from which they got nothing. Great Northern officials here are greatly surprised to hear of their escape.

The men effected their escape by sawing through their cell doors, and then by cutting the bars between the corridor and also in a jail window into the yard. They scaled the high wall by means of outbuildings and jumped at least 15 feet into an alleyway. The supposition is that they were afforded assistance from a confederate inside the jail.

MISSOURI SCHOOL BURNED TO ASHES

Forest Park University in Suburb of St. Louis Destroyed By Fire Today.

Girls from All Parts of the Country Lose Personal Belongings—Defective Flue Blamed.

St. Louis, March 21.—Forest Park university, a private school for young women having an enrollment of students from all parts of the country, was destroyed by fire today. All persons in the building escaped in safety. The four-story building, constructed of stone and wood, was located in the center of a seven-acre plot of ground immediately south of Forest Park, in the western limits of the city.

At 11:50 o'clock fire was discovered in the upper portion of the south wing. Quickly all those in the building fled out of the various exits and gathered on the lawn. The students lost all their personal belongings.

A general alarm was turned in, calling out the entire city fire department, but owing to the remote location of the institution the fire had gained tremendous headway before any apparatus arrived. The flames swept rapidly through the building, and within an hour it was in ruins.

It is believed the fire started from a defective flue.

ALIA TO BE HANGED FOR BRUTAL MURDER

Trial Judge Denies Motion for New Trial Prayed for by Slayer of Father Leo Hendricks.

Denver, Colo., March 21.—In the criminal division of the district court today Judge Greeley W. Whitford denied the motion for a new trial for Giuseppe Alia, convicted of the murder of Father Leo Hendricks, whom he shot to death in St. Elizabeths Catholic church, this city, Sunday, Feb. 23, and sentenced him to be hanged during the week beginning July 12 next.

ARCHER APPEARS AGASSI IN CHINA

Reformers and Revolutionists Seized By Police Upon Order from Throne.

SOME PRISONERS RANK HIGH

Family of Wang Wen Shao Involved in Uprisings Against Prevailing Form of Government in Realm.

Peking, March 21.—The authorities on March 17, inaugurated a series of wholesale arrests of reformers and suspected revolutionists, and up to the present time no less than 100 men have been taken into custody. It is reported that four of the prisoners have official rank and that one is a member of the family of Wang Wen Shao, former grand councillor. Most of the prisoners are men educated abroad, and they had recently come into Peking from the outlying provinces. The police in this matter are acting upon the order issued by the throne in December to the board of the interior to suppress public meetings and to watch closely all places where revolutionists were supposed to congregate.

Yuan Shi Kai, grand councillor, has recently established a "personal" police force under the direction of foreigners whose duty it is to safeguard all high officials who are apprehensive of attack.

MYSTERY IN VISITS TO PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT

Washington, March 21.—Diligent efforts to disclose the nature of the business of Festus J. Wade and J. E. Smith, the western board of trade men who were called to Washington for a midnight conference at the White House in continuation of last night's meeting Mr. Smith was again with the president at the White House this forenoon and it was intimated that a formal statement, as to the nature of the business in hand, would be given out later in the day. In the case of Mr. Wade, who went to the Philippine Islands some months ago in connection with the disposition of certain church lands and properties, it is surmised that at least a part of his business in Washington, relative to the Philippine Islands, is known. It is known that both men—Wade and Smith—have been greatly interested in the inland waterways project and a suggestion that meets with favor is that the personal their availability for service on the waterways commission and perhaps to secure their co-operation in having the project enacted to initiate this great project.

STOESSEL IMPRISONED IN RUSSIAN FORTRESS

St. Petersburg, March 21.—Lieut. Gen. Stoessel, who yesterday began to serve 10 years' imprisonment for cowardice and treason in surrendering Port Arthur, occupies a room in the fortress of St. Peter and St. Paul adjoining that of Rear Admiral Nebogatoff, who is serving a like sentence for surrendering to the Japanese in the Sea of Japan. The room is about 20 feet square and overlooks a little garden, where the officer is permitted to promenade. Stoessel's family has received permission to furnish his cell. The officers in the fortress run a private mess of their own, and Lieut. Gen. Stoessel has been admitted. The general's transfer to the fortress was unexpected. He persisted until the very last in hoping that the emperor would pardon him. In order to secure a room for the new prisoner, two officers who had served under Admiral Nebogatoff were dispossessed of their room.

D. W. STEVENS HOME AGAIN.

San Francisco, March 21.—D. W. Stevens, diplomatic adviser to the Korean council of state, was an arrival yesterday. He is on his way returning on a leave of absence after a service of several years in Japan and Korea. Stevens was at one time secretary of the American legation in Tokyo, and later was attached to the Japanese legation at Washington. In 1904, under the treaty between Japan and Korea, he was appointed to his present position.

DUKE OF THE ABRUZZI DEPARTS WITH A SMILE

New York, March 21.—The Duke of the Abruzzi, cousin of the king of Italy, who is reported to be engaged to marry Miss Katherine Elkins, sailed for Europe today on the steamer Lusitania. Up to the hour of sailing the duke declined to affirm or deny the reported engagement but his demeanor was regarded by the reporters who gathered at the steamship pier as not that of a man who had fallen in an important mission.

The duke was registered as Luigi Sforza on board the steamer early this morning and was accompanied to the dock by an Italian attaché of the legation at Washington and by a secret service man. To the reporters at the dock he said:

"I am very sorry that I have no interview to give out, but come and see me at 5 o'clock."

His ship sails at that hour.

"Yes, I know it. I stayed up late to escape this. Everything is all right. Miss Elkins' family has refrained from making any public statement and no construction has been placed upon their silence."

POLES LEAVE FOR HOME.

Springfield, Mass., March 21.—A wholesale exodus of Poles from Europe will follow the 10 per cent reduction in wages in the Chicago and Polyske cotton mills. Seventy-five per cent of the 4,500 operatives affected are Polish.

Steamship agents stated that they have sold all the storage and second cabin accommodations at their disposal in outgoing steamers for six weeks to come. Four days' work a week at reduced wages, the workmen assert, will not pay the cost of living.

MACKEY A CONTRIBUTOR.

New York, March 21.—Clarence H. Mackay subscribed $250 yesterday to the fund to send an American team to the Olympic games in England next summer. The fund is growing slowly, but surely, as the American Olympic committee is leaving no stone unturned to raise the required amount of money.

ATTORNEY APPEARS VIOLENT ORATORY IS MURDER TRIAL FEATURE

Attorney Bailey Continues His Sensational Style of Pleading For Sullivan's Life—Young Lawyer Jumps on Table, Flourishes an Iron Bar and Revolver and Generally Makes a Most Extraordinary Speech While Exhibiting Signs of Working Himself Into a Frenzy.

With face aflame with excitement, with tears ready to spring from dilated eyes, with arms violently gesticulating in imitation of the scene he was conjuring up before the minds of the jury, Attorney Bailey this morning in his address in the Sullivan trial, mounted a chair and clambering upon the high table in front of the jury, pleaded with them for God's sake not to place the rope around the neck of that noble man, Sullivan. "Where I now have my necktie!"

It was the culmination of the harangue which the jury listened to yesterday afternoon and for an hour and a half this morning, in which the attorney for the defendant sought to prove, by force of his personality and heated argument that his client was innocent of the charge made against him, that he had taken the life of Policeman Chas. Ford on the morning of Dec. 14, 1907. Bailey appeared to be worked up almost to frenzy when he uttered those words, and jumping to the floor again, he rushed over to the box containing the revolver Sullivan is alleged to have used in the murder, brandished it before the jury, and implored them not to point the gun at that innocent man's heart. He demanded of them to know if any of them had wayward children, and if they, as strangers in a strange land, were accused of murder, if they would cast their vote to have them hanged or shot as was sought to be done in the case of defendant. Then Mr. Bailey grabbed the portion of iron bar which had been introduced in the evidence, and slammed it down on the table, and gathering up the small chain which he had placed together with shreds of handkerchief, to represent the character of the missing links presented by the prosecution, laid at the jury's charge the injunction to get down on their knees before God. "Perhaps even formulated their verdict, 'as Jesus Christ would have done, and as the prophet of the living God would have done, and the attempt of any clergy in this town made to rope around this innocent man's neck,' shouted the attorney, 'you will recognize as nothing but lies!'"

CALMER MOMENT.
Apparently exhausted by his efforts, the excited attorney then calmed down and in lower accents told of the mother who is waiting for tidings of her son. "Perhaps even now," said he, "she sits in the window with her knitting, praying to God in her heart that you men will release her son from the charge of which she knows and you should know he is not guilty—praying that this jury will do her son justice—who does not want mercy, neither does this defendant, for if he receives justice, he will never be condemned for the murder of Policeman Ford. For God's sake, men, to please any clergy in this town, do not place a noose around this man's neck; do not aim a gun at his heart, for he is an innocent man!"

WARMED UP AGAIN.
Again warming up, Atty. Bailey declared it was the duty of the jury to acquit this man. In order to carry out the accomplishments of God's purpose. "Because this man's spirit is a choice one, and he has set a great labor to perform on this earth. You are not going to hang him! You live! It is equally as inconsistent to say this man is guilty of that murder as it is to say that he is not. If any man of you have nerve, let him show it now. Do your duty! I am your friend, disregard me. If Louis Ford or Hanson is your friend, disregard them, but please do not hang or shoot an innocent man!"

The attorney declared that Owen and Garcia, on that stand, would say "Yes, I am guilty of the murder, but do not hang me," but Sullivan says, "I am innocent, give me justice!" Again dramatically waving the revolver, Mr. Bailey declared the missing man were the guilty ones, and not Sullivan.

MRS. BELCHER'S STORY.
The testimony of Mrs. Belcher was again referred to, and the contention made that she told a doctored story in trial on the grounds of securing leniency for the offenses of her husband. Referring to Owen, he declared that was only one thing that he could tell straight, and that was the name of Sullivan. Owen, the most cowardly cur I ever saw," said Mr. Bailey, "he gladly took 20 years in the penitentiary, in fact he sought for it, in order to keep his own neck out of the gallows for the murder of Policeman Ford."

The attorney for the defense concluded his impassioned address with a quotation from Scripture which he exhorted the jurymen to go to the Bible and read the epistle of James, wisdom, it is written, "if any man lack wisdom, let him ask of God, who giveth liberally and unupbraided, and a plea not to hang an innocent man."

VICKERY WAS COOL.

It was 10:40 o'clock when Atty. Frank Vickery arose to address the jury. In behalf of the defendant Sullivan, he talked in a cool, collected manner, in strong contrast to his colleague. During his address, he referred to the blood stained vest which he said he had in and in his mind, untidily displayed in front of the jury, and stepped forward and uncovered the bloody places. As he did so, he said, "I am not a murderer, but I am a man who has been in the hospital with his hands covered his face with his handkerchief, raising his hand in appeal to the judge. For a minute or two nothing came of it, but the jury recovered himself shortly, and Mr. Vickery continued his argument, which was still in progress at the noon adjournment.

MEET WITH NEWHOUSE.

Stockholders Listen to Manager Hanchett's Statement—Wells, Director.

Shareholders of the Newhouse Mines & Smelters company met with Samuel Newhouse in his study block offices this morning, and during a most friendly two hours, learned much about the properties in which they have invested their money. Mr. Newhouse received the shareholders cordially, and when they asked that they be represented on the board of directors through the next election, March 27, Mr. Newhouse was perfectly willing that their desires should be fulfilled. The stockholders, who represent 14,700 shares, offered the name of Gov. Heber M. Wells as their choice, and Mr. Newhouse invited the former governor to fill a place on the board. There is not the slightest doubt that Gov. Wells will be elected.

Manager L. Hanchett talked on the mine and told much that afforded shareholders pleasure. He explained the mine is producing 300 tons per day, and that the present copper production is 600,000 pounds. The outputs of mine and plants are to be increased as rapidly as practicable, it being the intention of the management to make the monthly production of copper up to 1,000,000 pounds. After the meeting, all who had been present asserted their perfect satisfaction at the condition of the properties, methods used in operation, and plans for the future.
