

NEWS OF THE NATIONAL GUARD

Major W. G. Williams has completed the program and list of awards for the state rifle meet to be held at the time of the annual encampment for the double purpose of giving an impetus to the marksmanship during the season and to decide the membership of the state rifle team to be sent to Camp Perry, O., in August. This meet is held under the auspices of the National Rifle association and the expenses incident to the meet are met out of a national appropriation. The program will consist of the following matches:

For teams of five men and one alternate from all organizations, firing at 200, 300, 500 and 600 yards, slow fire; 200 yards rapid fire and one skirmish run of 20 shots. Prize, $30 cash.

For teams from each battalion and from detached organizations of five men and one alternate each, same as above. Prize, $30 cash.

Best individual shot at 200, 300, 500 and 600 yards, slow fire; 200 yards rapid fire and a skirmish run of 20 shots. Prize, $20 cash and gold medal.

Best score at 200, 300, 500 and 600 yards, slow fire; 200 yards rapid fire and one skirmish run of 20 shots. Prize, $10 cash and gold medal.

Best score at 200 yards, rapid fire. Prize, $15 cash and gold medal.

Best score at 600 yards, slow fire. Prize, $10 cash and gold medal.

Best score in skirmish run, 20 shots. Prize, $20 cash and gold medal.

In addition to the above there will be an open competition for any member of the national guard desiring to compete for a place on the team to go to Camp Perry. The places on the state team go to the 18 highest shots in the guard.

With the near approach of May 11, the new law reorganizing and amplifying the powers of the state armory board will be in effect and immediate steps toward the actual commencement of preliminary work on the new armory for Salt Lake will be in evidence. General Wedgwood has his plans advanced as far as possible until the new law is effective. These plans contemplate the erection of a handsome and commodious armory building on Capitol hill, overlooking the city. The situation is ideal and is within easy reach by car lines, and the center of the city in this respect and affords, in addition to its pleasing location, a wide variety of contiguous territory for the tactical handling of troops of all arms. The terrain in the vicinity is as varied as that found in any part of the country. Hills, table lands, lowlands, marshes, streams, woods and high eminences and valleys are to be found within a short distance of the armory site and the scope of drill possible for the troops will be much broader than is now possible in the limits of the present armory in Pierpont street.

The design in general is for a castellated structure, familiar in armory architecture. Interior design is a combination of the best features observed by General Wedgwood, Major Williams and Captain Webb during their tour of eastern armories while en route home from the Camp Perry rifle shoot last year. Those who have gone over the plans say that they are far in advance of the best to be found in eastern armories. The plan provides sleeping accommodations for 1,000 men and a kitchen to provide for their subsistence is also included.

Aside from its strictly military features, a gymnasium, swimming pool, running track and athletic field is included in the plan without added cost, as these features, as planned, contemplate the use of the drill hall and drill grounds for athletic purposes. A somewhat extensive gymnasium equipment is now owned by the state, but as there is no place to install it, it is in storage awaiting the building of the new armory.

Salt Lake is not the only city to be furnished an armory for its National Guard forces. At Mantle next week will begin the construction of a combined opera house and armory for the use of company F. Plans and specifications were gone over this week in the office of the governor by the state armory board and Mantle citizens interested in the project. The state authorized the early construction of the building. It will give the company the use of the upper floor of the building for club rooms, locker and equipment rooms and offices and will connect by stairway with the dance floor below, which will be used for drill and social purposes by the company. The new building will also be on this floor and when completed the building will afford company F quarters not excelled in the state. Company F showed up well at the last inspection, and with the added impetus the new armory will give in the southern end of the state, the company may be expected to make a very strong and exceptional showing.

This evening company C will assemble at the armory for a practice march. The men will leave at 6 p. m. for a trip to Bonneville, camping near the target range over night and rising in the morning each man to cook his own meal over his own fire in the regulation mess pans, which serve as plates and napkins after the culinary effort is completed. The march will be made in heavy marching order, rations and 20 rounds of ammunition per man being carried. The night will be spent in a shelter tent camp and tomorrow the men will spend the day in rifle firing at the butts. One purpose of the hike is to give the newly enlisted men an early chance to see how guard duty is done in the field and then to give them an idea of the comfort to be found in an army blanket sheltered by a "dog tent" with a soup can for a pillow.

Orders No. 8 in company C announces several prizes to be awarded by the commanding officer for recruiting. The prizes will be bronze bars with pennants and medallions and cash premiums.

Private M. L. Gerber of company C has returned to Ogden, where he will enter business.

Private F. H. Shewell of Company C is in Los Angeles on furlough.

Recent enlistments in the First Battery are: F. J. Gundry, J. A. Lambert, W. Johnson, C. M. Baldwin, J. P. Lambert, W. W. Maynes, W. C. Dee, E. L. Wright, W. B. Ellerbeck and A. D. Nadel.

All of the 3 inch artillery material has arrived with the exception of the rifles, which, according to advices received in the office of the adjutant general, have been shipped and are expected for early arrival.

Range finding, which is being studied by a party under the direction of Lieut. Max Brown, is progressing with much satisfaction to command. Wm. C. Webb, the battery commander, the men have manifested ready skill in the use of the instruments and the somewhat complex mathematical problems involved seem not to trouble them in the least.

J. P. Rintoul, who was regimental sergeant major with the Second Oregon volunteers, seeing two years service in the Philippines, and who also served a three year enlistment in the National Guard of Oregon, enlisted in the Signal Corps last Tuesday evening.

Sergeant H. H. King of the Signal

Corps has gone to southern Utah with an engineering party under the direction of the local United States land office to designate land for entry under recent enactments.

Corporal M. R. Savage is in Nevada in charge of a construction party running telephone lines connecting several of the more important mining camps with the system centering in Ely and Reno.

An examination of candidates for promotion was held in the Signal Corps Tuesday, three candidates appearing. One hundred and ninety-five points was the highest possible average and out of this number First class Sergeant Foster, acting first sergeant of the signal company, scored 177. Sergeant Foster will be recommended for appointment as first lieutenant of Signal corps May 11, the date the new military code is effective.

First Class Sergeant, B. G. Settle, signal corps, has been appointed quartermaster sergeant of the signal company, vice Sergeant C. F. Bellmore, relieved.

General E. A. Wedgwood has secured two Springfield rifles of the service type chambered for 22 caliber ammunition for gallery instruction of recruits and others not proficient in the use of the rifle. The slight expense incident to practice with this arm and the practicability of its use in the armory without danger makes it an ideal for preliminary instruction before range practice.

The formation of a Twilight baseball league among the four organizations stationed in this city is to be discussed at a meeting which will probably be called for next week. It is proposed by those taking the lead to play games twice each week of five innings each after working hours. Regimental headquarters has signified a willingness to provide a pennant and others will furnish bats and balls.

Two members of the hospital corps reported to Stewart Robinson this week the successful application by them of "first aid" measures which they learned in the hospital corps, one of which undoubtedly prevented a bad case of blood poisoning and the other perhaps averted death. The first case was one wherein the patient received a bad punctured wound by coming in contact with a rusty nail. By the application of methods taught in the lecture room the flow of blood was arrested and then proper attention given the wound in the matter of antiseptic dressing. The patient recovered without any serious effects whatever. The second case was one of a patient in whose throat a piece of meat had lodged. The hospital man by applying the methods recommended dislodged the impediment only after the victim had stopped breathing. Artificial respiration was then induced and recovery was rapid.

HURT IN RUNAWAY.

Richard G. Hawley Thrown on to His Head While Guiding Team.

There was a spectacular runaway on Sixth South at 7:30 this morning in which Richard G. Hawley, 645 Fifth East street, sustained a scalp wound, and a badly bruised shoulder. Mr. Hawley was driving a pair of black ponies when the bolt came out of the pole. He pluckily clung on to the lines for half a block but was eventually dragged from the wagon on to his head in the road. The runaways were stopped by some teamsters while Mr. Hawley was taken to the adjacent residence of O. K. Pratt, 570 south State street, where the first aid to the injured was the order. Inside of an hour he was able to walk home. The horses were uninjured.

(Special to the "News.") Pocatello, May 8.—A fire broke out yesterday at 2:15 in the Turf cafe in west Center street that raged for two hours during a strong wind. The buildings destroyed were the Onida block, containing Hobson's saloon, Turf cafe, Roland Grill, Driscoll's photograph studio and a millinery store. The fire was put out shortly before 4 o'clock.
