LOCAL BRIEFS.

The funeral of the late Mary A. Mallin will take place at the Twelfth ward meeting house on Wednesday, December 12th, at 2 o'clock p. m.

The Ministerial Association of this city tendered a banquet and farewell party to Dr. T. C. Blair last night. Dr. Blair is going away from Utah for an indefinite period.

D. C. McIntosh died of consumption at the county infirmary yesterday afternoon. Mr. McIntosh was an old time miner and came to Utah from Canada twenty years ago. He was 47 years of age.

Jas. W. Wilson, a local mining man, has filed a petition for voluntary bankruptcy in the federal court. His liabilities are said to amount to $2,615, while his assets are set forth at $2,577, of which $1,895 is claimed as exempt.

Miss Ada Murett of Melbourne delivered a very interesting lecture before a large audience at the First Presbyterian church last night. Her theme was, "Australia and the gold of the great gold production of that island."

At a meeting of the Ministerial Association yesterday Rev. Richard Wake read a paper on the subject of whether or not the New Testament teaches socialism or individualism. Mr. Wake thought that it decidedly taught the former.

Ed. Rhinhart a Knutsford guest, was hurt slightly at the Theater last night. A pair of opera glasses belonging to Wells Culmer fell from the balcony and struck Mr. Rhinhart on the head, inflicting a scalp wound and dazing him for a short time.

The Odd Fellows relief committee has forwarded a check covering the quarterly payment that is being made to the widows and orphans of Odd Fellows who were killed in the Second mine explosion. The lodge is sending $38 quarterly to thirteen widows and $19 each to thirty-one children.

This morning Police Officer Lincoln arrested Fred Radtke, a janitor, for violating the garbage ordinance. It is said that Radtke has been in the habit of sweeping rubbish from the sidewalk into the gutter. Several times he has been warned to stop it, but he persisted in his folly which resulted in his arrest.

Mrs. Bertha White and Miss Bevin were thrown from a wagon yesterday afternoon, and the former lady received a severe scalp wound. The team was being driven by a Mr. Clayton, who, on endeavoring to get in the wagon, slipped and fell. The commotion frightened the horses and they began to run. On reaching First North and Third West streets the horses ran into an electric light pole with the result stated.

A letter received from R. D. Millet, a local mining man, who is in Honolulu, states that P. J. Conway, the stock broker, who has managed to make considerable Salt Lake history, sailed from San Francisco on the same vessel as Mr. Millet. Conway had shaved off his mustache and was traveling under the name of George Clarkson, and when Millet approached and said he knew him, the disfigured broker stoutly denied that he knew Millet, that his name was Conway.

THE VESSEL HE CALLED ON WAS THE MARPOSA.

A hunting party composed of Charles and Ernest Crowton, Henry and John Duncan and several others, set out Sunday morning to shoot the rabbit population of Salt Lake county. They crossed the Jordan river, traveled about fifteen miles towards the setting sun, and were just beginning to make themselves known to "river rabbits" when a dense fog settled down over the land and the boys were upbraided in such a thick vapor that their eyesight could not penetrate it over two feet. They felt considerably put out, but finally drew up to a house where Mr. Rudy lived, but Rudy's horses were away so he couldn't bring them to town. The boys struck out and the advance party arrived home early Monday morning. The others got in yesterday afternoon. The boys say that hereafter they will have more respect for the Sabbath day.

JOURNEY TO MEXICO.

Company of Fifty-three Arrive in the Land of Diaz.

H. P. Johnson sends the following information to the "News":

We left Utah November 12th, 1900, fifty-three of us in all, via R. G. W. D. & H. G., and Santa Fe R. R. We had a very pleasant trip considering the stops we made to feed our stock which was four times, making seventy-two hours in all. We were six days and nine hours on the coast after leaving Springfield. We arrived in El Paso in a heavy rainstorm which lasted about 24 hours, yet we lost no time in applying for admission into Mexico, but found that not one of us had a permit to enter that country. We then telegraphed to the City of Mexico for permits to land in which the broker said was granted. After getting our things listed we found that only part of us had permits. Mr. Sharr and some of the other boys that came with him got permits instead of all of us. Four of each crowd are here still waiting for permits. S. S. Hulsh, not getting a permit listed his with Elder Jameson's and pulled out this morning leaving the big part of his crowd behind. We have all sent our families to the Customs and paid our expenses very much. I would advise parties coming to Mexico (with large outfits as have with us) to be sure that their papers are at the custom house before leaving Utah, otherwise they will find it very expensive to pay for and feeding horses and stock. I think a man will save money if he will come empty handed and buy his outfit at the colonies and thus avoid waiting for his papers.

DOCTORS HOLD MEETING.

The Medicos Indulge in a Brief Discussion of Vaccination.

The Salt Lake County Medical Society met last evening and elected the following officers for the ensuing year: President, Dr. Ira Lyons; vice president, Dr. A. C. Ewing; secretary, M. R. Stewart; treasurer, Dr. A. A. Kerr. The report of the treasurer, showing a balance of $10 on hand, was read and a discussion was held on the evening of vaccination. Dr. Philo Jones related his experience with some remarkable cases he had been attending. Many of the doctors engaged in the discussion, most of whom are declaring it to be their opinion that absolute immunity from smallpox, by vaccination, could only be secured by being vaccinated every time there was an epidemic.

MISS LANGAM A BARONESS.

Former Salt Lake Girl Weds a German Nobleman.

The following story from the Denver Post tells of the marriage of Lillian May Langham to the Baron von Sternberg at London. The more than ordinary interest that attaches to it is the fact that the bride is a former Salt Lake girl, and lived at the Continental Hotel with her mother and sisters. There are many who remember her as she used to romp through the corridors of the hotel.

It appears that Denver also claims the bride, judging from the blarneyings of the other women aboard, from whom very first he seemed to have eyes for no one but the pale little American girl who sat patiently all day long in her stateroom chair. It seemed to her always that something to do for her and something to keep him near her. He read to her aloud in his deep German bass voice, he brought her stoups for her feet, cushions for her head, dainties to tempt her appetite and all the devotion of a warm German heart. "The girl was touched by his gentle attentions, but she could not believe that they were prompted by any feelings other than sympathy and pity. She had long given up, or perhaps she had never cherished any dream of love, and she could not believe that any one would care to marry her."

"The voyage ended and the Baron followed Miss Langham to Paris, where in less than two months he told her of his love. At first she could not believe him, and then she refused to let him bind himself to her—a cripple for life. He besought her not to banish him and at last she yielded and promised to be his wife."

Preparations began at once for the wedding, which the Baron vowed should be an elaborate one. "Mr. Langham, telling her in America, sacrificed all his time, pleasure and small luxuries to buy his bride a suitable trousseau. Knowing that she would not return to America, he gave up his house in Denver and went back to San Francisco, where he is now working hard at orange groves and the clothing business."

The Baron took place at noon at the fashionable church of St. George, Hanover Square, London, which was filled with a great crowd of the smartest people in England. After the ceremony was over, a great wedding breakfast and then the young couple left for Italy, where they will stay until Christmas, when they will sail for India, where the Baron has been appointed German consul general at Calcutta. The Baroness will ever return to Denver. In all probability she will live and die in the land which Kipling has made famous."

How to Cure Croup
 Mr. R. Gray, who lives near Amenolia, Duchesne county, N. Y., says: "Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is the best medicine I have ever used. It is a fine child-cure for croup and never fails to cure. When given freely and the child becomes hoarse, or even after the croup cough has developed, it will prevent the attack. This should be given in milk and a bottle of the Cough Remedy kept at hand ready for instant use as soon as the symptoms appear."

FOUND IN A "DUGOUT."

Fred Blake Escaped from the Asylum at Provo.

Fred Blake, a lunatic, who made his escape from the asylum at Provo on Thursday last, was captured at an early hour this morning by Patrolman Joe Pursley in City Creek canyon. The man by the aid of a shovel and ax had dug a large hole in the side of a hill and covered it over with small limbs of trees, throwing dirt on top of them. He also had a piece of blanket which he was going to use as a protection against the cold weather. The poor fellow was taken back to Provo today and before going expressed a desire to see Judge Kane, as he had been kept in the asylum for fourteen years, and he wanted his freedom again.

Care for Chronic Diarrhoea.

"About five years ago I was troubled with catarrh of the lower bowels," says C. T. Chisholm, 434 Dearborn Ave., Chicago, and although I consulted several eminent physicians who prescribed for me, I found their remedies failed to give me any relief, and the trouble almost became chronic. After suffering several months, I one day concluded to try Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and I beg to assure you that I found it a perfectly sure remedy and after taking two doses of the remedy that I was completely relieved of the disease that had cost me so much trouble and annoyance. I am thankful to say that I have not suffered from it since."
