

CLOSING SESSION AT WANDAMERE

Largest Audience of Entire Musical Chautauqua Was Present Last Night.

RESULTS OF BIG CONTESTS.

Prize Awards Announced as Decided By the Adjudicators—Liberty Choral Society Gets Piano.

The largest audience of the entire musical Chautauqua attended last evening's closing contests at Wandamere, filling the entire pavilion and most of the porches outside. People kept arriving until the contest was half over, though the ushers prevented their trooping in during the rendering of the numbers. There were giggling girls and squalling babies to help the ushers. Several women with babies were considered enough to retire to the porches until their charges could be quieted. During the evening, Manager Graham announced the prize awards as they were decided on by the adjudicators, and as a general thing their judgment was concurred in by the audience. However, no attention was paid to such protests, as the judges did not consider the quality of the performances in this class as sufficiently high to warrant awarding any prize.

This so angered one or two of these parties that they stated their objections to Chairman McClellan and some of the adjudicators in a manner more forcible than polite. No attention was paid to such protests, as the judges did not consider the quality of the performances in this class as sufficiently high to warrant awarding any prize. The awards in full as announced were as follows:

Mixed chorus, Liberty Choral society, Joseph Poll, director, grand prize. Kimball piano, William Cannon, first prize. John T. J. director, second prize of $50.

Male quartet, Arion quartet, first, $25. Apollo quartet, second, $15. Soprano solo, Edna Evans, first; Winifred Smith, second; Kathleen Fitzpatrick, honorable mention. Contralto solo, Halile Foster, first; Beatrice Critchfield, second; Elma Young, honorable mention. Tenor solo, William Holmes, first; James Sneddon, second; John T. Hand, honorable mention. Baritone solo (first prize), Melvin Peterson, second; Iver Brind, honorable mention. Piano solo (senior), Marion Cannon, first; Tillie Flamm, second; ester Roberts, third. Piano solo (junior), Mae Hawley, first; Rosa Durand, second; Ethel Beasley, honorable mention. Violin solo (junior), Romania Hyde, first; George Klink, second; Clarence Burton, honorable mention. Violin solo (senior), Morris Andrews, first; Edward Fitzpatrick, second; Helen Hartley, honorable mention.

Each of the above solo numbers the first prize was $15 and the second prize was $10 with the exception of the piano solo and violin solo for junior in which case the first prize was $10 and the second prize was $5. For this prize in each contest where three awards were made, a certificate of honor was given by the board of adjudicators.

There is general commendation of the scheme of the Musical Chautauqua, which was planned by Messrs. McClellan and Graham, and even more than what was expected of it, is a strong incentive to the organizers, to work and accomplish something. It brings out promising musicians and entertains the public. This first effort included only three classes, singers, pianists and violinists. It might be well at the 1908 Musical Chautauqua, to include in the contestants performers to the clarinet, cornet, trumpet, violin, cello and horn. This would vary the program and lend a variety calculated to heighten the public interest. Messrs. McClellan and Graham have worked hard and long on this scheme, often amid discouragements, but with undiminished confidence they kept on and finally succeeded in making a great and pleasing success of the Chautauqua. It is practically a settled thing that this will now be an annual event, and the members of the enterprise are receiving numerous congratulations on the realization of their hopes, and the establishment of this new and valuable musical enterprise.

At the next Chautauqua some changes will be made in the pavilion, in the closing up of the grounds, the platform which will help the acoustic properties, and there will be a larger organ.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL.

Miss Edna Jennings was hostess at a pleasant Kensington tea after-noon at the home of her sister, Mrs. A. H. Pen-brook, 1604 Third avenue. A traveling game created a great deal of entertainment for the 25 guests. The table was tastefully decorated with nasturtiums and tea served at 4:30.

Tonight Miss Elizabeth and Marcus McCune gave a large house party at "The Bungalow." The young people will be assisted in receiving Mrs. A. W. McCune and Mrs. Green. The home will be elaborately decorated in carnations and smilax, over 150 guests being invited.

Miss Mary Halloran will accompany Mrs. John E. Woodard and children to Europe, where she will study for one year. They leave next Sunday for New York and sail for London on the 10th.

Last evening Mrs. Fred Wey entertained at a delightful lake party in honor of Mrs. W. M. Owsley and son, Merritt, of Mont., who have been visiting in the city for three weeks. A delicious luncheon was served and the evening spent in dancing. Those present were, besides Mrs. and Mrs. Wey and the visiting guests, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Whitney, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Wall, and daughters, Miss Grace Sullivan, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Cowan and daughters, and Miss Anna Wey of Peru, Ind.

Mrs. J. W. Hyde is visiting Pocahontas with her sister, Mrs. H. B. Williams.

A farewell social hop was given last night at the post for Col. and Mrs. Lockwood, by military and civilian friends. The guests from town numbering about 150. The entire garrison turned out in attendance. Maj. Lockwood and Lieut. and Mrs. Burton assisted the colonel and his wife in receiving. A concert program was given by the regimental orchestra and a dance which was inaugurated by the regimental band. The hall was festooned with the regular military arranged around the walls. It was 1:30 a. m. when the dance broke up.

Mrs. Kenneth C. Kerr gave a party at Red Butte Hollow this afternoon for her daughter, Ruth.

Lieut. Campbell, Robinson and Bates of the Twenty-ninth Infantry, have been granted leave to visit their families and not have to go to the islands. Capt. Woodward's family will not accompany him to the Philippines, but travel in Europe. At the present, Mrs. Pendleton will visit with friends in the east. Capt. Kinnison's wife will visit in Missouri.

Miss Ethelyn Gardner, who has been visiting the McMillans for a few weeks, left yesterday for her home in Indiana.

Mrs. Alfred L. Farrell and children have returned from Logan after a three weeks' visit. They were accompanied by Mrs. Luna Y. Thatcher.

Mrs. W. M. Owsley and son will return to Montana tomorrow. They have been visiting with Mrs. Wey and Mrs. Cowan.

Mr. Russell L. Tracy left last Thursday to join his family in the Puget sound country.

Mrs. A. V. Callaghan entertained at a luncheon this afternoon in honor of Miss Dorothy Kinney.

Mr. and Mrs. Hudson Smith gave a lake party yesterday for Mrs. Myron H. Brink of Orchard, Colo. Dancing, boating, bathing and a delicious supper were the features of the afternoon and evening.

The marriage of Miss Ethel Mae Part-ridge and Morris H. Forbes took place at noon today, at the First Presbyterian church, Rev. R. M. Stevenson officiating. They will go on a wedding tour through the Pacific northwest.

Mrs. Fred U. Leonard and Miss Emma Rash are visiting in Palo Alto, Cal.

Mrs. Kenneth Kerr and Mrs. William Reid will not go to Brighton as they intended to do. Mrs. Kerr is going to visit in the east and Mrs. Reid is spending the intervening time with her parents, Judge and Mrs. Le Grand Young.

Mrs. James Stevenson of Cincinnati is expected Thursday to visit Mrs. Elizabeth Thomas on Second street.

SHERWIN-FERL DENVER MARRIAGE

Mother of the Bride Closes Her Dramatic School and Promptly Vanishes.

CALLS HIM A SCOUNDREL.

Some Lurid Scenes Following the Secret Match of Former Salt Lake Newspaper Reporter in Denver.

In Denver the marriage of Maude Fealy, "Denver's own actress," to Hugo L. Sherwin, former Salt Lake newspaper reporter, is apparently the topic of the hour. Each of the daily papers is devoting columns of space to the event, with half tones of the parties concerned, zinc etchings of copies of the marriage license and other features which share the honors with the Haywood case on the front page.

As a sequel to the secret wedding the mother of the bride, Margaret Fealy Cavallo, has closed her school of acting in Denver, given up her husband and vanished. Before leaving she sent a letter to the Rocky Mountain News, wherein she says, among other things: "Maude has been more than most children and mothers, because she came to me in a time of trouble and I had to struggle with the world for her. And how I have struggled for her, I had no wife for her to have a theatrical career, but it was her ambition and I tried to make it easier by putting her at the top and saving her all the petty heart aches and struggles one must have if climbing alone. My greatest wish in life has been that she would marry a good man not in the theatrical business, and she would settle down to a real life. I have never coveted a wealthy husband for her, but I must confess I wanted, when the time came for her to marry, to have a husband who could not be a man who can scarcely pay for his laundry and cigars."

UPBRAIDS DAUGHTER.
"And what is to be said about the girl who deceives the one who loves her best in the world, who has worked and toiled and even gone hungry at times for her? I believe it is the first time in my life I am willing to see my child suffer."

"It seems that after all Sherwin is on a 'private,' for she told him that she would not live with him for a year, or rather was to decide after a year's absence whether she wanted to be his wife or not. All this is beyond me. I suppose it is the fact of a romantic girl and a man who saw a chance of being supported. In order that I may not be considered the cruel mother dividing two loving hearts, I have closed my school, taken my few personal possessions and gone, where I have not yet decided, but I never want to see my home—the home I have worked to make artistic and pretty to please my child—again. I never want to see Denver again, and not caring to make my husband wretched in his wretchedness, I never want to see him again."

The fact of my giving up my profession and trying to settle down to a domestic life shows that I dislike publicity, but it has been a terrible trial now that the affair will be allowed to rest and that I may soon be laid at rest."

SCENE AT THE HOUSE.
The scene at the house when the news was broken is told graphically by the Denver Post, which says: "Not even Mrs. Cavallo's mother, Mrs. Rafaelo Cavallo, professionally known as Mrs. Margaret Fealy, who conducts a dramatic school, knew anything about it until she was told by her daughter. Mrs. Cavallo was sitting at her dressing table when she heard the news. She went into hysterics, crying and sobbing bitterly. 'Why, Maude, can't be married—it's a damnable lie—she's asleep upstairs in her bed.' Then, beside herself with sorrow, she ran upstairs to have her daughter deny it. 'Waking out of a light sleep, her daughter said, 'Yes, mother, it's true. I'm married to Hugo.'"

"At this interesting juncture and before Mrs. Cavallo had time to faint, which she seemed inclined to do, Rafaelo Cavallo and Mrs. Sherwin drove in an auto up in front of the house and the light from the open door shone full upon them."

"Mr. Sherwin is naturally pale, but he took on several degrees of pallor when he beheld his newly made mother-in-law standing in the doorway like Medea, anger flashing from her eyes."

CALLED HIM SCOUNDREL.
"You scoundrel!" she exclaimed in true school of acting tones. "You scoundrel, if you ever show up here—but rage, half choked by the tears, and what she really said is not absolutely known, even to this hour. One of the neighbors insists that she made reference to a gun and that Mr. Sherwin's doubly condemned head."

"You'd better go away, Sher," Mrs. Cavallo said, quietly, to the bridegroom, and with a brief remark to the effect that he really said is not absolutely known, even to this hour. One of the neighbors insists that she made reference to a gun and that Mr. Sherwin's doubly condemned head."

"It is supposed that Mr. Sherwin took view of imparting the news to him, and that he did so. He had learned that the newspapers had heard of it and decided to enlist the man of the family on his side."

WITH GREAT ACTORS.
Great actors with whom Mrs. Sherwin appeared before she began stalling her new husband, were William Gillette, E. S. Willard, William Collier and Richard Mansfield. She owes her success to her mother, who was unending in her devotion to her only child one of America's first actresses.

It is supposed Mr. Sherwin will now be a successful manager, although, in an interview, she said she had never needed one, and she did not see why it was necessary for her to have him.

G. B. BURHANS TESTIFIES AFTER FOUR YEARS.

G. B. Burhans, of Carlisle Center, N. Y., writes: "About four years ago I was stating that I had been entirely cured of a severe kidney trouble by taking two bottles of Foley's Kidney Cure. It entirely stopped the brick dust sediment, and pain and symptoms of kidney disease disappeared. I am glad to say that I have never had a return of any of those symptoms during the four years since I have elapsed and I am evidence that the cure was permanent. I am cured to stay cured, and heartily recommend Foley's Kidney Cure to any one suffering from kidney or bladder trouble. For sale by F. J. Hill Drug Co., 'The Never Substitutes.'"

SECOND MONTH OF BIG SUCCESS— FACTS DON'T LIE

Truth and Honesty Predominates Over the Cry of Fraud and Fake—Cures That Will Live in History.

A. S. BEGGS, 522 SO. 2ND. W., TESTIFIES TO FACTS.

The Boy Phenomenal a Big Success In Salt Lake—Curing the Sick And Afflicted.

The Scripture says a tree is known by the fruit it bears, and as the old saying goes, the proof of the pudding is in the eating of it. So it is with the Boy Phenomenal. When the Great Fer-Don first came to Salt Lake and introduced the Boy Phenomenal he told the people that the boy would introduce a new method of healing the sick that was unknown to local physicians, also that his treatment was as far ahead of other doctors as the electric light is ahead of the candle. How well has the Great Fer-Don and the Boy Phenomenal kept their word one can see by the hundreds of the most prominent citizens of Salt Lake who verify their statement by giving their names and addresses. They tell how the Boy Phenomenal cured and benefited them when other doctors gave them up to die. The Boy Phenomenal by his honest treatment and his great skill in curing the very cases other doctors have called incurable has won his way into the hearts of our very best citizens. The local newspapers have been publishing accounts and names of citizens who have been cured by this Boy Phenomenal.

83 YEARS OLD AND DEAF.
A very interesting case of deafness was demonstrated upon one night last week, which caused much commotion and talk. The party was Mr. A. S. Beggs, 83 years old, who lives at 822 South Second West. He had been deaf for many years and was demonstrated upon after one treatment. His case was so much benefited he then and there made a public speech in the presence of 3,000 people, and told them all how he had been made to hear.

STOMACH TROUBLE.
Mr. Lewis Wesley, living at 168 South Eighth East street, told of how he had been suffering with stomach trouble and tried everything he heard tell of, until he consulted the Boy Phenomenal, and after taking a few doses of his medicine he expected a monster tape worm sixty feet in length.

OFFICE AT WINDSOR HOTEL CROWDED.
The 1st of August is almost here, and that is the last day the Boy Phenomenal will accept cases for the cure of medicine. After the 1st of August the Boy Phenomenal can be consulted at his offices, but the charges for medicine will be somewhat higher.

NOT THE LAST DAY.
So many people ask the Great Fer-Don if August 1 is their last day here in Salt Lake, Fer-Don wants it distinctly understood that he and the Boy Phenomenal will remain in Salt Lake an indefinite period, and expect to remain here for many weeks to come yet and still do business at the same old stand.
