

"KID" BERNSTEIN BEHIND THE BARS

Vogiferous Bruiser Who Led the Mob on Sunday and Monday is Jailed.

ARRAIGNED THIS AFTERNOON.

Meal-Ticket Fighter is Due to Face
Some Serious Charges Involving Penitentiary Offenses.

Unless the signs fail, "Kid" Bernstein, who poses as a prize fighter, has now a scrap on his hands in which he cannot evade punishment by living down, as he went to do. He is in the county jail, awaiting arraignment on a charge of burglary in the third degree, in connection with forcibly entering the street car barn and cars.

It is quite probable that more serious complaints will be lodged against Bernstein. It is alleged that he was the principal promoter of lawlessness and lawlessness on Sunday and Monday, and it is believed that he was the mainstay in the assault upon Sheriff Joseph Jones, in which the latter, while in the discharge of his duty, was thrown upon the pavement and jumped upon by at least a score of ruffians.

Officials claim that it would not be a difficult matter to prove a case of attempting to incite a riot against Bernstein, and as the offense is a felony, conviction would mean a term in the state prison.

ARRAIGNED TODAY.

"John Doe" Bernstein, otherwise known as "Kid" Bernstein, is to be arraigned late this afternoon before the justice of the Peace F. M. Bishop, on the charge indicated.

At the same time A. Stupack will appear to answer to a charge of resisting an officer and threatening to do bodily harm. The complainant in each case against Stupack is Deputy Sheriff Andrew Smith, Jr., that officer being the person battered, resisted and threatened by Stupack, according to the allegations made.

Martin Kookover and A. H. Anderson will appear to answer to a charge of disturbing the peace. All the alleged offenders were arrested by the sheriff's forces for participation in the trouble created by rowdies during the strike of Sunday and Monday.

EXPECT STRIKE SOON.

January White Rock Leasers Nearing
Ledge on White Horse Claim.

The operators of the January White Rock Mining and Leasing company, which is developing a lease on the White Horse claim of the White Rock, are thoroughly convinced that they will soon be enabled to announce a strike of the first importance.

The shaft which is being rushed to the 250 foot level to crosscut the vein, has reached a depth of 255 feet and a formation is coming in that is most encouraging in character, showing a large quantity of tale and sulphides.

The equipment including a 60 horse power electric hoist and a three drill compressor, will permit of rapid work and the shaft has been entirely unwatered since resuming sinking in this good looking formation. Engineers who have examined the workings recently express the opinion that the shaft has penetrated the ore channel and any day or hour may expose a body of high grade quartz.

BOARD OF OPTOMETRY.

Gov. Cutler Names Three to Conduct
Examinations for Opticians.

Hereafter opticians who desire to follow their business in this state will have to pass an examination before the state board of examiners in optometry. Such a board was created during the last session of the legislature and the bill was approved by Gov. Cutler on March 14, in compliance with that law the governor today issued a proclamation appointing F. J. Alexander, of Salt Lake county, H. O. Jensen, of Salt Lake county, and Walter M. Stokely, of Tooele county, as the members of that board.

GOOD FIND MADE.

Kirk Traxew of the Cottonwood Con. Gold & Copper Mining company has received a sackful of samples from a new find in the tunnel being driven into the property. The find is an important one and may be first announcement of another good mine in the Big Cottonwood district made attractive by such mines as the Mountain Lake and other Knight mines. Assays of the samples will be made at once.

AMUSEMENTS.

Theater—The streetcar difficulty had a visible effect on the attendance at the theater last night. The turn out, while it was good was not of the overwhelming character, that so widely famed an organization as the Augustin-Daly Musical company might expect to attract. With the strike settled, there ought to be a big crowd in the box office reports.

The organization presenting "A Country Girl" is one of the largest and best equipped companies in the line of light opera, which has visited us this season. The company seems organized on the stock company principle, that is, to present a cast of even excellence all around, with no one star predominating. There are several very good singers and actors in the organization, while the comedian, Mr. Sam Collins dominated the stage whenever he entered. The chorus, mounting and scenery were all excellent. Among the principals, the most satisfactory work was done by Helen Mostyn in the part of the Rajah and Miss Finley as the princess, in spite of some features of the dress. Mr. Stewart, the manager, was a better singer than an actor, and the same can be said for the soprano, Miss Quive, whose Marjorie was beautifully sung, but rather tamely acted. There are quite a number of other leading parts all in good hands, and the encores were numerous. But it was notable, especially with the numbers on the bill, that the players were better than the play. The music contains nothing specially novel or striking, and the story belongs on the rather quiet order, more suited to tastes across the water, than to audiences accustomed to the ginger and snap that westerners are.

"A Country Girl" will run tonight, tomorrow afternoon and evening, and will be succeeded by "The Cingalese" Thursday night.

Orpheum—Willard Weihe's orchestra, "and others," make up the Orpheum bill for this week, which ends with a set of kinodrama pictures, similar to those displayed last week at another house. While there are several good numbers on the bill there is no number that could be called of the first class, and it seems that the hope of receiving really meritorious numbers varies with the willingness of audiences to sit through the cheaper means served during the past few weeks. Robert Nome, who opens in a whistling number with instrumental music is mediocre. Mabel Serra, mezzo soprano, is better than some in her class, and wears a clever costume which seemed to make a hit with some gullible youth to the extent of a large bouquet of American beauties, delivered over the footlights. Merri Osborne and company in "Taming an Actress" is as good as anything presented, and does in a successful way an act that might easily be made of questionable color. Carrol and Baker, Hebrew comedians, are to the manor born and act naturally. The Joseph Addams act, in xylophone numbers get as much out of the instrument as any of their predecessors in this line, which is saying a good deal for the Panzer trio in comedy and acrobatic work are good, but as they are the final number, and fail to rise to a height of merit sufficient to give the bill the quality of a first class entertainment, their presence leaves a little disappointment to be charged collectively against the entire bill.

Grand—"The Cherry Pickers," on for the week at the Grand, deserves its mild sounding name, borders strongly on the ultra-melodramatic. The play is founded on a story of life in India, the characters being divided between English soldiers, half-castes and natives. There is much doing in a stringing way almost from start to finish, the scenes at times being so exciting a nature as to almost cause the audience to stand on the chairs. The leading roles are in the hands of Mr. Leighton, Miss Dodd, and Mr. Chambers, with quite important parts for Mr. Bosworth, Miss Fernley and Miss Galtart. The piece is one of the most interesting yet put on the boards here, the characters being drawn and thoroughly enticed the audience that was present last evening. The remainder of the week will doubtless be witnessed by the audience, that the play is most entertaining, the players have won their way into the hearts of patrons of the house, and after the tediousness of the strike the public is in a mood to enjoy an evening at the theater.

Lyric—The vaudeville program at the Lyric this week is one of the best. If indeed it is not the best, given at this playhouse since vaudeville succeeded the stock company. Chief among the interesting numbers is "Her Little Game," a comedy played that is cleverly performed by the Galt-Talbot company. Curtis and Adams, Dutch comedians, keep the audience laughing and the comedy sketch entitled "Hoeligan, the Insurance Agent," by William and Barron, is highly amusing. Herbert De Vaux, comedian and cartoonist, gives an interesting exhibition and the songs of Leon Le Charrier were well received. A feature that amused the "grown ups," as well as the children is the performance given by Tony Ryder's troupe of trained monkeys. The show closes with a Lyreosope.

MEANS MUCH TO
SALT LAKE THEATER.

In amusement circles yesterday, the publication of the dispatches announcing the combination of the Klaw & Erlanger and the Shubert interests in New York, created a great deal of interest. The combination is one of the most important in the history of the theatrical syndicate of which Klaw & Erlanger, Al Hayman and Charles Frohman are the principals.

REVOLUTION IN MONTENEGRO

It Has Been Proclaimed and Armed Bands Are Marching
On the Capital.

DISORDER RAPIDLY SPREADS.

Uprising Attributed Largely to Attempts of Prince Nicholas to Override the Constitution.

Has Been Draining the Public Purse—
Practically He is Charged With Grafting to Some Extent.

Vienna, April 30.—The revolutionary movement in Montenegro, which is a military government, has been proclaimed and armed bands are reported marching on the capital assuming a serious character, according to dispatches received here by the way of Ragusa. Disorder is said to be rapidly spreading throughout the country. The center of the discontent is an Andrievica, the headquarters of the Vasojevics, numerically the strongest clan in the principality of Montenegro.

The rising is attributed largely to the attempts of Prince Nicholas to override the constitution, which he bestowed upon the country in 1905, and also to his incessant drain on the public purse.

The prince is accused of utilizing the taxes of the other state funds to swell his private bank account. Even sums for the maintenance of his household and for the expenses of his court are said to have been diverted to the enlargement of the prince's income, or spent in his attempt to ape the customs of the courts of more important countries.

The marriage of his daughter, Helena, to King Victor Emmanuel of Italy, increased Prince Nicholas' ideas of his own importance with a consequent widening of the estrangement between the ruler and the people of Montenegro. The great idea of a constitution to Montenegro turned out to be a barren gift, and as soon as this was realized, dissatisfaction became pronounced, and emigration increased so rapidly that 25,000 Montenegrins left the country during the first three months of this year. The cabinets appointed by Prince Nicholas have been tried out by the parliament as rapidly as they were appointed.

The attempt to suppress the radical independent newspapers (the government being accused of instigating the destruction of one of two papers at Nikitchitz and Podgoritz), fanned the revolutionary flames. Delegates of the principal clans, all heavily armed, who after a stormy conference decided to send representatives to Cottine and demand that Prince Nicholas dismiss the Tomanovic cabinet. The prince replied by declaring martial law and calling out the militia to prevent the mountaineers from entering the capital. In the meantime while the Tomanovic ministry tendered its resignation and it is thought probable that Prince Nicholas will resign the cabinet, over which M. Radulovic presided, as the latter has many reporters throughout the country. The movement in Montenegro being closely watched by the Austrian government, which fears it may spread to the province of Novi Pazar, between Montenegro and Serbia, where Austria is responsible for the preservation of order under the treaty of Berlin, but the people of Montenegro believe that Prince Nicholas will succeed in suppressing the outbreak.

PRESIDENT CABRERA.

Attempt Made Upon Life of the Chief Executive of Guatemala.
Guatemala City, Guatemala, April 26.—An attempt was made early today on the life of President Estrada Cabrera. While out driving a dynamite bomb was exploded near his carriage, killing the horses and wounding Gen. Crellana, the chief of staff. The calmness of the president, who was not injured, is universally commended and the would-be assassins are surrounded on all sides.

CAL. METAL TRADES.

After Long Discussion Decide to Leave
Question of Hours to Arbitration.
San Francisco, Cal., April 26.—The California Metal Trades association, made up of 84 employers of metal trades workmen, at a fully attended meeting last night concluded, after a lengthy discussion, to leave the question of hours to a board of arbitration. The board is to be composed of the employers, the employees, and a third party. The offer to arbitrate was made by the metal trades association which will be received by the conference committee of the Iron Trades council today and placed before the local tonight and tomorrow night at the several business scheduled.

It is the opinion of the employers and employees that no definite action will be taken until an arbitral board is named and testimony taken to support the demands of both sides.

BIG FIRE IN LORAIN, O.

Lorain, O., April 26.—Fire of unknown origin last night destroyed a large part of the National Store company. The loss is estimated at $200,000.

ST. JOE DIRECTORS ARE VINDICATED

For the Second Time They Win in Action Brought Alleging Mismanagement.

THE INJUNCTION IS DENIED.

Another Attempt on Part of Plaintiffs
To Enjoin the Levy of an Assessment.

Judge Morris today rendered a decision denying the temporary injunction and dismissing the complaint in the case of Ellen Gary against the St. Joe Mining company. The action was brought to enjoin the company and its directors from levying an assessment on the stock of the company on the ground that the same was illegal. A hearing was had on the application to grant a temporary restraining order and the court denied the injunction. The application for plaintiff thereupon elected to stand on their complaint without further hearing and the court dismissed the complaint.

This is the second attempt on the part of plaintiffs to enjoin the levy of the assessment. On the former hearing the complaint was dismissed and a new complaint was filed. The application for temporary injunction was again heard and resulted in its being denied again and the case was dismissed. In their complaint the plaintiffs claimed that the directors and officers of the company had been guilty of fraudulent transactions in levying the assessment and it was attempted to enjoin the collection of the same. It is probable that the case will be appealed to the supreme court.

SUIT OVER DIAMONDS.

Legal Tangle Over the Possession of Thirteen Gems.
A legal tangle over the possession of 13 diamonds, valued at about $3,000, is on in Judge Armstrong's court this afternoon and will probably be concluded before the day ends. The case was started at a night session held last night, but was not concluded and was continued for further hearing until this afternoon. The case was filed by Charles Bitterman, deceased, and the Ingomar Goldsmith company mixes in the affair as an intervenor. From the evidence in the case it appears that Bitterman bought the diamonds from Goldsmith and afterwards pledged them to Walker Bros. bank as security for a loan. Walker Bros. assigned the claim to Lewis, who filed suit to quiet title to the diamonds. The Goldsmith company filed a complaint in intervention, alleging that Bitterman never paid for the diamonds and claiming them under a vendor's lien. It is for Judge Armstrong to untangle the difficulties which will probably be done this afternoon in his decision.

EJECTED FROM TRAIN.

Frank Campbell Now Sues the Short
Line for $10,000 Damages.
Frank Campbell filed suit in the district court today against the Oregon Short Line Railroad company to recover damages in the sum of $10,000 for being ejected from one of defendant's trains at Pocatello, Idaho, on Nov. 24, 1896, and for injuries received during the assault upon him by the train men. He alleges that he purchased a ticket from Pocatello to Ogden and entered the train but by reason of the assault was ejected and in so doing used considerable violence. One of the employees of defendant struck him on the head with a revolver and rendered him unconscious. He was afterwards permitted to enter the car and to ride to his destination. By reason of the humiliation and injuries he suffered at the hands of the defendant he claims that he has been damaged in the sum of $10,000 for which amount he asks judgment.
