Mesars. J. H. Stallings and John T.

five claims or 100 acres, but the gurface showing is said to be simply im-country between Mexico and British face of which copper ore is plentifully distributed. A couple of hundred pounds of surface ore was brought down and exhibited today which shows as fine specimens of chalcopyrite as one could wish to see. The ore, ac-cording to seteral assays, carries from to 35 per cent in the red metal and from $1 to $12 gold per ton. The object of Mesars. Stallings and Hodson's visit at this time was to se-cure the remaining half interest in the group. They have owned one-half of the group for several months, having purchased it last winter for $10,000. They have been joined in the enter-prise by a well known Salt Lake mining man and the intention is to develop the property systematically. The group is located in the Panhandle mining district, about twenty-five miles northeast
