SECOND ADVENT THEORIES. -There are three theories of the millennium now advocated-one of a prophetic day equal to 1,000 years; another, of a literal 1,000 years, and a third, that of an æonic age of symbolic years, a distant but historic period of transition. The "binding of Satan" is the casting of Lake August 19, 1868; our respected sister, for their trouble. the spirit of evil into the abyss or from the time she embraced the gospel to home of demons. The "chain" is the process of restraint, so he may no more seduce the nations. The ba d. eight children, and eight grand-Church inherits the earth by meekness. Though death continues, yet please copy. evil is reduced. This third theory makes Christ to introduce the millennium by a personal, yet not visible coming and reign. While it does not evaporate the idea of Christ into mere influences, it does not make a second incarnation. Eyes may be opened to see Him, as were those of Stephen and Paul, specially illuminated by the Holy Ghost. This great period begins by celestial developments, which are projected into the Church below, thence to the outlying humanity. Even those in the prisons of the lost feel the premonitions of judgments. This intenser life in the Church is but the beginning of the end. Catastrophes in history begin with the first resurrection, 1,000 years before the final resurrection. This first resurrection is not the reinforcement of moral principles merely, nor the reincarnation of visible bodies, but the appearance of some or all saints endued with spiritual bodies. Judgments appear reparative rather than punitive. The enthronement of holy souls and the spiritual death of the wicked take place. The coming of Christ is spiritual-not material-until all nature melts, and the 40,000,000,000 somis who, it is estimated, have lived and sinned, come to the Judgment Day. For this last consummation all things are ripening, even the cosmos itself. The processes of elimination He has already come to the border watch.
