OLD, TRIED, AND TRUE.

People are getting acquainted—and those who are not ought to be—with the wonderful merits of that great American Remedy, the

MEXICAN

Mustang Liniment,

FOR MAN AND BEAST

This Liniment very naturally originated in America, where Nature provides in her laboratory such surprising antidotes for the maladies of her children, its fame has been spreading for 35 years, until now it encircles the habitable globe.

The Mexican Mustang Liniment is a matchless remedy for all external ailments of man and beast.

To stock owners and farmers it is invaluable.

A single bottle often saves a human life or restores the usefulness of an excellent horse, ox, cow, or sheep.

It cures foot-rot, hoof-ail, hollow horn, grub, screw-worm, shoulder-rot, mange, the bites and stings of poisonous reptiles and insects, and every such drawback to stock breeding and bush life.

It cures every external trouble of horses, such as lameness, scratches, swinny, sprains, founder, wind-gall, ring-bone, etc., etc.

The Mexican Mustang Liniment is the quickest cure in the world for accidents occurring in the family, in the absence of a physician, such as burns, scalds, sprains, cuts, etc., and for rheumatism, and stiffness engendered by exposure. Particularly valuable to Miners.

It is the cheapest remedy in the world, for it penetrates the muscle to the bone, and a single application is generally sufficient to cure.

Mexican Mustang Liniment is put up in three sizes of bottles, the larger ones being proportionately much the cheapest. Sold everywhere.

The Freight Advance Denounced as an Outrage.

NEW YORK, 1.—The circular of the Pacific roads, advancing the rates on certain classes of goods, continues to be the all absorbing topic among the shippers of those articles, and also by the shippers of other goods, as the latter do not know how soon the screws may be put to them. Merchants interested denounce the matter as an outrage, and one that they will not submit to, although some of them admit that they will be obliged to pay the increased rate on such goods as they require to meet the early fall trade. In the meantime they are sending certain classes to the clippers and are not sending anything overland. The substance of the contracts offered to the merchants are, that if they will agree to ship all their goods by rail the Pacific roads will make the rate $4 and $5 per hundred pounds, and will protect them against a lower rate, if made by the Pacific Mail Company—that is, if the Mail Company will take goods at $1 per hundred, the railroads will make the rate of about $2. Pacific roads, however, reserve the right to abrogate the contract at their pleasure. It will thus be seen that shippers have no guarantee, for if they should ship all their goods by rail and ignore the clipper lines, the railroads would, so soon as they discovered the facts, abrogate the treaty and advance rates, a thing that they have done before, and is really the cause of the immense shipments via Cape Horn, the past year. Of numerous shippers seen to-day, not one is willing to sign the contract or listen to any argument on its behalf. What the result will be cannot be determined, but the general impression is that the railways will have to give way.

Democratic Convention.

COLUMBIA, S. C., 1.—The State Democratic convention met to-day. General John D. Kennedy presided. The platform adopted reaffirms the platform of 1876; is in harmony with the pledges and performances of Governor Hampton, and guarantees full protection to all classes in the administration of justice. Accompanying the platform are a series of resolutions, also adopted, urging unity of purpose and action among democrats, denouncing a fusion with republicans and deprecating the presence of independent candidates; also strongly recommending the fostering of immigration, inviting people from all parts to make their homes in South Carolina, directing attention to the revenue troubles in the upper counties, urging congress to amend the law and quiet the irritation, and requesting President Hayes to grant amnesty to the illicit distillers in the upper counties. Governor Hampton and the entire state officers were endorsed and renominated amid great enthusiasm. Hampton and others made speeches.

General Butler Denies.

BOSTON, 1.—General Butler publishes a card this evening positively denying the published statement that Kearney had come to Massachusetts at his suggestion and in his interest.

Suspicious Murder.

ST. LOUIS, 1.—An Alton, Ills., special says: The dead bodies of a mulatto woman and child, 4 years old, were found in a cabin three miles from that city, to-day. Her stepfather and a man named Wm. White have been arrested on suspicion.

The Yellow Fever Quarantine.

MEMPHIS, 1. — The quarantine against freights and travelers from New Orleans is being pretty rigidly enforced. The board of health will employ three detectives to proceed down the river and notify New Orleans passengers that they will not be permitted to enter Memphis.

Yellow Fever Cases.

NEW ORLEANS, 1.—The board of health reports 24 new cases and 7 deaths for the past 24 hours.

The Mexican Cattle Raids.

A San Antonio special says: Lt. Kelly, with a detachment of United States cavalry, crossed the Rio Grande, near the mouth of San Felipe Creek, to recover stolen stock. On the trail of the raiders he passed near the town of Los Vacas, where he was joined by the Alcade of the town and other Mexicans, who assisted in the recovery of seventeen of the cattle and one horse. The Mexicans rendered every possible assistance.

Destructive Fire.

A fire occurred to-day, in Levy's Dollar Store. The building was totally destroyed. The loss on the stock is estimated at $50,000; insured $40,000. Phillip Merlein, dealer in musical instruments, was damaged to the amount of $10,000. The total loss will reach $100,000.

The Labor Question—Meeting of the House of Representatives Committee.

WASHINGTON, 1.—The committee of the House of Representatives to consider the labor question, met to-day in the Postoffice building. There were present Messrs. A. S. Hewitt, of New York, J. M. Thompson, of Pennsylvania, W. W. Rice, of Massachusetts, and Thos. A. Boyd, of Illinois. Communications were received from the clerk of the committee on account of the House of Representatives, detailing what expenses were incurred by the committee would not be allowed. Among these were the services of a clerk, stenographers and sergeant-at-arms.

The clerk of accounts said he would have a conference with the clerk of the House regarding the matter, and would let Hewitt, who had written on the subject, know when the letter had been read. The committee went into executive session to consider the question as to whether they should go on with their work and take the risk of outlays being repaid.

At the close of the executive session, the committee, decided, by resolution, to sit daily, and to hear such persons as may appear.

Thomas Rock, who represented the stonemasons, wished the committee to recommend that all government work should be done by the people of the place in which the government buildings are being erected. He spoke against the system of giving out contracts for government work, as contractors made profits which the government might save by employing workmen direct. He did not intend to apply the rule to private individuals, and would not advise government to regulate wages. Some discussion ensued on the advantages and disadvantages of the eight-hour law, in which Rock became often worsted, and one member of the social labor union said his committee would be present to-morrow, when many questions not fairly answered by Rock would be answered to the better satisfaction of the committee and workingmen.

Hugh McGregor, one of a self-constituted committee, then addressed the committee on the subject of government collecting statistics of the laboring classes, and so arranging them that they could be referred to. The chairman thought McGregor should look over the census and see what was omitted and send his suggestions to the superintendent of census. McGregor said it was the duty of the United States to examine into every manufactory, take testimony under oath as to the labor question, enquire into their sanitary condition and do everything necessary for the welfare of the laboring classes. McGregor then retired and Justus Schwab, communist, said he would present his case to-morrow.

The representative of the granite cutters attributed the depression in his trade to the contract system and machinery; said he was discharged from government work in Albany for ventilating his views, and that men were kept at work there who were not skilled workmen and who were paid as much as skilled laborers.

Mr. Hewitt said if the witness would embody his statement in an affidavit he would forward it to Secretary Sherman and have the matter investigated.

The committee then adjourned until to-morrow.

Repudiation and Treachery.

ERIE, Penns., 1.—The republican convention of this county, to-day, formally repudiated the action of the convention of this district, which nominated J. H. Osmer for Congress. The Erie delegates, who were in the majority, were instructed for W. W. Reed, but deserted him, which treachery is denounced. Reed is declared the nominee.

WESTERN.

Howard Pursuing the Hostiles.

SAN FRANCISCO, 1.—A Boise City dispatch says: Gen. Howard, with the main body of troops, was at Rocky Canon, on the Malheur River last night, in pursuit of the hostiles. The Indians who attacked the stage yesterday were estimated at about 200 in number, and have gone up Snake River, towards Brunean Valley. Parties who have just arrived from Payette Valley report two small parties of Indians on the tributaries of the Weeser.

Silver City dispatch: The hostiles, on their way to Snake River, yesterday, stopped at Rauschmayer Ranch and encountered a number of Chinese employes, four of whom they slaughtered. The savages have been committing serious depredations at Bucker Creek and other points within fifteen miles of this place. There is no probability that they will come any nearer.

FOREIGN.

GREAT BRITAIN.

The "Times" on Gladstone's Speech.

LONDON, 1. — The Times says: "Gladstone's speech in the House of Commons was listened to with bated breath for his contribution to the great controversy and some prophetic glimpses into the future. He spoke two and a half hours and occupies seven columns of our space. He carries the hearers irresistibly down the torrent of brilliant oratory, but when all is over and we have time to breathe to what does it all amount—with few exceptions, nothing but prolonged invective against the present ministry. Scarcely anything they have done or said escapes denunciation. Peace has been made, but no thanks to them. They have preferred servitude to freedom; have pretended to defend public law and have really betrayed it; have made a convention violating existing treaties, brought into question an important prerogative of the crown, discredited us abroad and weakened us at home. But who are these plenipotentiaries whom he denounces with unmitigated, unrelieved censure? They are not merely Lords Beaconsfield and Salisbury—they are representatives of England before Europe and the world. Their work, when ratified, is the work of England. They have not usurped power over unwilling people. Gladstone himself admits that they command the approval of the most of their countrymen. There are other persons in the world besides Beaconsfield, and larger questions at stake than that of the conduct of the ministry in the details of the prolonged negotiation. We regret to say it, but the whole tenor of Gladstone's speech, as much by what it contained as by what it omitted, was inconsistent with statesmanship or generous patriotism, and he must proportionately forfeit his claim to the attention of his countrymen on this great issue."

The Debate.

In the House of Commons, Lowe assailed the abuse of the Crown's treaty-making prerogative, saying: "An antiquated prerogative has been drawn from its rusty scabbard and used without the knowledge or consent of the people. Government had done their utmost to drag royalty into collision with the people. It was impossible that Englishmen could be content to leave the exercise of the royal prerogative in the present position." Lowe's remarks were greeted with loud cheers from the liberal benches.

Lord John Manners, Postmaster General, defended Government, and Chamberlain (Radical) attacked them, dwelling on their extravagance.

The debate was continued on a strictly party line by Hon. Sir John Hay, Staveby Hill, Mr. Holmes, Edward Knatchbull Hageseen, Samuel Laing, and Sir John Leubbock, who pointed out that the Anglo-Turkish convention inevitably committed the country to eventual war with Russia. The debate was then adjourned.

Carnarvon and Beaconsfield.

In the House of Lords, to-day, Lord Carnarvon, attacking Lord Beaconsfield, asking an explanation of the latter's remarks regarding the former's retirement from the cabinet. He said that if Lord Beaconsfield meant to say he (Carnarvon) at a moment of difficulty and danger flinched from what he had pledged himself to do, he must absolutely deny such statement.

The Freedom of the City to Lords Beaconsfield and Salisbury.

A dias has been erected on the southern Guildhall, upon which stands a canopied throne. Here, on Saturday, will be seated the Lord Mayor, plenipotentiaries, and chief officers of the corporation. There will be accommodation here for 1,700 persons, including 400 members of Parliament. In the forecourt of Guildhall, a spacious pavillion is being erected, to seat 1,200 persons, another for 600 is being accommodated in the library.

None of these can see the ceremony, but will view the guests as they arrive. Lords Beaconsfield and Salisbury are expected at Guildhall before 5, soon after which the ceremony of the presentation of the freedom of the city will be given. The guests will have the first welcome at the extreme boundary of the city. Temple Bar is to be in some sense reconstructed for the occasion. One side remains, and on the other a wooden model of the demolished wall has been erected, to be spanned by a tablet inscribed "Peace with Honor." After the ceremony at Guildhall, Lords Beaconsfield and Salisbury will attend the Lord Mayor's ministerial banquet.

Lord Salisbury Congratulated.

Lord Salisbury is receiving a deputation of southeast Lancashire conservatives, who have congratulated him on the success of his mission to Berlin, and invited him to Manchester. He said he did not object to having government's policy submitted to the search of criticism, but explained that while their policy was subject to acrimonious criticism in the House of Commons, the protocols which record the work of the plenipotentiaries passed the House of Lords without comment, so that the plenipotentiaries have no opportunity to explain them, though they alone are able to do so minutely.

Turkey and the Berlin Treaty.

Alluding to the delay of Turkey in ratifying the treaty of Berlin, a Vienna correspondent mentions a telegram from Constantinople saying that intrigues have been discovered aiming at the overthrow of Safvet Pasha and a return to the San Stefano treaty and Russian protectorate. The dispatch says the Sultan was at one time inclined to shield the prisoners.

GERMANY.

Election Returns.

BERLIN, 1.—The latest returns from the elections for members of the German Reichstag show the following elected: Forty-seven conservatives, 74 national liberals, 19 progressists, 35 ultra-montanes, 2 Alsatian irreconcilables, 2 Alsatian autonomists, 3 socialists, 8 Poles, and one particularist. Thirty-six second ballots are necessary.

Bismarck's Son Defeated.

Count Bismarck, son of the chancellor, and candidate for parliament, has been defeated at Luneburg.

AUSTRIA.

Todleben Refuses to Withdraw.

VIENNA, 1.—It is rumored that General Todleben refuses to withdraw a man from the vicinity of Constantinople before the withdrawal of the British fleet. Difficulties are also reported in regard to the return of Turkish prisoners of war.

Army Occupation.
