CHICAGO, ROCK ISLAND & PACIFIC RAILWAY

By reason of its central position and close relation to all principal lines East and West, at initial and terminal points, constitutes the most important mid-continental link in that system of through transportation which invites and facilitates travel and traffic between cities of the Atlantic and Pacific Coasts. It is also the favorite and best route to and from points East, Northeast and Southeast, and corresponding points West, Northwest and Southwest.

The Rock Island system includes in its main line and branches, Chicago, Joliet, Ottawa, La Salle, Peoria, Geneseo, Moline and Rock Island, in Illinois; Davenport, Muscatine, Washington, Fairfield, Ottumwa, Oskaloosa, West Liberty, Iowa City, Des Moines, Indianola, Winterset, Atlantic, Knoxville, Audubon, Harlan, Guthrie Centre and Council Bluffs, in Iowa; Gallatin, Trenton, Cameron and Kansas City, in Missouri; Leavenworth and Atchison, Kansas; Albert Lea, Minneapolis and St. Paul, in Minnesota; Watertown in Dakota, and hundreds of intermediate cities, towns, villages and stations.

THE GREAT ROCK ISLAND ROUTE

Guarantees its patrons that sense of personal security afforded by a solid, thoroughly ballasted road-bed; smooth tracks of continuous steel rail; substantially built culverts and bridges; rolling stock as near perfection as human skill can make it; the safety appliances of patent buffers, platforms and air-brakes; and that exacting discipline which governs the practical operation of all its trains. Other specialties of this route are Transfers at all connecting points in Union Depots, and the unsurpassed comforts and luxuries of its Passenger Equipment.

The Fast Express Trains between Chicago and the Missouri River are composed of well ventilated, finely upholstered Day Coaches, Magnificent Pullman Palace Sleepers of the latest design, and sumptuous Dining Cars, in which elaborately cooked meals are leisurely eaten, "good Digestion waiting on Appetite, and Health on both." Between Chicago and Kansas City and Atchison, are also run the Celebrated Reclining Chair Cars.

THE FAMOUS ALBERT LEA ROUTE

Is the direct and favorite line between Chicago and Minneapolis and St. Paul, with connections are made in Union Depots for all points in the Territories and British Provinces. Over this route, Fast Express Trains are run to the watering places, summer resorts, picturesque localities, and hunting and fishing grounds of Iowa and Minnesota. It is also the most desirable route to the rich wheat fields and pastoral lands of interior Dakota.

Still another DIRECT LINE, via Seneca and Kankakee, has been opened between Newport News, Richmond, Cincinnati, Indianapolis, and Lafayette and Council Bluffs, Kansas City, Minneapolis and St. Paul and intermediate points.

A Waterloo Medal Found.

An extremely rare and curious military medal was recently found under a kitchen in this city. On one side it has the words: "For courage, good conduct, and faithful service. Hindostan. Seventy-first Highland Light Infantry. Ten years' service." On the other side are the words: "Peninsula, Rolica, Vimiere, Almaraz, Vive, Pyrenees. Orthes, Waterloo, Fuentes D'Onor."

The medal is made of composition metal, and is about one and a half inches in diameter. Above and below the words "Seventy-first Highland Light Infantry" are a crown and a hunting-horne respectively, and on the other side is an oval-shaped figure inclosing the cross of St. Andrew, beside which is standing a bare-footed pilgrim, the beauty of whose visage has been destroyed by the abrasion of the metal and the lapse of time. As may be inferred from the names Vittoria, Vimiera and Waterloo the original possessor of the medal was one who followed the British flag through the Spanish Peninsula in the war which ended at Waterloo in 1815. The other legend of the medal indicates that the battle-scarred Highlander won new honors and laurels in a later service in East India.

How the medal got to Charleston would be hard to divine, but it is evidently a genuine military relic. It tells a very eloquent tale, and is the mute historian of an old soldier's proud record in peace and in war. It resembles many good things in fiction and romance only in the respect that it is anonymous. The kilted warrior left everything but his name to tell the story.—Charleston News and Courier.

A Kind Emperor.

Among the pleasant incidents told of the late Joseph II., Emperor of Austria, is the following concerning a poor woman who lay very ill in a miserable attic in Vienna, with no other attendant than her boy Franz, 12 years old.

One day she said: "Franz, I can bear this pain no longer. See if you cannot induce some doctor to call and prescribe for me." With a sad heart, and with but slight hopes of success, Franz obeyed. He called on several physicians and begged them to visit his mother but in vain. They all declined because he was unable to pay their fee, which in those days was a florin for each visit. In despair, and not knowing what to do next, he stood at a corner dreading to go home. Just then a private carriage came slowly by, in which sat a distinguished looking man.

This was no other than the Emperor Joseph II., a most kind-hearted ruler, who was always accessible to the most humble of his subjects, and was dearly beloved by them. He frequently mingled with the people, delighting to walk and ride about among them. On such occasions he was always plainly dressed, so that no one suspected that he was the emperor.

Franz stepped to the carriage door, and, taking off his cap, said, humbly, "Kind sir, will you have the goodness to give me a florin?"

"Would not a smaller sum do, my little man?"

"No, sir," replied Franz; and, emboldened by the gentleman's kind tone, he narrated to him for what purpose he required a florin.

The emperor listened attentively, and then handed him the money. He also inquired of him where his mother lived, and questioned him about her circumstances. Pleased with Franz's replies, he then dismissed him, and bade his coachman drive to the given address. On his arrival he wrapped himself well up in his cloak to avoid any possible chance of recognition. Then he ascended the stairs and entered the sick woman's room. She, supposing him to be a physician whom her son had sent, told him of her illness and of her poverty and struggles. "My good woman," said the emperor, when she had finished; "I understand your case perfectly. I will now write you a prescription, which I am sure will do you good."

He sat down at the table, and after writing a few moments, folded up the paper. "When your son comes home he can attend to this."

He had scarcely left the house when the door was again opened, and a doctor, followed by Franz, entered the room.

Frau Waldorf was surprised at this second call, and explained to the newcomer that a physician had just visited her and had left a prescription on yonder table. The doctor took up the paper to see who had been there and what had been prescribed. He had, however, hardly glanced at it when he uttered an exclamation of surprise and said: "Madam, do you know into whose hands you have fallen? This paper is an order on the treasurer for fifty florins, and is signed, Joseph."

"The emperor!" shouted Franz, with delight, while his mother invoked blessings on him who had befriended her in her greatest need.

But the emperor did not stop here. He caused inquiries to be made about Frau Waldorf and her family, and was informed that her husband had been an officer in his father's army, and had served with distinction through the Seven Years' War. In one of the last engagements he had fallen on the field of battle while gallantly charging a battery. On learning this the emperor at once gave directions that her wants should be thereafter provided for, and that Franz' further education should be at his expense.—Harper's Young People.
