CARTERS CURE SICK HEADACHE

An Address by Elder Rudger Clawson, Delivered Before the Liberty Stake Conference, in the Assembly Hall, Salt Lake City, Sunday, July 18, 1909.

joiced very much in the spirit of this meeting, in the rich instructions which we have received from President Smith, and in the singing and other exercises, All these things have been very profitable to me. I rejoice in the welfare and prosperity of this stake, the Liberty stake of Zion, and in the good work that is being done.

There are very many blessings connected with the gospel. Some of them have been referred to this morning, and there are many which have not been mentioned. I take it that the blessings of the gospel are very desirable to have; we want them; but the question is, Are we willing to pay the price? I do not mean, by this, to indicate that there is a money value to be placed upon the blessings of the gos-pel; but what I do mean is the two can not obtain these precious blessings without effort and without sacrifice, and we cannot secure them by passing along in a spirit of indifference. If we wish to obtain a blessing we must con-form and render obedience to the law upon which the blessing is predicated. You will remember that John the Rev-clator saw, in vision, quite a number who were arrayed in white. They must who were arrayed in white. They must have looked very beautiful and very happy; they seened to be favored and blest of heaven. The question was asked. "Who are these arrayed in white?" There appeared to be some curiosity on this point. Who were they? The answer was, "These are they who have come up through much tribulation." That is to say, before they attained to this position, to be blest and favored of the Lord, and given robes of righteousness, that they given robes of righteousness, that they might rest in peace and happiness, they must pass through much tribulation. In other words, to obtain the blessings they must make the sacrifice; they must pay the price, whatever it is.

THE PRICE OF GOOD HEALTH. We have many illustrations of this principle; some are very simple, and others are profound. For instance, do you want good health? That is a simple proposition. I think it is conceded that good health is one of the best and choicest blessings of heaven; for withchoicest blessings of heaven; for with-out good health a person can do noth-ing; he is almost useless in the world, without it. If you want good health, are you willing to pay the price? There is a law given of the Lord, touching this matter, and it is known among the Latter-day Saints as the Word of Wisdom. These little children, assem-bled in the gallery, have all heard of it. All of these children know what I mean when I speak of the "Word of Wisdom." It bears upon this ques-tion of good health. Now, I ask these children, and also the grown people who are here, and all members of the church—do we desire good health, and if so are we willing to pay the price? And what is the price? Well, the price is indicated in this law: We are to be temperate, temperate in our habits. be temperate, temperate in our habits. We are to avoid taking things into our bodies, that art hurtful to the body, such as tea, coffee, tobacco and liquor, such things as will weaken the facul-ties and eventually, in a great, degree, destroy the body. The Lord has said to His people, and to these little chil-dren—if you will observe to keep this Word of Wisdom, and avoid the things that are hurtful to you you shall have that are hurtful to you, you shall have good health: you shall walk and not faint: you shall run and not be weary; and in a time to come, the destroying angel shall pass you by. This is the promise—are you willing to pay the price for good health? Will we teach our children the law, and try to inspire in them the courage and faith to pay alogical interests, was set in operation in the year 1845, in Boston, Mass. Mark the date, 1845. And in that famous old the price?

Brothren and sisters: I have re- | know what is recant when we say "the law of tithing." We know what is re-quired. The Lord has told us that if we will not receive this law, and will not obey it, this shall not be the land of Zion to us. It is only through obe-dience to the law that the land is sanctified and made to be the land of dience to the law that the land is sanctified and made to be the land of Zion. Will we pay the price? A very strong example comes to my mind, at this moment, which I think emphasizes some of the thoughts that I have been expressing to you this morning. You will remember, in an-clent times, there were three servants of God, three H-sbrews, living in the land of Babylon. They desired to houor God and to have His blessing. His favor and approval. But the ques-tion with them was: Were they will-ing to pay the price? Because, the price, remember, was something terri-ble. One of the ten commandments expressly required of the children of men and of the children of God, that they shculd have no other god but the God of heaven, that they should make no graven image of figure of any-thing upon the earth or in heaven, which they should fall down and wor-ship, but they were to worship the true and the living God. Now, Nebuchad-nezzar the king, set up a golden im-age, and he required of all the people of Babylon, that at a certain time, when the music should strike up and the sig-nal should be given, they should fail down and worship the golden image. served them. nal should be given, they should fall down and worship the golden image. The three Hebrews declined to do so; they would not worship the golden image. When it was reported to Neb-uchadnozzar, he was filled with fury and with the spirit of wrath, and he called them before him--because those three men were his trusted servants; called them before him--because those three men were his trusted servants; they were officials in the kingdom of Babylon, under the king, and he de-sired to know why it was that they would not accept his edict, why they would not comply with the command of the king to fall down and worship the golden image. Now, mark you the answer. These three men stood before the king, and said: "We are not very careful to answer in respect to this matter." That is to say, they did not wish to use any policy; they had no desire to hide anything from the king; they did not wish to beat around the bush; they were not careful to answer the king in relation to the matter; but they said: "And if it be so, the God whom we worship is able to doliver us from the burning, flery, furnace"— for this was the punishment to be met-ed out to those who refused to worship the golden image—"and He is able to deliver us out of thine hand. O king, But if He will not deliver us, and if we

But if He will not deliver us, and if we must be cast into the furnace, never-theless, be it known unto thee. O king and because they refused to answer to the command of the king, they were cast into the burning, flery furnace, which was heated seven times greater than was wont to be: but they were delivered by the power of God, that they were not consumed in the flames, that not a hair of their heads was scorched, that there was not even the smell of fire upon their cloth-ing. They were absolutely protected and shielded by the Lord, for His an-gel came down and stood in the flory furnace with the three Hebrews, and delivered them. When they were de-livered, the great King Nebuchadnezzar --this is one feature of the illustration to which I wish to call your attention-the great king of Babylon broke down, and worshiped the God of heaven, and he sent forth an edict throughout all and worshiped the God of heaven, and he sent forth an edict throughout all the kingdom of Babylon that any man or woman, in his dominions, who spoke against the God of Shadrach, Meshach and, Abednego, the God of heaven, the (4od of Israəl, should be cut to pieces and destroyed; "because," he said, "there is no other god that delivers like the God of these men." So the three Hebrews were honored by the king, and promoted in the kingdom. As I said before, these men desired to be recognized and honored of the

As I said before, these men desired, to be recognized and honored of the Lord; they wished to be His favored servants, but it seemed certain that if they did not answer to the command of the king, they would be consumed by fire and destroyed. But, nevertheless, they were not destroyed; they were willing to pay the price, and the Lord honored them and blest them and pre-served them. THE PRICE OF LONG LIFE.

Now, I want to say a word to these children-just a word in conclusion. I take it that these liftle children desire abow, i want a word in conclusion. I take it that these liftle children desire to live long upon the earth. Life is a beautiful thing. Fresident Smith has been talking to us about the earth. Of arse, that which he sought to impress pon our minds, particularly, was the beauty and the power and the strength of truth; but he spoke of the earth up-on which we dwell. It is a beautiful earth, and we are greatly blest to be here. Is it not a blessed thing to stand upon the earth in these mortal bodies. I take it that these liftle children want to live long upon the earth; but are they willing to pay the price for that blessing? I might ask, also, the adults in this congregation, are you willing to pay the price of long life upon the earth? There is a law touching upon this inatter, and it is very beautiful and very impressive; it is one of the Ten Commandments. The Lord has said to us-now mark you, little ones—in one of His commandments. "Honor thy father and thy mother, that thy days may be long in the land." That is the price which must be paid. If you de-sire to live long upon the earth. If you desire that your days shall be lengthened and multiplied, you must heed this commandment, and you must render obedience to your parents; you must honor your parents and give heed to their counsel and instruction. May the Lord bless is and help us to realize fully and appreciate the fact that His blessings do not come to us

May the Lord bless us and help us to realize fully and appreciate the fact that His blessings do not come to us through a spirit of indifference, that we cannot go along without thought and without effort and then expect to se-cure the blessings of heaven; we can-not do it, we must live for these blesse not do it: we must live for these bless ings: we must work for them, and we must make sacrifices for them. May we will not serve thy gods and we will not worship the golden image." Be-cause of their attitude in this matter, Amen.

like thoughts and impulses, which are mostly instincts. Instead of being al-lowed to run along on their own level the children are being continually forced up an incline plane-to a high-cr level, doubtless, but they would reach it in good time without com-pulsion, if they were left alone-and they'd be so much less tired when they arrived! "It's an old saying but a true one, 'Children can be children but once.' Here in America you seem to dosire to eliminate even the 'once.' "Then, besides brushing the bloom off natural childishness, the familiar association, or the older and younger members of the family, as practised here, is so subversive of proper obed-lence. American children 'boss' their parents. The code of discipline cur-rent in the typical American family would not be tolorated anywhere else in the civilized or uncivilized world. Even savages command greater re-spect from their offspring than the American father and mother. "T am no bellever in harsh patri-archaral depoism but the family is the state in miniature, and every state must have some ruler. And surely tho father and mother, by right of age and experience, are logically entitled to the right of command. UNNATURAL SYSTEM.

UNNATURAL SYSTEM.

"Yet sit in a hotel parlor some night

Are sit in a note: parlor some night and watch the various parental at-tempts to induce some small four-year-old despot to go to bed; or note the in-flections, varying frem ineffectual command to equally ineffectual des-pair, in the voice of the average Am-urican mother as she tries to make has son know his bad build the som her son keep his head inside the car

"It is all part of the—to me—un-natural system of domestic inter-course. If the children were kept in the nursery where they belong they would go to bed at proper hours, they would dress simply instead of becom-ing the puffed and frilled show dolls one so often sees, and they would naturally gain an access of respect for "those set in authority over them." "At present the manners of the av-erage American boy or girl are un-printable. They have no respect, no reverence, for aught human or divine. They are simply small walking edi-tions of your Declaration of Indepen-dence—they 'are and of right ought to be free and independent states!" And I honestly believe that most of you are rather proud of the fact," concluded the critic with a twinkle. 'It is all part of the-to me-un-

CASE OF ENVIRONMENT.

"Are there any specific physical differences between the little boy in London and his cousin in New York? I hardly think so. There are genuine differences of environment, but curdifferences of environment, but cur-iously enough they seem to balance off in the total result. "In London the children get much more room and fresh air. Even in the most crowded parts of the city we have our small parks for breath-ing space. And the houses are con-structed differently-people are not so crowded. One block with a thousand people in it, such as I am told you have here, would be unthinkable in Of Sale. R. E. ALLEN, Secretary, Office: Room 7, Knight Block, Provo, Utah. the least knowledge of such a splendid work as this society, this, too, is a re-markable fact to which we now call atave here, would be unthinkable in london tention. But there on a little side street, right in the heart of Boston, at London, "But what our children gain in good air they lose in poor food. I think there are few children in New York who actually suffer from lack of food. That is because your poor families are always less poor than ours, at least they have more money. And though lodging is dearer here than in Lon-don, the price of food is the same in both places. Consequently New York children are worse lodged but better fed. And what is lost in one way, on cither side, is gained in another. "In athletic development I think we have the advantage, because all our boys go in for sports. Your schools produce champions, ours splendid general-average strength. you may perhaps have two football teams in one institution—a first and a 'scrub.' The rest of the boys simply stand around and cheer. But we have a hundred teams in a single school. Every boy glays—every one. Consequently every boy gets the phy-sical benefit of the sport—not simply the strongest and already most fit, as is apt to be the case in this coun-try." CO-EDUCATION. "But what our children gain in good 18 Somerset street, just off the Boston Common, is nestled an old-fashioned building, crowded to its roof in all three stories, with priceless books, pamphlets, and relics. There are lit-erally hundreds of thousands, perhaps millions, of names, waiting for the laggard search of Latter-day Saints who are asleep on their posts, 'This who are andep on their posts. This store of priceless information is guard-ed by men whose only desire has been the common good of a common race, whose noble devotion to a sociological and historic benefit puts every Ameri-can citizen to the blush for lack of powneying growth and empediation that acknowledgment and appreciation. And there in 18 Somerset street, Boston, reposes one of the grandest testimonies try."

TO MAKE THIS THE LAND OF ZION.

We call this the Land of Zion. Pres-We call this the Land of Zion. Pres-ident Smith has referred to this coun-try as the Land of Zion. That is a beautiful and a grand thought: but, is it the land of Zion? Now, there is a law touching upon this matter, and if we realy desire in our hearts that this should be the land of Zion, in very truth, are we willing to pay the price? That is the question; and what is the price? What is required to make this the land of Zion, the Zion of the latthe land of Zion, the Zion of the lat-ter day, the Zion which Isaiah and other prophets referred to? I take it that it equires obedience to the law-and the law, singular to say, is the law of tith-ing. You are all familiar with it. It is a very simple law in some respects: it is very profound in others. We all

CO-EDUCATION.

CO-EDUCATION. "Co-education? It—seems to do no harm here," he conceded guardedly. "I cannot speak more approvingly than that. Personally I think it rubs the romance out of your life. Your boys and girls get to know each other too well. Less companionship before marriage, fewer separations after. "Also your liftle girls—and they make the big ones—are very pretty, very charming, very bright—but very much spolled. In England if sacri-fices are necessary the girls make them for their brothers—here it is the other way. There is the pretilest brother-hero-worship among our sis-ters—and here the brothers have to fotch and carry. "Then even your smallest girls have fotch and carry. "Then even your smallest girls have this passion for 'business'--which I pro-test is the oxygen of American air! In-stead of 'playing mother' they play school teacher or stenographer. They seem to be born without the natural feminine desires for home and hus-band. It isn't right.

FLAG SALUTE.

FLAG SALUTE. "In one thing, however, we are tak-ing a leaf out of your book. That is in teaching the children to show pa-triotism. The flag salute your boys and girls know so well is a truly de-lightful manifestation. They certainly appear to have a genuine as well as an exuberant love for their country. "And that brings me to the most in-teresting fact about America today. You are not cosmopolitan, despite the continual mixing of bloods. You seem to possess illimitable power of absorp-tion. You are all Americans—and New Englanders! Englanders

And that's why''— "Our children are such imps?" was the irrepressible suggestion. Mr. Mosely smiled. "No," he remark-ed, gently, "not that. I was only going to say—I believe it's why, whatever they are in the process, your children eventually do turn out into such good and delightful American men and wo-men."—N. Y. World. men."-N. Y.
