EDITORIAL NOTES.

Eastern affairs look gloomy to Mrs. Britania. Her gaze is directed to the Black Sea.

Texas is marched up head as a cotton-raising State. Her product for the past season is 735,000 bales; Mississippi furnished 639,000, and Arkansas 590,000 bales.

The rapid growth of British steam vessels is astonishing. In 1814 the fleet consisted of two vessels with a united tonnage of 456. In 1862 it reached 2,000 vessels; of 597,932 tons. Since the introduction of the screw propeller with compound engines, 539 of that class have been added.

A man named James English, felled a redwood tree at Russian River station, California, several months ago. He has been engaged most of the time since in working it up. He has made 250,000 shingles, 1,000 fence posts, 6,000 stakes, lumber for several buildings and has material left for 300,000 more shingles. That was quite a "smart chance" of a sapling.

Lord Moncrief, who was chosen as arbitrator in the dispute between the Clyde shipbuilders and their workmen; has decided that the state of trade does not warrant the wages the strikers demand. They might have found this out in the start themselves, and saved much time, trouble and money. But there are none so blind as folks who won't see. The lockout has lasted over six months.

They have a new way to stop runaway horses in France. An electro-magnet is placed beneath the coachman's seat, from which a wire extends along the lines to the bit and another to the crupper. A shock can be sent along the animal's spine that will bring the maddest equine up standing. Couldn't a similar apparatus be devised for passionate bipeds?—of the male persuasion, of course.

An exchange asks "Is this a foreign country?" There is some excuse for the question for, Russia leather is made in Connecticut, Bordeaux wine is manufactured in California, French lace is woven in New York, Italian marble is dug in Kentucky, Marseilles linen is produced in Massachusetts, English cassimere is made in New Hampshire, Parian art-work comes from a shop in Boston, Spanish mackerel are caught on the New Jersey coast, and Havana cigars are rolled out by the million in Chicago.

CAN GOOD SPRING OUT OF EVIL?

Bishop Tuttle's defence of the "Mormons" and attack on their doctrines have made quite a stir among the pious. His denunciations, taken alone, are approved by the cavilers, but his plain truths about the sobriety, honesty and devoted faith of the Latter-day Saints displease many bigoted people, who know nothing of the facts in the case, but have formed their opinions from newspaper stories and anti-Mormon romances.

There are others who take the Bishop to task for inconsistency. They say, in effect, if "Mormonism" is so false and vile as he represents it, how can those who believe and practise it be a good and praiseworthy people. This is an argument not to be despised. "A tree is known by its fruits." An evil fountain cannot send forth pure water. "Ye cannot gather grapes of thorns nor figs of thistles." But these objectors reason the wrong way. They take the Bishop's strictures on our doctrines to be correct, and therefore conclude that the people must be wicked and Tuttle in error as to their character. But in speaking of the people he uttered that which he knew, and in denouncing their doctrines only that which he believed. He had seen and studied the people; he was quite mistaken, as we proved in a former article, in regard to the principles of their faith.

Taking for granted, then, that that the Bishop spoke the truth concerning the masses of the people called "Mormons," in which he is corroborated by all unprejudiced men and women, not of them, who are really acquainted with them, the rational conclusion is that their creed cannot be as evil as is generally imagined. At any rate, a system which produces the good results to be seen in Utah, as testified by Tuttle, must be worthy the study of those who take an interest in matters of religion social and economy. They may find, upon investigation, that they have been as much mistaken in regard to the principles of this much abused people, as they have been in relation to their lives and actions and objects.

The Idaho Avalanche among other ill-natured and unwise remarks utters the following:

Bishop Tuttle knows better than we do, from a long residence and daily contact with these benighted people, that ignorance is their prevailing sin. They are destitute of all those agencies that contribute to make good and useful members of society. The Bible, common schools, newspapers and other engines of modern civilization, find no particular favor at their hands.

This is tantamount to accusing the Bishop of falsehood as well as folly. But he has lived long in Utah, and has had an opportunity of seeing and knowing the people here, which his impertinent critics have not. And while attempting to find fault with him, they only expose their own ignorance. The Latter-day Saints have encouraged the sale of Bibles as much, and we think more than any other people of equal numbers on this continent, and we will venture the assertion that there are more Bibles in Salt Lake City than in all Idaho. Also that we have more schools, and that more literature of various kinds, newspapers included, is purchased and read in Utah than in any other Territory of the Union. Here we will make a few quotations from one of the text books of the Latter-day Saints—the Book of Doctrine and Covenants:

And again the elders, priests and teachers of this church shall teach the principles of my gospel, which are in the Bible and the Book of Mormon, in the which is the fulness of my gospel. Doc. & Cov. new edition, p. 157.

"I give unto you a commandment. * * * set in order the churches, and study and learn and become acquainted with all good books and with languages, tongues and people."

"Seek ye out of the best books words of wisdom; seek learning by study and also by faith. Page 290.

Teach ye diligently and my grace shall attend you, that you may be instructed more perfectly in theory, in principle, in doctrine, in the law of the gospel; of things both in the heaven and in the earth and under the earth; things which have been, things which are, things which must shortly come to pass; things which are at home, things which are abroad; the wars and perplexities of nations and the judgments that are on the land, and a knowledge also of countries and of kingdoms, etc." Page 286.

We have been accused of depending too much on the letter of the Bible, as well as of unbelief in that sacred Book. The truth is, that we received it as a collection of many books written by men inspired of God in ancient times, and that we have a better claim to the title of Bible-believers than any community of professing Christians on earth. We also encourage the diffusion of all useful knowledge, the establishment and support of schools and the circulation of newspapers. But, like the early Christians, we are "a people every where spoken against." However, our works speak for our industry, our peace and union testify for our love of good order, and the progress we are making in all that tends to make life desirable and to elevate and exalt humanity, speak for the purity of our faith in language louder than can be drowned by the voice of Episcopal Bishops or the thunders of the press. God is with the much-abused "Mormons," truth is mighty and will prevail.

Ogden Improvements — General Health — Accident — "Across the Continent."

OGDEN CITY, Utah,
Nov. 21, 1877.

Editors Deseret News:

We are still favored with beautiful weather in this city and county, and the farmers appear to be taking advantage of this circumstance to push forward their fall work, to thrust in the plow and turn over the soil that it may be exposed to the action of the weather, to mellow, crumble and pulverise and become enriched, preparatory to the reception of the early spring crops of wheat. As there are no present indications of ravages by the locusts, we are sanguine in our expectations—under the blessings of God—of bounteous yields of all kinds of produce in 1878.

Improvements continue to go forward in various parts of the city, and Ogden is gradually but surely growing, and marching forward to fulfill that which has been spoken of her by the prophets, viz—to become the second city in the Territory, if not the first.

The fine new buildings on Main and Fourth Streets are nearly completed, and quite a number of others are now in course of erection. Fourth Street is gradually coming to the front, although it does face to the north, and the business men on Fourth intend to leave no stone unturned to make it as attractive to the public as any other street in the city, while they at the same time make it profitable to themselves by drawing custom to their places of business. Fifth and Main Street folks will give them a commercial fight, and between them the town will be built up. Success to the winner.

The health of the adult portion of our people is generally good, but we have had much sickness among the children, and quite a number of them have died within a short time past. The city fathers keep the supervisor of roads busy making improvements in various parts of the town; and also, with a view to improve the sanitary condition of the city, have just had thoroughly cleaned out the long watercourse which runs through Young Street, crosses Fifth, extends for about a mile in length, and empties into the Weber River. The tendencies of this apparently small operation are to prevent sickness, drain numerous city lots through which the stream runs, improve and enhance the value of property in various parts of the city, and keep the city treasury replenished.

Yesterday Mr. S. Lees, in the employ of Walker Bros. here met with a serious accident. While unloading some grain sacks at the rear of the store he fell accidentally and his head came in contact with some bricks, cutting an ugly gash on the right side of it. Dr. John Driver was called upon; he sewed up and dressed the wound. Lee was conveyed to his home but was delirous all last night. He was better this morning.

To-day we had a visit from Mr. Kirkham with his excellent panorama—"Across the Continent." He gave two exhibitions in the City Hall, one a matinee for the Sabbath school children. This was a grand treat for them as many of them have never traveled outside of Utah. It also gave them an opportunity to tell what they know of geography, in answer to questions propounded by the exhibitor—the answers were prompt and accurate excepting one. In the evening the hall was again crowded, and notwithstanding the building was too small for the accommodation of those present and for working the canvass to the best advantage, the exhibition was very entertaining, especially to those who had crossed the continent. At view after view was presented, many of the spectators exclaimed, "True, I have been there, the representations of the scenes west from this point to the Cliff House, in California, were readily recognised by this writer, but nothing looked more natural than "Seal Rock," upon which "Ben Butler," and many other seals climb to bask in the mid-day sun.

During the evening Mr. Kirkham gave a number of his excellent character sketches, which were received with hearty appreciation by the audience. The exhibition lasted about three hours, and gave great satisfaction. I bespeak for it a good reception whenever it may be shown.

TO-DAY'S DISPATCHES.

CONGRESSIONAL.

SENATE.

WASHINGTON, 22.—The morning hour was used up discussing the motion of Thurman to amend the journal of yesterday's proceedings, so that it should not show the pending question was a motion of Hoar to lay on the table the resolution to discharge the committe of privileges and elections from further consideration of the Butler credentials. He argued that Hoar had withdrawn that motion by unanimous consent.

The result of the discussion was that Thurman withdrew his motion to amend the journal.

Windom, from the committee on appropriations, reported with amendments the House joint resolution in relation to the Paris Exposition; placed on the calendar.

The Senate then, by a vote of yeas 29, nays 32, refused to lay on the table the resolution of Thurman to discharge the committee on privileges and elections from further consideration of the credentials of M. C. Butler, as Senator Davis, of Ills., Conover and Patterson, voted with the democrats in the negative.

The question being on the adoption of the resolution, Edmunds moved to amend so as to discharge the committee from further consideration of the credentials of Kellogg as senator from Louisiana instead of M. C. Butler as senator from South Carolina. Upon this matter a debate followed.

The motion was defeated, yeas 30, nays 31.

Conkling then submitted an amendment as follows:

Resolved, That the committee on privileges and elections be directed to report in the matter of the credentials of Wm. P. Kellogg and Henry M. Spofford, claiming seats as senators from Louisiana, and that in the meanwhile the case of South Carolina be postponed.

from South Carolina.

Rejected—yeas 30, nays 32.

Edmunds submitted an amendment to discharge the committee from further consideration of the credentials of Spofford, Butler and Corbin; rejected, yeas 30, nays 32.

Edmund moved that the further consideration of this whole subject be postponed until Monday next; rejected; yeas 30, nays 32.

At 2 p.m. Edmunds moved that the Senate adjourn till Monday next, which resulted, yeas 31, nays 31. A tie vote, Conover voting with the republicans in the affirmative. The Vice President voted in the affirmative, the motion was carried and the Senate adjourned until Monday next.

EASTERN.

Grand Banquet to Gen. Grant.

NEW YORK, 22.—A special from Paris says the great sensational event here, yesterday, was a fete, consisting of a dinner and ball given in honor of ex-President Grant by Mrs. Mackay, wife of "Bonanza" Mackay, at her mansion in the Rue Tilsitt. The affair temporarily overshadowed, in importance, as far as the American colony and fashionable society are concerned, even the present political crisis here. The house where it took place cost 1,500,000 francs and the furniture 500,000 francs. It looks out upon the Place de Etoile, and is a splendid residence. The garden was brilliantly illuminated, decorated with national flags and with emblems set in thousands of gas jets. The orchestra was stationed on a pavillion built out from the house, in front of the Rue Tilsitt. A dozen footmen in liveries of crimson and gold lined the entrance and stairway. Everything that money could supply and elegant taste select was there to add to the beauty and impressiveness of the scene. There were covers for twenty-four. The guests were General Grant and family, members of the American legation and consulate and their families. After dinner a grand reception and ball took place; 300 guests were present. The American colony was largely represented and the number of beautiful women was very remarkable. The ladies' costumes displayed extraordinary taste, elegance and richness. Dancing commenced early and continued till four o'clock in the morning.

Indian Depredations.

A special from San Antonio, Texas, says the following has just been received from Fort Stockton: "Our telegraphic communication has been cut off for the last eight days. A party sent out to ascertain the cause found the wires cut near where the Indians killed the stage driver last month. Indians were seen on the Pecos with pieces of telegraph wire. Cooney's herder reports that some Indians attacked his herd on the 11th, and killed six or eight head of cattle. He followed them ten miles, but could not overtake them. Lt. Jones, with a large party from Col. Shawter's command, passed down the Pecos on the 10th. The Indians have also stolen four head from near Horsehead Crossing.

Sale of a Newspaper.

The Express says the Evening Mail was, to-day, sold out by the sheriff. Clark Bell and Wm H. White were the purchasers. The amount paid for the machinery, paper, &c., was $8,770, including $276 for the good will and title.

The Pope in a Feeble Condition.

A special from Rome says the Pope received some French pilgrims on Tuesday, and spoke a few words with great difficulty and feebleness of voice, and his suffering, which was apparent, made a melancholy impression. He was carried by four men.

On the Watch.

NEWPORT, R. I., 22.—It is believed that the revenue cutter Dexter is cruising in the vicinity of Bristol, where a vessel is said to be loading with supplies for Cuba.

The Kellogg-Spofford Case.

WASHINGTON, 22.—The Senate committee on privileges and elections, this morning, closed the evidence in the Kellogg-Spofford case, and decided to make up their report after hearing one half hour's further argument from each side. These arguments take place this afternoon, immediately after the adjournment of the Senate.

WESTERN.

Dismissal of Rioters.

SAN FRANCISCO, 22.—Charges of riot against Kearney and his fellow agitators were dismissed in the city criminal court, to-day, the judge holding that under the code, the charges were not proven. Ordinances recently passed by the board of supervisors cover the case, however, and any further incendiary language will come within their provisions.

TURKEY.

Turkish Arms and Ammunition.

CONSTANTINOPLE, 22.—The steamer J. B. Walker, from New Haven, with arms and ammunition for the Turkish government, has arrived.

MEXICO.

The Mexican Troubles.

MATAMORAS, 22.—During Tuesday night and Wednesday morning about fifteen prominent citizens, supposed to sympathize with Lerdo were arrested and confined in the military prison. This action is understood to have been instigated by the discovery of a conspiracy, in connection with Escobedo, who, it is alleged, is organizing a force in Texas to cross into Mexico in the interest of ex-President Lerdo. Gen. Canoles has officially called the attention of the United States authorities to the fact of the existence in Texas, near the Rio Grande, of a camp of armed Mexicans, who are evidently preparing to cross, and asking that the United States government cause the neutrality laws to be enforced against those who are undoubtedly using the territory of Texas to organize a revolutionary movement in Mexico.
