BREVITIES.

"Why Women Cannot Be Turned Into Men" is the title of a pamphlet just published in London.

The present cost of living in Paris is said to be nearly twice what it was previous to the late war.

The Italian journals are crying out against the increasing emigration from that country to America.

The happiness of life is made up of minute fractions, the little, soon-forgotten charities of a kiss or a smile, a kind look, a heartfelt compliment, and the countless infinitesimals of pleasurable thought and genial feeling.

Professor Agassis and party at last accounts were in Patagonia. They have found a "desert where even thistles will not grow," but as a compensation have also discovered "oysters a foot in diameter."

An exchange says: "A Milwaukee lover, dying lately, left his sweet-heart, a poor maiden, a fortune of $20,000. There are few such lovers to be found." True, and the girls complain that when they are found it is very difficult to get them to die.

New York papers speak of the uncommon activity of building operations in that city. Whole blocks are going up in the new streets very far up town, while many of the old buildings in the lower part of the city are being replaced by more imposing structures.

(To lazy housemaid)—"Now Mary, you know I'm going to give a ball tomorrow night, and I shall expect you to bestir yourself, and make yourself generally useful."

"Yes m'm; but I am sorry to say m'm I can't dance.

A young man who had come into possession of a large fortune by the death of his brother was asked how he was getting along. "Oh," said he, "I am having a dreadful time. What with getting out letters of administration and attending a Probate Court and settling claims, I sometimes wish he hadn't died."

The Willimantic (Ct.) Journal says:—"While pious fathers and mothers are attending divine worship, their sons may be seen almost any Sunday with fighting cocks under their arms steering for the woods, where with other lads they glory in the pluck of their respective 'game,' while feathers, eyes and blood are sacrificed in every combat."

A philosophical Kentuckian, who was the envied possessor of one shirt, while lying in bed awaiting its return from the line where it was flapping in solitary grandeur, was startled by an exclamation from the better half of his bosom, to the effect that the 'calf had eaten it." To this he replied, with an equanimity, worthy of a better cause, "Them that has must lose!"

A member of the school board recently in a town in Scotland dropped into a village school, and after hearing the urchins sing, passed them this compliment, begot of his opera experience: "Boys, when I heard your beautiful song to-night, I had to work hard to keep my feet still. Now, what do you think was the matter with them?" The answer came with great promptness, "Chilblainth'"

Beet Sugar.—The Abbé Moigno announces in Les Mondes that he has made a very important improvement in sugar making. It simplifies the manufacture and dispenses with the complex machinery now in use. Lime is used as now, but the Abbé has discovered another ingredient, which ensures the complete and rapid crystalization of all the sugar that is in the beet, at a trifling expense. He promises soon to give his invention to the public.—Alta California.

All things attest the nobleness of personal independence, and all things attest the need of it. Why then should we not devote ourselves to its culture? Is it a thing hopeless of attainment? To judge what is right is no easy matter; and the individual verdicts might, very possibly, clash together in a manner most deplorable. But the way to learn swimming is not to stand shivering on the bank of the pool. No dread of the plunge will answer the purpose of the dip and struggle. The proper way to judge wisely is to judge as wisely as you can. Would you have light, use the light you have. Consciences, like limbs, are made strong by using them. Self-reliance comes from relying on self, in the hope that self will presently become worth relying on.—O. B. Frothingham.

CONGRESSIONAL.

SENATE.

Adjourned Sine Die.

On reassembling, the House bill abolishing the franking privilege was received, and Trumbull moved to put it on its passage, but objection was made and the Senate went into executive session and remained a few minutes, when the open session was resumed, but nothing was done. At 9 p.m. the presiding officer, Anthony, pronounced the Senate adjourned sine die.

HOUSE.

A Big Time in the House — Giving the Lie—Bill to Reimburse Nevada $60,000 —Dr. Mary Walker on a Table—Civil Appropriation Bill—Adjourned Sine Die.

House met at 8 a. m. Garfield presented a conference report on sundry civil appropriation bills, and the question arose on the precedence to be given to such report. The Speaker ruled the conference report must have preference. The report was accordingly made, and the Democrats at once resorted to filibustering, in order to defeat the action of the conference committee. The Senate amendment is modified, and provides that whenever, in any county or parish in any congressional district, ten reputable citizens request the U. S. District Judge to have the election guarded, the judge shall appoint two citizens of different political parties supervisors of the election, with the powers of supervisors in large cities. Kelley moved to recommit the conference report, and in a speech questioned the policy of driving the bill through by mere force of a majority. After a strong discussion the motion to recommit was carried.

After Kelley's motion to recommit, Garfield opposed it in a speech, severely denouncing the course of the majority, and declared it was a question of whether the majority or minority should rule. He said he never would compromise with the opposition on the demand that the enforcement act amendment be stricken from the bill. Brooks insisted the enforcement act was unconstitutional. Bingham said the pretense of unconstitutionality was the inauguration of treason. At this Morgan shouted out that the statement was false, and a scene of great excitement and confusion followed. As soon as Bingham could make himself heard he repeated the statement, and declared the course of the opposition was disgraceful, dishonorable and treasonable. Morgan, rising in great excitement, amid cries of "order" and incessant hammering of the Speaker's gavel, denounced Bingham's statement is a lie, a scandalous calumny, and, gesticulating excitedly, repeated, "It is a lie, and I will thrust it down your throat. I will allow no man to make such a charge against me, or against my colleagues!" Dawes demanded of the Speaker Morgan's arrest, and the Speaker warned Morgan that a repetition of the violation of the rules would result in his arrest. The offensive words of Bingham and Morgan were ordered transcribed, and the Speaker decided both out of order, and Morgan's proceedings disorderly. After further discussion Kelley's motion was agreed to by 99 to 71, when the ultra Republicans began to filibuster. Kelley offered a resolution to extend the session till 6 p. m. which was adopted.

The bill giving the widow of general Anderson $10,000, instead of a pension, passed.

The bill to reimburse Nevada $60,000, passed, and recess was taken till 2:30.

During the recess Mrs. Dr. Mary Walker created a sensation by mounting the clerk's desk and delivering an address on the importance of female army nurses. She was cut short by the sergeant-at-arms removing the doctor to the arms of the sheriff, she refusing to vacate quietly.

The bill to abolish the franking privilege passed under a suspension of the rules.

A message was received announcing that the Senate concurred in the conference report on the civil appropriation bill, and Garfield presented the conference report to the House. The bill appropriates $19,500,000, being $7,000,000 less than last year. The report was concurred in by a party vote, excepting that of Farnsworth, who voted with the minority. The Senate bill removing the disabilities of Vance and Houston passed. A complimentary resolution to the Speaker was adopted, and at 5:30 the Speaker declared the House adjourned sine die.

EASTERN DISPATCHES.

The N. Y. Trades Parade a Failure—Grant's Letter of Acceptance.

NEW YORK, 10—Less than 2,000 men were in the strikers' procession, which was lacking in enthusiasm. The League had declared they would not patronize any shops failing to exhibit the eight-hour placard to-day, but not a placard was seen. Steinway announces that his factory will be closed on Saturday and remain closed, as he is firmly determined to hold out against the strike.

WASHINGTON, 10, noon.—Both houses agreed to extend the session until 6 p m The ultra Republicans used all their efforts to defeat the postponement. The President has been at the capital all the morning signing bills. He had a proclamation already prepared, convening an extra session of congress at half-past twelve to-day, in case the sundry civil expense appropriation bill were not passed by 12 o'clock, or the time of adjournment extended.

Judge Settle and the vice-presidents of the Philadelphia convention, waited upon President Grant and Senator Wilson to-day, and formally notified them of their nominations. Wilson briefly responded. President Grant replied in the following letter:

Executive Mansion, June 10th. Hon. Thomas Settle, President of the Republican convention, Paul Strabocb, and other vice-presidents; Gentlemen, your letter of this, date advising me of the action of the convention held in Philadelphia, on the 5th and 6th of this month, and of my unanimous nomination for the Presidency by it, is received. I accept the nomination, and through you, return my heartfelt thanks to your constituents for this mark of their confidence and support. If elected in November, and protected by a kind providence in health and strength to perform the duties of the high trust conferred, I promise the same zealous devotion to the good of the whole people for the future of my public life as shown in the past. Past experience may guide me to avoiding mistakes inevitable with novices in all professions and in all occupations. When relieved from the responsibilities of my present trust, by the election of a successor, whether it be at the end of this term, or the next, I hope to leave to him a country at peace within its own boundaries, and at peace with outside nations, with affairs at home and abroad without embarrassing questions to threaten its future prosperity. With expressions of a desire to see a speedy healing of all bitterness of feeling between sectional parties or races of citizens, and the time when the title of citizen carries in it all the protection and privileges with the humblest that it does to the exalted, I subscribe myself,

Very respectfully
Your obedient servant,
U. S. GRANT.

WESTERN DISPATCHES.

SAN FRANCISCO, 10.—Jerry Jones, a well known rough, took a seat in the dress circle at the Cambria Theatre, while quite intoxicated, last evening, frightening the audience by repeatedly displaying a pistol. On being requested by the usher to desist, he fired a shot at him, the bullet passing through his hat, causing the greatest consternation in the house, several ladies fainting. Before he could repeat the shot he was roughly handled by the indignant audience and hurried to the calaboose, charged with assault with intent to commit murder.

PORTLAND, 10.—Four companies of the 1st cavalry of Columbia, are ordered to Montana, to protect the Northern Pacific road.

The Columbia River is still rising. The water is twenty-one feet above low water mark.

Attorney General Williams left yesterday on the steamer Ajax, for San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, 10.—Blue Monday has passed without further break in the stock market, and confidence seems to be returning slowly, but surely.

The Central Pacific railroad company now receive and discharge all freight at their new depots, on King and Townsend streets, between Fourth and Fifth. The general delivery depot is already 500 feet in length, and will be immediately lengthened to 800 feet.

Advices from Japan, by war steamer Bertha state that the Great Republic, on the outward trip, encountered severe storms, and a shipment of acids, in carboys on the deck, was thrown over to lighten her. All the blooded stock-horses, horned cattle, sheep and goats sent out on her by the Japanese commissioners were landed safely at Yokohama.
