CLAIMS SELF-DEFENSE.

The body of John Hessel who was killed by Evans Flack last Monday at the sheep ranch of Alex Beckstead near Badger, lies at the morgue of Undertaker Lindquist, awaiting preparation for interment.

Hessel was employed by Beckstead, Flack confesses to the killing and gave himself up immediately, riding to the next camp where he offered to herd the sheep while the herder got word to Sheriff David Quigley of Pocatello, who arrested him. Flack says that it was a case of self-defense, claiming that he was attacked by Hessel who was armed with an open pocket knife when he shot him three times with a Winchester rifle.

The coroner's jury visited the scene of the killing and found the body of Hessel crouched alongside the outfit wagon in a pool of blood. They found also the open pocket knife and the three empty cartridge shells. The body was then taken into Pocatello.

NEW FISH HATCHERY.

State Game Warden Stephens who is attending the federal court here, is also inspecting the local streams for the best place to locate the fish hatchery at Idaho to which the last legislature appropriated $10,000.

While the night crew was switching about the Short Line slope Monday night a string of cars was pushed through the car, breaking two iron roller doors 12 feet wide and 20 feet high. The doors were closed at the time which made it easier to tear them out. No further damage was done.

KEROSENE EMULSION.

It is a very disagreeable job to make kerosene emulsion, one of the most effective insecticides known. Besides being not the cleanest of work, it takes considerable time to dissolve the soap and mix it with the kerosene. The Canadian experiment station has discovered a new way to make the emulsion, which makes the work a great deal easier. It is found that 8 ounces of kerosene will hold in suspension a quart of kerosene. If the flour is heated before it is added, it is claimed, two ounces of flour is sufficient, and the coal oil will remain in suspension three days. It has also been found that when flour is used in making the emulsion, its use does not discolor the trees. It is all true as claimed for the purpose of making this insecticide, spraying will be much easier.

Not Layers.

Miss Eleanor Robson tells a story about a beautiful young woman from a backwoods county in Virginia who went into the town store carrying through the aisle the service of a chicken, and at the same time put them on the counter.

"Will they lay there?" asked the clerk, who did not know that the chicken legs were tied.

She bit her handkerchief in embarrassment a moment and said:

"No, sir, they are roosters."—Young's Magazine.

FORAKER DENIES ROOSEVELT.

The senior senator from Ohio, Joseph B. Foraker, in whose brain has been for long the buzzing of the presidential bee, at last comes out in the open and defines the president in the latter's attitude for Secy. Taft for the Republican nomination. Senator Foraker has said that he "will not be dictated to by any man, big or little, in Ohio or out of it," and has started on a campaign which he hopes will land him in the White House. He is one of the truly great men of the country, and his friends say he will give both Taft and the president a strong fight for leadership. Senator Foraker has a fine mansion in Washington as well as a delightful home in Cincinnati, where he lives when not at the capital.

Towns With Troubles.

There are many towns that, like chronic invalids, have chronic troubles. London's trouble, for instance, is her fog.

Tokio's trouble is earthquakes. In her worst earthquake 200,000 residents of Tokio were killed.

Calcutta's trouble is cholera, and the bubonic plague is the trouble of Bombay. Each city pays for her trouble an annual tribute of 5,000 souls.

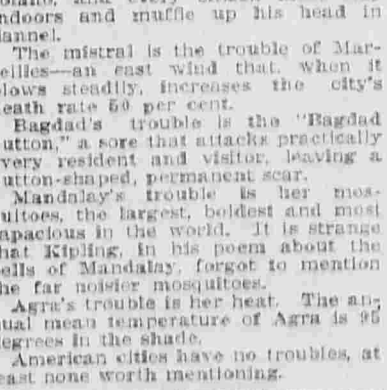

Madrid's trouble is the sun, a summer wind from the southeast. It is exceedingly hot, and it is accompanied by blinding, choking clouds of dust, so that, notwithstanding a temperature of 115 or 120 degrees, all windows must be closed during the solano, and every citizen must stay indoors and muffle up his head in fannels.

The mistral is the trouble of Marseilles—an east wind that, when it blows steadily, increases the city's death rate 50 per cent.

Bagdad's trouble is the "Bagdad button," a sore that attacks practically every resident and visitor, leaving a button-shaped, permanent scar.

Mandarin's trouble is her mosquitoes, the largest, boldest and most rapacious in the world. It is strange that Kipling, in his poem about the bells of Mandarins, should not mention the far noisier mosquitoes.

Agra's trouble is her heat. The annual mean temperature of Agra is 95 degrees in the shade. All diseases, however, have no troubles, at least none worth mentioning.

GROUP OF SUCHIEN SUFFERERS.

Photographed by Rev. W. F. Junkin.

By E. R. Johnstone.

NEVER before in the history of the famine in northeastern China has the need for foreign help been so imperative. Never has the daily death list shown such appalling totals. Never has the world been made so well aware of the dreadful conditions bordering China's "divine empire."

A few days ago Dr. Klopsch of the Christian Herald received this cablegram from Rev. T. F. McCrea, editor of the missionary relief committee at Chinkiang:

"Chinkiang, April 14. 'Klopsch, Christian Herald. 'Send all available funds immediately.' McCrea."

Dr. Klopsch was appealed to because from the Christian Herald have come the gold drafts heretofore available for the relief of the famine-stricken provinces. Such funds having been contributed through the Christian Herald by generous Americans.

A query for fuller particulars was called Mr. McCrea, and this reply was received:

"Chinkiang, April 14. 'Klopsch, Christian Herald. 'Several hundreds of thousands of lives have already been saved by foreign aid. Committee enrolling thousands of names for cash contributions, through the Christian Herald, of $200,000. To this is to be added the $110,000 in cash paid by the Christian Herald for the cargo of flour now being landed on the United States army transport Buford, at San Francisco, and destined for Chinkiang as a distributing port. The value of the transportation given by the United States government and the managements of the Union Pacific and Chicago & Northwestern railways aggregates $40,000, so that up to present the United States government and the managements of the Union Pacific and Chicago & Northwestern railways stands thus, so far as the Christian Herald's China famine relief fund is concerned:

Cash sent through state department and American National Red Cross.....$200,000

Cash paid for cargo of United States army transport Buford, at San Francisco, and destined for Chinkiang as a distributing port.....110,000

Value of transportation given by United States government and the managements of the Union Pacific and Chicago & Northwestern railways.....40,000

Total to date.....$350,000

It is right that an account of starvation should be given at this time, and gratifying to contributors to know that of the $350,000 credited to foreign relief by the Shanghai committee (and included in the entire work of the Chinese famine relief fund) an appropriation should fall to the Christian Herald as a source of supply.

It is not to be supposed, in this accounting for money expended, that the need for more contributions is lessened. On the contrary, as stated at the outset, the need never so great. As in all crises the work done is more instantly effective, the gifts reach the want quicker, results are more quickly and gratifyingly apparent. An authentic dispatch from Shanghai puts it thus:

"Investigation shows that the plans of the famine relief committee are admirable. There has been no leakage of money. The entire work of the Chinese famine relief fund is more instantly effective, the gifts reach the want quicker, results are more quickly and gratifyingly apparent.
