Speaking of business conditions in Speaking of business conditions in Salt Lake, Dun's Weekly Review has the following: "A steady demand from the country continues for general merchandise, but jobbers are heavily stocked and buying lightly. Shoes and rubber goods are moving briskly, and sales of notions and buncy goods are above the average. October trade has been good, the campaign affecting it but been good, the campaign affecting it but slightly. There are few large contracts for mining machinery, but the call for supplies is fair. A 50-cent outward rate on canned goods has been made, indicating railway recognition of local industrial enterprises. Western shipments of wheat have fallen off, farmers are holding back and low prices and lack of storage facilities impede move-

David Langsdorf, the fireman who was severely injured on the Rio Grande Western railroad on the Provo River bridge last Friday, is lying in a critical condition at St. Mark's hospital. His skull is frightfully fractured and he is badly mangled about the head. Landsdorf was on the freight train, firing the engine and after leaving American Fork he leaned out of the cab, and before he could aver it, his head struck against an iron beam of the bridge and he was hurled from the engine and twenty feet down an em-bankment. As soon as the engineer ecame aware that Langsdorf was gone e reversed the engine and went back to the bridge, and found the fireman sitting on the embankment half dazed. He was brought to the hospital and pen examining him the doctors said he had few chances for reco Langsdorf came here recently from Illinois, and so far as is known he is not

More trouble has occurred in the Heath family. It will be remembered that some time ago the wife of ex-Podeeman Horace Heath instituted proceedings for divorce from her husband, alleging cruelty and failure to provide. Last evening Mrs. Heath met Robert Robinson on Eighth South and First West streets to go for a ride.

Heath followed her and she got into the buggy, he commanded her to stop. She refused and Robinson whipped up his horse. Heath became enraged and coulling a refused four became a region of the stop. lling a gun fired four shots at Robin. Mrs. Heath returned home short-

COUPLE SECRETLY WEDDED.

Makes Miss Mary Shaughnessy of

This City His Wife.

A Few Days Ago Col. Trumbo Told the "News" that the Rumor of His Coming Marriage Was Faise.

Miss Mary Shaughnessy and Col. Isaac Trumbo were married yesterday afternoon by Chief Justice Bartch, in the city and county building.

The proposed union had been persistently rumored upon the street for some days past with the result that the groom was twice approached by a 'News' representative in regard to the report. On both occasions Col. Trumbo emphatically denied that he was contemplating matrimony at any early or remote date, In fact, he stated most positively that he was not.

Every effort was made to keep the wedding a secret, so much so, that the marriage license issued by the county clerk was suppressed and Col. Trumbo was seen around on the streets with some friends at midnight. It is understood that when the news of the wedding reached the ears of Col-

Shaughnessy last night, that he was ex-remely annoyed as he has opposed the alliance of his daughter and was deidedly against the match, Col. Trumbo's first wife was Miss Emma White, daughter of Dr. White of this city, from whom he was divorced some two years ago. The second Mrs. Trumbo is the daughter of Col. Shaughremoo is the daughter of Col. Shaughnessy of this city. For several years she has been in the East, and some months ago she went to San Francisco with Mrs. Shaughnessy, where it is said that she met Col. Trumbo.

SMALL HERDS ARE BETTER. More Profitable to Deal With Cattle on Small Scale.

Large herds of cattle are no longer profitable. The small stockman who has been frightened out of four years' growth by the threat that the big corporation and syndicate outfits were preparing to gobble all the small herds, may rest in peace. There are only two or three big cattle companies left in this country today out of some hundreds that existed only a few years ago, and those that are left are doing their best to get out while conditions are favorable. It has been proven con-clusively that the big cattle company with its thousands of cattle cannot successfully compete with the small stockman with his hundreds. The reason is simple. The small stockman can give his cattle his personal attention, can breed his herd up to the proper standard and can market them when they will sell to the best advantage. The vill sell to the best advantage. big corporation has to depend upon hir- | PORTFOLIOS ed men who have no personal in-terest in the success of the herd. The terest in the success of the herd. The small stockman looks after his cattle during bad weather and feeds them all when necessary. The big corporation has too many and the loss during storms is sometimes fearfully heavy. It is safe to predict that outside of Texas in a few years more there will be no herd of cattle in this country exceeding 5000 head in numbers. On the ceeding 5,000 head in numbers. On the other hand there will be thousands of herds running in size from 500 to 1,000 head. Even in Texas, the more successful stockmen are those who are handling the small herds. They make a much larger percentage upon the cap-ital invested than does the big corporation .- Denver Stockman.

ABOUT BALLOTING. Men Frequently Talk One Way and Vote Another.

Men do not always vote as they talk. Many do not vote as they think they will previous to the time when they get face to face with the ballot. Many men talk one way and vote the other. Some do it because they have reasons for keeping their real political opinions secret. Others do it because they cannot help it. Some voters are argued with until they think they are argued with until they think they are convinced into voting a ticket contrary to their political belief. At the last moment they vote the old way and say nothing about it. Politicians labor with this class of people up to the very last moment, but it is this class which makes forecasts of elections so difficult and unreliable. No one knows this better than the politicians themselves, but it is part of the game to claim everything and some readily grow to believe their own stories. The voter who reads the newspapers representing all sides of the political controversy, may beof the political controversy, may be come confused and bewildered, but h soon learns to pick out the truth from the mass of fake and fabrication and gets a fair idea of the actual and real condition.—Denver Stockman.

AGRICULTURAL EDUCATION. What European Governments Are Dos ing to Foster Agriculture.

Rural education and schools of agriculture, in general and special lines are subjects receiving much newspaper attention now. We must not think, however, that we are pioneers in this matter. For a great many years Euro-pean countries have studied and practisean countries have studied and practi-ally experimented with the problem, writes Guy E. Mitchell in the Husband-nan, Twenty years ago the French covernment made an organized effort to trapple with the question of rural ducation throughout the Republic. An d commission of inquiry was apdishment of a chair of agriculture ery department for the purpose of ing village school teachers to peach ical agriculture and hortfeulture agricultural instruction was in need into all the primary schools, results of this cannot be but far-sing, though it is too soon and the parture from the old order, is too departure from the old order, is too cal to look for the best methods of suction and consequent results. But main point is that agriculture has a made a feature of the child's educin, and many of the teachers have a steat progress. Most of the vill-schools have their own gardens and then the case that the school gar-s the best in the village. Much lus is given to the teachers of rural schools by the prizes of the covergment and books offered every by the government and the varericultural societies.
