

THE UTAH BILL IN THE SENATE.

That the consideration of the Utah bill was resumed in the Senate yesterday. It states that after a long discussion the amendment was lost, and the motion to strike out the first section was rejected. The bill then passed to the second section, limiting detention to ten days, and providing for recognition and detention. It is agreed to vote on the bill and amendments at five o'clock to-morrow.

The amendment will be remembered, was to modify the provision authorizing the arrest of a wife in order to compel her to testify against her husband; it limited the wife's testimony to the fact that she had been lawfully married to the defendant.

It is quite likely that the bill will be pushed through the Senate, but not probable that consideration of it will be reached in the House before adjournment. The Republicans want something in regard to Utah to use in the presidential campaign, and for this reason they are pushing the measure championed by Mr. Hoar, hoping that the Democrats will reject it in the House, so that the Republican party may be able to show what they would do with the "Mormons" if they could control the affairs.

The new Edmunds bill, with amendments by the Judiciary committee, still further amended by Senator Hoar, contains several absurdities, in addition to its harsh, unjust and unconstitutional provisions. Among them are these, as reported by Mr. Hoar and claimed as necessary in the interests of law and order in Utah: Section Eight provides:

"That all laws of the Legislative Assembly of the Territory of Utah which provide for numbering or identifying the votes of the electors at any election in said Territory are hereby disapproved and annulled."

There is no such law in the Territory of Utah, the registration law, which has been in force since 1878, making it unlawful to place any "marks, writing, printing or device" upon the envelopes containing the ballots, and rendering identification of the voter impossible. Senator Hoar does not know this, but he and his associate Senators of the Judiciary Committee have been deceived into the belief that the votes in Utah are numbered and identified by law.

Section Eleven provides: "That all laws of the Legislative Assembly of the Territory of Utah which provide that adultery can only be committed by the husband and wife are hereby disapproved and annulled; and all prosecutions for adultery or identifying the husband and wife are hereby disapproved and annulled."

There is no law in the statute book of Utah which makes any such provision, and that hereby sought to be annulled. Mr. Hoar informed the Senate that:

"A provision of the law of Utah is intended to screen and promote and encourage this class of adultery. In other words no man can be punished for adultery without the consent of his wife in Utah; no woman can be punished for adultery without the consent of her husband in Utah."

This is entirely untrue. There is no law intended to screen or promote or encourage any class of adultery in Utah and no such provision as Mr. Hoar has stated. The territorial criminal law and as proof of Mr. Hoar's consummate ignorance of the matter which he has undertaken to champion, here is the Edmunds law that he helped to pass and to which the present Utah bill is designed as an addendum, which provides against the habitation of a man with any other woman than his wife, and of a woman with a man married to another woman; thus there is no local law such as exists in Utah, but there is a law of Congress now in force which makes the provision that he says does not exist.

Mr. Hoar says in support of the provision for the appointment, by the Supreme Court, of a Territorial Superintendent of District Schools, that as the law now the person who is appointed must always be a Mormon, a believer in polygamy. He argues further in favor of this provision that books of a sectarian character will then be prohibited as text books in the schools, and he says:

"We find schools established where the text-books are selected wholly to instruct the youth in the doctrine of a doctrine inconsistent, as we believe not only with Christianity but with civilization itself."

Here Mr. Hoar is in error again. The law does not provide that the Superintendent of District Schools or any other school official in Utah shall be a "Mormon," or a believer in polygamy or in any tenet of any faith under the sun. And the text books used in our District Schools, as we have shown, are at times, selected from the best that can be found in the United States, and are not denominational, but strictly secular, and the same that are in use in many parts of the Union, Mr. Hoar's own State included.

These few citations show that Senator Hoar does not know what he is talking about. They prove that the Senate Committee on Judiciary have recommended something that they have not duly considered. That the highest branch of the National Legislature is engaged in passing laws that are based on misinformation and ignorance of the situation. What can be expected from such legislation? Can anything but confusion and failure be the result?

The controversy that has grown out of the discussion of this bill between Senator Brown and Senators Hoar and Isabella has taken a wide and deep range. The question arises, what have the alleged immoralities of Massachusetts or of Georgia to do with the bill in relation to Utah? Should Congress fail to correct evils in a Territory over which it claims supreme control, because as great or worse evils exist in States which it has no control?

The questions are pertinent, and in one sense they indicate inconsistency on the part of those who have engaged in the dispute. But the object of Senator Brown in referring to the social disorder of Massachusetts was quite proper in view of the facts in the case. Mr. Hoar has figured as the champion of morality and Christian civilization in his zealous raid upon Utah. Religion, law and social purity have been his watchwords in the fray. Utah, he declares, is no dreadfully corrupt State, and the national power must be used to cleanse her skirts and correct her bodily disorders. A great deal of the Senator's energy is misdirected. He is whacking away at imaginary evils, and he has exhibited so much holy enthusiasm as alleged improprieties and exaggerated wrongs that Senator Brown thought advisable to hold up to his view some of the undoubted and undeniable corruptions and infamous of his own State. And he has proved that the source from which proceeds the greatest influence for the corruption of Utah is vastly more anti-Christian, foul and filthy than this distant Territory is even alleged to be.

No wonder that the son of Massachusetts believes under the lash applied to him, and claims to be a devotee of those who endeavor to turn them off or twist them round to apply to Georgia as much as Massachusetts. It is a very pretty quarrel, and if it does not touch the main question, it serves to show up the hypocrisy of those who have sprung it, and the fallacy of their pretence about regard for "morality" and "Christian civilization."

ANOTHER BOGUS PRESS DISPATCH.

This is the kind of "information" which people receive in the East for Utah news. It is a dispatch published in several Chicago papers:

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, June 13.—Fred. Hopt, alias Welcome, was shot according to the Chicago Herald at 11 o'clock to-day for a murder committed three years ago. Three deputies were detailed to carry out the execution. They were armed with Winchester repeating rifles. The criminal was blindfolded and seated upon a coffin in the jail. He was then taken down ten paces from the condemned man. All were silent except the sheriff, his deputies, and a jury. The execution was then carried out.

The Chicago Herald speaks of Hopt, editorially, as the "Ogden murderer," which indicates the dispatch was sent from the Junction City, from which point many false reports concerning Utah affairs have been sent over the wires.

The inaccuracy of the dispatch is being partly corrected by the Chicago Herald, and the report is becoming pretty well understood and editors ought to know better, after the frequent exposures that have been made, than to give credence to them and comment upon them as reliable. Nearly the whole of the above telegram is utterly false, only the closing sentences being partly correct. Moral to the press—Always beware of dispatches for publication from Salt Lake.

The New York Herald keeps urging upon the Democrats the necessity of nominating such a ticket as the Independent Republicans will vote for. It holds that although the revolt against Blaine is marked, it by no means follows that the Democrats will have a walk over to victory.

The same paper characterizes the Republican platform as meaningless, and assures the other party that they need not likewise expect to win on the platform. The platform is defined as a mere bid for support. It bids for:

- The labor vote.
- The manufacturers' vote.
- The capitalists' vote.
- The shepherders' vote.
- The bankers and business men's vote.
- The anti-monopoly vote.
- The temperance vote.
- The colored man's vote.
- The reform and independent vote.
- The squatters' vote.
- The peace and war vote.
- The anti-Mormon vote.

There is every reason for believing that the approaching election will probably create one of the most critical ordeals that the country has yet passed through. The air is thick with signs of political disruption.

UNDER FAVORABLE AUSPICES.

By courtesy of Sister Marian Pratt we have been permitted to peruse a letter from her son Milton, with the Missionary party en route for Calcutta. It was written at San Francisco on the 14th, the day on which the Elders sailed for their destination on the "City of New York." It speaks highly of the courtesies extended to the party by Mr. Gilbert Clements, a gentleman well known here. Among other good offices performed by him, he was, when the letter was written, doing all in his power to secure the best accommodations for the party at reduced rates. Later information from Dr. Booth informs us that he was successful, and the brethren sailed under very favorable auspices. While in San Francisco they were also called upon by Mr. James Lindorff, who was kind and courteous.

Before leaving the port the brethren were interviewed by a representative of the San Francisco Record, which publishes a brief pen portrait of each of the Elders, and speaks of them in a kindly spirit.

A GROWING INSTITUTION.

In the June 14th number of that most excellent periodical, the Juvenile Instructor, the statistical report of the Deseret Sunday School Union for 1883 is published. It gives the number of officers and teachers enrolled as 6,738 and of pupils 40,499, making a total of 47,237. This is a magnificent showing, and the exhibit is no more satisfactory numerically than it can be correctly made in relation to the efficiency of the methods of instruction.

The progress made by this useful institution during the last few years is almost marvellous. In 1875, for instance, the number of enrolled officers and teachers was 2,588, and of pupils 20,411, making a total of 22,999, having an increase in favor of last year of 24,238, the numbers having considerably more than doubled during the intervening eight years.

The officers at the head of the Union, seconded by the directors of those of the stake are taking steps to further insure the success of Sunday School work by introducing measures with a view to rendering instruction still more systematic and effective even than it has been. The institution is a growing power in the midst of the Saints whose influence and results not only relate to time but extend beyond this life into eternity.

For the Deseret News.
HOW TO UTILIZE OUR DRY LANDS.
 It is evident to any one acquainted with the topography and climate of Utah, that the dry lands of the State cannot be successfully irrigated, and as a natural sequence their aridity renders them almost worthless for agricultural purposes. It is a fact that the irrigation of dry lands is a source of great profit and wealth to the Territory. That such a result may be obtained in part, if not in whole, is not beyond reasonable belief. If "Vigor" or "Drought" be given to the dry lands, should be sown in the spring, and after frost ceases in the spring, sufficient water to grow the crops. The growth before winter sets in, there is little doubt a perennial pasture would be established, and the water would be used for the most part of the year. The roots make over 1,000 bushels of excellent hog food to the acre, and they devour them as greedily as they do sweet potatoes. It makes good straw, and is equal in bulk and fat-producing qualities to the best of any hay. Where it once gets a foothold it is there to stay, spreading by seed and runners, and it grows on either poor or rich land, but like everything else flourishes most in the best soil. In fact there is no grass that will yield an equal quantity of hay if sown in the autumn, and the water which is killed out by freezing, flooding, not continued growth, they are all alike harmless to the soil.
