

The Codling Moth.—Some discussion upon this time-honored subject took place at the meeting of the Bishops, held last evening in the Social Hall. The committee appointed by the meeting about two years ago, to gather information as to the best means of protecting apple and pear orchards against this destructive pest, reported by their chairman, Thomas Maycock, that they had done their utmost to fulfill the duty entrusted to them, and they now asked to be released from further responsibility in the premises.

Thomas Woodbury, one of the committee, stated that he had embodied his views in relation to the moth and methods for its eradication, in an article, which he handed in some time ago, to the Presiding Bishopric. A motion to release the committee from their labors was unanimously carried; a vote of thanks was tendered them for their earnest labors, and it was decided that the report written by Brother Woodbury be read at the next meeting, to be held two weeks from last night.

Sanpete Educational Institute.—The seventh session of the Sanpete Educational Institute was held in Spring City, on the 12th inst., President John B. Maiben presiding. After the opening exercises the President expressed his satisfaction to see the increase and growing interest manifest among trustees, teachers, parents and pupils.

Superintendent Wm. K. Reid showed in a plain way the benefit of graded schools, and the co-operation of all hands in education.

Miss M. A. Frantzen conducted classes in primary arithmetic and the fourth reader in an able manner.

Miss L. M. Hyde had a good intermediate spelling class, which showed her method to be very successful.

Teachers from different parts of the country were satisfied with the exercises. Songs and select readings interspersed the class work.

Bishop James A. Allred contrasted the school interests and facilities of to-day with twenty years ago, and was pleased with the advancement made. It was a pleasant time for all. The meeting adjourned for three months, to meet in Ephraim.

MORE OF MISS FAITHFUL.

INTERESTING INCIDENTS IN THE LADY'S EXPERIENCE.

Miss Emily Faithful is the youngest daughter of the late Rev. Ferdinand Faithful. She was born at Headley Rectory, Surrey, England, in 1835, and educated at a school at Kensington, where she showed that singular firmness and independence which has since characterized her. She was presented at court and entered for a time the gaieties of London life, but becoming interested in the condition of woman, devoted herself to the extension of their remunerative spheres of labor.

In 1860 she collected a band of female compositors, and, in spite of great difficulties, founded a typographical establishment, in which women (as compositors) were employed and for which she obtained the approval of the Queen. Among many other specimens of first rate workmanship produced, is the "Victoria Regia," dedicated by special permission, to the Queen, who was pleased to signify her approbation by giving a warrant, appointing Miss Faithful printer and publisher in ordinary to Her Majesty.

In May, 1863, Miss Faithful commenced the "Victoria Magazine," in which the views she sought to advocate, and the claims of women to remunerative employment, were earnestly set forth. In 1868, she published a novel, entitled "Change upon Change," which ran into a second edition, within a month of its publication. Shortly after this, Miss Faithful made her debut at the Hanover Square Rooms, as a lecturer. She has achieved a marked success in this capacity.

In 1872-73 she visited the United States, and received the most unique reception in Steinway Hall, New York City, ever accorded to a woman. Summoned by those who had distinguished themselves in literature, art, science, and industry, it was responded to by the very creme de la creme of New York society, with whom were mixed a large representation of the working women, eager to honor this practical, warm-hearted Englishwoman.

Miss Faithful, in her lecture upon "Modern Shams" in society, religion, politics, charity and business, will illustrate her successive points by amusing anecdotes and interesting historical references. The Christian Work says: "She has a delicate and delicious wit, and a rich, sweet voice. Her manner is singularly graceful and impressive, and her lecture unites in a remarkable degree an exceptional brilliancy and sparkle, with depth of feeling and logic drawn from existing facts."

STAKE CONFERENCE.

A Conference of the Saints of the Salt Lake Stake of Zion will be held in the Salt Lake Assembly Hall on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, February 1st, 2nd and 3rd, 1884, commencing at 10 a.m. on Friday, Feb. 1st.

ANGUS M. CANNON, President of the Stake.

Filling the Vacancy.—The vacancy caused in the Presidency of the Thirtieth Ward Relief Society, by the removal from the Ward, of Sister Bathsheba W. Smith, was filled yesterday by the following arrangement. Sister Smith having held the position of First Counselor to President Rachael R. Grant, Sister Lydia Ann Wells, the Second Counselor, was appointed to succeed her, and Sister Louie King Spencer chosen to succeed to the office vacated by Sister Wells.

About Complete.—The picture and book entitled "Representative Women of Deseret," of which our readers have heard from time to time as being under preparation by Sister Augusta J. Crocheron, are nearly finished. The picture includes twenty portraits of ladies prominent in this community, and the book is a record of their lives, necessarily made brief and pointed, but of great interest, and written in excellent style by a talented pen. The picture and book are dedicated to Sister Eliza R. Snow Smith.

Samuel Memmett Wanted.—Sam'l Memmett, of Scipio, Millard County, is wanted at the police office in this city, to claim and take away an overcoat belonging to him, which was recovered from George Smith who stole it out of Memmett's wagon, while the latter was here several days ago. The coat had been sold to a second hand store. Smith claims to have paid 75 cents for it to another person, but not much stock is taken in his story, and he is believed to be the actual thief.

Suspicion against him is strengthened by the fact that he has since been convicted of stealing three pair of blankets from a lodging house, at which he put up last Monday night, for which theft he is now serving out a term of ninety days. The police would like Memmett to appear some time before the expiration of that period in order that the overcoat larceny may also be fastened upon Smith, and he be dealt with accordingly.

The blankets stolen were found at the Morgan Smelter, several miles south of this city, and have been returned to the owners. It seems that Smith parted with them to one of the employees, a foreigner, at the Smelter, for the sum of $4, and immediately returned to town to make another haul, which it is believed he succeeded in doing in the matter of the overcoat. He is doubtless an adept at the light-fingered business.

The Abduction Case.—The examination before United States Commissioner McKay of the defendant Samuel P. Hitch, which has taken up most all of to-day, only substantiates the comments already made in yesterday's issue of the News. Hitch says he is 40 years of age. He has been in the Territory four years and in Salt Lake City about four weeks. He has been engaged in canvassing for a silver wash, and arrived in Evanston on New Year's day and met Tanner (the abducted child's grandfather) on the train with a little child dressed in girl's clothing. Tanner said to him: "If you keep your mouth shut about this and not tell anything about it I will make you a present of a thousand dollars." Hitch replied, "All right."

He said he might have told Mr. Mahony (the Evanston bar-tender) about being offered $1,000 by Tanner to steal the boy for him, but he did not remember it. The evidence for the prosecution shows that Hitch was in possession of the child on the evening of Dec. 31st, under circumstances of such a character as would warrant his conviction. From the evidence adduced there is no doubt that Hitch will be bound over to await the action of the grand jury.

LATER.—The following copy of a dispatch was introduced by the defense:

SALT LAKE CITY,

January 18, 1884.

Wm. Tanner, McGonnersville, Ohio:

Sam. Hitch has been arrested for kidnapping child. Answer stating you took the child, and liberate Sam.

[Signed] MARY A. MORTON.

The accused was held to answer to the Grand Jury in the sum of $5,000.

EMERY COUNTY.

CONCERNING AFFAIRS IN THAT REGION.

Brother William Howard, of Huntington, Emery County, is in the city for a few days on business, intending to return Monday. He says that matters in general are improving and on the increase in that locality. No trouble is met in raising whatever is needed by the settlers. Things are quiet and peaceable as a rule, and but little sickness prevails.

The Prosecuting Attorney for the County has been making things lively for the liquor men along the line of the D. & R. G. Railway, and has succeeded in getting them to take out licenses, the first yet issued in the County. There is no liquor sold, that our informant knows of, away from the line of the railroad.

Huntington is about 160 miles from this city and 25 miles from Price Station on the D. and R. G., the nearest railroad point to the settlement. Considerable dissatisfaction is felt and expressed over the exorbitant rates and overcharges made by the railway company, and efforts are being put forth towards the construction of a new wagon road through Huntington Cañon to Sanpete, for freight teams, as a means of avoiding the payment of heavy railroad rates. Several teams from Castle Valley are now in this city, loading up with freight, with the same motive in view.

An instance of what the people there regard as unfair treatment from the railway, is the fact that it compels them to buy coal in car-load lots, instead of by the ton, an arrangement which is not only unsatisfactory to the rich, but oppressive to the poor, who must in many cases do without the fuel in consequence. A bill will be presented at an early day to the Legislative Assembly, asking for an appropriation to help construct the wagon road above mentioned, and to build a bridge over Price River.

Huntington has much improved during the past year. About 60 or 70 new houses have been put up, and water for the home-sites got out upon the land. Our informant, a former resident of Randolph, Rich County, has been in Emery County three years. The people there have a tri-weekly mail service, which so far has given good satisfaction. Some excitement prevails among certain classes over mining discoveries in the Cedar Mountain district.

FROM MONDAY'S DAILY, JAN. 21.

Teasdel's Calendar.—S. P. Teasdel, the enterprising merchant of this city, has just issued his Annual Calendar which has been somewhat detained by delay of material therefor from the East. However, he has issued a thousand more than usual which will be distributed among his patrons whose name is legion. Mr. Teasdel is always popular because he takes a course to secure and maintain custom, and has aided in keeping down prices when opportunities for corners or high figures were offered and were tempting. We are pleased at his success.

Supreme Court.—Only two entries were made on the record of this court to-day. The first was the admission to the bar of said court of William M. Bradley, on motion of Judge Harkness. The other was the case of the People, etc., vs. Alex. S. Hill, argued on two appeals, one of each party, from the Third District Court. Messrs. Zera Snow and Arthur Brown appeared for the People and Messrs. Sutherland and McBride replied for the defense. This case occupied the afternoon session as well.

Ice Storing—Hotel Proposed.—The Denver & Rio Grande Railway company are doing a heavy ice business at Battle Creek Station, Utah Lake. A large force of men are daily employed loading and shipping the congealed waters to other points on their road, besides filling the commodious ice houses at that station. The company are building a large water tank and preparing to erect a hotel at Pleasant Grove for the accommodation of pleasure seekers the coming season.

Pleasant Grove Points.—Diphtheria is spreading in Pleasant Grove, sending sorrow to many households. Mrs. Belle West has lost two children, and Brother Henson Walker, Jr., two little girls. The father is on a mission to Arizona. Parley P. Driggs has lost a son; Henson Walker, Sr., a little boy; Mrs. Fanny Stewart a daughter, and Andrew Hansen his only son.

There were four funerals the last four consecutive days of last week, and other families are afflicted with the dread disease. Public gatherings are suspended, and strict quarantine regulations are now in force. American Fork people are afflicted with the same malady.

Acknowledgment.—A telegram, reading as follows, was sent to Mrs. Lillie Devereux Blake and the ladies of the Woman Suffrage Committee of the State of New York:

SALT LAKE CITY,

January 14, 1883.

In behalf of the Women of Utah, we sincerely thank you for the noble stand you have taken for the preservation of our rights of franchise.

E. R. Snow Smith, President of the Women's Organizations of the Latter-day Saints; Zina D. H. Young, First Vice-President; M. Isabella Horne, Second Vice-President; Sarah M. Kimball, Secretary; Prescindia L. Kimball, Bathsheba W. Smith, Elizabeth Howard, Elmina S. Taylor, Romania B. Pratt, M. D., Ellis R. Shipp, M. D.; Martha P. Hughes, M. D.; Zina Y. Williams, Kate Wells, Ellen C. Clawson, Emmeline B. Wells, Vice-President National Woman's Suffrage Association for Utah. The dispatch appeared the same day in the New York Evening Telegram and afterwards in other eastern papers.

Aunt Eliza's Birthday.—This is the 80th anniversary of our venerable and well beloved Sister Eliza R. Snow Smith. A social party in honor of the occasion is taking place this evening in the Social Hall, to which 200 guests, mostly her immediate friends and associates, have been invited. The First Presidency, the Apostles and a number of Bishops are among those who have been asked to participate. A programme of musical and literary exercises will be carried out, and a banquet served at 7 p.m., the latter in the basement of the building.

Of all the ladies in Israel—and they are among the noblest women in the world—none are worthier of honor than she who is the central figure of this interesting occasion. Her long and useful life, her untiring diligence, and unwavering integrity to the cause of Truth through some of the most trying scenes in its history, added to her superior intelligence and ability as a writer, a teacher, a worker and an organizer, have marked her as no ordinary character, and her remarkable career, with all its varied phases and historic associations, will leave an impress upon the age, which eternity, with all its waves, will not efface.

May the God of Israel, whom she has so devotedly served, bless and lengthen out her noble life, that she may remain to fully consummate His purposes in her behalf; to be a pillar of strength and an example of purity to her illustrious Sisterhood in Zion, an object of unfailing respect and admiration to her brethren who delight to do her honor, a comfort and a stay to the thousands to whose general welfare she has so faithfully ministered, and who, on reading this, will respond with one heartfelt accord: "God bless Sister Eliza!"

DEATH OF HELEN C. BEATIE.

On Saturday evening, January 19th, at 9.30 o'clock, Mrs. Helen C. Beatie, wife of H. S. Beatie, and sister of Bishop H. B. Clawson, died at her residence, in the 14th Ward, from pneumonia. The death of this estimable lady is a severe shock not only to her family, who hold her in inexpressible affection, but many of her personal friends, quite a number of whom were not aware of her illness, which, in its more serious phase, did not extend over a greater period than one week.

Deceased was aged 48 years. She was one of the pioneers of Utah, having arrived in Salt Lake Valley in 1848, one year after the first company reached here.

The funeral will be conducted at the late residence of the deceased at 11 a. m. to-morrow (Thursday) January 22nd. Friends of the family are invited.

SHOT HIMSELF.

THE BODY OF A SUICIDE FOUND NEAR OGDEN.

What appears to have been a deliberate and determined suicide was committed on Saturday afternoon, on the range west of Ogden City. Some boys who were out hunting rabbits, in wandering around through the sagebrush and cedars, discovered the dead body of a man lying on their track with blood oozing from his temple, nose and mouth. They were considerably startled by the discovery, but after recovering from their surprise, they went to the nearest house and informed Mr. Robbins of the ghastly sight they had seen.

Mr. Mark Hall, coroner, was at once notified and he immediately repaired to the place where the body of the unfortunate suicide lay. It was stretched out upon the back, a plush cap under the head, the left hand across the breast, the right hand stretched out, a thirty-two calibre revolver lying by the right side of the body, and a large bullet hole in the right temple. A coroner's jury had already been summoned. They viewed the body and the remains were then placed in a vehicle and taken to Mr. James Gale's undertaker's establishment in Ogden, where an inquest was held over the corpse.

The jury consisted of Edmund Robbins, Joseph Wintle, and Rev. Richard Hartley. Their verdict was that the deceased had committed suicide. No cause could be assigned for the rash act. He was a young man, a Swede, about five feet eight inches high, of fair complexion, and seemed to be about twenty-six years of age. He was warmly clad, having on a respectable suit of winter clothes. On his person was found cash to the amount of $30.42, and a letter written in the Swedish language.

It was written to the deceased from Ostansio, Sweden, and signed by Sven Olsson. He calls the one addressed his "best dear brother," but whether or not there existed any kinship between them has not been ascertained. Deceased was a stranger in these parts so far as learned. The remains were buried on Sunday afternoon. Our correspondent "Weber" sends the above particulars.

HOW TO PASS SUNDAY AFTER-NOON.

Sunday ought to be a home day. Thy son and thy daughter were included in the Old Testament command; they ought to be included in the New Testament privileges. It ought to be a father's day. Every other day in the week the mother has the children; that day the father should take them. A walk—if you live in the country, or near a public park in the town—a talk, a reading, by the father with the children should be one of the exercises of the day. If you cannot secure that and go to church twice, go only once. The home is more important than the church; your children are a more sacred duty to you than your neighbor's children. The talk is better than the walk; the reading is better than either; unless you can combine the three. In organizing your Sunday afternoon reading, these rules or principles will be found useful.

Make no pledge for the future. Organize no elaborate scheme. Form no plan for a Winter's course. Gather the family for one Sunday afternoon. Make it so attractive that the next Sunday afternoon they will want it. The best things are not made, they grow.

Provide for the children. The grown can provide for themselves. What is intended for the children will interest the grown folks; what is intended for the grown folks may not interest the children. Begin with the short and the simple; go to the longer and more elaborate.

Gather the children in; do not drive them in. Give an invitation, not a law. Do not make it a compulsory service. It is your first business to find something so interesting that they will want to come. If anyone stays away the first Sunday, make it such a disappointment that he will come the second.

If some of your neighbor's children learn of your circle and want to come, let them. Let no cast-iron rule against visiting shut them out.

Keep always in mind the uses of Sunday. Make the moral and spiritual culture of your circle the end of your reading. It is not mere entertainment and "keeping the children quiet;" it is not merely intellectual information and instruction; it is spiritual life; it is making your home sweeter and better; it is making a household of faith. Go to it in the spirit of faith.—Christianian.

IS CONSUMPTION CURABLE?

An annual death-rate of nearly 100, by Consumption in the United States gives, so far as the medical profession is concerned, a most emphatic and disheartening negative to this question. But under the new Vitalizing treatment of Drs. Starkey & Palen, of 1109 Girard St., Philadelphia, quite as emphatic an affirmative can be declared. This treatment has inaugurated a new era in the healing art. We are speaking within the limits of facts when we say that during the past thirteen years in thousands of cases the progress of Consumption has been arrested by its use, and hundreds of lives saved. In many instances where it seemed that the patient could not survive for more than a few days or a few weeks, the vital forces have rallied, and there has been a slow, but sure, return to a better and more comfortable health. If you wish to know all about this remarkable treatment write to Drs. Starkey & Palen, and they will send you such documentary evidences as will enable you to judge of its real value.

All orders for the Compound Oxygen Home Treatment directed to H. E. Mathews, 606 Montgomery Street, San Francisco, will be filled on the same terms as if sent directly to us in Phila.

A young lady had a narrow escape at a fire a few nights since. About half of her back hair was burned. Fortunately she was not in the building at the time, having put on her other hair and left the house only an hour before the fire broke out.

RESCUED FROM DEATH.

William J. Coughlin, of Somerville, Mass., says: In the fall of 1876 I was taken with Bleeding of Lungs followed by a severe cough. I lost my appetite and flesh, and was admitted to the Hospital. The doctors said I had a hole in my lung as big as a half dollar. At one time a report went around that I was dead. I gave up hope, but a friend told me of Dr. Wm. Hall's Balsam for the Lungs. I got a bottle when, to my surprise, I commenced to feel better, and to-day I feel better than for three years past. d s & w
