

SOCIAL CHAT

Christmas with its cheer, bustle, and prevalent atmosphere of good will is with us again, and as usual the society function is emblematic in every possible way of the present spirit. Reds and greens, hollys and evergreens are everywhere, and just now to emphasize the time of festivity comes the fancy dress ball to impart an even more positive air to the holiday note. The Symphony orchestra has lent its distinctive classic tone of harmony this week and the season altogether will be a memorable happy one.

The Symphony orchestra as yet does not call out the audiences that crowd to see a sensational or comic presentation at the Salt Lake theaters; but always to its stalls and circles and rows of seats are seen people to whom the best in everything appeals, so that this class will grow in proportion to the popularity of the popular show affairs. There must be but a question of little time. Well known people filled many of the seats yesterday, the stalls and boxes being occupied by Gov. and Mrs. Critter, Dr. and Mrs. F. S. Bascom, Miss E. Bonnefort, Mr. and Mrs. T. Jennings, Mr. and Mrs. James E. Jennings, Mr. and Mrs. Karl Scheid, Miss Pearl Van Cott and others, and many parties were seen among the rows of seats.

Mrs. Windsor V. Rice entertained a few friends at cards on Thursday, her guests numbering about 16, and prizes being won by Mrs. Arthur H. S. Bird, Mrs. Karl A. Scheid, Mrs. J. P. Negeen and Mrs. George C. Moore.

The freshmen of the university gave a delightful "moonlight" ball at the museum hall last night, the decorations and many details being carried out in the "moonlight" idea, and a large number being present to enjoy the pleasant affair. The patrons were: President and Mrs. J. T. Kingsbury, Dr. and Mrs. C. F. Merrill, Dean and Mrs. Byron Cummings, Dr. and Mrs. W. C. Kbaugh, Dr. and Mrs. L. W. Hartman and Prof. and Mrs. Levi Edgar Young.

The B. of R. Co. gave one of the most successful affairs of the season on Thursday night, about 100 being present to enjoy the annual ball.

Several dinners preceded the mask ball at City hall on Thursday night, Mr. George Y. Wallace, Jr., and A. F. Holden being among the number.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gustin entertained the card club on Thursday night.

The Quinneys club met with Mrs. Quinney Howard this week.

Mrs. G. B. Wilson entertains this afternoon at a bridge tea, her decorations being in the late autumn flowers and about 20 being present.

Miss Margaret Harris is also hostess at a tea this afternoon, a number of her young friends being entertained.

One of the truly interesting events of the week was the musical tea given by Mrs. C. E. Allen, the chief feature being a talk upon the pathology music by Miss Esther Allen, who has made a special study of this branch of music. It was preparatory to the Symphony Orchestra concert on Friday, of which Miss Allen is a member, and she explained to her guests the different parts played by the instruments in the sweet harmonies.

Lovice Clement Jones of this city and Charles A. Hendry of Ogden were RICH CALIFORNIAN AND DAUGHTER WHO IS NO LONGER HER SISTER-IN-LAW.

Those who find no good in divorce courts must admit that a tribunal of that kind has straightened out at least one peculiar family tangle. By obtaining her decree of divorce and adding another name to the string she had narrowed to bend up under, Mrs. Gladys Ashe-Gouraud-Hoover and secured great gladness from the position of sister-in-law to her own mother. The name of her mother and ex-sister-in-law, by the way, is considerably hyphenated, due to varied matrimonial experiences. The mother is known as Mrs. Amy Crocker-Ash-Gilling-Gouraud. The elder woman paid her son-in-law brother, the first husband of the young wife, the sum of $300,000, it is said, to release the bound daughter and sister-in-law from the matrimonial bonds that made the mixed relationship possible. The elder Mrs. etc.-Gouraud's father was the late Charles E. Crocker, the California millionaire.
