THE LIVING AND THE DYING.

WHATEVER may be the result in August of the division of our people on national party lines, the work commenced will go on, and hereafter Republicanism and Democracy will make their way here as in other parts of this great country.

The "Liberal" people are not playing at politics. They are not making a temporary purpose, or aiming to achieve a more local victory. They were never more earnest than in their loyalty to the distinctive doctrine of the two great parties, and in their adhesion to that party which best satisfies their ideas of sound government.

The originators of the movement have also started out "for good and all." They are strong supporters of their respective party principles. They have no more present campaign view. They believe it to be for the true interests of the Territory to establish the national parties here, personally, and they will continue to work in this direction.

It is the hope of the "Liberal" faction to maintain the said "open" city, and perpetuate its aggressive and destructive character, through the domination that has come to the People's party. The "Liberal" towns and those elements which are undesirable in any way are to be eliminated from Utah, and as soon as the sun rises after the shades of night dispense, so will the sun of peace dawn on Utah, and "Liberal" darkness with its evil works, its fraud and corruption, its deadly designs and its work of political assassination be banished from Utah.

There is a base possibility that, in this city, the "Liberal" faction may succeed at the August election. There are witnesses in view that the same old tricks, worked by the same old hands will be tried as they were worked at the consolidated election. The thousands of names upon the registry list of persons who have no legal residence in this city, offer an opportunity for much fraud. And the kind of people who are being placed here and there, with the promises which are being extorted from them by means of public or private employment, suggest a repetition of the former infamies, so that there are some reasons why "Liberal" voters perceive a chance for some more history.

But against all this are the vigilance which will be maintained by the Republicans and Democrats, the information which some of them have in relation to the past, the influence which they will be able to wield in the campaign, and the certainty of legal prosecution against persons who violate the law on election matters. All these things will be the robust factors against fraud, while the better people in the "Liberal" ranks will quietly withdraw and support those nominees who represent their true politics and will not serve the true interests of the Territory.

In the event of a "Liberal" triumph in August, however, the Democratic and the Republican parties will not be materially affected. They will continue their work. They will win new converts. The "Liberal" parties will gradually lose its hold upon all but the degraded elements, and it cannot survive.

In the very nature of things it must go down before the march of the national political armies. It is only a creature of time. Let its remaining supporters view it as they please, it is not built to last. The question really raised in relation to the "Liberal" is, has the time come for its demise? That it will die and that before very long, is conceded by its most vigorous supporters. They only claim that its untimely demise is premature. It has within it none of the elements of permanency.

GIVE IT A STRONG REBUKE.

WE realize the feeling is general among the better classes of the community, that the school interests of this city shall be placed above the plans of politics. That is, they shall be subject to more primary considerations. With Wagoner and his associates express this opinion. We hope they will act upon it with vigor.

The only persons who object to this are the bosses and the obedient rank and file of the "Liberal" faction. There is an old principle, actual or alleged, in this industry to make "Liberalism" a factor in school government. It is to be simply a struggle at the polls to exhibit life and force in a change of the days of which are numbered.

We hope the people of this city will show at the school election that they are in a favor of intelligent judgment with educational concerns, and that they are opposed to the continuation of an obnoxious and unjust system which will not affiliate with any legitimate separation nor harmonize with anything that is for the general welfare of the community. It is not need and pecuniary violence in action.

GLADSTONE FOR DYKE IS SILENT.

WHILE Mr. Gladstone is giving elaborate views on all other subjects, large and small, with regard to the general public, and concerning some people are wondering that he should express an opinion of the Treaty of Commerce. To those who understand his silence is a mystery. They realize the delicacy, and the delicacy of his position, and they know that his silence is a mystery.

THE CAMPAIGN IN IOWA.

ON the 1st inst. the Iowa State Republican convention was held at Cedar Rapids. Harmony and good feeling. It was said, characterized the proceedings. Hiram C. Wheeler was nominated for governor on the first ballot, and George Van Hook for lieutenant governor on the second ballot. There were present many of the party's wisest and they were pleased with the smooth manner in which business was transacted.

The most significant feature of the election in Iowa is found in the speech delivered by John V. Moore, temporary chairman of the convention. He said that the party's platform was a platform of peace and harmony, and that the party's platform was a platform of peace and harmony.

Mr. Wheeler made an eloquent plea at the Van Hook commencement a few days ago. According to the reports his address aroused a tremendous amount of applause and won the universal sympathy of his hearers. This, though by no means a mere indication of what the United States government will do in the premises, is at least an encouraging pointer to success. It is not a platitude that he has brought a message that has the merit of getting people's attention, which goes a long way in successful diplomacy.

State's Congress was swept into oblivion and fully one year before the tide wave of last November.

The general sentiment in Iowa is attributed to assistance from the Republican Anti-Protectionists, and Anti-Liberalism.

THE CHILEAN SITUATION.

THE war in Chile has at last assumed a condition which the outside world may to some degree consider upon its merits. The telegraphic dispatches that have come from there show the picture to have been a contradictory and sensational in character as to render any judgment of the situation from the news they conveyed utterly impossible.

The immediate cause of the country's taking arms was a refusal of the Chilean Congress to vote supplies for the carrying on of the government, the reason for the action being that President Balmaceda was violating the law.

After several bloody encounters, on land and water, the result of which it is impossible to know precisely, both forces are at a standstill. The Government is to find up for want of a navy, and the Congress party is "waiting" because it has no ammunition to fight with.

The insurgents have now sent agents out for the purpose of obtaining recognition as belligerents. To this purpose it will be remembered that Richard L. Tumbull made an eloquent plea at the Van Hook commencement a few days ago.

WEEKLY FINANCIAL REVIEW.

HENRY CLAVER in his financial report for the week ending June 27, 1901 says that all the gold in an export market, and for so much money in progress. Few are low, still higher, but do not materialize. The reason assigned is, that the system of eight months ago annihilated so many of the speculators that a new contingent has not yet come on the market. It would be a mistake to infer, says Mr. Claver, that the present attendant harvest, the comparative ease in money, the relatively strong condition of the bank reserves, and the probable return of large amounts of gold from Europe, will have any effect on the demand for stocks during the Summer and Fall months.

as on a national scale. It is important to note that the current money supply of each nation is not a static quantity, but a dynamic one.

NEWS IN A NUTSHELL.

Mr. Robert Peel died July 2, 1901. The British minister by Lord Howe and Chilean minister by Lord Howe died July 2, 1901.

During the week ending June 30, 1901, 775,992 immigrants landed in the United States. This is the largest number of arrivals in the whole history of the immigration movement.

Walter G. Washburn, a prominent citizen of Chicago, was killed in a fire at his residence in Chicago, on July 1, 1901.

When the manager of St. Sophia, in Constantinople, was killed, more than one hundred years ago, the whole city was in a state of mourning.

The election of United States senators by direct vote of the people is proposed in the platform of the Iowa Democrats. Then comes this sentence: "We hold in detestation the alarming corruption which is being fostered by certain sections of State legislatures and which have debauched the will of the people in the United States Senate as now constituted."

It is announced that the members of the Leprosy Commission, who are now pursuing their researches in Hawaii, have made the important discovery that the leprous bacillus can be isolated and cultured artificially. A rabbit was inoculated and killed after some days, and digested before making any further study. It is stated that the bacillus has never before been grown outside the human body.

The Democratic convention of Utah will be held at Columbus on the 14th and 15th of July, and it will probably be the largest ever held in the Territory. Outside of the Hamilton county members there was no opposition to Governor Campbell in the State Central Committee, and there is no doubt about his getting the nomination. When the convention meets the efforts of the leaders will be directed to bring the Churchman faction into line and unite the party.

Manumission has adopted a new law with regard to manumission. For the first and second drafts within a year there is no prohibition. For the third draft there is a prohibition for a period of not more than one year. Plans won't let him off. Thus it will be seen that a citizen of Massachusetts may get better, having drunk twice a year, and suffer no other penalty than a headache. The law was passed at the instance of the prohibition element, and is not expected to work very well.
