

IMPERATIVE NEED OF THE RAILROADS

Repeal of Repressive State Laws If Lines People Want Are To be Constructed.

READJUSTMENT NECESSARY.

National Government Should Set an Example and Inaugurate Modification, Says Mr. Harriman.

New York, April 1.—Bronzed by his weeks' sojourn under southern skies and brimming over with vitality, E. H. Harriman reached here late today, to all appearances a rejuvenated man, after his long combination vacation and business trip over the network of Harriman railroads in the west, the southwest and in Mexico.

"I have been made to say that we are constructing a line down the west coast of Mexico," he said. "What should have been said was that we already have constructed it. The line is now completed from Nogales, Ariz., on the Mexican line, to Mazatlan, Mexico, and in reality a new country has been discovered by this railroad construction. In one tract opened up by irrigation 600,000 acres of the best land are made available for cultivation and opened to a market. American help is needed in the development. Yes, in a directive way. There is plenty of labor, but American initiative and executive ability will count here as elsewhere."

Mr. Harriman said he found in the west and southwest, a vastly changed sentiment toward the railroads. With not a sentiment there would be an encouragement for the railroads to go ahead with development work, he thought.

"Repeal of repressive state laws is imperative," he declared. "If the railroads want to build to be built, the railroads want to build to be built. The truth is, the states in adopting these laws only followed the example of the national government. Now let the national government set the reverse example and inaugurate the modification. I should say not repeat but readjustment of the laws regarding the co-operation is necessary."

Mr. Harriman said he had heard little talk about the tariff in the far west. Asked as to possible wage reduction by the railroads, he said:

"We have not been considered the matter and shall not so long as we can afford to pay."

Mr. Harriman said about $1,000,000 had already been spent on the Southern Pacific Mexican line extension and not improbably an expenditure of $10,000,000 altogether would be necessary to complete the work.

When asked if he was to become actively identified with the New York Central, Mr. Harriman replied he was not. He said his head was in the matter. Neither had he agreed with the Hill interests in the west. A conference over terminal matters in Portland, Or., was his only communication with representatives of those interests, he said.

Mr. Harriman said the Southern Pacific expected to make a success of its irrigation plant in southern California. Despite the difficulties the he declared were being put in the company's way by the government.

"We saved 600,000 or 700,000 acres of valuable arable land at all times by prompt work on the line at the time of the Colorado river irrigation," he said. "I am convinced that we acted only four or five days ahead of the time when that land for all practical purposes would have been forever lost to the reclamation."

In speaking of the plans for diverting the water back of Laguna dam, which the government is said to have in contemplation, Mr. Harriman forebore to make a definite statement. He said the federal authorities and the federal authorities.

"They are planning to build a ditch from this dam down into Mexico and back into California, which will interfere with our irrigation projects," said Mr. Harriman. "They say they are going to spend $4,000,000 or $5,000,000 in doing this, but they might as well save their money. It may be somewhat inconvenient for us to do it, but if they carry out their plans we will build a high ditch line back of theirs and get the water for irrigating our land in spite of them."

Mr. Harriman did not conceal the fact that he felt that the Southern Pacific had done great work in saving the Imperial valley, and that the government is acting unfairly in trying to take advantage of the dam for irrigating lands other than those through which the Southern Pacific runs.

COLLEGE MEN SHOULD GO INTO POLITICS

New York, April 2.—Dr. Frederick A. Cleveland of the bureau of municipal research talked of clean and practical politics to the gathering of college men who came to the city today as delegates to the Intercollegiate Civic League and who will go to Washington today.

The speech was delivered at a banquet at the Hotel Manhattan last night. Robert T. Elder, son of the president, and Edwin Root, Jr., both delegates, were among Dr. Cleveland's auditors. He said among other things: "When you ask me whether a college man should take an interest in politics, you must ask me whether there should be a decent citizen. Our government can only be carried on through the parties, and parties are organizations inherently. I know a great many scholarly men who abstain from mixing in politics on the theory that they ought not to have anything to do with organizations. Why, you can't run a proper meeting without organization. Don't be afraid of being discredited. Don't be a trimmer. We have a college man in the White House now who wouldn't budge an inch if he thought he was right and his predecessor, who was not always right in my opinion, although that does not change the popular estimate, was not afraid of being discredited."

Talks a Lot of Silly Stuff About Throwing Kisses.

Chicago, April 2.—Prof. Frederick Starr of the University of Chicago, who attracted attention recently by a prophecy that former President Roosevelt would never return alive from Africa, has again come to public notice, this time as an exponent of the fine art of "kiss throwing."

"Young men of this country do not know how to throw a kiss gracefully," he says, in a lecture prepared for students on Mexico today.

"It takes a young Mexican to perform the act gracefully. He brings the tips of his fingers together, touches them gently with his lips and, spreading his hand out as he makes the throw, wads five sweet kisses to his lady love by five different routes."

TO ILLUSTRATE TARIFF ARGUMENTS

Washington, April 2.—To illustrate their arguments on the tariff members and delegates, brought into the lobby of the house, just back of the speaker's desk hundreds of exhibits. Representative Mann (Illinois), who spoke on the duty on print paper and wood pulp, displayed in the lobby a collection of trees from Maine and California, with age rings carefully counted and noted. Every process of the wood in the making of paper was shown by the exhibition of specimens, in sticks, boxes, bottles or shells.

Commissioner Larrinaga of Porto Rico is interested in the duty on coffee, and he brought in an assortment from every country of the world that produces the berry. The samples are displayed in elegantly finished boxes.

Mr. Cole of Ohio made a speech on wool. He brought on to the floor of the house unshorn wool off the back of a sheep.

When Mr. Cushman of Washington defended the duty on lumber, he displayed a score or more of charts which he has arranged in the corridor so that they will continue to argue with the members.

Representative Mondell (Wyoming) has resorted to the same method of driving home his argument for coal duties.

APRIL FOOL JOKERS WERE BADLY FOOLED

Los Angeles, April 2.—Because it was All Fool's day, a diaphanous looking leather wallet that contained $75 in currency was allowed to be on the sidewalk at Main and Fifth streets half an hour yesterday, touched only by shoes and was finally taken up by a passerby. It was recovered by the excited owner.

M. J. Alschuler, a tourist from Des Moines, was on his way to the Pacific Electric depot to take a Pasadena car when the wallet dropped from his pocket. He did not discover his loss until he was buying a ticket.

Almost frantic he rushed out of the station and began retracing his steps. Little expecting to find his lost money. At Fifth and Main he spotted the wallet in the gutter. A score of persons stopped to look, expecting to laugh at his discomfiture over an April fool trick, but to their astonishment he tore the wallet open and drew forth a roll of bills which he hurriedly counted. Then he carefully tucked the wallet away in an inside pocket and made his way down the street.
