GOVERNOR MURRAY'S SERIES OF "IF'S."

The article bearing the name of Governor Murray which appears in the North American Review for January next is substantially a recapitulation of the untruthful statements which form the chief part of his report to the Secretary of the Interior. That report has appeared in full in this paper. We therefore do not reproduce the article. A paragraph or two will be sufficient to show the nature of the whole communication. Governor Murray starts with this assertion: "That the country has resolved to get at the bottom facts in Utah affairs, and to reform the social and political status of that Territory is a fact patent to every observer of the currents of popular opinion and popular sentiment."

This is just exactly what the country—if by that term is meant either its leading minds or the masses of the people—has never done, and has not yet resolved to do. The "bottom facts" concerning Utah have not been reached or attempted to be reached. There is more ignorance about Utah affairs in any other subject of public interest. Travelers who come here are amazed at the situation, a different to that which they have been led to suppose, and the articles that appear in the papers, and the discourses that are preached in the pulpits, exhibit a most astounding lack of knowledge of the people and condition of this Territory. Is it not a fact that the ideas entertained in regard to the "Mormons" are derived from the statements of their most uncompromising enemies? Is it not also true that the popular notion of the meaning of "Mormonism" is summed up in the word polygamy.

If the country wanted to get at the bottom facts inquiries would be instituted among those who are familiar with the system called "Mormonism," and its authorized exponents, printed and personal would be consulted. But the general method is to give credence to every foolish story, particularly if it is sensational or startling, and ignore all that is brought forward in refutation. It is rare that a newspaper or a magazine will print anything written to correct the public mind and show the falsehood of rumors that become current. The press, parrot-like, repeats the falsehoods started by unprincipled persons in this city and the pulpits echoes the refrain. Often they are without the slightest foundation in fact, frequently they contain a slender filament of truth scarcely perceptible in a whole bolt of fiction.

If the country or if Congress would really try to get at the bottom facts concerning Utah, it would be found that the country had been grossly deceived by designing persons, helped by others less dishonest but feebler witted. Also that the statements and insinuations of Eli H. Murray are a compound of absolute untruth and cunning yet transparent sophistry, told with a deliberate intention to defame Utah and hoodwink the government and the country. Take the annexed paragraph, which contains the marrow of all he has said in his official report and in the article from which we make the extract:

"If it be true that crime prevails and criminals control in Utah; that from the very beginning 'the legislation of Utah has been inimical to and subversive of the Federal authority within the Territory'; that an unlawful government has existed there for thirty years; that laws are levied upon the minority to build up the majority; that the children of that minority do not and should not enter into the Union as citizens; that the laws of Congress are nullified; if it be true, that territorial statute the whole system of immigration has been given over to the Church; that thousands of 'assisted' immigrants have been and are now gathered from abroad; that exchequer and confiscations for this immigration fund have been provided for by the territorial legislatures; that fanaticism imposes upon ignorance, and that avarice feeds upon industry under authority of this legislation; that laws have been enacted 'respecting an establishment of religion' in violation of the Federal Constitution; if it be true, that Congress and civilization have denounced the 'plural wife' system as bigamy; that the appeals of virtue, and the hopes of helpless children born and yet to be born are undusted, and the unholy system defiedly upheld, defended and practiced in Utah; that a territorial law establishes a new process of naturalization by conferring the right of suffrage upon alien women, when they become wives, without the qualification of time as required by national law; that this system has spread into other Territories the property of the United States, and is occupying the public lands; if these propositions be true, and if these evils exist by the act of legislation created by authority of Congress, and paid out of the Treasury of the United States, then the case is fully come when so vicious a system should be destroyed and such agency of government abolished."

"If it be true," Yes, IF. But it is not true. A very little investigation into the bottom facts would show this beyond a doubt. There is not an assumption in the whole collection of "if's" but is either a positive falsehood, or a misstatement of something partly true in such a manner as to render it in effect a deception. We admit one exception to the rule. It is the reference to the denunciation of the plural wife system as "bigamy." The statement that it has been so denounced is correct, the principle attempted to be established is a fallacy. Plural marriage and bigamy are essentially different, as President Taylor has clearly shown in his article in the Review.

The "unlawful government" existing in Utah for thirty years, is that set up and sustained by the United States. Utah has no other.

There is nothing in existence to substantiate the Governor's absurd assertion, and if it were true it would be a reflection upon Congress and the Administration, not upon Utah. There is not a schoolhouse in the Territory built by the taxes of "the minority." Taxes for building schoolhouses are assessed by vote of the taxpayers and are levied upon all the taxable property in the district, and are not used to "build schools upon Church property." The Governor's statement is wilfully and entirely false, as is the assertion that a territorial law establishes "a new process of naturalization." No such law is on the statute book, and if it existed it would be a nullity, for Congress alone can prescribe rules for the naturalization of aliens. It is a law of Congress which provides that a wife of a citizen of the United States becomes a citizen by her marriage. Governor Murray must think his readers as ignorant as he is reckless and untruthful. Any schoolboy ought to know better than to write such transparent trash. And what about the "hopes of helpless children yet to be born?" How cruel of anybody to let unborn hopes of unborn lives go "unchanged." The rest of the Governor's collection of evil imputations we fully exposed a week ago in reviewing his report to the Secretary of the Interior.

And what about his vicious declaration that the time has come when the system of government in Utah "should be destroyed." Why, it is predicated upon those "if's" and they are founded on falsehood and therefore the whole fabric amounts to nothing. Yet these malicious misrepresentations and equivocal hypotheses, with the abominable suggestion at the close, will no doubt be copied as startling facts and the essence of wisdom, by men who, if they would take the trouble to look for the "bottom facts," would be able to see the fallacy of the suppositions and the villainy of the advice.

When will the thinking men and women of this nation investigate the so-called "Utah problem" as they would examine into any other important question? When will the orators and writers who have the ear of the public, cease to aid the schemes of political conspirators plotting for place and pelf, by repeating the fallacies which the tricksters invent? In their zeal to put down what they suppose to be a social error, they become the tools of such creatures as Murray and the clique he represents, who care no more for polygamy than they do for platy, but are bent upon destroying the liberties of the whole people of Utah that they may gain power and plunder. And while the press and the pulpits are sounding the tocsin for a crusade against "Mormon" marriage, these Utah plotters are laughing at the noise and scoffing at those who make it, and are watching for the golden opportunity to ride upon the ruins of a misjudged community into positions which they could never reach by merit, nor wish for except as chances for robbery and oppression.

"If" the government and the country would get at the "bottom facts," "if" the baseless charges made by rabid fanatics and scheming office-seekers were fairly investigated; "if" the personal character of the accused people of Utah were justly compared with that of their traducers; "if" the sentiments and acts of the "Mormons" in regard to the land were given due credit; if the qualities and capabilities for self-government which they have exhibited in the face of a deep-seated and powerful hostility were duly recognized; "if" the principles which enter into the structure of our national system were applied to Utah; "if" bigotry and sectarianism were thrust out of congressional legislation; and "if" simple, unvarnished justice were extended to the people of Utah in common with other citizens of this republic, there would be no "Mormon" problem to solve. "Polygamy" would be relegated to its proper sphere of discussion and cease to be a national question. Utah would soon be admitted into the Union on the same principles as govern the admission of other States, and the country would be strengthened and enriched by the addition of a loyal, thrifty, temperate and progressive commonwealth, which would become as much a glory and a pride to the Union as falsehood and unfair treatment has made of this Territory a trouble and a vexation.

FLATBUSH AND UTAH. "The attention of the Rev. Mr. Talmage and other persons who desire to exterminate the Mormons because they are polygamists, who marry several simultaneous wives, instead of divorcing the first, and then marrying the new one, as is the custom in more civilized communities, is called that peculiar institution known as the 'church societies.' If they will read the testimony in the Higley-Vaughan case they will learn that killing is the chief occupation of the frequenters of these societies, and that the church is a mockery of the marriage sacrament performed, in order, perhaps, to add a new seal to the killing. Frac-tiousness as these cannot be made decent by pretending that they are religious practices, sanctioned by the 'church societies,' no more than polygamy in Utah can be excused on the ground that it is a religious practice and is sanctioned by a so-called church.

essentials to a real matrimonial ceremony, has found its way into court, the young man who figured as the bridegroom being charged by the bride with desertion, the main object of the charge being to determine whether or not the alleged marriage is legal. In the course of the trial most astonishing details were brought out, showing the loose condition of society in Flatbush, and the great liberties indulged in by young people connected with leading families and fashionable, religious societies. Indiscriminate kissing appears to have been very common, given and returned by both sexes, and mock weddings in which the most sacred forms and names in the marriage service, followed by the pairing off of the "happy" married parties in hammocks or retreating to shady nooks in gardens and woods, were among the diversions of these "respectable" young ladies and gentlemen.

As the Times intimates, Flatbush is a better place for the disciples of surface morality to begin their work than Utah, because it is so much nearer their home. But this is the great objection in their eyes. Distance gives enhancement to the view. Supposed iniquity away off is so much more popular to tackle than vice and infamy close by. Utah is over twenty-five hundred miles from Brooklyn, while Flatbush is only four miles from Talmage's Tabernacle, and the difference in mile increases in ratio as the square of the distance. Imaginary evil becomes a terrible phantom when viewed afar off, while actual irregularities and palpable vices fade into unreality, when they disappear themselves under the nose of the popular deceiver. And investigation would disclose that all the demoralization of so-called "church societies" is not confined to the fashionable circles of Flatbush, neither is all the polygamy practiced in Utah. When the things done in secret are revealed upon the housetops, what a shaking there will be in sanctimonious circles and a mong howling anti-"Mormon" hypocrites.

THE HOLIDAY "CONTRIBUTOR."

The holiday number of the Contributor is before us. To simply call it good would fall short of our estimate. It is brilliant, and throws the majority of its predecessors into comparative shadow. We do not say this because they have not also been excellent, as they were, but to note the evidence of the progressive character of this home magazine. Among the more novel features of the number may be named the exceedingly interesting prize Christmas story, "Angels," by Augusta J. Crocheron. It took the prize offered by the editor and publisher for the best tale. There is another very neatly and ingeniously written tale by Susan Y. Gates, entitled "Two Christmas Eves." Among the many attractive articles is one from the pen of Apostle Moses Thatcher, being a graphic description of the "Falls of the Yellowstone." But the palm, so far as the contributions to this number are concerned, is carried away by Mr. O. F. Whitney. His poem, "A Christmas Eve," is, in our opinion, every other production of his prolific pen. The composition is excellent, and the poem teems with sublime thoughts and imagery, grandly portrayed. This emanation possesses so much poetic merit that it alone is a sufficient reason upon which to found Mr. Whitney's reputation as a poet of marked ability. Other papers than those named, which appear in the Contributor for the holidays, are more or less notable for excellence, but we have simply made mention of those especially conspicuous for novelty as well as the ability displayed by their authors.

Governor Murray on Callahan's Bill. CHICAGO, 22.—Governor Murray of Utah has telegraphed to the city on his way to Salt Lake yesterday. He was accompanied by his family and Mrs. E. L. Dudley, who, with the Governor, have been spending a week in the East, and are now in Washington. A reporter asked him about the Mormon question. "You have read the bills probably which have already been presented in Congress," he said.

"I have the several bills, and none of them have struck me so favorably as that presented by Callahan, of Illinois, which seems to me the ground which the President recommends in his annual message, and it recommends a measure which I have suggested as the most feasible in my report. I am in favor of Callahan's measure," said Murray. "And the feeling is very strong in Washington that it will be passed." The Governor and his party left during the day for Salt Lake City. "Gold, Gold, Money and Relief, Hard to get and Hard to Hold." Topeka, Kan., 21.—Advices from Las Vegas, New Mexico, indicate great excitement among the citizens in regard to the late gold discoveries. Gold is said to have been found in paying quantities on a lot at the Hot Springs, owned by a prominent citizen, a few days ago by two miners employed to assist in the excavation of ground for a new $100,000 court house. Next morning they were up with the lark staking out mining claims to the court house yard, and now the hills and valleys around Las Vegas are swarming with the excited gold seekers, many of whom meet with success. Eight business men formed a company and will try to develop it. A few years ago El Esteban, near Las Vegas, had a population of 5,000 gold miners, and for a number of years a company engaged in hydraulic mining has taken out $50,000 annually. There is no doubt as to the presence of gold in paying quantities. The city of Las Vegas is a mining camp, and ladies being found among the prospectors. Some Colorado expatriates are already on the ground investigating the extent and richness of the deposits.

An Appalling Disaster. LONDON, 22.—The steamer John Williamson rescued six more men from the Saint Augustine and landed them at Newcastle. The survivors of the Saint Augustine rescued by the steamer John Williamson, report the scenes on board the Saint Augustine as perfectly appalling. Something fell from aloft cutting off one of the captain's legs. At his own request a heavy weight was tied around his waist and he was thrown into the sea. Several sailors also drowned themselves in despair. The sea spread so rapidly that everybody on board became panic-stricken. The John Williamson rescued the men, including the second engineer, with a life boat, which was smashed by the sea as they were drawn on board. People were afterwards seen on the burning vessel, and several bodies were seen in the water.

Foreign Briefs. LONDON, 21.—Survivors of the steamer Saint Augustine, burned last Sunday in the Bay of Biscay, state that 38 men were on board when the four boats pulled off. It is feared that all were lost, as when the steamer was last seen a heavy sea was running, the vessel was all fire, and there were no other boats. Fourteen thousand cotton operatives in Lancashire are idle, in consequence of the strike. Half the looms in Blackburn have stopped. The bank Barona, from Savannah, rescued the crew of the wrecked ship Regatta, from Philadelphia, which went to pieces in a gale on the 4th inst. Two of the crew died from exposure; the rest took a boat and raft, and are still missing.

The defendant appealed from the judgment of $500 in the libel case of Bent vs. Lawes. Edinburgh, 21.—Five of the Glasgow dynamite on trial here were found guilty on all charges, and sentenced to imprisonment for life. The other five were found guilty of the first charge only and sentenced to seven years penal servitude. The following prisoners were sentenced to life: James McDermott, Thomas Delaney, Peter Callaghan, Henry McAnn and Patrick McCullough. Seven years: Jas. O'Donnelly, Jas. Kelly, Patrick McCabe, Patrick Drann and Dennis Casey.

General Items. PARIS, 21.—Admiral Courbet is granted a grand officer of the Legion of Honor. Admiral Courbet in his official report states that three officers and sixty seven men were killed and ten officers and 70 men wounded before Sontay on the 14th. Admiral Peyron, Minister of Marine, received the following from Sontay, dated the 17th: "Sontay is sorry the order was carried out by assault at 6 Sunday evening. The attack began at 11 in the morning. The assault was made at 5 in the evening, with a bravery above all praise, by the foreign legion, together with marines, infantry and sailors. The flotilla assisted in the bombardment. The citadel was evacuated during the night, and occupied on the morning of the 17th without firing. We do not yet know whether the Black Flags, rebel Annamites and Chinese have fled. It is impossible to learn their losses. We lost about 15 killed, including one officer, and 60 wounded, including five officers.

The paper publishes the following from Cairo: The King of Abyssinia is missing troops at Adua, threatening Mesowah. It is stated that about Dec. 1st the Abyssinian chiefs attacked the entrenched Egyptian position near Mesowah, and massacred 500 Egyptians. This is the opinion of Hon. Carter H. Harrison, Mayor of Chicago, Ill., concerning St. Jacobs Oil: "When I found myself suffering from rheumatism, I used St. Jacobs Oil and found it excellent for that ailment." Mr. J. S. LeFavour, artist, Salem, Mass., says his rheumatism was routed by St. Jacobs Oil.

AYER'S

Cherry Pectoral.

No other complaints are so insidious in their attack as those affecting the throat and lungs: one so trifled with by the majority of sufferers. The ordinary cough or cold, resulting perhaps from a trifling or unconscious exposure, is often but the beginning of a fatal sickness. AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL has proven its efficacy in a forty years' fight with throat and lung diseases, and should be taken in all cases without delay. A Terrible Cough Cured. "In 1867 I took a severe cold, which affected my lungs. I had a terrible cough, and passed night after night without sleep. The doctors gave me small and frequent doses of PECTORAL, which relieved my lungs, induced sleep, and afforded me the rest necessary for the recovery of my strength. By the continued use of the PECTORAL, a permanent cure was effected. I am now 65 years old, hale and hearty, and am satisfied your CHERRY PECTORAL saved me. HOWARD FAIRBROTHER. Rockingham, Vt., July 15, 1882.

Croup.—A Mother's Tribute. "While in the country last winter my little boy, three years old, was taken ill with croup; it seemed as if he would die with it. I tried all the remedies I could find, but nothing seemed to do him any good. One of the family suggested the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, and I bought a bottle, which was always kept in the house. This little child in less than half an hour the little patient was breathing easily. The doctor said that the CHERRY PECTORAL had cured my darling's life. Can you wonder at our gratitude? Sincerely yours, Mrs. EMMA GEDNEY. 120 West 128th St., New York, May 16, 1882.

"I have used AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL in my family for several years, and do not hesitate to pronounce it the most effective remedy for coughs and colds we have ever tried. J. W. CRANE. Lake Crystal, Minn., March 15, 1882.

"I suffered for eight years from Bronchitis, and after trying many remedies with no success, I was cured by the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. JOSEPH W. WILSON. Byline, Miss., April 6, 1882.

CHERRY PECTORAL, believed as I do that but for its use I should long since have died from lung trouble. Palestine, Texas, April 22, 1882.

No case of an affection of the throat or lungs exists which cannot be greatly relieved by the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, and it will always cure when the disease is not already beyond the control of medicine. PREPARED BY Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass. Sold by all Druggists.
