

CORRESPONDENCE.

TWO MORE VICTIMS.

SPANISH FORK,
October 1st, 1886.

Editor Deseret News:

This morning about daylight Deputy Marshals Redfield of Provo, Vandercook and, I believe, Smith, made a raid and arrested our worthy Bishop, G. D. Snell, and one of our best citizens, Sylvester Bradford, presumably on the charge of leading virtuous lives—i. e., living with and supporting their wives and children and of acting toward them as true husbands and fathers.

ABOUT THE ROCK SPRINGS MEETING HOUSE.

Rock Springs, Wyoming,
September 29th, 1886.

Editor Deseret News:

I see by the Salt Lake Tribune of September 26th, that Barlow, of the Budget, and Palmer, of the Rawlins Tribune, are in a very bad way. Poor fellows, I feel sorry for them. Their digestive organs must be sadly in need of repair, and would urge upon them the necessity of consulting some prominent physician, before they become incurable, for it seems to me that their malady is in a pretty far advanced stage or they would never give utterance to such sentiments as are quoted in the paper first named. And all forsooth because a few harmless, inoffensive and law-abiding "Mormons" have concluded to erect a place to hold their religious services in.

I am glad to see that the decent citizens of Rock Springs and all other towns, have more sense than to listen to the frothy ebullitions that issue from the mouths of bigots.

Take the people of Rock Springs as a whole and they are an intelligent community, and instead of listening to the prompting of the two parties referred to they feel more like assisting the "Mormons" in the erection of their meeting house.

"For shame," the editors say to the people of Rock Springs. More shame say I, and all intelligent people echo the sentiment, that any person should advocate such proceedings as the throwing of rotten eggs and administering tar and feathers. How low indeed must men have sunk that will use such arguments as the driving out of the hard-working people because they desire to erect a place of worship, and yet such men talk of the enlightenment of the 19th century, with its religion and boasted civilization. If we "Mormons" are in the wrong, why not come with your Bibles and ministers and convert us from the error of our ways, and not use force, which is the argument of fools and knaves?

Respectfully, ALMENS.

The setting of civil cases to be tried in the Third District Court during this term will be made to-morrow morning.
