Ira Beckstead Says Flemming

SUSPECTED WERE BAD MEN.

Pair of Alleged Desperadoes Were Captured by Posse After Hard Running Fight.

John Flemming, one of the alleged robbers run to earth at Bingham Junction after a hard running fight on May 7, was before Judge George G. Armstrong this morning for his trial on the charge of robbery. He was represented by Attorney Harry S. Harper, and the state's case is being conducted by Willard Hanson, county attorney. The trial is before a jury of eight.

Flemming, it is charged in the information, is one of the two men, the other being John Moore, who were found in a pit at Bingham Junction by Deputy Sheriff Ira Beckstead and Nella Anderson. Beckstead demanded a showing by the men as to their occupation and intentions, suspecting them to be robbers, when Flemming, it is charged, resented Beckstead's acts, and rushing upon him, grappled with him and disarmed him.

According to the testimony in court this morning, the robbers had the drop on the officers and there was nothing for them to do but surrender. The men then disappeared. A posse was formed, and after a hard running fight with the men, they were captured in the brush some distance from the smaller town.

Elmer Hill says in his demurrer filed today that his wife's answer to his complaint filed some time ago is "evasive, garbled and not a true and correct account between the parties." The suit of Hill was brought against his wife for an accounting of his estate, which he turned over to her on account of being in poor health. He asserts that she now refuses to turn it over to him. He refuses to acknowledge bills for military and dress making amounting to $300, because, he claims, it is no part of an account between himself and his wife.

SALT LAKE ROAD PLACES ORDER

For Ten Million Barrels of Fuel
Oil—Raise is Anticipated.

CONTRACT EXTENDS TO 1912.

More Than Twice Amount Stipulated
May Be Used During Next
Five Years.

Special Correspondence.
Los Angeles, Sept. 18.—A contract involving the delivery of more than 10,000,000 barrels of fuel oil has been made by the Salt Lake Road, Los Angeles and Salt Lake railroad company, otherwise known as the Clark road and the Sunset Road oil company, of which H. A. Blodgett is manager. The significance of the deal of oilmen, apart from the great quantity of fuel to be handled, is the recognition on the part of the transportation company that the price for oil is bound to be progressive. In the contract it is provided and mutually agreed by the two parties that the rate shall be 30 cents a barrel in 1908, 32 cents for oil delivered in 1909, and 40 cents a barrel for oil delivered in 1911 and 1912.

FIVE YEARS SUPPLY.

The railroad stipulates that the oil must be delivered f. o. b. in cars to be supplied by the railroad company at Monarch or any other point on the Sunset railroad line between Monarch and the present terminus of the road. The Clark road has virtually arranged to get all the fuel oil it will need for locomotives, stationary engines, stationary boilers, for road use or any purpose for a term of five years, from Blodgett and his associates. The period of delivery will begin on January 1 next. Between now and January 1 next there must be stored, under the terms of the agreement, 200,000 barrels of oil to provide for delivery on the first of the coming year. The oil must range between 12 and 17 degrees, Baume test.

MUST MEET DEMAND.

According to estimates that are made by oilmen this big contract may call for the delivery of as high as 30,000,000 barrels. The oil company has to meet all the needs of the railroad company in the matter of supply. An amount between 3,000,000 and 5,000,000 is involved in the contract, varying according to the estimated quantities of oil to be consumed and the proffered price from 30 to 40 cents a barrel. The contract has been signed by C. M. Beal and Fay C. Beal for the Sunset Road oil company, H. A. Blodgett and James Goodwin for the Operators' Oil company, and R. W. Wells, the general manager, and W. H. Comstock, the secretary of the Salt Lake Road, Los Angeles and Salt Lake Railroad company.

In 1852 she was baptized into the church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, came to America in 1864 and two years later settled in Lehi, where she has resided from that time until the day of her death. When 15 years of age, Mary Ann Smith became the wife of George Comer, and they had a family of five children, three sons and two daughters. Eight of these still survive, four boys and four girls. The funeral will be held tomorrow, commencing at 1 o'clock, from the new tabernacle.

work of improvement and betterment, and pledge a full value in good work for money expended. The benefit of American control have not only been manifest in the abundant and unlimited water supply, in the public improvements and municipal progress, but also in the increase of population and in the healthy state of business, as manifested in the enhanced bank clearings and in the increased activity of all forms of commerce and trade. The great works of improvement in progress here have called forth approving comments from all visitors, and the general public of the county have, by their conduct, become convinced that Salt Lake City is the best city of the west, with the most assured position and future. Our gain in population is 15,000 in a single year, a remarkable contrast with conditions five years ago, when people were leaving by the thousands. The American party, it is pointed out, is the only party that is not content with the public approval of both. And it takes as its rallying cry the well-approved saying that the best advantage Salt Lake can have is to be free of the party politics, and to be known as an American city. And under the folds of the American flag we will stand on to a well-deserved victory at the polls.

WILLIAM NELSON,
Chairman.
G. M. SULLIVAN,
Secretary.

TROUBLE BEGINS.

Resolution Declaring Salt Lake is for "Americans" Only Starts It.

At 1:20 p. m. Chairman D. C. Dunbar called the meeting to order; and the American party, immediately speaking by Joseph Lippman, who introduced a resolution supplementary to those passed in the ward conventions last night, pledging all office holders to support only "Americans." It immediately precipitated a fight of large sized proportions between different factions of the so-called "American" party. Alvin T. Scanlon, who has been a member in behalf of leaving the various incumbents of office free to execute their duty as they saw fit, and for a party of followers in the party, immediately moved to table the supplementary resolution. Chairman Dunbar then ruled that further discussion was out of order, and was proceeding to put the question on the resolution. Joseph Lippman was on his feet in a moment, claiming the right to defend his resolution, while half a dozen others in the body of the house clamored for a hearing on the same. Dunbar summarily announced that there would be no further discussion on the matter, but was overruled by a flood of protests from all over the house.

THE RESOLUTION.

The resolution introduced by Mr. Lippman, which caused all the trouble, was as follows:

"Resolved, That it be the sense of this convention that all nominees of this party shall pledge to support only Americans, and that the American party shall stand on guard, and to that end we recommend that in the appointive positions which may be held by the candidates for this year, preference be given in every instance to American party adherents, and that they assist American party councilmen in every possible way to carry out the intent and purpose of this resolution; and be it further

"Resolved, That it be the sense of this convention that the officers this year nominated shall pledge themselves to work in harmony with the city committee of the American party in order to carry out its full intent, purpose and object, and that they shall insist upon, to-wit: that only faithful adherents and staunch supporters of the American party be named in all appointive positions; and be it further

"Resolved, That should any candidate nominated on the American ticket in this convention or by the American party be elected, full to carry out the purpose and intent of the ideas herein expressed and which the members of this convention understand to be the intent of harmony and party responsibility that the members so offending shall after due and proper investigation by the city committee of the American party be called to an accounting and if he fails to satisfactorily explain his position to said city committee that then in that event the said offending member for his resignation, and this resolution shall be the warrant for the said city committee in so doing."

JUDGE HOAG OBJECTS.

Judge Hoag replied to a suggestion that the convention had to get out of the building before 5 o'clock, and that therefore the resolution and better not be discussed by declaring that he would like to see the convention kicked out before 5 o'clock if it should pass such a contemptible resolution. "No self-respecting man," he thundered, "should accept a nomination from this convention today bound by that resolution."

SPEECHES THICK AND FAST.

Speeches followed thick and fast for over an hour. E. B. Critchlow declared that if the "American" party stands for anything, it stands for the resolution, and that this resolution was an effort to establish the domination of the city committee within the party.

S. P. ARMSTRONG.

It is the power to call upon the resolutions and to explain to the city committee when he fails to do his duty and enables the city committee to call him down, and not an attempt to dictate.

COUNCILMAN HOBBS.

I refuse to stand by this resolution. If you adopt this you make the mistake of your life. We were elected on a platform which says we are not to be dictated to. I refuse to accept this dictation. If you pass this resolution, I quit.

LIPPMAN CLOSURE.

Joe Lippman got the floor to close the debate. He declared that men who were in office and every opportunity to make the party "I give away no secret," he said. "I say that Mayor Thompson was sick and tired of the whole business, because councilmen whom I will not name tied his hands and made him unable to appoint 'Americans.' These councilmen were reckless of their promises, and heedless of their obligations. They had the swollen head, and we as the power given the city committee to call such men up and hand them with the stigma of traitors."

The debate would not stop here. W. M. Flannery advanced to the center and admitted a chorus of hisses declared the resolutions to be a slur on every candidate who should be named here today, and that he was against it first last and all the time.

Councilman Hobbs said: "I am an American. I was nominated as one of your candidates last night, but if you pass this resolution you may have my resignation (cheers and hisses) here and now. I don't propose to accept the nomination with a resolution of that kind attached to this convention. I will do my duty as an American, but I refuse to stand for such a resolution."

Councilman Black also objected. He said: "Such a resolution is a disgrace to the candidates whom you have named and is un-American."

RESOLUTION WITHDRAWN.

At this point Joseph Lippman arose advanced to the center of the stage and said: "In view of the opposition, I wish to withdraw the amendment."

SECOND COMPLAINT.

Warrant Issued for Arrest of Samuel
G. Spencer Today.

The friends of Samuel G. Spencer were surprised today to learn of his arrest on a complaint charging him with an "attempt at criminal assault" on Hannah Ida Wallace. It will be remembered that he was formerly arrested on a charge of assault in the same case, and that Judge Whitaker, after hearing the testimony of the girl, discharged the defendant, without requiring him to put his witnesses on the stand.

The present complaint was filed before Judge Diehl, and a warrant issued. Mr. Spencer was notified by Sheriff Emery, and he at once appeared for arraignment, expressing a desire for a speedy hearing.

Assistant County Atty. Job P. Lyon asked that Mr. Spencer be arraigned, making that the defendant, the reading of the complaint and enter a plea of not guilty.

The matter of bonds was then discussed. Mr. Lyon stated that when Mr. Spencer was arrested before Judge Whitaker fixed the bonds in the sum of $3,000 and he thought the same should apply in this case.

Before I was charged with having committed the offense, said Mr. Spencer, "Now I am charged merely with having attempted it. I would furnish the same amount if it were placed at a less amount it would save me considerable trouble and expense."

Judge Diehl declined to release the bond and ordered it fixed at $3,000. The bond was furnished by the Utah Savings and Trust company, though several of Mr. Spencer's friends were willing to sign.

The question of a date for a preliminary examination was discussed in court and Mr. Spencer stated he desired to defer it until the first open date was given him and the case set for Sept. 27.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL.

The wedding of Miss Louise Wey and Vaughn A. Paul last night was most elaborate, the ceremony being performed at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wey, by Bishop Scanlon and a large reception following. The rooms were brilliantly lit and decorated, the colors being white and green, effectively carried out in asters, pinks and palms. The bride party stood in a bow of these, and all available places were filled with the dainty ferns and flowers. The table in the dining room was a picture with its central bowl of cut glass filled with brides' roses and festoons of amilax and streamers.
