

WEATHER REPORT.

Record at the local office of the weather bureau for the 24 hours ending at 6 a. m. today:

Barometer reading at 6 a. m., 25.58 inches; temperature at 4 a. m., 32 degrees; maximum, 41; minimum, 29; wind, 24, which is 3 degrees above normal.

Deficiency of daily mean temperature since the first of the month, 32 degrees.

Accumulated deficiency of daily mean temperature since January 1, 44 degrees.

Precipitation since first of month, .06 inch, which is .16 inch below the normal.

Accumulated deficiency in precipitation since January 1, .30 inch.

FORECASTS TILL 6 P. M. FRIDAY.

Local forecast for Salt Lake City and vicinity:

Rain or snow tonight and Friday.

Forecast for Utah, made at Denver, Colo.:

Generally fair tonight and Friday.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

An area of low pressure is central along the Washington and Oregon coast and secondary lows lie over southern Utah and Oklahoma. An area of high pressure covers the northern Rocky Mountain slope. Precipitation has occurred along the coast as far south as San Francisco, over Nevada, northern Montana, western Nebraska, along the middle gulf coast. It is generally warmer over the Rocky Mountain slope and the central valleys.

L. H. MURDOCH,
Section Director.

TODAY'S TEMPERATURE.

10 a. m., 34; 11 a. m., 37; 12 o'clock noon, 40; 1 p. m., 43; 2 p. m., 42.

NEWS TELEPHONE NUMBERS.

City Editor 359
Business Office (2 rings) . . . 380
Business Manager (3 rings) . . 389

To-day's Metals.

SILVER, Bar, 55 1/4 cents.
LEAD, $3.50
CASTING COPPER 11 1/2 cents a lb.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

Miss Florence L. Parry was last evening taken home from the Holy Cross hospital, very much improved in health.

The Utah Democratic club will meet this evening in the office of George D. Alder and discuss the question of the celebration of Jackson's day.

The members of the Salt Lake press will meet in the Central block on Sunday afternoon, to perfect the organization of the Press club, which was instituted here a week or so ago.

Ammon B. Reynolds, of Murray, has filed a petition for divorce in the federal court. His wife is scheduled at $1,354.59 and his assets at $1,705, of which $450 is claimed to be exempt.

At present there are detained at the city jail in charge of Jailer Kimball twenty prisoners. For some unknown reason they are not working on the county farm now. Jailer Kimball reports that he has just thirty prisoners under his care.

Thomas Conners, better known in Brigham as the "Fighting Irish Man," was released from the county jail this morning after having served twenty-five days for using his fists on a minor offense. He is now being held in the county jail for a delinquent for jail time that he declares he will never fight again.

Judge Diehl was greatly surprised and not a little indignant last evening when he received the seal of the new city court sent up by Recorder Nye from the wardens of the jail. "City court, city and county of Salt Lake," in the center is an impression of the Salt Lake temple, under which is the word "Utah." Judge Diehl said he thought the design was ridiculous and he would see to it that it was changed.

Salt Lake is to enter the contest for another stock convention. Mayor Thompson has authorized Mr. T. C. Power, president of the Pacific Northwest Wool Growers' association, which is to meet in session in Helena, to make the association to meet here next year. The matter will come up for a vote this afternoon some time and Salt Lake stands a very good show to win the contest.

Cornets or trumpets in C appear to be rare in this market. Several inquiries have been made for such instruments here in the last few months without success. Cornets or trumpets in C are used for playing with the piano or organ—mostly in church service or in the parlor, and are not used in bands or orchestras. In these latter organizations the same instruments are in B or E flat, and when played with piano or organ transposition is necessary.

The Signal Corps boys will give an individual drill for the gold medal offered by the officers this Thursday night. The drill will include manual of arms with carbines, and the fast and the men make a mistake they will drop out of the ranks. The use of "catch" commands, designed to trap the boys who are not on the alert for tricks will be up to the commander. The drill is for the spectators. The last drill of this character lasted fifty-two minutes before "the last armed foe expired."

County Assessor Eldredge has received an opinion from County Attorney Christensen relative to the duty of corporations in filling out statistical blanks issued by the commissioner. The assessor holds that on failure of a corporation to fill out statistical blanks left by the assessor to be caused by the assessor to fill out the blanks for them. The county attorney holds also that when the assessor has left blanks with a corporation and demanded and used all the means in his power to prevail on them to fill out the blanks, his duty in the premises are at an end after he has notified the commissioner of statistics of this failure.

Zion's Savings Bank and Trust Company was established in 1873, and has since opened more than 25,000 savings accounts. Have you an account?

JOSEPH F. SMITH, President.
GEORGE M. CANNON, Cashier.

UTAH COMMERCIAL AND SAVINGS BANK.

Interest paid on savings. W. F. Armstrong, president. P. W. Madsen, vice-president. J. B. Cairns, cashier.

MURRAY CASE CONTINUED.

Hearing of Alleged Robber Goes Over Until Tomorrow.

The hearing of Andrew Murray on the charge of robbing a Chinaman several months ago, did not take place this morning, but was continued until tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock, at which time the case will be disposed of. The continuance was granted in order to procure witnesses who are out of the city.

WAYNE BROWN SERIOUSLY HURT

Run Under Street Car While Coasting on D Street.

Wayne Brown, the 11-year-old son of Hal Brown, of the firm of Brown & Black, saddlers, is lying in the Holy Cross hospital painfully drawing his breath and hovering on the brink of the grave. He is the victim of just such an accident as many people of Salt Lake have been waiting, with bated breath, to hear of, ever since sufficient snow fell this winter to afford coasting. Wayne was riding down the D street hill on a schooner with his brother Ralph and his cousin, Willie Angell, aged 15.

BOYS TAKEN TO HOSPITAL.

Brother and Cousin On Same Sleigh But They Escape With Slight Injuries.

Instead of taking to the middle of the road the boys coasted on the sidewalk, thus increasing the danger of their short 30 per cent. While the schooner with the happy boys was gliding rapidly down the hill between First and Second streets the first street car was speeding eastward and it seemed that the two were being drawn together by some powerful force. The motorman could not see the boys nor did the boys under the excitement of the moment, hear the car. When the latter was within a few feet of the crossing the boys leaped across the motorman's vision and although the horror of the situation seemed to transfix him, like a flash a reversed the current and mechanically applied the brakes in fear. The car stopped just in time. There was a crash, but it was not a very serious one. The boys were thrown through the air and a sickening crash. The car forced on for at least twenty feet and when the motorman and the frightened passengers got out to see what had happened they found the two boys lying on the sidewalk. The boy who had been coasting with the happy boys was gliding rapidly down the hill between First and Second streets the first street car was speeding eastward and it seemed that the two were being drawn together by some powerful force. The motorman could not see the boys nor did the boys under the excitement of the moment, hear the car. When the latter was within a few feet of the crossing the boys leaped across the motorman's vision and although the horror of the situation seemed to transfix him, like a flash a reversed the current and mechanically applied the brakes in fear. The car stopped just in time. There was a crash, but it was not a very serious one. The boys were thrown through the air and a sickening crash. The car forced on for at least twenty feet and when the motorman and the frightened passengers got out to see what had happened they found the two boys lying on the sidewalk.

THEY WERE TAKEN TO HOSPITAL.

Wayne Brown, the 11-year-old son of Hal Brown, of the firm of Brown & Black, saddlers, is lying in the Holy Cross hospital painfully drawing his breath and hovering on the brink of the grave. He is the victim of just such an accident as many people of Salt Lake have been waiting, with bated breath, to hear of, ever since sufficient snow fell this winter to afford coasting. Wayne was riding down the D street hill on a schooner with his brother Ralph and his cousin, Willie Angell, aged 15.

BOYS TAKEN TO HOSPITAL.

Brother and Cousin On Same Sleigh But They Escape With Slight Injuries.

Instead of taking to the middle of the road the boys coasted on the sidewalk, thus increasing the danger of their short 30 per cent. While the schooner with the happy boys was gliding rapidly down the hill between First and Second streets the first street car was speeding eastward and it seemed that the two were being drawn together by some powerful force. The motorman could not see the boys nor did the boys under the excitement of the moment, hear the car. When the latter was within a few feet of the crossing the boys leaped across the motorman's vision and although the horror of the situation seemed to transfix him, like a flash a reversed the current and mechanically applied the brakes in fear. The car stopped just in time. There was a crash, but it was not a very serious one. The boys were thrown through the air and a sickening crash. The car forced on for at least twenty feet and when the motorman and the frightened passengers got out to see what had happened they found the two boys lying on the sidewalk.

THEY WERE TAKEN TO HOSPITAL.

Brother and Cousin On Same Sleigh But They Escape With Slight Injuries.

Instead of taking to the middle of the road the boys coasted on the sidewalk, thus increasing the danger of their short 30 per cent. While the schooner with the happy boys was gliding rapidly down the hill between First and Second streets the first street car was speeding eastward and it seemed that the two were being drawn together by some powerful force. The motorman could not see the boys nor did the boys under the excitement of the moment, hear the car. When the latter was within a few feet of the crossing the boys leaped across the motorman's vision and although the horror of the situation seemed to transfix him, like a flash a reversed the current and mechanically applied the brakes in fear. The car stopped just in time. There was a crash, but it was not a very serious one. The boys were thrown through the air and a sickening crash. The car forced on for at least twenty feet and when the motorman and the frightened passengers got out to see what had happened they found the two boys lying on the sidewalk.

THEY WERE TAKEN TO HOSPITAL.

Brother and Cousin On Same Sleigh But They Escape With Slight Injuries.

Instead of taking to the middle of the road the boys coasted on the sidewalk, thus increasing the danger of their short 30 per cent. While the schooner with the happy boys was gliding rapidly down the hill between First and Second streets the first street car was speeding eastward and it seemed that the two were being drawn together by some powerful force. The motorman could not see the boys nor did the boys under the excitement of the moment, hear the car. When the latter was within a few feet of the crossing the boys leaped across the motorman's vision and although the horror of the situation seemed to transfix him, like a flash a reversed the current and mechanically applied the brakes in fear. The car stopped just in time. There was a crash, but it was not a very serious one. The boys were thrown through the air and a sickening crash. The car forced on for at least twenty feet and when the motorman and the frightened passengers got out to see what had happened they found the two boys lying on the sidewalk.

THEY WERE TAKEN TO HOSPITAL.

Brother and Cousin On Same Sleigh But They Escape With Slight Injuries.

Instead of taking to the middle of the road the boys coasted on the sidewalk, thus increasing the danger of their short 30 per cent. While the schooner with the happy boys was gliding rapidly down the hill between First and Second streets the first street car was speeding eastward and it seemed that the two were being drawn together by some powerful force. The motorman could not see the boys nor did the boys under the excitement of the moment, hear the car. When the latter was within a few feet of the crossing the boys leaped across the motorman's vision and although the horror of the situation seemed to transfix him, like a flash a reversed the current and mechanically applied the brakes in fear. The car stopped just in time. There was a crash, but it was not a very serious one. The boys were thrown through the air and a sickening crash. The car forced on for at least twenty feet and when the motorman and the frightened passengers got out to see what had happened they found the two boys lying on the sidewalk.

THEY WERE TAKEN TO HOSPITAL.

Brother and Cousin On Same Sleigh But They Escape With Slight Injuries.

Instead of taking to the middle of the road the boys coasted on the sidewalk, thus increasing the danger of their short 30 per cent. While the schooner with the happy boys was gliding rapidly down the hill between First and Second streets the first street car was speeding eastward and it seemed that the two were being drawn together by some powerful force. The motorman could not see the boys nor did the boys under the excitement of the moment, hear the car. When the latter was within a few feet of the crossing the boys leaped across the motorman's vision and although the horror of the situation seemed to transfix him, like a flash a reversed the current and mechanically applied the brakes in fear. The car stopped just in time. There was a crash, but it was not a very serious one. The boys were thrown through the air and a sickening crash. The car forced on for at least twenty feet and when the motorman and the frightened passengers got out to see what had happened they found the two boys lying on the sidewalk.

THEY WERE TAKEN TO HOSPITAL.

Brother and Cousin On Same Sleigh But They Escape With Slight Injuries.

Instead of taking to the middle of the road the boys coasted on the sidewalk, thus increasing the danger of their short 30 per cent. While the schooner with the happy boys was gliding rapidly down the hill between First and Second streets the first street car was speeding eastward and it seemed that the two were being drawn together by some powerful force. The motorman could not see the boys nor did the boys under the excitement of the moment, hear the car. When the latter was within a few feet of the crossing the boys leaped across the motorman's vision and although the horror of the situation seemed to transfix him, like a flash a reversed the current and mechanically applied the brakes in fear. The car stopped just in time. There was a crash, but it was not a very serious one. The boys were thrown through the air and a sickening crash. The car forced on for at least twenty feet and when the motorman and the frightened passengers got out to see what had happened they found the two boys lying on the sidewalk.

THEY WERE TAKEN TO HOSPITAL.

Brother and Cousin On Same Sleigh But They Escape With Slight Injuries.

Instead of taking to the middle of the road the boys coasted on the sidewalk, thus increasing the danger of their short 30 per cent. While the schooner with the happy boys was gliding rapidly down the hill between First and Second streets the first street car was speeding eastward and it seemed that the two were being drawn together by some powerful force. The motorman could not see the boys nor did the boys under the excitement of the moment, hear the car. When the latter was within a few feet of the crossing the boys leaped across the motorman's vision and although the horror of the situation seemed to transfix him, like a flash a reversed the current and mechanically applied the brakes in fear. The car stopped just in time. There was a crash, but it was not a very serious one. The boys were thrown through the air and a sickening crash. The car forced on for at least twenty feet and when the motorman and the frightened passengers got out to see what had happened they found the two boys lying on the sidewalk.

APPLICATION DENIED.

Judge Morse Refused Habeas Corpus Writ Last Night.

Judge Morse last evening denied the application of John W. Nash for a writ of habeas corpus and decided thereby that the act creating the new city courts and designating who was to act as clerk thereof was clearly constitutional. Nash was convicted about ten days ago on the charge of petit larceny and was sentenced to sixty days in jail, but upon application for a writ of habeas corpus, was released under $100 bonds. Attorney James F. Smith appeared in behalf of Nash and attacked the constitutionality of the act creating the courts on the ground that the act is a violation of section 23 of the revised statutes of Utah, providing that a city recorder shall not hold more than one office during the term for which he is elected. Mr. Smith argued that the office of ex-officio clerk of the city court is a separate and distinct office created under the new act and hence is contrary to the provisions of the statute relating to the recorder. He also argued that the act creating the court was in violation of section 9, article 4 of the constitution, which provides that general elections shall be held biennially, because the first term of the city judges is three years.

HAD TWO SURPRISES.

Gold and Blue Flag and Leather Bound Books Presented to L.S. University.

Students of the Latter-day Saints University carried out two very pleasant surprises on their alma mater yesterday. The first occurred at the general meeting, and consisted of a flag, presented. Students Harlow Grow, W. M. Worthington, Ruel Walton and Jane Pixon were responsible for this happy affair. They had, unknown to all others, purchased materials and made a rich and beautiful flag in gold and blue, the university colors, and took students and teachers by surprise in a well planned presentation during the evening session. Also Pixon presented the emblem in a warm and appropriate speech, which received prolonged applause. Then some students called for the college song and the Gold and Blue was sung with enthusiasm. President Fawcett, in behalf of the school accepted the gift, expressing sentiments of appreciation for the thoughtful and generous act of the donors. Last evening at the missionary class, conducted by Elder Benjamin J. Goddard, another surprise was carried out. The president of the university, during a visit to the class, extended an invitation to its members to join in the grand march of the university. In response to the invitation, proceeded to say that the members of the evening missionary class felt a deep sense of gratitude to the institution for its efforts in their behalf, and for the honor which it had conferred upon them. The president of the class, extended an invitation to its members to join in the grand march of the university. In response to the invitation, proceeded to say that the members of the evening missionary class felt a deep sense of gratitude to the institution for its efforts in their behalf, and for the honor which it had conferred upon them.

DIFFER IN OPINION.

County Attorney and Attorney General At Variance.

County Attorney Christensen dissents in a very pronounced manner from an opinion recently given by Attorney General Breeden, regarding the duties of assessors in connection with the gathering of data for the bureau of statistics. In the opinion the attorney general held that the assessor or his deputy is required to get the information in question, interrogate the taxpayer, and moreover the blanks must be filled out by the taxpayer or the official and returned to the commissioner of the bureau of statistics. The position taken by County Attorney Christensen is diametrically opposed to the above. In giving his opinion to County Assessor Eldredge yesterday afternoon, he held that when the assessor or deputy delivers the blanks to a taxpayer and requests that they be filled out, and the taxpayer refuses, the assessor has discharged his full duty when he reports the fact to the commissioner.

VERY NARROW ESCAPE.

Mrs. Ida Smoot Dusenberry Dragged Under Capsized Buggy.

Mrs. Ida Smoot Dusenberry of Provo left this city this morning for Washington to attend the convention of women, but she had an experience last evening that threatened not only to prevent her going East but to end her life. She was returning from the R. G. W. depot, to the home of Bishop G. H. Taylor, where she was stopping, and was in a buggy that belonged to the Bishop and was driven by his son, Claud. On reaching Second West street, where the road is paved, the horse slipped and the buggy was tipped over on its side. Mrs. Dusenberry was thrown out of the buggy and landed on the sidewalk. She was not hurt, but the buggy was completely demolished and now occupies a place in the street.

PROTECTION FOR FLOCKS.

William Daley, the big flockmaster, has returned from Omaha where he conferred with the officials of the Union Pacific with reference to the company protecting the Carbon County Wool Growers' association from the depredations of sheep thieves.

UNION MEN CRY "SCAB."

Two Electrical Strikers Exhibit Bad Spirit Towards Non-Union Man.

The efforts of the electric workers, who are on a strike, to carry on their contention in a lawful and peaceable manner failed yesterday afternoon, so far, at least, as two of the strikers are concerned. William Daley, a big flockmaster, who is not a union man and last evening when he was returning to Allen's shop from the place where he had been at work he was followed by two of the union men who induced him to join them and crying "scab," they had gained the shop the men, it is said, stood on the outside and cried to William Daley to join them. He refused to do so and they "let" him. Mr. Allen heard the shouting and he sent himself at the door and announced his readiness to accommodate them with all the excitement they wanted, but they felt that they were wanted by the union men.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL.

This evening in Christensen's hall the students of the Salt Lake Business college will tender a reception and dance to the faculty. Very attractive invitations have been issued, but lest some of the students should be overlooked, the committee wish to extend a general invitation to all these and their friends.

Mr. and Mrs. George K. Fischer left for California yesterday.

A double wedding took place in the temple yesterday, the participants being Miss Annie Jones and Miss Mildred Williams. The bridesmaids were Misses Roberts, of this city. In the evening a reception was given for them at the Mantou by Proprietor J. E. Jones, who is the uncle of both brides. The newly married parties will reside at the Mantou.

Fort Douglas Officer Restored.

President Roosevelt's Decision Setting Aside Decision of Manila Court Makes Lieutenant Howell a Free Man—Nature of His Offense.

Last evening's dispatches noted the action of the President in setting aside the decision of the Manila court-martial of last May, which sentenced Lieut. J. P. Howell of the Sixth artillery to dismissal from the army for too foolsome a gambol with Bacchus. This matter is of interest in this city, inasmuch as the officer has been stationed at Fort Douglas under arrest ever since the Twelfth battery came over from the islands, awaiting the President's action. Lieut. Howell is a fine looking man, and has the reputation of being an accomplished officer, and during his sojourn at Fort Douglas has conducted himself with perfect propriety. There his record perfect to his little island "bat" has been excellent; so that in view of all the circumstances and conditions, the President can think it wise to execute the raw demands of justice when he had her war shoes on.

THEY WERE TAKEN TO HOSPITAL.

Brother and Cousin On Same Sleigh But They Escape With Slight Injuries.

Instead of taking to the middle of the road the boys coasted on the sidewalk, thus increasing the danger of their short 30 per cent. While the schooner with the happy boys was gliding rapidly down the hill between First and Second streets the first street car was speeding eastward and it seemed that the two were being drawn together by some powerful force. The motorman could not see the boys nor did the boys under the excitement of the moment, hear the car. When the latter was within a few feet of the crossing the boys leaped across the motorman's vision and although the horror of the situation seemed to transfix him, like a flash a reversed the current and mechanically applied the brakes in fear. The car stopped just in time. There was a crash, but it was not a very serious one. The boys were thrown through the air and a sickening crash. The car forced on for at least twenty feet and when the motorman and the frightened passengers got out to see what had happened they found the two boys lying on the sidewalk.

THEY WERE TAKEN TO HOSPITAL.

Brother and Cousin On Same Sleigh But They Escape With Slight Injuries.

Instead of taking to the middle of the road the boys coasted on the sidewalk, thus increasing the danger of their short 30 per cent. While the schooner with the happy boys was gliding rapidly down the hill between First and Second streets the first street car was speeding eastward and it seemed that the two were being drawn together by some powerful force. The motorman could not see the boys nor did the boys under the excitement of the moment, hear the car. When the latter was within a few feet of the crossing the boys leaped across the motorman's vision and although the horror of the situation seemed to transfix him, like a flash a reversed the current and mechanically applied the brakes in fear. The car stopped just in time. There was a crash, but it was not a very serious one. The boys were thrown through the air and a sickening crash. The car forced on for at least twenty feet and when the motorman and the frightened passengers got out to see what had happened they found the two boys lying on the sidewalk.

SUGAR SPEECH BY NOTED FARMER

Declared Before Committee on Ways and Means at Washington

BY THE HON. AARON JONES

What His Views Are on Lowering the Tariff on Cuban Sugar—Will be of Marked Interest in Utah.

Special Correspondence.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 31.—Among the various speeches delivered before the Ways and Means committee when the question of reducing the tariff on Cuban sugar was being considered, none was listened to with more interest than that of Hon. Aaron Jones, member of the national grange. A copy of Mr. Jones' speech has been furnished to the correspondent of the "News." It is as follows:

Mr. Jones: Mr. Chairman and gentlemen, I am a master of the National Grange, an organization which has its headquarters in the United States, and contains a membership of about 600,000 in the various states. It is an organization composed of farmers and represents in its membership, hence it is not party or political, a national organization, with state and subordinate branches. We are interested in seeing that the agricultural classes be protected in their right to agriculture and that the tariff on sugar be lowered.

THEY WERE TAKEN TO HOSPITAL.

Brother and Cousin On Same Sleigh But They Escape With Slight Injuries.

Instead of taking to the middle of the road the boys coasted on the sidewalk, thus increasing the danger of their short 30 per cent. While the schooner with the happy boys was gliding rapidly down the hill between First and Second streets the first street car was speeding eastward and it seemed that the two were being drawn together by some powerful force. The motorman could not see the boys nor did the boys under the excitement of the moment, hear the car. When the latter was within a few feet of the crossing the boys leaped across the motorman's vision and although the horror of the situation seemed to transfix him, like a flash a reversed the current and mechanically applied the brakes in fear. The car stopped just in time. There was a crash, but it was not a very serious one. The boys were thrown through the air and a sickening crash. The car forced on for at least twenty feet and when the motorman and the frightened passengers got out to see what had happened they found the two boys lying on the sidewalk.

THEY WERE TAKEN TO HOSPITAL.

Brother and Cousin On Same Sleigh But They Escape With Slight Injuries.

Instead of taking to the middle of the road the boys coasted on the sidewalk, thus increasing the danger of their short 30 per cent. While the schooner with the happy boys was gliding rapidly down the hill between First and Second streets the first street car was speeding eastward and it seemed that the two were being drawn together by some powerful force. The motorman could not see the boys nor did the boys under the excitement of the moment, hear the car. When the latter was within a few feet of the crossing the boys leaped across the motorman's vision and although the horror of the situation seemed to transfix him, like a flash a reversed the current and mechanically applied the brakes in fear. The car stopped just in time. There was a crash, but it was not a very serious one. The boys were thrown through the air and a sickening crash. The car forced on for at least twenty feet and when the motorman and the frightened passengers got out to see what had happened they found the two boys lying on the sidewalk.

THEY WERE TAKEN TO HOSPITAL.

Brother and Cousin On Same Sleigh But They Escape With Slight Injuries.

Instead of taking to the middle of the road the boys coasted on the sidewalk, thus increasing the danger of their short 30 per cent. While the schooner with the happy boys was gliding rapidly down the hill between First and Second streets the first street car was speeding eastward and it seemed that the two were being drawn together by some powerful force. The motorman could not see the boys nor did the boys under the excitement of the moment, hear the car. When the latter was within a few feet of the crossing the boys leaped across the motorman's vision and although the horror of the situation seemed to transfix him, like a flash a reversed the current and mechanically applied the brakes in fear. The car stopped just in time. There was a crash, but it was not a very serious one. The boys were thrown through the air and a sickening crash. The car forced on for at least twenty feet and when the motorman and the frightened passengers got out to see what had happened they found the two boys lying on the sidewalk.

THEY WERE TAKEN TO HOSPITAL.

Brother and Cousin On Same Sleigh But They Escape With Slight Injuries.

Instead of taking to the middle of the road the boys coasted on the sidewalk, thus increasing the danger of their short 30 per cent. While the schooner with the happy boys was gliding rapidly down the hill between First and Second streets the first street car was speeding eastward and it seemed that the two were being drawn together by some powerful force. The motorman could not see the boys nor did the boys under the excitement of the moment, hear the car. When the latter was within a few feet of the crossing the boys leaped across the motorman's vision and although the horror of the situation seemed to transfix him, like a flash a reversed the current and mechanically applied the brakes in fear. The car stopped just in time. There was a crash, but it was not a very serious one. The boys were thrown through the air and a sickening crash. The car forced on for at least twenty feet and when the motorman and the frightened passengers got out to see what had happened they found the two boys lying on the sidewalk.

THEY WERE TAKEN TO HOSPITAL.

Brother and Cousin On Same Sleigh But They Escape With Slight Injuries.

Instead of taking to the middle of the road the boys coasted on the sidewalk, thus increasing the danger of their short 30 per cent. While the schooner with the happy boys was gliding rapidly down the hill between First and Second streets the first street car was speeding eastward and it seemed that the two were being drawn together by some powerful force. The motorman could not see the boys nor did the boys under the excitement of the moment, hear the car. When the latter was within a few feet of the crossing the boys leaped across the motorman's vision and although the horror of the situation seemed to transfix him, like a flash a reversed the current and mechanically applied the brakes in fear. The car stopped just in time. There was a crash, but it was not a very serious one. The boys were thrown through the air and a sickening crash. The car forced on for at least twenty feet and when the motorman and the frightened passengers got out to see what had happened they found the two boys lying on the sidewalk.

THEY WERE TAKEN TO HOSPITAL.

Brother and Cousin On Same Sleigh But They Escape With Slight Injuries.

Instead of taking to the middle of the road the boys coasted on the sidewalk, thus increasing the danger of their short 30 per cent. While the schooner with the happy boys was gliding rapidly down the hill between First and Second streets the first street car was speeding eastward and it seemed that the two were being drawn together by some powerful force. The motorman could not see the boys nor did the boys under the excitement of the moment, hear the car. When the latter was within a few feet of the crossing the boys leaped across the motorman's vision and although the horror of the situation seemed to transfix him, like a flash a reversed the current and mechanically applied the brakes in fear. The car stopped just in time. There was a crash, but it was not a very serious one. The boys were thrown through the air and a sickening crash. The car forced on for at least twenty feet and when the motorman and the frightened passengers got out to see what had happened they found the two boys lying on the sidewalk.

THEY WERE TAKEN TO HOSPITAL.

Brother and Cousin On Same Sleigh But They Escape With Slight Injuries.

Instead of taking to the middle of the road the boys coasted on the sidewalk, thus increasing the danger of their short 30 per cent. While the schooner with the happy boys was gliding rapidly down the hill between First and Second streets the first street car was speeding eastward and it seemed that the two were being drawn together by some powerful force. The motorman could not see the boys nor did the boys under the excitement of the moment, hear the car. When the latter was within a few feet of the crossing the boys leaped across the motorman's vision and although the horror of the situation seemed to transfix him, like a flash a reversed the current and mechanically applied the brakes in fear. The car stopped just in time. There was a crash, but it was not a very serious one. The boys were thrown through the air and a sickening crash. The car forced on for at least twenty feet and when the motorman and the frightened passengers got out to see what had happened they found the two boys lying on the sidewalk.

THEY WERE TAKEN TO HOSPITAL.

Brother and Cousin On Same Sleigh But They Escape With Slight Injuries.

Instead of taking to the middle of the road the boys coasted on the sidewalk, thus increasing the danger of their short 30 per cent. While the schooner with the happy boys was gliding rapidly down the hill between First and Second streets the first street car was speeding eastward and it seemed that the two were being drawn together by some powerful force. The motorman could not see the boys nor did the boys under the excitement of the moment, hear the car. When the latter was within a few feet of the crossing the boys leaped across the motorman's vision and although the horror of the situation seemed to transfix him, like a flash a reversed the current and mechanically applied the brakes in fear. The car stopped just in time. There was a crash, but it was not a very serious one. The boys were thrown through the air and a sickening crash. The car forced on for at least twenty feet and when the motorman and the frightened passengers got out to see what had happened they found the two boys lying on the sidewalk.

THEY WERE TAKEN TO HOSPITAL.

Brother and Cousin On Same Sleigh But They Escape With Slight Injuries.

Instead of taking to the middle of the road the boys coasted on the sidewalk, thus increasing the danger of their short 30 per cent. While the schooner with the happy boys was gliding rapidly down the hill between First and Second streets the first street car was speeding eastward and it seemed that the two were being drawn together by some powerful force. The motorman could not see the boys nor did the boys under the excitement of the moment, hear the car. When the latter was within a few feet of the crossing the boys leaped across the motorman's vision and although the horror of the situation seemed to transfix him, like a flash a reversed the current and mechanically applied the brakes in fear. The car stopped just in time. There was a crash, but it was not a very serious one. The boys were thrown through the air and a sickening crash. The car forced on for at least twenty feet and when the motorman and the frightened passengers got out to see what had happened they found the two boys lying on the sidewalk.

CHURCH NOTICES.

ELDER'S REPORTS.

The Third, Fourth, Fifth, Sixth, Ninth, Fourteenth and Fifteenth districts of Elders of the Salt Lake Stake of Zion, are requested to send in their statistical reports for the year ending December 31, 1921, forthwith, to the office of the Presidency of the Stake. JAMES D. STEVENS, Clerk of Stake.

THEY WERE TAKEN TO