Smith In Trouble Again—On a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses, Atty. James F. Smith was arrested yesterday, and he will have a hearing before Justice of the Peace Dana T. Smith. It is alleged that Smith induced Prop. Moyer, of the Federal bar, to cash a check for $5, which was pronounced to be worthless when presented at the bank upon which it was drawn.

Collected Twice—Deputy Sheriff Andrew Smith yesterday afternoon arrested N. A. McDonald, a carpenter, upon the charge of obtaining money under false pretenses. It seems that J. E. Swanner was indebted to McDonald in the sum of $7 and McDonald went to T. G. Allen and collected $7 which the latter owed to Swanner. After getting that money he went to Swanner and collected the money from him also.

Moran Gets Contract—The board of public works yesterday afternoon awarded the contract for macadamizing Twelfth East street from Second to Third South to P. J. Moran upon his bid of $5,614.08. The only other bid was that of Hanley & Ritchie, amounting to $5,995.13. Moran's bid was $100 lower than his former one, which was rejected by the board as being above the estimate of the cost of the improvement.

Hamilton Released—Upon motion of Asst. County Atty. Job P. Lyon, the case of James Hamilton, a San Francisco lawyer, who was charged with obtaining money under false pretenses, was postponed indefinitely by Judge C. B. Diehl yesterday afternoon. Mr. Lyon stated that Hamilton had entered suit against the National Bank of the Republic to determine whether or not he had the right to draw checks against a draft which had been placed to his credit in that institution. The criminal proceedings against Hamilton hinges on the outcome of the civil suit.

FIGHTING FOR A TOWN.

A Judge Who Will Bring Order Out of Chaos at Central City, Wyoming.

(Special to the "News.")

Cheyenne, Wyo., Sept. 6.—Central City is the name of the new town in the Shoshone Indian reservation, recently thrown open to settlement, and the contest between the Lander and Shoshone factions for control of the little municipality bids fair to be settled amicably soon.

Judge C. E. Carpenter, of the Second District, was called in, he being the only person in the state with the necessary authority to administer the law under his direction the town will be given a government. Judge Carpenter will first secure from the government a patent to the townsite, and will then sit as his own court and settle all claims growing out of the filing on lots.

On Aug. 15, when the townsite was thrown open to entry, a large number of persons filed on lots. People from Lander filed on one section and those from Shoshone on another. Both attempted to set up city government, but before either was perfected, the United States troops, acting under orders received from Indian Agent Wadsworth, took possession of the townsite and drove out the boomers. Later when the Indian department acknowledged its mistake, which was brought about through a clerical error in the Washington office, the townsite was again thrown open and there was another rush. A few settlers secured their townsite locations, but a majority did not, and there was much confusion, and for a time serious trouble threatened.

It was then that Governor Brooks, at the request of Sheriff Stough of Fremont county, sent Adjutant General Battelle and a company of state troops to take care to preserve order. In due time the state troops were also withdrawn.

The settlers will go before Judge Carpenter with their claims, and all differences will be settled. Soon the town will have its own city government and settlement and growth will be rapid. The postoffice department may object to the name Central City, but aside from the possible changing of the name, the town will force ahead, and owing to its location, and the fact that very agricultural lands will soon become one of the leading towns of central Wyoming.

Nichols, a merchant and postmaster at Vernon, Conn., makes the following statement: "A little child of Michael Strauss was recently in great pain from a burn on the hand, and as cold applications only increased the inflammation, Mr. Strauss came to me for something to stop the little one's pain. A BOLD ROBBERY.

Lone Highwayman Secured $56 From First South Restaurant.

Gray and Harvey's restaurant, 10 east First South street, was robbed at an early hour this morning by a lone highwayman, while several employees and patrons of the house sat or stood within a few feet of him. It was about 2:45 o'clock when the man entered the eating house, and L. M. Sands, the cook, thought the newcomer was in quest of a meal. He changed his mind, however, when he found himself looking into the danger end of a revolver. The stranger flourished his gun and uttered a few warning words to the people present, and then proceeded to open the cash register. It contained about $56, which was taken by the thief, who then made his escape. A number of officers were soon at the scene of the holdup, but no trace of the robber could be found.

The children are staying at grandpa's. Mamma has gone down to the sea. Papa is at home working. Keeping well with Rocky Mountain Tea.

AMUSEMENTS.

Salt Lake Theater—It is positively announced that there will be but one presentation of "The Old Bedstead," all rumors to the contrary notwithstanding. By noon yesterday every seat in the house from the boxes to the last row of the family circle had been sold and all that is left for the disappointed ones to do this evening is to organize "protest parties" in the gallery. Standing room only will prevail on all four floors. John D. Spencer, the clever comedian who appears with the Salt Lake Opera company next week, was on hand last night at the dress rehearsal and offered some valuable suggestions. He will have the effect of rounding off the weird play to be staged by the Press club boys this evening.

The Orpheum—The management of the Orpheum announces that the following bill will prevail next week: Edward Clark and The Winning Widows; Eleanor Dorrell, a merry comedienne; The Rosaires, refined novelty artists; Paul Barnes, monologue; Carter and Buford, "The Act Beautiful; Melodion Trio, musical song and dance, and the kindromme with some new motion pictures.

Grand—The hilarious comedy, "Looking for a Wife," continues at the Grand throughout the week.

Lyrice—The last two performances of the Zinn Travesty company take place tonight and tomorrow, "The Jolly Musketiers," being the bill; this is one of the best in the Zinn repertoire and is full of new up-to-date novelties, useful melodies and appropriate scenery.

At the Saturday matinee the regular Lyrice Stock company opens for the season in "The Bondman" with a specially selected company of players and a complete scenic production. The story of the play involves love, intrigue, betrayal, heroism, wife devotion and in fact almost every form and phase of human passion. The advance sale of seats started this morning and indications are for an unusually large advance sale.
